

The Quincy Patriot,
Established in 1837.
PUBLISHED SATURDAY MORNING BY
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON,
OFFICE, No. 124 HANCOCK STREET.

Subscription Price, $2.50 per Year.
A reduction of fifty cents will be made when paid one year in advance.

Quincy Daily Ledger,
The ONLY DAILY in the ONLY CITY in Norfolk County. Established in 1889.
Subscription Price, $6.00 per Year.
A reduction of $1 will be made when paid one year in advance.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF THE
Brintree Observer
A Weekly Established in 1878

H. T. WHITMAN,
Civil Engineer

SURVEYOR.
ADAMS BUILDING, - QUINCY

Hours, 12 to 2 P. M.
N. B. Plans of nearly all the Real Estate in the City of Quincy can be found at my office. Telephone connection.

May 28.

CORRECT PIANO TUNING AND REPAIRING.
FRANK A. LOCKE
Tuner in Quincy 25 y.

Recommendations from manufacturers of pianos, teachers, college and the musical profession.
Pianos selected for persons about to buy $20 to $75 saved.
Office—Quincy—Lincoln's Store and Carlin's. Wollaston—Nash's. Real Estate—Atlantic—Hawthorne & Martin's store.
Boston Office, 54 Bromfield St.
Telephone at office and residence.

DAVID BROWN, HORSE SHOEING,
Carriage Work and General Jobbing.
ARLINGTON STREET - WOLLASTON.
Nov. 9.

IRA LITCHFIELD, CARPENTER and BUILDER,
PEARL STREET, SOUTH QUINCY.

JULIUS JOHNSON, Carpenter, * Contractor

BUILDER.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
NO. 64 CENTRE ST., QUINCY, MASS.
Telephone, 69-2

WILLIAM PARKER & SON, Carpenters and Builders.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
JOBBER PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
HANCOCK COURT, QUINCY, MASS.

JOHN W. MCANARNEY, COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW,
ROOM 1, DUBIN & MERRILL'S BLOCK, HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.

DR. A. B. PACKARD, DENTIST.
60 Elm Street, Corner Bigelow, Quincy.
Hours, 8 to 12:30 and 7 to 9.
Afternoons by appointment. Telephone 127-6.
Sept. 6.

DR. C. T. SHERMAN, DENTIST.
Hancock Building, over W. G. Shaw's store, CITY SQUARE, QUINCY.
Office Hours, 8 to 12 to 5.
Residence, Greenleaf street.

DR. FENIMORE S. ANDREWS, DENTIST.
67 Franklin St., Cor. Water St., PINEL BLOCK, QUINCY ADAMS.
Office Hours, 9 to 12; 2 to 6.
Telephone number, 146-2.
Aug. 16.

J. E. KENILEY & CO., PLUMBERS.
All orders promptly attended to at reasonable prices. Satisfaction guaranteed.
NO. 9 TEMPLE STREET, QUINCY.
Jan. 6.

W. E. BROWN, UNDERTAKER.
Office and residence, corner of Canal and Mechanic streets.
Quincy, Feb. 6.

Quincy Savings Bank,
New Savings Bank Building.
President, EDWIN W. MARSH
Vice-President, JOHN Q. A. FIELD
Treasurer and Secretary, CLARENCE BURGIN

Board of Investment—EDWIN W. MARSH, JOHN Q. A. FIELD, HENRY M. FARR, RUFUS F. CHASE.
BANK HOURS: From 8:30 to 12 A. M. and 2 to 4 P. M. Will close on Saturdays at 12 M.
Deposits placed on interest on the first Tuesday of January, April, July and October.
CORRESPOND BY TELEPHONE.
Quincy, April 30, 1904

ATNA INSURANCE CO.,

HARTFORD, CONN.
Incorporated 1819. Charter Perpetual.
Losses Paid in 55 Years, $96,928,139.96

JANUARY 1, 1904.
Cash Capital, $4,000,000.00
Reserve for Re-insurance (Fire), $2,251,563.00
Reserve for Unpaid Losses (Fire), $36,488.24
Reserve for Other Claims, $22,118.69
Net Surplus, $6,995,737.11
Total Assets, $10,159,888.15

John Hardwick & Co.,
45 Granite street,
Agents for Quincy.

Incorporated 1825.
Norfolk Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
DEDHAM, MASS.

STATEMENT, JANUARY 1, 1904
Amount at Risk, $24,185,536.81
Total Assets, $40,522.48
Total Liabilities, including re-insurance, $18,797.32

Amount of Cash Surplus, $466,332.81
Contingent Assets, $40,522.48
Total Available Assets, $992,735.61
Dividends are now being paid on five-year policies, 70 per cent; on three-year policies, 50 per cent; on one and two-year policies, 25 per cent.

J. WHITE BELCHER, Pres. and Treas.
JAMES J. NOYES, Secretary

DIRECTORS: J. White Belcher, Randolph Howard Colburn, Dedham; Tyler Taylor Horwood, H. Endicot, Dedham; Samuel Gannett, Milton; Stephen M. Webb, Dedham; Thomas B. Draper, Canton; William E. Lincoln, Brookline; James Hewitt, Medford.
GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent for Quincy.

Incorporated 1837.
Dedham Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
DEDHAM, MASS.

STATEMENT JANUARY 1, 1904.
Amount at Risk, $6,925,941.21
Cash Assets, $61,049.05
Total Assets, $7,536,990.26

Amount of Cash Surplus, $101,745.22
Contingent Assets, $61,049.05
Total Available Assets, $262,794.27
Dividends are now being paid on five-year policies, 70 per cent; on three-year policies, 50 per cent; on one and two-year policies, 25 per cent.

J. WHITE BELCHER, President.
HOWARD COLBURN, Treasurer.
JAMES J. NOYES, Secretary.

DIRECTORS:—Howard Colburn, Dedham; Dan Gosselin Hill, Dedham; J. White Belcher, Randolph; A. B. Endicot, Dedham; P. R. Randolph, Dedham; Frederick D. Ely, Dedham; Alfred Hewitt, Dedham; Samuel Gannett, Milton; Charles M. Faunce, Boston.
GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent for Quincy.

QUINCY Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

INCORPORATED IN 1851.
COMMENCED BUSINESS IN 1852
CHAS. A. HOWLAND, President.
WILLIAM H. FAY, Secretary.
C. A. HOWLAND, Jr., Asst. Sec.

CASH FUND January 1, 1904.
SURPLUS over Re-insurance, $705,963.30
LOSSES paid the past year, $455,776.74

DIVIDENDS PAID the past year, $42,201.94
GAIN IN SURPLUS the past year, $66,032.42
GAIN IN CASH FUND the past year, $12,983.94

AND EVERY LOSS PAID IN FULL
AMOUNT AT RISK, $32,586,226.06
TOTAL LIABILITIES, $250,186.56

Dividends Paid on Every Expiring Policy: 60 per cent. on 5 years, 40 per cent. on 3 years and 30 per cent. on all others.
Quincy, Mass., 1904.

DORCHESTER Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

Boston, Mass.
INCORPORATED 1855.
FORTY-NINTH ANNUAL STATEMENT
JANUARY 1, 1904

Amount at Risk, $34,122,920.00
Cash Assets, $72,293.14
Deposits Notes, $1,042,040.07
Available Assets, $1,042,040.07
Total Liabilities, $1,042,040.07
Cash Surplus, $1,042,040.07

Losses paid in 1903, $1,280.45
Gain in Assets in 1903, $23,068.41
Losses paid in 1902, $1,280.45
Gain in Assets in 1902, $23,068.41
Dividends in 1903, $23,068.41
Dividends in 1902, $23,068.41
Adjustments in 1903, $187,673.43

This Company now pays the following Dividends:
On Five-year Policies, 60 per cent
On Three-year Policies, 40 per cent
On One-year Policies, 30 per cent
All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

THOS. F. TEMPLE, President and Treasurer
W. D. C. CURTIS, Secretary.
Directors: J. H. L. Bartlett, Clarence Burgh, W. D. Curtis, Charles T. Gallagher, Seth Foster, Leslie Pratt, Thomas Temple, James H. Upham, Sarel J. Willis.

Home Office, Neponset, Boston, Mass.

INSURANCE AGENCY.
ESTABLISHED in Quincy in the year 1849 by
W. PORTER.
Insurance effected in reliable and safe Boston Mutual offices.
By W. PORTER & CO.,
At No. 82 Water street, Boston.
Residence, Hancock street, Quincy

Granite Firms.

CAREY BROTHERS,
Dealers and manufacturers of Polished and Gilded Monuments, Carving and Headstones. Willard street, West Quincy.

LONG & SAUNDERS,
Fine Monumental Work from American and Foreign Granite and Marble. Latest designs. Superior workmanship. Quincy, South Quincy. Branch, Stoughton, Mass.

BADGER BROTHERS,
Granite Dealers and Machinists. Monumental Work for all Descriptions. Celebrated Ashland. Entry for sale. West Quincy.

FULLER, FOLEY & CO.,
Granite Manufacturers and Dealers. Works opposite West Quincy Depot.

MILNE & CHALMERS,
Monumental and Cemetery Work of every description. Works near Quincy Adams Depot. P. O. Address, Quincy, Mass. Branch Office 24 West Main St., North Adams.

MERRY MOUNT GRANITE CO.
Incorporated 1881. Manufacturers and Dealers in Monumental and Cemetery Work. Works near Quincy Adams station, Stoughton, Mass.

McGRATH BROS.,
Large stock of Finished Monuments and Tablets constantly on hand. Works at Quincy Adams Station. Established 1864.

BROCKTON FAIR AND Horse Show,
OCT. 4, 5, 6 and 7.

$30,000 PURSES AND SPECIAL ATTRACTIONS.

Trot, Pace and Running Races. A Stage Show of 17 Star Acts. Firemen's Muster, $1050 in prizes. Enlarged Cattle Exhibit. Exhibition Hall teeming with Novelties. Music by Three Bands. The big Grand Stands enlarged by the addition of 1600 seats. Novelties too numerous to mention.

If there is anything NEW under the sun, we have it.

Sept. 17.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Up from his couch erept dying Time, And o'er the worlds he stood, Until the wonderful glow Revealed within his mystic dream Had tinted earth and sea In one grand, glorious, frosty gleam— His deathbed victory.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Poetry.

Autumn.
ARTHUR STANLEY HIGGS.

The artist Time lay near to death
Delicious with pain,
And fighting for each labored breath,
Eaten by the strain
Of weary years of toil and care,
And work not yet begun to share.

When o'er him burst a vision fair
More radiant than the sun.
Forgot was all his racking pain
As wonder thrilled his brain
And watched God's crimson glories stain
The misty robes of day.

Again, the dying artist knelt,
The fires of former years
Would speed his brush to work anew
And blend his tints with life.
Up from his couch erept dying Time,
And o'er the worlds he stood.

Until the wonderful glow Revealed within his mystic dream
Had tinted earth and sea
In one grand, glorious, frosty gleam—
His deathbed victory.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair, So glorified His Name— Gave Him command that every year, In every zone and clime, Those grand colors should appear. A monument to Time.

Time died, but God looked down, and there, The worlds with gold and flame, Spoke to each other in a voice so fair,

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

Chief of Police Hayden of Quincy, is quoted as favoring the use of the law on some of the many juveniles who are now being brought to the city to trouble recently. Many from 8 to 15 years of age have been brought in by the police on charges of breaking and entering, and it is difficult to find a proper punishment for them, as boys under 16 years of age are not admitted to the reform school.—Milton Record.

—The "green goods" game appears to be again epidemic. More than fifty attempts to work the old swindle have been reported during the last two months. Since the dupe in every such case is himself a would-be swindler, and unwilling to confess, every instance brought to the police is doubtless typical of a hundred others which never come to light. It does not seem to be a matter how often or how widely the fraud is exposed. Every year sees a new crop of victims arrived at years of supposed discretion, and with money of their own which they are anxious to multiply in ways good or bad.—Brookline Chronicle.

the career of Mr. Tuttle has been marked by success in many fields of endeavor, but in none has he succeeded more remarkably or satisfactorily than in his treatment of the labor question. Workers know that although the representative of capital he is their friend and that he does all in his power for them always. That such is the fact is proved by the freedom from labor troubles on the great system on which Mr. Tuttle is the head. It has taken a master mind to handle the labor problem on great railway systems, especially of late years, and the president of Boston & Maine is well known in this connection a record he may well be proud of.—Banker and Tradesman.

Russia's foreign trade in 1903 across European borders amounted to $309,000 in imports and $489,131,850 for goods exported.

The Sons of the Revolution will have a dinner at Springfield on Tuesday, April 4, as guests of George Washington Chapter. A boulder will be dedicated.

and said to a passenger next to her: "You chew tobacco, sir?" "No, ma'am, I don't," was the reply. "but I can get you a chaw if you want one,"—Ohio State Journal.

Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma, in cure for Consumption in first stages, give relief in advanced stages. Use at once. It gives the excellent effect after taking the medicine. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 50 cents. Small bottles 25 cents.

EN SMITH.
1872.

MRS. EBEN SMITH.
1872.

PICTURE FRAMING.
FINE GOLD WORK.
47 Summer Street, Boston, Mass.
GILDING, RESTORING, PASSE PARTOUT.
Formerly Lincoln Street Art Store.

NOTICE.

Friends and Public generally :
Having associated myself with Mr. W. G. Shaw, in his new store in Quare, would be pleased to see you and show you a nice and large HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS. Having had a long experience in the Grand Assortment of Goods at my command, I feel confident of my success.
Thankful for past favors and hoping for a continuance of the same,
I am very truly yours,
C. E. WOODBURY.
Ct., March 1st, 1891.

Your Job Printing at the Patriot Office.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1904. VOL. 68, NO. 41. FIVE CENTS PER COPY; $2.50 PER YEAR.

The Quincy Patriot,
Established in 1837.
PUBLISHED SATURDAY MORNING BY
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON,
OFFICE, No. 124 HANCOCK STREET.
Subscription Price, $2.50 per Year.
A reduction of fifty cents will be made when paid one year in advance.
Quincy Daily Ledger,
The ONLY DAILY in the ONLY CITY in Norfolk
County. Established in 1889.
Subscription Price, $6.00 per Year.
A reduction of $1 will be made when paid
one year in advance.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF THE
Braintree Observer
A Weekly Established in 1878.

Quincy Savings Bank,
New Savings Bank Building.
President, EDWIN W. MARSH
Vice-President, JOHN Q. A. FIELD
Treasurer and Secretary, CLARENCE BURGIN
Board of Investment—EDWIN W. MARSH, JOHN Q. A. FIELD, HENRY M. FARRIS, HURF, E. CLARK.
BANK HOURS—From 8.30 to 12 A. M. and 2 to 4 P. M. Will close on Saturdays at 12 M.
Deposits placed on interest on the first Tuesday of January, April, July and October.
CONNECTED BY TELEPHONE.
Quincy, April 30, 1904.

H. T. WHITMAN,
Civil Engineer
—AND—
SURVEYOR.
ADAMS BUILDING, - QUINCY
Boston Office, 85 Devonshire street
Hours, 12 to 2 P. M.
N. B. Plans of nearly all the Real Estate
in the City of Quincy can be found at my office. Telephone connection.
May 28.

CORRECT PIANO TUNING AND REPAIRING.
FRANK A. LOCKE
Tuner in Quincy 25 Yrs.
Recommendations from manufacturers dealers, teachers, colleges and the musical profession.
Pianos selected for persons about to buy are $25 to $75 saved.
Office—Quincy—Lincoln's Store and Carson's. Wollaston—Nash's Real Estate.
Atlantic—Branchfield & Martin's Store.
Boston Office, 54 Bromfield St.,
Telephone at office and residence.

W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furniture and Piano Mover.
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING.
Orders left at Nickerson's Cully Kitchen in Music Hall Block; or at W. T. Arnold's Beverly Road.
Residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
August 20.

DAVID BROWN,
HORSE SHOEING,
Carriage Work and General Jobbing.
WILLIAM STREET, - WOLLASTON,
Nov. 9.

IRA LITCHFIELD,
CARPENTER and BUILDER,
PEARL STREET,
SOUTH QUINCY.

JULIUS JOHNSON,
Carpenter, * Contractor
—AND—
BUILDER.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
NO. 64 CENTRE ST., QUINCY, MASS.
Telephone, 69-2

WILLIAM PARKER & SON,
Carpenters and Builders.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
JOBBER PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
HANCOCK COURT, - QUINCY, MASS.

JOHN W. McANARNEY,
COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW,
BOOK I, DUNN & MERRILL'S BLOCK.
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.

DR. C. T. SHERMAN
DENTIST.
Hancock Building, over W. G. Shaw's store,
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY.
Office Hours, 8 to 12, 1 to 5.

DR. FENIMORE S. ANDREWS,
DENTIST.
67 Franklin St., Cor. Water St.,
FINKEL BLOCK, QUINCY ADAMS.
Office Hours—9 to 12; 2 to 5.
Telephone number, 146-2.

J. E. KENILEY & CO.,
PLUMBERS.
All orders promptly attended to at reasonable prices. Satisfaction guaranteed.
NO. 9 TEMPLE STREET, QUINCY.
Jan. 6.

W. E. BROWN,
UNDERTAKER.
Office and residence, corner of Canal and Main streets.
Quincy, Feb. 6.

ATNA INSURANCE CO.,
HARTFORD, CONN.
Incorporated 1819. Charter Perpetua
Losses Paid in 85 Years, $96,328,139.96
JANUARY 1, 1904.
Cash Capital, $4,000,000.00
Reserve for Re-insurance (Fire), $2,281,583.00
Reserve for Unpaid Losses (Fire), $36,489.24
Reserve for Other Claims, $262,118.60
Net Surplus, $6,069,297.11
Total Assets, $12,169,888.15

John Hardwick & Co.,
40 Granite street,
Agents for Quincy.
Incorporated 1825.
Norfolk Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
—DEDHAM, MASS.—
STATEMENT, JANUARY 1, 1904
Amount at Risk, $24,184,554.84
Cash Assets, $64,230.13
Total Liabilities, including
re-insurance, $187,897.32
Amount of Cash Surplus, $458,332.81
Contingent Assets, $46,523.43
Total Available Assets, $504,856.24
Dividends are now being paid on five-year
policies, 70 per cent.; on three-year policies, 50 per cent.; on one and two-year policies, 25 per cent.

J. WHITE BELCHER, Pres. and Treas.
JAMES Y. NOYES, Secretary
DIRECTORS—J. White Belcher, Randolph
Howard Colburn, Dedham; Tyler Thayer
Kerwood, A. B. Endicott, Dedham; Samuel
Gannett, Milton; Stephen M. Wells, Dedham.
Thomas B. Draper, Canton; William E.
Lincoln, Brookline; James Hewins, Medford.
GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent for Quincy.

Dedham Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
—DEDHAM, MASS.—
STATEMENT, JANUARY 1, 1904
Amount at Risk, $6,915,941.22
Cash Assets, $10,240.69
Total Liabilities (including
re-insurance), $9,270.86
Amount of Cash Surplus, $101,766.22
Contingent Assets, $10,423.43
Total Available Assets, $112,189.65
Dividends are now being paid on five-year
policies, 70 per cent.; on three-year policies, 50 per cent.; on one and two-year policies, 25 per cent.

J. WHITE BELCHER, President.
HOWARD COLBURN, Treasurer
JAMES Y. NOYES, Secretary
DIRECTORS—Howard Colburn, Dedham;
Don Gleason Hill, Dedham; J. White Belcher, Dedham; A. B. Endicott, Dedham; P. M.
Gannett, Milton; Stephen M. Wells, Dedham.
Thomas B. Draper, Canton; William E.
Lincoln, Brookline; James Hewins, Medford.
GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent for Quincy.

QUINCY
Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
INCORPORATED IN 1851.
CONTRACTED BUSINESS IN 1902
CHAS. A. HOWLAND, President.
WILLIAM H. FAY, Secretary.
C. A. HOWLAND, Jr., Asst. Sec.
CASH FUND January 1, 1904, $705,963.30
SURPLUS over Re-insurance, $455,776.74
LOSSES paid the past year, $42,201.94
DIVIDENDS paid the past year, $66,032.42
GAIN IN SURPLUS the past year, $12,983.04
GAIN IN CASH FUND the past year, $20,297.34
AND EVERY LOSS PAID IN FULL.
AMOUNT AT RISK, $32,586,226.06
TOTAL LIABILITIES, $250,186.56
Dividends paid on Every Expiring Policy;
60 per cent. on 5 years, 40 per cent. on 3 years
and 20 per cent. on all others.
Quincy, Mass., 1904.

DORCHESTER
Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
Boston, Mass.
INCORPORATED 1850.
FORTY-NINTH ANNUAL STATEMENT
JANUARY 1, 1904.
Amount at Risk, $34,712,920.04
Cash Assets, $72,396.14
Total Liabilities, $1,042,040.57
Available Assets, $33,670.83
Cash Surplus, $1,467,331.41
Gains in Surplus in 1903, $1,080.20
Gains in Assets in 1903, $29,368.44
Losses paid in 1903, $24,034.06
Dividends paid in 1903, $6,254.46
Reserve for 1903, $16,654.06
Disbursements in 1903, $187,067.63
This Company now pays the following Dividends:
On five-year Policies - 60 per cent.
On three-year Policies - 40
On one-year Policies - 20
All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

THOS. F. TEMPLE,
President and Treasurer
W. D. CURTIS, Secretary
DIRECTORS—J. B. L. Bartlett, Clarence B. B. B.
D. C. Curtis, Charles T. Gallagher, Samuel H. Upham, Samuel J. Willis.
James O. Neponset, Boston, Mass.

INSURANCE AGENCY.
ESTABLISHED in Quincy by the year
1840 by
W. PORTER.
Insurance effected in reliable and safe
Stock and Mutual offices.
By W. PORTER & CO.,
Residence, Hancock street, Quincy.

Granite Firms.
CAREY BROTHERS,
Dealers and manufacturers of Polished and Hammered Monuments, Curbing and Head-stones. Willard street, West Quincy.

LONG & SAUNDERS,
Fine Monumental Work from America and Foreign Granite and Marble. Latest designs.
Superior workmanship. Works, South Quincy.
Branch, Brookline, Mass.

BADGER BROTHERS,
Granite Dealers and Machinists. Monumental
Work of all Descriptions. Celebrated Ashland Quarry for sale. West Quincy.

FULLER, FOLEY & CO.,
Granite Manufacturers and Dealers. Works
opposite West Quincy Depot.

MILNE & CHALMERS,
Monumental and Cemetery Work of every description. Works near Quincy Adams depot.
P. O. Address, Quincy, Mass. Branch Office,
24 West Main St., North Adams.

MERRY MOUNT GRANITE CO.
Incorporated 1881. Manufacturers and Dealers
in Monumental and Cemetery Work. Works near Quincy Adams station, Quincy, Mass.

McGRATH BROS.,
Large stock of Finished Monuments and Tablets constantly on hand. Works at Quincy Adams Station. Established 1864.

Ostermoor
Elastic Felt
Mattresses.
The famous Ostermoor hand laid felt mattresses that are endorsed by leading physicians throughout the country as being better than hair, are here for immediate delivery.
These mattresses are chemically treated, are moth proof, dust proof and water proof. They are luxuriously soft and fluffy, promote sleep and rest.
4 ft. 6 in. wide 45 lbs. $15.00
4 ft. 6 in. 40 13.00
3 ft. 6 in. 35 11.70
3 ft. 6 in. 30 10.00
2 ft 6 in. 25 8.35
Mattresses in two parts 50 cents extra.
CASH OR CREDIT.
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
New England's Lowest Priced Furniture Store.
Hancock Street, Quincy
We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

Plumbing, Heating and Gas Fitting.
Relative amount of fuel consumed to warm
a 9 room house
By Stove By Hot Air Furnace By Radiator
Let us tell you more about it—IF INTERESTED IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators
Do not delay too long. Did not your experience last winter with the Old Hot Air Furnace teach you it was time to change. Compare the Cost of the Fuel saved in years to come, not the First Cost of the Heating job. Speaking of Plumbing, that's our stronghold. Try us and
be convinced.
W. A. BRADFORD,
Tel. 111 Savings Bank Building, City Square. Open Monday and Saturday Evenings.
Sept. 12.

BOSTON PRICES!
COAL
DELIVERED IN QUINCY.
GEO. E. FROST.
Telephone 128-3 Dorchester. P. O. Address Neponset.

STEARNS' INTERIOR FINISH.
Everything in Wood or Woodwork, Any Kind of Wood.
Some Cypress
is no better than Hemlock, but our Florida Gulf Cypress is well known to be more reliable than any other wood.
Our Florida Ash
is of light and uniform color, some of it being not unlike White Mahogany. It is well adapted for fine interior finish and is not expensive.
We Believe that our Building Specialties are much superior to any similar material in America, and we simply want an opportunity to tell you why it is so before you have purchased—before it is too late.
If Interested
write us fully regarding the results desired.
We can write you more intelligently and you can then Form Your Own Opinion.
SEE OUR SPECIAL DEPARTMENT CATALOGUES.

THE A. T. STEARNS LUMBER COMPANY.
(ESTABLISHED 1849).
Main Office, Mills and Wharves at Neponset,
Branch Office and Exhibit, 166 Devonshire Street, and 19 Federal Street, Haymarket Square Salesroom, 1 Sudbury Street, corner Merrimac Street, BOSTON.

Crystal Spring Ice.
Office, 25 Edwards Street,
QUINCY, MASS.
TELEPHONE 4-3.
Pure Ice and Good Service at Fair Prices Guaranteed.
March 19.

Poetry.

Miss Marjorie's Garden.
G. M. L. BROWN.
Miss Marjorie's garden is really unique;
Every flower is planted exactly in place;
Ladyslippers, for instance—if these you would seek,
Will only be found in the slipper case

Miss Marjorie arranges the plants by their kind;
Thus the cowslip, the milkweed and buttercup grow
Beside the cream rose bush, which strangers may find
By the sign on the path—"To the Dairy Row."

Miss Marjorie's garden was troubled with bees,
But now, by her wish, they obediently nest
In one spot, which contains honeysuckle, sweet Peas, Sweet Will in sweet briar—in fact, every thing sweet.

Miss Marjorie never allows owl or bird
To enter her garden, and now, so I hear,
She will banish the larkspur—Aid seem absurd—
"Hens and chickens," gooseberry and cockscomb—Oh, dear!

Of her fruit trees Miss Marjorie frequently boasts;
The pear trees, of course, are planted in pairs;
While the plum trees stand stiffly like telegraph poles;
"For must keep them straight to the plumb," she declares.

Miss Marjorie hastens, when winter draws near,
To put every flower and leaf in its bed;
Then she signals Jack Frost and the snow to appear
And cover them carefully with a white spread.

Miscellaneous.

BY TELEPHONE.
Jennie Bartlett's father and mother had been suddenly called away for the night to Grayford, where Mrs. Bartlett's sister was seriously ill. The Jennie was left to keep the tollgate alone. It was not a difficult task, for scarcely anyone traveled over the Barrington road after nine o'clock, and those who did passed through the open gate without paying toll.

But even if the task had been harder, Jennie would have been equal to it. She had lived at the tollgate ever since she was a baby, and knew perfectly well what to charge and how to give the proper change—indeed she often took toll for her father when he was at home and people would wonder how so bright and pretty a girl could grow up in so lonesome a place.

Jennie however did not mind the lonesomeness. Her earnest wish was to go to a boarding-school, but as long as she was at home it mattered little to her
that Barrington was three miles off on a pretty, a girl could grow up in so
lonesome a place.

Jennie however did not mind the
lonesomeness. Her earnest wish was to go to a boarding-school, but as long as
she was at home it mattered little to her
that Barrington was three miles off on
a pretty, a girl could grow up in so
lonesome a place.

Jennie however did not mind the
lonesomeness. Her earnest wish was to go to a boarding-school, but as long as
she was at home it mattered little to her
that Barrington was three miles off on
a pretty, a girl could grow up in so
lonesome a place.

Jennie however did not mind the
lonesomeness. Her earnest wish was to go to a boarding-school, but as long as
she was at home it mattered little to her
that Barrington was three miles off on
a pretty, a girl could grow up in so
lonesome a place.

Jennie however did not mind the
lonesomeness. Her earnest wish was to go to a boarding-school, but as long as
she was at home it mattered little to her
that Barrington was three miles off on
a pretty, a girl could grow up in so
lonesome a place.

Jennie however did not mind the
lonesomeness. Her earnest wish was to go to a boarding-school, but as long as
she was at home it mattered little to her
that Barrington was three miles off on
a pretty, a girl could grow up in so
lonesome a place.

Jennie however did not mind the
lonesomeness. Her earnest wish was to go to a boarding-school, but as long as
she was at home it mattered little to her
that Barrington was three miles off on
a pretty, a girl could grow up in so
lonesome a place.

Jennie however did not mind the
lonesomeness. Her earnest wish was to go to a boarding-school, but as long as
she was at home it mattered little to her
that Barrington was three miles off on
a pretty, a girl could grow up in so
lonesome a place.

Why not stop them at the tollgate?
"To be sure," said another. "If they get past the gate as likely as not they'll turn down the Riverton road, and get Allen off the track. They can't turn off before they reach the gate. We are sure of them as far as that."

"Tell the girl—" And Jennie caught only a confusion of sound.
Presently she heard another, "Hello!"
"Hello!" she responded.
"The Westeyster bank has been robbed," the voice went on hurriedly, by two men who were in a spring cart, drawn by a white horse. They have driven toward Barrington with Mr.
Lewis and two constables in pursuit,
but the thieves have half an hour's start.
You must—"

Here the voices stopped suddenly and completely. Even the hum of electricity cut off. It was vain that she sang the bell and called "Hello!" No one answered. Jennie felt once more the old sense that she was out of the world.
Westeyster seemed all at once hundreds of miles away. But what was it that she must do? Why had the connection not lasted a moment longer, when her instructions would have been complete?
When were the robbers expected?

Jennie made a little calculation. If there had been thirty minutes before anyone started in pursuit, that would carry them, by fast driving, half way to the tollgate. If ten minutes had gone by before the telephone bell had rung, they might expect them within half an hour.

What was she to do?
The conversation which she had overheard came to her mind. "Stop them at the tollgate," one of the voices had said. Very likely they would have told her what to do if the telephone had kept on.
But how could a little girl arrest two armed and desperate men?

By this time she began to feel bewildered. She could not go to bed with this responsibility upon her, even though she did not know how to meet it; so dressing herself, she opened the front door and looked and listened.

The night was darker than ever.
A little space about the gate was lit by the warning lantern. It would not help in stopping burglars, she suddenly thought, to illuminate their way;
so going over to the light, she blew it out, leaving the road in total darkness.
That was at least one step toward the desired end.

All at once she thought of the gate.
"How stupid!" she said to herself.
"Why didn't I think of that before?"
The gate was fastened back against the front of the house, but in a moment
she had unlocked it and swung it round, until it stretched completely across the road. Thereupon she stepped upon it, and going into the house she brought from one place a padlock and another a chain, with which she fastened the gate so securely that no ordinary strength could force it open.

"They can't get through that," she said to herself, "and there isn't any way of getting round it."
Then she went into the house, locked and bolted the door, pushed a heavy chest of drawers against it, fastened all the windows, pulled down the blinds and waited in the dark for the sound of wheels.

It was not long before the sound came, but to Jennie every minute seemed an hour, while every rustling leaf outside sounded like a man's stealthy tread. When at last she heard the robbers coming, far up the road, her heart stilled.

Nearer and nearer they came. Would they see the gate? she wondered.
The horse kept on; there was a sudden exclamation outside, a crash as though something had come into collision with the gate, the sound of splintering wood, and the noise of a plunging horse.
Jennie did not venture to move. She dared not go to the window, but sat in the middle of the room slaking with fear and listening for what would happen next. Presently steps sounded on the pavement outside, and in a moment there was a rap at the door.

Some time she waited perfectly quiet, though her heart beat so loud that she thought they must hear it outside, and in a moment the knocking ceased.
"Folks asleep," she could hear one of the men say.

"Asleep or dead or run away," the other man growled, "and there isn't any sense in waiting. Let's go back to the house and see if we can't get in some other way."
"Shall we try the window?"
"Yes."

Jennie trembled all over, but the sash when tried held firm.
"Oh, come on!" exclaimed the companion. "Don't let us waste time."
She sprang to the window and tried to pull it open, but it was fastened with the sash.

They moved off and Jennie breathed more freely.
If the sashes were broken it would take some time to mend them, and the pursuing party might yet arrive in time.
Mr. Allen's warning came to her. The man at the Westeyster bank, had the fastest horse in the country and ought to be able to make up at least ten minutes in ten miles.

For awhile there was quiet outside.
The men were evidently working at the sashes, and the tramping of a horse's hoofs gave some sign of life. Jennie began to get nervous, and to listen more intently for the pursuers' approach. By this time surely they could not be far off. Finally unable to sit still any longer, she crept upstairs, and, sitting down on the floor near the open window, she waited for the others to come.

The white horse was distinctly visible as it stood by the gate, but the men, bending over the cart, were hardly more than an outline. Presently they seemed to have finished, and backing the horse round, proceeded to put him in the saddle. Jennie waited to look out, but the gate was not yet opened, but Jennie began to fear the burglars would not find that a serious difficulty. Suddenly from afar, came the sound of horses' hoofs galloping as if for life. Did the men hear it, too?

Apparently they did.
"Open the gate!" he heard one of them say.
His companion went to it and vainly tried to pull it open.
"It's padlocked!" he exclaimed, after a minute.
"Pick it!" he cried. "They've put a job on us here. I knew we didn't cut that wire quick enough."
It was a minute before the burglar's skill could pick the lock, and by that time those in pursuit were dangerously near.

"Open the gate!" shouted the first man, pulling back his horse to escape its sweep.
The other pushed and the great bar swung slowly back. But before it had opened wide enough to let them pass through, the other vehicle had dashed in upon the scene.

"Stand where you are," Jennie heard Mr. Allen's voice call out, "or I'll shoot you down."
What immediately followed Jennie did not see, for, leaving the window, she rushed down stairs, lit the lantern, rolled back the bureau, unlocked the door and went out.

When she had gained the road, the two burglars, captured and tied, were being guarded by the constables, while Mr. Allen was investigating the contents of the spring cart and making sure, as far as he could in the darkness, that all was right.

At Jennie's approach he looked up.
"Ah!" he said, "Are you the gatekeeper's daughter? Just ask your father to step out here, please."
Jennie smiled.

"Father isn't at home, sir," she said.
"Oh, well your mother, then, or any other person, please."
"Mother isn't at home, either, sir," Jennie replied.

"The gentleman looked at her in surprise.
"You!" he exclaimed. "What made these fellows stop here?"
"They broke their cart, sir,"
"How did it happen to do that?"
"The horse ran into the gate, sir,"
"Was the gate shut?"
"Yes, sir."

"You don't usually shut the gate at night?"
"No, sir; but I did tonight."
He looked at her for further explanation, and Jennie who never liked to tell of her exploits, was obliged to go on.

"They telephoned me about it from Westeyster, sir," she said briefly.
"Did they tell you to shut the gate?"
"No, sir; the telephone stopped before they got as far as that. These men cut the wire, and I had to think for myself what I should do."

"And you thought of that?"
"Yes," she answered, modestly.
"Well," he said, "you are a thousand little girl. You've saved a great deal of money, and I shall never forget it."

And he never did.
The directors of the bank passed a vote of thanks at their next meeting to Miss Jennie Bartlett "for her prompt and efficient services in arresting the burglars who feloniously entered the bank building and abstracted the valuable contents of its vaults," and more than that, sent her a purse of money which enabled her that winter to carry out her long cherished plan of going to a boarding-school. It was a disagreeable experience for her, but Jennie will always date whatever success she might have had in the world from that night at the Barrington tollgate.

From the Westeyster Transcript.
Sixty Years Ago and Today.
Did the man who lived sixty years ago enjoy life as today? I will try to tell you I remember of the old days.
In Westeyster there were numberless little shops, one of which was my father's, where I worked as a boy, and this shop was typical of all. Three old men worked there, one making fudge-edged boots, others sewed slippers. In these days, when a shoemaker grew old, he made slippers and could earn about fifty cents a pair, while those who made boots earned about one dollar and twenty-five cents per pair and he could make one pair a day;
if he was a skilled workman, he could make a pair of fudge-edged boots and get one dollar and a half; and there were the wages of men who worked on boots and shoes.

In those times of sixty years ago the workman received his pay, a dollar or two at a time or perhaps an order on Major Stetson for his groceries, but he saw very little money. It is true, that there was very little need of money, for life was so simple as compared with the life of today. The man to the shop; there was no labor-saving machinery. The tramping journey, as he was then called, had all of his "kit" in his apron and all he wanted was a stool to sit on and he was ready for work. I remember when the zinc patterns, that were used for making the shoe, were made of wood, and were thought to be a wonderful invention, but for a long time many still cut the boots, using a foot rule. In time came the crimping machine, the skiving machine, and last, but not least, the stitching machine, which for a time, before the sewing machine came, was man's livelihood of so many workmen.

In those days few houses could be found whose inmates did not do the siding, binding and sewing on the foot linings and facings, but in time all this was done away with and the work was done by machinery in the factories.
As I have said there seems to have been little use for money, every one of my account having his garden which helped him out so much in his living. He also kept a pig in the sty. Our folks of sixty years ago were native born and followed closely in the frugal footsteps of their fathers. The evening of the town was music, and in this our people excelled.

In going about the town today, one wonders how the one-story little house could contain so large a family, and the families were large in those days.
I will recollect one day, nearly seventy years ago, when a school boy, I was invited by a schoolmate to take a sleigh ride, and stopping on our way at a farmhouse; it was a cold day and I well remember the warm doughnuts which the good wife gave us boys, and I also remember the old house with the family all in one room, a shoemaker's bench in one corner, the bed with a trundle bed under it, and the great fireplace where all the cooking was done. In the other part of the house was another family living in just the same way and that it was sixty or seventy years ago. I well remember the days when the workmen on pegged boots and shoes came to our town and how indignant the sewed workmen were because they were displaced by the peggers. This came in the last of the thirties.

As I look over the old account books of that time and into the forties, I find that no one manufactured sewed boots except Warren Stearns, close by the old church and parsonage, who made them custom shoes. All the others made pegged boots, and received forty cents per pair for single soled boots, and forty-five cents for welts and fifty cents for tap soles. As I look back to this time and see the crude productions of the shop, the hand, still, unglazed pegged boots, I wonder what kind of feet our people had, that could wear them, but for twenty-five years or more, there was no other kind than this made in our village. About 1865, or after the Civil war, came the McKay sewing machine which revolutionized the shoe business, and in fact, made the shoe business out of this village, for our people were slow to catch on to the new invention. With the use of this machine, the pegged boot went out and the factory system began, which we have today; at the same time
the liberty and freedom of the workmen went out, and he became a part of the machine that makes the boot.

Men walk the streets today and complain that the boy has taken his place.
In the machine is the brain, and the former skilled workman has become simply the operator of the machine, and the simple fingers that made the place of the man and gets as much pay. Now the difference is, that the men of sixty years ago got up early in the morning, fed and milked his cow, looked at the pig and the hens, and in the summer looked in his garden; had his breakfast, leisurely smoked his pipe, went to his little shop; if in the winter, building the fire with leather chips; not a thought of any hurry, worked till noon, had his din-

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1904.

Dorothy Q. House.

The opening of the "Dorothy Q." house, which recently came into possession of the society of Colonial Dames, will be today at which time the society will meet in the house and have lunch.

The mansion has been put in thorough repair, redecorated and restored as far as possible to its original state. It is proposed by the society to make collection of articles of historic value and to furnish several rooms.

Quilt a lot of antique furniture has already arrived, and the Dorothy Q. room is now practically furnished. The society has not completed its plans as yet, but it is understood that there will be free days and days upon which admission will be charged.

Unitarian Club.

The first dinner of the Wollaston Unitarian Club, of which Hon. Eugene H. Sprague is president, will be held in the vestry of the Unitarian church on Tuesday evening, October 11th, at 6.30 o'clock.

Col. Edward Anderson of Quincy will address the club on the subject of the Wollaston Convention from a soldier's standpoint.

Bala Premchand Bharati, of Brindaban, India, who was one of the speakers at the International Peace convention, will talk on the Peace movement from the view point of the East.

Church Anniversary.

Sunday will be observed as the tenth anniversary and rally day at the Atlantic M. E. church with a sermon at the 10.45 A. M. service by Rev. Herbert H. Deetz, who was pastor at the time the church was dedicated. In the evening there will be a special service with historical sketches and sermon.

At 9.30 A. M. a love feast is announced. At the Sunday school session at 12 M. there will be a special program including address by the pastor.

The Junior Epworth League, of which Edith Greenard is superintendent, will meet at 3.30, and the Epworth League at 6 P. M.

At the evening service at 7 o'clock there will be a historical sketch by the John Ramsdell, and sermon by the Rev. John Alden, Rev. Willard T. Perrin.

A Prosperous Bank.

The National Mt. Wollaston bank has declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 percent payable Oct. 1. This is the 81st dividend declared by the bank since it was chartered in 1823, and it has distributed in dividends $510,000.

The Mt. Wollaston bank is the oldest National bank in Norfolk county, and it is also one of the oldest National banks in the country; its charter number being 517. It was originally chartered as a State bank in 1823.

In 1824 it became a National bank, and has twice had its charter extended. Once in 1854 and again Aug. 3, 1904, for another twenty years.

Its deposits have shown a steady increase, until today it has over $500,000. During the last two years the increase has been at the rate of $100,000 per year, and the increase in 23 years has been $421,000.

Favorably Mentioned.

The candidacy of John W. McAnaney for Mayor seems to meet with considerable favor not only among Republicans but among Democrats. In fact among citizens who do not usually take an active part in city elections.

Mr. McAnaney has not yet decided to enter the mayoralty field. It is believed that he hesitates to accept a party nomination from either the Republicans or Democrats. That should be because Mayor he would want to be independent and untrammelled. That he would desire to be free to make changes in department officials where he thought necessary for the good of the public service.

There seems to be a demand for a citizens movement, and many are of the opinion that ex-City Solicitor McAnaney would be a good man to head it. He has a wide acquaintance with city affairs and with the needs and shortcomings of the city.

Case Not Prossed.

The cases of Andrew A. Meyer for subornation of perjury, and of Charles L. Prescott and C. M. Moore for perjury, came up in court in Boston this morning. The district attorney after hearing the facts of the case refused to prosecute and the cases were not passed.

The history of the case in brief was as follows. Sometime ago a contractor obtained judgment against Meyer, who appealed. He was obliged to give a bond to protect his appeal, and it was alleged that he obtained Moore and Prescott to go on his bond. It was also alleged that their bond was worthless, and that he committed subornation of perjury in inducing them to go on his bond and that they committed perjury by giving a worthless bond.

Cool Yesterday.

The noon temperature Friday was just 50 degrees, which is four degrees lower than any day this fall, making it the coolest day since May 19, when 49 was recorded.

Last year the first day when the mercury did not rise above 50 was Oct. 11, and there were three days when it was lower—Oct. 28 when 44 was recorded, Oct. 27 when 45 was the maximum, and Oct. 25 when the record was 46.

At sunrise yesterday the mercury registered from 35 to 38.

Carlo Dead.

Carlo, the dog owned by Fred Betts, is dead. Poison administered by some person unknown is said to have been responsible for his demise. He probably died Sunday night, for he was found Monday in a field off Newcomb place.

He was a very clever dog. His delight was to accompany the night policeman in City Square on his beat. During the day he would sometimes go to his home or sleep on one of the sidewalks in City Square. At night, however, he was sure to follow along the heels of the policeman. Time and time have the officers tried to drive him away, but he would not budge. He would lie on the sidewalk in such a manner as to obstruct free passage, and many persons have fallen over him. No matter how hard a kick he got, however, he never offered to bite any one.

Let anyone attack an officer, however, and he was alert.

CITY BRIEFS.

Smelting parties are now the order of the day.

V. E. Miller has enlarged the meat department to his store.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowman of Elm street moved on Saturday to Allston.

John A. Boyd camp, L. S. W., will give a minstrel show next month.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Preston Elia leave on a trip to Washington, D. C.

The many friends of Dr. J. M. Sheehan are pleased to see him out riding every day.

The Board of Registrars met Saturday afternoon and added 26 names to the voting lists.

Mr. Albert Wildsch of Beacon street has returned from a four weeks' rest at St. Johns, N. B.

The delivery wagon of Sanborn & Damon, makes a fine appearance in its new coat of paint.

Walter P. Berry has rented the Charles Crane house on Greenleaf street, corner of Hancock.

Miss Annie Gibson after a five weeks' rest, has resumed her duties at Miss C. S. Hubbard's store.

Charles Francis Adams was one of the honorary bearers Monday at the funeral of Senator How.

The Quincy High foot ball team will be in a league with Dedham, Wellesley and Waltham this year.

The annual meeting of the Fragment society will be held in the Unitarian chapel this afternoon at 3.

The foot ball team of the Mechanic Arts High school will play Thayer Academy at Braintree today.

William Gellotte and family who have been in Sweden during the summer, returned last week in good health.

Dr. and Mrs. Francis Abbe, Jr., have closed their cottage at Post Island and returned to their home on Spear street.

Dr. William Everett is to preach at First church on Sunday morning, taking for his subject the Peace Congress.

The family of Horace F. Spear, who have been at Rose Cliff during the summer, returned to Quincy Tuesday for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Madison Mott Cannon of Spear street leave today for Mt. Monadnock, New Hampshire, for a few weeks' outing.

Painters have been at work on the Taylor house on Merrymount road and the color of the house has been changed from yellow to gray.

The Brownie Club held its first meeting of the season with Mrs. M. A. H. Crane, Washington street, on Wednesday afternoon.

Auctioneer Crane will sell the carriages and household furniture of the late Amos W. Stetson of Braintree at executor's sale on Monday next.

A great many relatives and friends from this city attended the wedding Thursday of Miss Dorothea Bigelow and Mr. Reginald Heath at Brookline.

Rev. W. E. Gardner of this city was chairman of the department of lodgings at the general convention of the Episcopal church in Boston this week.

Officer James A. Murray and Mrs. Murray are receiving congratulations on the birth Wednesday of a son and heir. Will Jim make a policeman of the boy?

After a six weeks' visit with relatives and friends at Winthrop and Manchester, Maine, Mrs. Cora E. Thurston returned to her home on Cherry avenue on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Brown, formerly of Quincy, are spending a few weeks in New York. After their return they will reside at Hotel Greenleaf, Quincy.

Representative Horace R. Drinkwater of Braintree and Joseph F. Costello formerly of Quincy were interested spectators at the District Court on Wednesday morning.

There is considerable moving this fall. On Spear street one of the shortest streets in the city, six families have moved away since summer but their places were quickly filled.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton L. Baker of East Braintree observed the fifth anniversary of their marriage Tuesday evening. There were about 75 people present, Quincy being represented.

The hand painted punch bowl on exhibition in C. F. Pettengill's window is the work of Mrs. Elsie L. Robinson of Roxbury who has many friends and acquaintances in this city.

The extremes of the September month temperatures this year were 87 and 54, while the extremes for September since 1896 have been 92 and 52. In September, 1903, they were 86 and 58.

Because of the rivalry between the Quincy, Sprague and Wollaston Yacht clubs that voting on Oct. 1, C. fair, open to the most popular member of any yacht club of the city, should be a hot affair.

Daniel W. Gorman of this city was elected as the Tenth District Presidential elector of the Socialist party at their State convention on Monday. John Quincy Adams of Amesbury was nominated for governor.

Quincy has every reason to be proud of the appearance of the Alms house. The buildings are neatly painted and the grounds well cared for. It looks so well that strangers often ask who lives there or whose place it is.

No more 80 degree temperature may be expected this year. On two days only in eight years in Quincy the mercury climbed to 80 after Oct. 1. But noon temperature in the 40s may be expected, as we have had it every year since 1895.

Mr. Josiah P. Quincy and his daughter, Mrs. Howe, and her family, have come up to town from their cottage at Nahant, but Miss Huntington will remain there through October with the year-old baby of Mrs. Josiah Quincy. Members of the family expect to spend their Sundays at Nahant—Globe.

The annual reception to mothers and children given at Bethany church on Wednesday afternoon was a very enjoyable affair. Seventy mothers and children were a very pleasant gathering.

Mrs. E. W. Sheppard read an exceedingly interesting paper on "Home Matters," after which refreshments were served and each child was presented with a dainty basket filled with candy as a souvenir.

The success of the Men's socials of Christ church were so successful last year that it has been decided to continue them. At a meeting held this week it was voted that all men over eighteen years of age be eligible and that the yearly dues be seventy-five cents. The object of the club is to broaden ideas and to increase interest among the members. The following are the officers of the club: President, William Thomas; Vice president, Mr. Smith; Secretary, Albert Packard; Treasurer, William Walker.

Alfred Ball is confined to his home on Cottage street by sickness.

The Ancients returned Friday night from their trip to Norfolk, Va.

Regular monthly meeting of the Granite City club this evening.

The old Farmer's Almanac says for Oct. 12-16—Expect some wet weather about this time.

The first foot ball game of the High school eleven will be played next Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. James H. Slade is passing a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. John Shaw of Goffe street.

Mrs. T. L. Sturtevant of Adams street left Monday for a trip through the White Mountains.

Sanborn & Damon have put a Kelsey furnace into Joseph Whitton's new house on Whitney road.

Miss Mattie Holton of Edwards street has accepted a position to teach in the Greenleaf school.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Emery, Miss Emery and Miss Fottler have returned from their trip to Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Pfaffmann of Goffe street are enjoying a ten days' trip to Quebec and Montreal.

Mrs. Henry C. Rodgers who has been ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Burgin, is convalescing.

Mrs. Sarah A. and Miss Abbie Felts of Melrose have returned from a two weeks' visit at Melville, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Caruthers and daughters of Upland road are to move into the Hardwick house on Spear street.

The house of Richardson L. Tappenden on Merrymount road, has been in the hands of the painter and looks fine in its new dress.

Miss Mary and Annie Gibson, after a month's sojourn with friends at Fair Haven, Vt., have returned to their home on Granite street.

"Forced to enlarge" is the startling announcement of D. E. Wadsworth & Co. But this indicates success, and the people are pleased to see it.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Loud have returned from a two weeks' vacation; newlyweds with relatives at Brookline, New York and Patterson, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Fearcy, who have made their home for a few years in the Hardwick house on Spear street, moved from the city this week.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of Bethany church installed new officers Sunday evening. Miss Charlotte Kingman is the new president.

Rev. Edward Norton took part in the services the installation of Rev. Frank E. McAllister as pastor of the Second Baptist Congregational church at Cohasset on Tuesday.

Brooks Adams, Esq., of this city, has been reappointed to the faculty of the Boston University law school. The total registration this year is over 400, the largest number in the history of school.

Mrs. F. E. Whitaker has returned to her home on Melville avenue, New Dorchester, after passing the summer in New Hampshire. She returned later than usual owing to illness but is much better since her return.

The Alliance of First church resumes meetings for the fall and winter on Monday afternoon, at three o'clock in the church parlors. There will be an address on "Alliance Work" by Mrs. A. C. Gibbs of Brookline.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Burrows of Brookline announce the engagement of their daughter, Naomi Agnes, to Frank C. Matthews of New York, the wedding to take place Oct. 11 at Brookline. The Burrows were formerly residents of Quincy, residing on South street.

Several Quincy cases are in order for trial at the Superior civil court at Dedham this term, including George F. Faircloth vs. Peter J. Williams, and Shepard et al. vs. Charles M. Bryant. First Congregational Society vs. City of Quincy, Alice M. Abbott vs. Lillian I. Littlefield and trustee, Annie M. Bates vs. City of Quincy, and James P. King vs. City of Quincy.

Miss Minnie M. Jameson of this city has resigned her position as instructor of music in the public schools of Woburn because of ill health. She has accepted the office for fourteen years, previous to which time she was a teacher at the Coddington school in Quincy. The resignation will take effect Nov. 7.

Quincy was represented at the Republican gathering at the American House, Boston, Thursday evening by Representative R. F. Freeman, ex-Representative E. W. Sheppard, councilman E. R. Stone, Postmaster Charles Hammond, Archibald McLeod, Henry P. Kittredge, Fred Goss, Warren W. Adams, Albert Keating, Frank P. Prescott and others.

Six tables were in play at the matinee whist given by Mrs. B. Porterfield, at her home on Granite street, Monday afternoon. The highest score was 51 and the lowest 20. The following were the lucky winners: Mrs. M. Phillips, Mrs. Isabella Davidson, Mrs. R. Mavers, Mrs. Juliet Driscoll, Mrs. Mary Phelps, Mrs. George Craig, Miss Annie Hobart, Mrs. Christina Mitchell.

The first meeting of the Quincy Branch Alliance will be held Monday, Oct. 10, at 3 P. M. in the parlors of the Unitarian chapel. Owing to the illness of Mrs. Eliot who was to speak on "Alliance Work," the subject will be presented by Mrs. A. C. Gibbs of Brookline. A cordial invitation is extended to all women interested to attend.

Messrs. William W. and John T. Hayward of Chestnut street have returned from their western trip, having travelled about 8,000 miles in a party of twenty-five. They chartered a Pullman car for the trip and it accompanied them to the whole distance. The World's Fair at St. Louis, Colorado Springs, Salt Lake city, a mine and other places were visited.

Mr. and Mrs. James McBride have rented the Pratt house on Spear street and will move in this month. Mr. McBride is a draughtsman at the Fore River Shipbuilding Company, coming from Philadelphia last spring. His mother, Mrs. Marion McBride, a woman well known in club and public life has rented her beautiful home in Arlington and will spend much time in Quincy with her son.

Miss Webster of Cambridge is to give an illustrated talk on Wagner's Parsifal with selections on the piano forte at Colonial hall Monday evening at 7.45. The story of the opera in condensed form. The principal motifs will be played, and the wonderful changes and situations brought out, opera itself as a drama is analyzed and the principal scenes described. Photographs brought from Bayreuth will be shown. Miss Webster heard Parsifal twice in Bayreuth. She is a very interesting speaker, a fine pianist. The listeners are necessarily limited to a certain number of subscribers. The patronesses are: Mrs. Burgin, Mrs. Buckingham, Mrs. Emery, Mrs. Babcock, Miss Emery, Mrs. E. W. Sheppard, Mrs. Marion Huntington, Mrs. Smith, Secretary, Albert Packard; Treasurer, William Walker.

—Felix Adler enjoys a good story, even when it is on himself and does not hesitate to tell them. The women who attended his lectures in Carnegie hall, New York, for many weeks called upon Mr. Adler at his residence one day, and one of them very enthusiastically said: "We wish to tell you in person how much we have enjoyed your lectures. We wish to thank you for them. We have enjoyed them for months, and now we go back to our own church perfectly satisfied."

At the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Gray in Chelsea on Saturday, the mother of Mrs. Gray was present. She is 95 years of age and Mrs. Gray 77.

Have you bought your ticket to the G. A. R. fair.

At the close of her address Mrs. Mary Hastings Slade delighted the audience with a vocal selection and Mrs. Brown invited the company to remain and enjoy a social hour becoming acquainted with the speakers and with each other, and to become members of the union. The meeting was a success adding to the membership and to the funds in the treasury and is designed to be the first of a succession of meetings, keeping alive the interest in temperance throughout the year and assuring the continuance of Quincy's proud rank in the community as a no-license city.

B. & A. Award Prizes. The Boston and Maine Railroad believes in attractive stations and has just given $1075 in gold to agents. The prize list is just announced by the examining committee, Frank H. Dodge and Henry W. Clark, in seven classes. The first four only are given: First class—Prize, $50; Hill Crossing. Second class—Prize, $40; Arlington. Third class—Prize, $25; Franklin Falls N. H.; Lake street, South Lancaster. Fourth class—Prize, $20; Marlboro; Petersburg Junction, N. Y.; Pike, N. H.; Tapleville.

At the close of her address Mrs. Mary Hastings Slade delighted the audience with a vocal selection and Mrs. Brown invited the company to remain and enjoy a social hour becoming acquainted with the speakers and with each other, and to become members of the union. The meeting was a success adding to the membership and to the funds in the treasury and is designed to be the first of a succession of meetings, keeping alive the interest in temperance throughout the year and assuring the continuance of Quincy's proud rank in the community as a no-license city.

B. & A. Award Prizes. The Boston and Maine Railroad believes in attractive stations and has just given $1075 in gold to agents. The prize list is just announced by the examining committee, Frank H. Dodge and Henry W. Clark, in seven classes. The first four only are given: First class—Prize, $50; Hill Crossing. Second class—Prize, $40; Arlington. Third class—Prize, $25; Franklin Falls N. H.; Lake street, South Lancaster. Fourth class—Prize, $20; Marlboro; Petersburg Junction, N. Y.; Pike, N. H.; Tapleville.

At the close of her address Mrs. Mary Hastings Slade delighted the audience with a vocal selection and Mrs. Brown invited the company to remain and enjoy a social hour becoming acquainted with the speakers and with each other, and to become members of the union. The meeting was a success adding to the membership and to the funds in the treasury and is designed to be the first of a succession of meetings, keeping alive the interest in temperance throughout the year and assuring the continuance of Quincy's proud rank in the community as a no-license city.

B. & A. Award Prizes. The Boston and Maine Railroad believes in attractive stations and has just given $1075 in gold to agents. The prize list is just announced by the examining committee, Frank H. Dodge and Henry W. Clark, in seven classes. The first four only are given: First class—Prize, $50; Hill Crossing. Second class—Prize, $40; Arlington. Third class—Prize, $25; Franklin Falls N. H.; Lake street, South Lancaster. Fourth class—Prize, $20; Marlboro; Petersburg Junction, N. Y.; Pike, N. H.; Tapleville.

At the close of her address Mrs. Mary Hastings Slade delighted the audience with a vocal selection and Mrs. Brown invited the company to remain and enjoy a social hour becoming acquainted with the speakers and with each other, and to become members of the union. The meeting was a success adding to the membership and to the funds in the treasury and is designed to be the first of a succession of meetings, keeping alive the interest in temperance throughout the year and assuring the continuance of Quincy's proud rank in the community as a no-license city.

B. & A. Award Prizes. The Boston and Maine Railroad believes in attractive stations and has just given $1075 in gold to agents. The prize list is just announced by the examining committee, Frank H. Dodge and Henry W. Clark, in seven classes. The first four only are given: First class—Prize, $50; Hill Crossing. Second class—Prize, $40; Arlington. Third class—Prize, $25; Franklin Falls N. H.; Lake street, South Lancaster. Fourth class—Prize, $20; Marlboro; Petersburg Junction, N. Y.; Pike, N. H.; Tapleville.

At the close of her address Mrs. Mary Hastings Slade delighted the audience with a vocal selection and Mrs. Brown invited the company to remain and enjoy a social hour becoming acquainted with the speakers and with each other, and to become members of the union. The meeting was a success adding to the membership and to the funds in the treasury and is designed to be the first of a succession of meetings, keeping alive the interest in temperance throughout the year and assuring the continuance of Quincy's proud rank in the community as a no-license city.

B. & A. Award Prizes. The Boston and Maine Railroad believes in attractive stations and has just given $1075 in gold to agents. The prize list is just announced by the examining committee, Frank H. Dodge and Henry W. Clark, in seven classes. The first four only are given: First class—Prize, $50; Hill Crossing. Second class—Prize, $40; Arlington. Third class—Prize, $25; Franklin Falls N. H.; Lake street, South Lancaster. Fourth class—Prize, $20; Marlboro; Petersburg Junction, N. Y.; Pike, N. H.; Tapleville.

At the close of her address Mrs. Mary Hastings Slade delighted the audience with a vocal selection and Mrs. Brown invited the company to remain and enjoy a social hour becoming acquainted with the speakers and with each other, and to become members of the union. The meeting was a success adding to the membership and to the funds in the treasury and is designed to be the first of a succession of meetings, keeping alive the interest in temperance throughout the year and assuring the continuance of Quincy's proud rank in the community as a no-license city.

B. & A. Award Prizes. The Boston and Maine Railroad believes in attractive stations and has just given $1075 in gold to agents. The prize list is just announced by the examining committee, Frank H. Dodge and Henry W. Clark, in seven classes. The first four only are given: First class—Prize, $50; Hill Crossing. Second class—Prize, $40; Arlington. Third class—Prize, $25; Franklin Falls N. H.; Lake street, South Lancaster. Fourth class—Prize, $20; Marlboro; Petersburg Junction, N. Y.; Pike, N. H.; Tapleville.

At the close of her address Mrs. Mary Hastings Slade delighted the audience with a vocal selection and Mrs. Brown invited the company to remain and enjoy a social hour becoming acquainted with the speakers and with each other, and to become members of the union. The meeting was a success adding to the membership and to the funds in the treasury and is designed to be the first of a succession of meetings, keeping alive the interest in temperance throughout the year and assuring the continuance of Quincy's proud rank in the community as a no-license city.

B. & A. Award Prizes. The Boston and Maine Railroad believes in attractive stations and has just given $1075 in gold to agents. The prize list is just announced by the examining committee, Frank H. Dodge and Henry W. Clark, in seven classes. The first four only are given: First class—Prize, $50; Hill Crossing. Second class—Prize, $40; Arlington. Third class—Prize, $25; Franklin Falls N. H.; Lake street, South Lancaster. Fourth class—Prize, $20; Marlboro; Petersburg Junction, N. Y.; Pike, N. H.; Tapleville.

At the close of her address Mrs. Mary Hastings Slade delighted the audience with a vocal selection and Mrs. Brown invited the company to remain and enjoy a social hour becoming acquainted with the speakers and with each other, and to become members of the union. The meeting was a success adding to the membership and to the funds in the treasury and is designed to be the first of a succession of meetings, keeping alive the interest in temperance throughout the year and assuring the continuance of Quincy's proud rank in the community as a no-license city.

WOLLASTON.

Miss Mable Cody of Beale street is spending a few days with relatives in Jamaica Plain.

William Mullane letter carrier at the Wollaston P. O., has returned from an extended visit to Ireland. He began his duties Friday. Everybody is glad to see Billy back again.

The Gleaners Circle of King's Daughters will meet at the home of Mrs. Cornish, 33 Grand View avenue, on Monday Oct. 10 at half past two P. M.

John Holmes and family, formerly of Hyanis, are spending the autumn with the parents of Mrs. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Simmons of South Central avenue.

The Wollaston Golf club will have an invitation tournament Oct. 14 and 15.

A members' handicap of the Wollaston Golf club is scheduled for this afternoon.

Everett Atkins and Miss Mabel Hastings of Waltham were the guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Shunk of Wollaston. Miss Hastings was a schoolmate of Mrs. Shunk, both attending the Wollaston school.

The special administrators of the estate of Joseph A. Willard, late clerk of the Suffolk Superior court, appraise the estate at $73,750. There is a contest over the will.

James Barnes and family have moved from Quincy to North Central avenue, Wollaston.

The senior class of the Wollaston Unitarian Sunday School was pleasantly entertained Saturday evening by the Weston boys, at their home on Arlington street.

Clarence Abbott of Boston spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Albert Cain of Hersey place.

The many friends of Capt. and Mrs. Scott will be glad to learn that they have taken up their abode on Cleverly court for the winter.

Rev. R. J. Haughton of Weymouth Heights preached at the Washington street Congregational church, Sunday morning, in exchange with the pastor. The service was very interesting.

A candidate for the Legislature last week, left Monday for Seattle where he has accepted a position.

A driver of one of Drew's Weymouth express teams drank more than was good for him on Tuesday, and that evening while driving toward South street, Washington street at Quincy Point he lost his balance and fell from his team. He was carried to the office of Dr. Middleton and from there removed to the police station in the patrol wagon.

Here City Physician Welch looked him over and found he had come with a few bruises. He was then locked up for drunkenness.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. H. Thayer of Wendell road entertained friends Tuesday evening.

Mr. Seward McDuffy of Cleverly court entertained friends at whist Tuesday evening.

The old Mead estate, corner of Washington street and Cleverly court, is being remodelled.

Mr. Herbert Adams and family have moved into the Dean homestead on Washington street.

Mrs. Eva Shepherd of this city is the guest of Mrs. Ellen Curtis of Avon, for a few days.

Tuesday night was certainly a busy night at the Fore River Shipbuilding Company. A great many of the men worked all night.

Miss Etta Amidon of Warren is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Snow of Howard avenue.

The arc light at the junction of South and East Howard streets gives rather a dim light these nights. What is the trouble?

Lieutenant-Commander W. R. Rush has been appointed additional duty as inspector of ordinance, at the works of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company, the order being issued from headquarters at Washington on Wednesday.

Miss Emily Poole of Hanover, N. H., was here on a visit at her home in North Weymouth. Miss Poole came here to attend the wedding of her brother Ralph, which took place Wednesday evening.

The sub-marines which were built at the Fore River Shipbuilding Company left for freight Wednesday morning 27 cases being required.

Wollaston W. C. T. U. On Tuesday evening October the fourth, the Wollaston branch of the Women's Christian Temperance Union opened the season's work in a most auspicious manner. Supper was served in the vestry of the Methodist church at six-thirty, to which all were bidden. The tables were made more attractive by cut flowers tastefully arranged.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Loud have returned from a two weeks' vacation; newlyweds with relatives at Brookline, New York and Patterson, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Burrows of Brookline announce the engagement of their daughter, Naomi Agnes, to Frank C. Matthews of New York, the wedding to take place Oct. 11 at Brookline. The Burrows were formerly residents of Quincy, residing on South street.

Several Quincy cases are in order for trial at the Superior civil court at Dedham this term, including George F. Faircloth vs. Peter J. Williams, and Shepard et al. vs. Charles M. Bryant. First Congregational Society vs. City of Quincy, Alice M. Abbott vs. Lillian I. Littlefield and trustee, Annie M. Bates vs. City of Quincy, and James P. King vs. City of Quincy.

Miss Minnie M. Jameson of this city has resigned her position as instructor of music in the public schools of Woburn because of ill health. She has accepted the office for fourteen years, previous to which time she was a teacher at the

C. H. TOWER,
UPHOLSTERER.
CARPETS taken up, Cleaned and Repaired.
FURNITURE Upholstered and Repaired.
HAIR MATRESSES made over and made to order.
Full line of latest coverings to select from.
Send postal or telephone for estimates.
Telephone, 64-4 Quincy.
Address 182 Howard street, Quincy Point.
August 20.

Burdett
Colleges
BOSTON LYNN
REMOVED TO 125 Boylston St.,
Washington St.
Continental Building.
Most Elegantly
Equipped School
in New England.
Pat. Actual Business. Shortland, Typing, English,
and all business
Studies. Normal
Course for Teachers.
Situations for Students.
Pupils may begin on and after Sept. 6.
Call or Write for Prospectus.
No Solicitors nor Claustrators.

If You Wish to be SURE of first class work at lowest prices, consult us in all branches of

Plumbing and Heating.
We are confident of our ability to satisfy,
and our well known reputation and 30 years' experience in the business, is sufficient guarantee.

We carry a full line of
MAGEE RANGES.
Drop in and we will show you how they are superior to all others.

Kitchen Furnishing Goods,
Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Brushes,
Garden Tools, Vegetable and Flower Seeds, Poultry and Chicken Netting, Screen Wire, Nails, Oil
Stoves, Lamps, etc., etc.

MAY BE FOUND AT OUR
NEW STORE.
SANBORN & DAMON,
1428 Hancock Street
Quincy.

ABBOTT & MILLER'S BOUGHES NECK.
QUINCY AND BOSTON EXPRESS.
G. M. MILLER, General Manager.

Furniture Packed.
Office, 64 Washington Street.
Quincy P. O. address, Lock Box 3.
Telephone Connections.

Worms?
Small children are troubled with worms and it is a source of much trouble to the parents. Dr. True's Elixir will expel them without any harm, and will keep them from coming back.
Bottle, 75 CENTS & 1.00, Ambrose, N.Y.

"AUTHORITY OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE
can well be claimed of a book that has the unqualified endorsement of the Executive Departments of the Government, the U. S. Supreme Court, all the State Supreme Courts, all the State Superintendents of Schools, nearly all of the College Presidents, and Educators generally.
The New and Enlarged Edition of Webster's International Dictionary of English, Biography, Geography, Fiction, etc., has 2280 quarto pages with 5000 illustrations. It has 25,000 words, new Gazetteer and Biographical Dictionary, all edited by W. T. Harris, Ph.D., LL.D., U. S. Commissioner of Education, bringing the work fully up to date.

LET US SEND YOU FREE
"A Text in Pronunciation" which affords a pleasant and instructive evening's entertainment. Illustrated pamphlet also free.
G. & C. MERIAM CO., Pubs.,
Springfield, Mass.

LIPPINCOTT'S
MONTHLY MAGAZINE
A FAMILY LIBRARY
The Best in Current Literature
12 COMPLETE NOVELS YEARLY MANY SHORT STORIES AND PAPERS ON TIMELY TOPICS
$2.50 PER ANNUM; 25 CTS. A COPY
NO CONTINUED STORIES
EVERY NUMBER COMPLETE IN ITSELF

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURE WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS
Best Cough Syrup, Croup, Whooping Cough, Asthma, etc.
CONSUMPTION
25 CENTS

JOB PRINTING
AT THE
PATRIOT OFFICE

The Quincy Patriot.
Sixty-Eighth Year.
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1904.
SINGLE COPIES 5 CENTS.
FOR SALE AT
The Patriot Office,
Quincy, Mass.,
H. P. Kirtland,
J. P. O'Brien,
C. F. Carlson,
Miss E. M. Freeman,
Sprague & Hobart,
Barnes & Bates,
Thomas Gurney,
Branch & Martens,
Norfolk House,
Peter L. Litchfield,
W. E. Nightingale,
H. E. Doble & Co.,
Henry Coram,
South Boston Station,
William Clark,
Fred J. Mullane,
N. H. Procter,
H. H. Hunt,
Arthur Dunham,
Quincy,
City Square,
38 Hancock St.,
Quincy Point,
Volunteer,
West Quincy,
Brewer's Corner,
East Milton,
Neposset,
Brantree,
East Weymouth,
Houghs Neck.

Poetry.
October Voices.
LOUIS LEWIN MATTHEWS.
Fresh drifting from the ocean
Come drifting from the ocean
The birds of summer's twilight
Fly to the south land free.
The leaves are casting glories
Far down the woodland way
The west is filled with splendor
As pass the hours of day.
The golden rod and aster
Along the hedge and field
The harvest days are closing
As fruits from blossoms yield.
The mystery of the season
Grows vast and wondrous fair;
How sweet is all the springtime!
How perfect autumn's air.

Notes and Comments.
—In the American bankers' convention in New York recently the association, which has 7,563 members, was found to represent an aggregate capital of eleven billion dollars. This fact will be a great treat for the socialists but, after all, there will be no smart men in the world to handle the world's money wisely.—Meadford Leader.

—It is easy enough to talk of a billion dollars, but what does it really mean? The city of Boston affords a good example. On May 1 of this year the total assessed valuation of Boston real estate was $1,000,122,000. On that amount $607,100 was paid in taxes, and $338,100, or 55 per cent, was paid in taxes. In mind, then, we can have some idea of what it is to be a millionaire.—Somerville Journal.

—A quartet of prominent Democrats, Robert Treat Paine, Jr., Gen. Francis Peabody, Judge Grant and James J. Roche, editors of the Boston Pilot, have declared their intention of voting for Roosevelt. It is surprising, to say the least, that either of these gentlemen should support the Republican candidate for president, but undoubtedly each of them think that they have good and sufficient reason for doing so. "I believe," said Gen. Peabody, "there is less danger from Roosevelt's election than from Parker's. The Democratic party at present is made up of several discordant elements. I cannot forgive the Democrats for nominating Bryan in 1896 and 1900. I was particularly incensed over the nomination of Davis for vice-president, and the domination of Bryan over the convention. It is shocking to name a man as old as Davis because a lot of money was expected. If that is not selling the nomination I am mistaken. I don't like that kind of politics and have always voted against it." Judge Grant refuses to give his reasons for voting for President Roosevelt, saying that he does not think it proper for him as a judge to discuss the merits of the candidates, and give reasons why he should vote for one in preference to the other. Mr. Roche expressed himself thus in an editorial in the "Pilot": "Theodore Roosevelt has borne himself well in the Presidential chair. He has done his duty as he saw it, fearlessly, wisely and impartially. In so doing he has offended many millionaires, a legion of snobs and a multitude of fools. None of these will vote him an extension of office. They ought not to; but the great majority of the American people are not millionaires, nor snobs, nor fools." Perhaps the strangest conversion of all is that of Robert Treat Paine, Jr., who has twice been the Democratic nominee for governor of Massachusetts.—Athol Chronicle.

—Both the Methodist and Baptist pastors in Statesboro, Ga., where the fiendish lynching lately occurred, openly advocate the expulsion of the members of their members who may be shown to have taken part in the lynching.

—The annual dinner of the Republican Club of Massachusetts will be held in Symphony Hall on Tuesday evening, October 11. The president of the club will be Hon. Eben S. Draper of Hopedale, president of the club, and among the speakers will be Governor Bates, Senators Lodge and Foraker and former Senator Thurston of Nebraska. Tickets are already on sale to the members and others who may wish to purchase. The Salem Cadet Band will furnish music, and in every way the dinner promises to be a success worthy of its predecessors.

—Scrap leather is the latest substitute for wood in the manufacture of railroad wheels. The process has been worked out by F. W. Dannel, of West Warren, Mass., who has had the occasion to give the subject of paper making some study, and the leather railroad tie is the result. He claims that the tie can be made so hard that it will resist a spike, if this were desirable; but when the tie is made at a proper density for railroad purposes, it will take the spike as nicely as wood, and will hold it much better. The tie is said to resist the action of water and chemicals to a great extent, and the inventor estimates its life at thirty-five years. Samples of this tie put down some twenty-eight months ago in the yard of the Boston & Albany Railroad at West Springfield have not shown the least wear, although they have been subjected to the hardest usage. The material from which the tie is made represents the waste of the shoe and leather goods factories, of which there are many in New England.—Scientific American.

—The power of example is reflected in the increased sale of tin soldiers during the past three months. The business has grown one half, and manufacturers of toys believe that the war in the East accounts for it.

—Yvesville, which burst out the other day in the greatest eruption since 1872, is quieting down—perhaps because it found that it couldn't get undivided attention while the base ball championship in the American league remains unsettled.—Somerville Journal.

—A lady in Louisville has just died from a cancerous growth caused by wearing high-heeled shoes.

—George Meredith, the novelist, comes out in favor of marriages for limited periods only. George is dead slow. The criminal practice is already several decades in advance of his theory.—Mansfield News.

—In one large dry goods shop in London many of the women clerks are said to be the daughters of impoverished Church of England clergymen. The long-continued agricultural depression has lessened the income of the country clergy until they find it a hard matter to live. While the pay the clerk receives is small, it is much better than that of the average English governor.

—The New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad is engaged in dismantling its third rail electric line between Nantasket Junction and Braintree, and the announcement is made that the electrical equipment and operation of its suburban lines will not be undertaken until the invention of new appliances or the perfection of those now existing makes such a step more feasible. During the past few years tens of thousands of suburbanites living in the vicinity of Boston have been expecting electric transit, especially since the new South station was built, with a subway intended for the handling of this traffic. It is now apparent that the experiments which have been made with the trolley and the third rail for roads otherwise equipped for steam operation have not proved satisfactory.—Hingham Journal.

—A new temperance measure has been introduced in the Ohio legislature to find something more effective than short terms of imprisonment as a punishment for drunkenness. The policemen have been ordered to put in a wheelbarrow each man found drunk and wheel him around town on exhibition for a while before taking him to the police station.—The Universalist Leader.

—The New York police authorities have decided after some discussion that women may smoke cigarettes while riding in automobiles if they want to.

—Report from Chatham and from surrounding town show that the unusually first Cape Cod cranberry crop has suffered considerably from the recent frosts. One grower lost 500 barrels. As a rule the small growers suffer most, for they occupy low land and do not have the irrigation facilities of the large owners, who flood the bog during frost and thus often save the crop.—Hingham Journal.

—Although a Presidential election is only about five weeks away, a great political calm seems to envelope the country. The surface never seemed so smooth and untroubled at this time in a Presidential year. This is due largely to the fact that the candidates are in both sides have maintained an admirable silence. This is not a great speech-making campaign, though there will be plenty of spellbinders toward the end. The newspapers are doing most of the talking this year. Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Parker are content to remain silent, and Mr. Davis could not do much speaking if he wanted to. Senator Fairbanks is an effective, earnest speaker, and will be kept busy, but there is no indication of excitement of political frenzy such as has been witnessed in some previous campaigns. There are abundant reasons why things should be as they are. In the first place the people generally are satisfied with President Roosevelt. There is nothing in his public or private life worthy of real criticism. His administration is distinctly American, and therefore popular. He is surrounded by able men, whose sole motive seems to be to do that which is right. On the other hand, the Democrats have nominated a man of judicial poise, gracious manners, mild and affable disposition, and unquestioned ability. He is but little known, but that little is all in his favor.—Brookline Chronicle.

—When a girl gives a young man her picture, she gives him something for it, the least he can do is to make her think that he is going to pay seven dollars for a frame for it, and put it on his dressing case.—Somerville Journal.

—Brown, the New Hampshire murderer, and others of his class who commit suicide are to be commended at least for their public service in this respect. They take the authorities lots of trouble and the state a big expense and as a rule they are no earthly use above ground.—Mansfield News.

—During the heavy storm on Thursday, week before last, the tide performed queer freaks at Ouse. High tide was due at 12.30, but full sea was there about 9.20, and at 11 the tide had reached the lowest point known, while a couple of hours later a regular Bay of Fundy bore was rushing in again, and carried boats and everything aloft before it, besides covering oyster grants with tons of sand, which will mean a heavy loss to oyster growers.—Hingham Journal.

—A London jeweler recently had a thermometer stolen from his shop, and the next day put up the following notice in the space where the thermometer once hung: "Will the misguided individual who took the thermometer without leave the other day please return it to the shop. He has made a mistake. It can be of no use to him in the place to which he is going, as it only registers 125 degrees of heat."

—The New York subway is actually going to be opened October 27.

—Several inventors are now at work on a noiseless typewriter, as the sound of a large number of office grants on one's nerves. One man has made a rubber device to kill the noise, and the second has made a glass case which encloses everything but the keyboard and the roller.

—The 1900 census shows that white farmers operated 4,970,120 farms in this country, with a total of 798,098,187 acres, and valued at $19,011,431,880, exclusive of products. Negroes operated 746,717 farms, including 38,283,093 acres, and valued at $409,047,734. Indians had 19,010 farms, valued at $38,230,478. Chinese 1842 farms, Japanese 570 and Hawaiians 480. Of the entire number of farmers, 3,149,944 owned their entire farm, and 451,915 were part owners.

—The New York, New Haven & Hartford road carried into Boston during the past 12 months 20,948,325 passengers, an increase of 882,019 over the previous year. This beats the number carried by the Boston & Maine road by over 700,000. Heretofore the Boston & Maine has led.

Church Sunday.

Sunday was observed as "Church Sunday" by the scholars of the First Church Sunday school. A hundred of them attended the regular church service at half-past ten, when Rev. E. C. Butler preached a sermon appropriate to the young but equally appreciated by his adult congregation.

At the session of the Sunday school at 12 o'clock, the regular routine exercises were held for fifteen minutes, followed by papers and talks on the history of the church.

Assistant Superintendent Schumacher gave a brief talk on the early history of the church, followed by a list of ministers of the church by one of the boys of his class. Superintendent Johnson read a letter from Rev. D. M. Wilson a former pastor. Miss Harriet Johnson gave a little talk on Unitarianism. Mr. Butler made a few remarks. Mr. Herbert Arnold read the observance of the 250th anniversary of the church. The children participated in the exercises with appropriate text, verses, etc.

The idea of the exercises were to give the children a clearer idea of what the Unitarian church is, and particularly the old First church and its history. The work it has done and is doing; and the work it can do in the future to uplift and benefit mankind.

Autumn flowers and palms brightened up the chapel and there was a large attendance of parents and friends.

Sunday Raids.

The police went on the war-path Sunday morning, after alleged violators of the liquor law. When they completed their work the police station looked like a wholesale liquor house. Four places were raided and liquors seized at each place.

In the raiding party were Chief Hayden, Inspector McKay, Officers Goodhue, Burrell, Larkin, Curran, Lyons and Cahill.

The first place visited was that of James P. Flanagan at 812 street. Here the officers seized one case of porter, seventeen cases of ale, two gallons of whiskey, one gallon each of gin, sherry and port, and two 8-gallon kegs of ale.

Mrs. Mary G. Collier of Claremont avenue received the next call, and when the police left her house they carried away one-half barrel of ale, eight gallons of beer and 175 empty beer bottles.

That aristocratic named street, Broadway, was next in order and a call made upon Esther Robinson at No. 35. Their visit was unexpected and they confiscated 35 bottles of ale, 53 empty beer bottles, a gallon of whiskey, 16 gallons of ale, and 6 bottles of beer.

Jennie E. Hannon, 51 Broadway, was also called upon, and prevailed upon to part with 30 bottles of ale, 15 bottles of beer, two gallons of whiskey and 100 empty beer bottles.

Officer Cahill received a bad cut on his hand during the raids. It was at Flanagan's that he fell and cut a gash in his right hand, with a bottle, that required six stitches.

Court Records.

Probation Officer Francis A. Spear reports the following as the record of the criminal business before the district court at Quincy in September:

The total number of cases for the month was 169, divided as follows: Drunk, 60; violation of park rules, 22; larceny, 11; assault, 9; breaking and entering, violation of automobile law and search for liquors, 8 each; disturbing the peace and assault on an officer, 3 each; disturbance on street, 3 each; non-support, threat and violation of by-laws, 2 each; carrying concealed weapons, exposing person, malicious mischief, profanity, truancy, tramp, search for stolen goods, liquor nuisance and liquor sale, 1 each.

Fourteen cases were continued to pay fines, 14 for disposition, 7 for further hearing, 2 defaulted, 8 warrants were not served.

The total number of cases for the court year which ends Oct. 1, was 1378, an increase of 73 over the previous year. The number of cases by month was as follows: October, 14; November, 103; December, 123; January, 68; February, 91; March, 120; April, 117; May, 132; June 150; July, 185; August, 197; September, 160.

Adams Chapter.

Members of Adams Chapter Daughters of the Revolution gathered around the big fire in the old fireplace at the birthplace of President John Adams Monday afternoon for their first fall meeting. Mrs. Charles Belcher of Randolph read a paper on "Travel in Colonial Days" and the regular business of the chapter was discussed. A social hour followed with refreshments of chocolate and cake. The hostesses were Mrs. E. G. Pratt, Mrs. A. H. Gilson, Mrs. Frank Brewer and Mrs. Charles Wilson. The November meeting is to be an all day meeting, and the old fashioned sewing bee and noon dinner.

Y. M. C. A. Auxiliaries.

The second annual conference of the Young Men's Christian Association of Massachusetts and Rhode Island will meet at the Association Building, Cambridge, October 11-13, and a strong program has been prepared. Quincy will send delegates. Among the speakers are Miss Frances J. Dyer, Boston; Mrs. H. H. Leavitt, Somerville; Mrs. A. H. Grover, Lynn; Mrs. George A. Brown, Everett; Mrs. H. P. Higgins, Worcester; Mrs. M. M. Lamson, Auburndale; Mrs. Ira D. Hasbrouck, Providence; Henry F. Rambor, Cambridge; A. G. Bookwalter, Boston; Rev. A. C. Dixon, D. D., Boston, and Z. C. Collins, Manchester, N. H.

The City Council.

There was an attempt in the City Council Monday evening to reduce the additional appropriation of $3,000 for schools to $2,000, which caused a lengthy debate. The amendment was defeated and the order passed with only three in opposition.

Councilman Holmes and Polk were the absentees.

The Overseer of the Poor sent a communication stating that the appropriation for his department for 1903 was exhausted and that there were bills unpaid amounting to $2,406.80. To Finance Committee.

Councilman Whitton offered a resolution setting forth that the street railway was discriminating in issuing its half fare school tickets by refusing to sell them to children attending private schools, and that the Mayor request the railroad to sell half fare tickets to all scholars attending schools in Quincy.

Mayor Bryant said that this matter was taken up with the railroad two years ago and that they then agreed to issue half fare tickets to children attending private schools and that they had done so.

It was something new if they did not do so now.

Councilman Whitton said that he had tried to buy some for a niece who was attending the Greenleaf street school, and had been refused.

Mayor Bryant—The railroad claimed that the Adams Academy, Woodward and Greenleaf schools were endowed institutions. He did not think the City Council had a very good case to go before the railroad to include all private schools. The way they drew the line was seemingly fair. He did not think it necessary to pass the order.

Councilman Whitton—They are not selling to the Adams Academy and Woodward children, and if the Greenleaf were included the amount would be small.

The order was adopted.

A public hearing was held on the petition of the Telephone Company to attach wires to poles of other companies on Arlington street. No one appeared for or against and the hearing closed.

Councilman Loud offered an order for $800 for public seals to be erected near the fountain in City Square. To Committee on Public Buildings.

Councilman Bass offered an order that the Mayor be requested to direct the Gas company to light Goffe street upon the same schedule that Adams street is being lighted until such time as the Electric Light company was in position to light the street as ordered. To Committee on Streets.

Councilman Hughes offered an order for polling places for the State election. Adopted.

The order laying out Channing street took its second reading.

The following orders were passed to be ordered by the City Engineer:

Granting the Telephone Co. a location for poles on Penn street and Newport avenue.

Granting the Telephone Co. a relocation for poles on Sea street, Sea avenue and Willard street.

Granting the Telephone Co. permission to attach wires to poles on Canal and Field streets.

The order appropriating $3,000 for schools took its second reading and the rules were suspended.

Councilman Phipps offered an amendment making the amount $2000.

He said that when the order came up we were told that the cost to Quincy for text books and supplies was among the lowest. He found by the report of the State board that it was among the highest, standing number five in the list of cities. Also told that the cost coming from other towns criticized the quality and quantity of supplies. It seems, if we pay more and get poor quality and quantity, something must be wrong. In a recent report Quincy has a little better showing, standing number ten in the list of cities. Were also told that the School Board asked for $9,000 for supplies and sundries. The $1,500 out from that would leave $7,500. I find by the September report of the board that there was a balance of $3,823.40. Now, if they have a balance it has been added to the fund. It would be $1,500 could go to even the schools and $500 to books and supplies. This amount with what they set aside will give them $9,100 for books and supplies. He believed economy should be practiced in the School board as in other departments.

Councilman Reardon would like to know if the text books were leased or purchased outright.

Councilman Bass hoped the matter would be settled tonight that the evening schools might open. He moved the Council go into the committee of the whole.

Councilman Whitton was elected chairman and C. A. Spear clerk.

Upon vote, Dr. Halliwell of the School board, appeared before the committee.

Dr. Halliwell said he had not prepared himself on this subject. He stated that it was proper for him to appear as that duty devolved upon the chairman. He was simply present as a citizen.

cent is expended. He did not believe money had been squandered here. They do the best they can. It was a mistake to cut the amount down. He believed schools were run economically.

Councilman Stone—The School Committee would not be expected to know how many children were to come to school. The records show they are doing business right and were educating the children cheap. They have been antagonized on every move they have made and it all comes from the same quarter.

Councilman Whitton—The text book matter is fixed by the State, and it was up to the Council to furnish the money. Councilman Reardon—Some people have been antagonized on every move they have made and it all comes from the same quarter.

Councilman Stone—Books have been bought but not put for as the bills have not come in. If we do not want to provide money the School Board can contract bills and the City Council has got to pay for them.

Councilman Phipps—Councilman have no right to accuse any member of antagonizing. He was living up to his obligation. He had no antagonism. He did not believe they had been economical.

Councilman Langelier—Statistics are misleading. Schools usually contracted large bills for supplies in August which were not paid until September or later.

The amendment of Councilman Phipps was lost.

Physical Director.

The Board of Directors of the Young Men's Christian Association have called Mr. F. B. Bagbee to take charge of the physical department of the association upon entering the new building.

Mr. Bagbee is a graduate of the Springfield, Mass., Y. M. C. A. Training School, having completed the regular course, (three years), and a year of post graduate work. He has had experience in boys' club and boys' brigade work and comes to Quincy particularly well equipped to take up the work of physical director.

Few have the technical training which Mr. Bagbee has had, which, together with his pleasing personality and common sense will go far toward making the department a success from the start.

Mr. Bagbee comes to Quincy about December 1.

Foot Ball.

The Quincy Football team played their fourth game, in the Merrimack Valley League series, at Andover on Saturday.

The Quincys started in to rush matters from the first, after seven minutes of play, they had a goal to their credit, and by hard playing soon added two more. At half-time the score stood 3 to 1 in Quincy's favor.

When play was resumed for the second half, it became evident that the Quincy players had lost considerable of the snap which they had shown during the early part of the game and with about twenty minutes to play, the score was Andover 4, Quincy 3, but Quincy scored shortly after, and when within three minutes of the finish, Quincy scored again which left it 5 to 4 in favor of this week.

The Quincys play the Merrimack team this week Saturday at Ward Three playground, when a very interesting game is expected. The game will commence at 3.30 P. M.

Stroke Handicap.

C. S. Erswell made the best gross score and J. H. Churchill the best net score at the open golf tournament, stroke handicap, under the auspices of the Merry Mount Golf club Saturday.

The summary:

Player and club.	Gross. cap. Net.
J. H. Churchill, Wollaston	82 10 73
J. H. Sieton, Merry Mount	91 18 73
C. S. Erswell, Merry Mount	81 6 75
W. J. Peterson, Merry Mount	95 18 77
A. N. Wakefield, Merry Mount	98 18 80
L. C. Crane, Wollaston	88 6 82
E. M. Hopes, invited	101 18 83
W. M. Fox, Brockton	101 16 88

—Charles H. DesLauries of East Weymouth reports that he was robbed of $273 and a gold watch in Boston on Saturday. He attended the ball game.

Anecdotes.

Daughter—"Where have sister and George gone?"

Father—"I've sent them into the dark room to develop their affections."

"Say," said little Freddie to Mr. Mangleston, "do you know what?"

"No," "What?"

"When sister Fannie comes down stairs you watch and see how she limps. We've all been getting vaccinated. Mine's on my left arm."

Chicago Times-Herald.

A teacher in civil government had told his pupils that once in ten years the state of Massachusetts takes a census. Little James, who is an attentive scholar, upon being called up to recite said:

"Once in every ten years Massachusetts takes its senses."

Household Receipts.

Oysters a la Risotto. Drain the liquor from one pint of oysters, boil and skim it, add to it half a cup of well washed rice, and after a few minutes rapid boiling, place it over boiling water and cook until the rice is tender. Then stir in a heaped tablespoonful of butter and let it cool slightly. Add one well beaten egg and spread it on a platter for serving. It should be about an inch deep. With the bowl of a tablespoon make little hollows in the rice, and lay an oyster in each. Cover the oysters with melted butter, add a little pepper and cover with the buttered cracker crumbs. Bake in a quick oven until brown.

Polatina. Take one cup of stewed tomato and the gravy left from roast beef. Let them boil, and season with cayenne and salt. Slice two onions, soak them in cold salted water, drain dry and fry in deep fat. Cut about a pint of cold butter into the thinnest possible shavings. Have the platter as hot as possible, lay the shaved beef on it, pour on the boiling sauce, and garnish with the fried onions.

Scalloped Salad. Put into a basin of salted water and cook slowly for an hour. Rinse in cold water and again boil slowly twenty minutes; then plunge in cold water, drain, and cut in slices, mixing with the same quantity of celery cut in pieces; put in salad bowl and cover with a mayonnaise dressing; garnish with slices of lemon and celery leaves.

Quincy Real Estate Sales.

The following is a list of the recent real estate sales in Quincy:

Gallopse Mortar by to Mr. Mazzacarra. Albert W. Parker to Frederick E. Tupper. Estelle Meyer heirs to Walter T. Fuller. Clement Nix to Walter T. Fuller. Benjamin C. Smith to Walter T. Fuller. U. S. Standard Scale Co. to Walter T. Fuller. William E. Haun to Samuel N. Mayo. Edmund K. Baker to Charles H. Fegan. Clarence H. Drake to Margaret Ingraham. Sidney Coolidge to Fore River Shipbuilding Co.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

Tremont Theatre.

On Monday evening, Oct. 10, the young American tragedienne, Miss O'Neill, will begin an engagement of one week only in Manager Schofield's newly-decorated playhouse, the Tremont. The simple announcement of Miss O'Neill's return to Boston will be sufficient to crowd the theatre at every performance of her limited engagement. Indeed, the popular and brilliant tragedienne is so firmly entrenched in the hearts and minds of the Boston theatre-goers that her engagement will be a success could be extended indefinitely, but other attractions are scheduled for the Tremont, and besides, Miss O'Neill is booked for three months' engagement at the Grand Opera House, New York. The repertoire for the Tremont week will comprise "Magda," "Fires of St. John," "Hedra Gabler," and a new biblical tragedy by Thomas Bailey Aldrich, entitled "Judith of Bethulia." The opening play will be "Magda," Mr. Aldrich's play, which will be Miss O'Neill's "piece de resistance" this season, is based on the legend of "Judith and Holofernes" in the Apocrypha, and is said to be a tragedy of great dramatic power and beauty of language. The play is in four acts and six scenes, and affords much opportunity for great scenic and pictorial display which Manager Schofield has taken every advantage of.

Castle Square Theatre.

The announcement of the romantic drama "Soldiers of Fortune" as the attraction at the Castle Square Theatre next week, coming so soon after the original presentation of the play, indicates a determination on the part of the management of this theatre to keep its patrons familiar with all the plays of the day worthy of consideration. The skilful work done by Augustus Thomas in making a play from the story told by Richard Henry Davis was freely admitted when the play was first produced and its popularity has been largely gained by the value of the scenes, situations and dialogue originating with the author of the stage version. "Soldiers of Fortune" is a play for only one week and the usual distribution of souvenir books of bouquets will be made at the Monday matinee.

the public buildings and in Talmage's Presbyterian church which has been opened for headquarters. Adams.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1904.

In Favor of Defendant.

In the Superior civil court at Dedham Monday morning, in the action of libel brought by George F. Faircloth vs. George W. Prescott, the publisher of the Quincy Daily Ledger, the jury found for the defendant.

The case was brought because of the publication in the Daily Ledger of April 9, 1902, without comment, of charges preferred by Chief Engineer Peter J. Williams against said Faircloth, who had been suspended as a member of the Quincy Fire Department.

In this case the defendant pleaded the truth of the charges as a defense, and went to trial before the jury on that issue, with the result as above.

City Solicitor Paul H. Blackman appeared for the defendant, while the plaintiff was represented by E. J. Parker.

Faircloth also brought a suit against Peter J. Williams because of the charges and this case is in order for trial at this term of court. It might have been tried with the other case, but Chief Engineer Williams has been confined to the house by illness and was unable to attend court.

Battleship Launching.

The arrangements for the launching of the battleship New Jersey being built at the works of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co. in this city, have been completed, and the date fixed for Nov. 10. She will be christened by the daughter of the Governor of New Jersey, Mrs. W. B. Kinney.

Gov. Crane Appointed.

Governor John L. Bates has appointed Winthrop Murray Crane United States senator from Massachusetts to succeed the late Senator Hoar. Governor Crane's term of office under this appointment will only run till the early part of January next, when the Legislature of 1905 will elect a senator, and there is no doubt but that body will endorse the action of Mr. Bates.

The election at that time will be for the balance of the term of the late senator, which runs to 1907.

First Snow Fall.

The first snow squall of the season visited Boston, Chelsea, Revere and other towns north of Boston on Wednesday afternoon. It lasted but a few minutes and did not amount to much except to remind the citizens that winter was really approaching, and the earliest that has visited Boston for the last ten years, viz:

Nov. 21, 1896	Nov. 9, 1900
Nov. 13, 1896	Nov. 11, 1901
Nov. 12, 1897	Nov. 29, 1902
Nov. 26, 1898	Nov. 6, 1903
Nov. 12, 1899	Oct. 12, 1904

Safe Robbers Arrested.

The Boston police have succeeded this week in arresting a gang of safe burglars. Confronted with indubitable evidence of his guilt, James A. Lee, an electrical machinist residing at 25 Silver street, Boston, who was arrested on suspicion on Wednesday morning in Chinatown by Special Officers "Jack" Burrard and Kelly, broke down and confessed to his connection with the entire chain of burglaries, including the past six months in Boston.

Lee implicated as his pal in all the jobs the man captured in Medford early Saturday morning by Patrolman Charles H. Ewell, as he was about to drill the safe in O'Brien's tailor store in Medford square.

At Lee's house was found one of the finest kits of tools the police have ever found on any man. They combined a sectional jimmy, bitlocks, wrenches, drills, ratchet, chain, steel punches and wooden blocks, in fact, every tool known to the burglar fraternity, and every one was new, as Lee was a machinist and designed the set of tools himself.

Woman's Relief Corps.

Paul Revere W. R. C. has taken an other room to care for and keep furnished at the Soldiers' Home in Chelsea, in addition to the one now occupied in the hospital, which has been its care for a number of years. Two Quincy soldiers are enjoying its hospitality: Charles Dent and Benjamin Bass, who are pleased to meet their Quincy friends.

This home is well worth making an effort to visit, and is situated on Powder Horn Hill, commanding an extensive view.

A large delegation from Corps 103 attended the Norfolk County Association at the Norfolk Congregational church on Wednesday, Oct. 12. Many G. A. R. veterans were present. The meeting proved an interesting and social occasion. Dinner was served by the Milton Corps. The next quarterly meeting will be held in this city in January next.

The quarterly meeting of the Plymouth Co. G. A. R. and W. R. C. associations will be held in Hingham today, Oct. 15, complimentary to Gen. Wilmon W. Blackman, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. There will undoubtedly be a large attendance from all the local organizations in this vicinity.

An Improvement.

A gang of men has been at work during the past few days cleaning out the undergrowth in Butler's brook, at Hancock street. The brook at this point has a retaining wall on both sides. The water in the brook has been so little, however, that the wash from the street settled on one side. Hank grass had grown on this so that when the brook passed the Dorothy Q. house there was but a narrow waterway and the whole was very unsightly. Now that the brook is being dug out to its full width the improvement is very marked. It is understood that the brook will also be dug out and cleaned for its entire length.

The comrades of Paul Revere Post 88 G. A. R., expect to turn out on Monday evening in good numbers, and escorted by the City Band, Camp of Spanish War Veterans, Boys' Brigade of Atlantic will proceed to Center street and receive departing officers, invited guests, then to the Coliseum building, where with music and speaking the fair will be formally opened.

—Look out for your pocketbook. Since Oct. 1 there have been bulletins at police headquarters in Boston, 21 cases of robbery, of which 10 were pocket-picking offenses, three holdups, 10 tin-dim games and six breakings and entering.

—Two deer were seen in Weymouth Saturday afternoon, near the South Shore railroad between East Weymouth and Hingham.

CITY BRIEFS.

G. A. R. fair next Monday. About six weeks to Thanksgiving. City Auditor Sidelinger is away for a few days.

The Hardwick house on Revere road has been rented.

Do not fail to attend the opening at D. E. Wadsworth's new annex today.

Miss Carrie Underwood is the guest of friends at Methuen for a few weeks.

Dr. C. W. Garey has been the guest of friends at Kittery, Me., for a few days.

Dr. J. A. Gordon has returned after enjoying a month's fishing and hunting in Canada.

Miss Elizabeth G. Scouler, Q. H. S., '04, is assisting Miss Spear in her kindergarten.

Charles H. Austin, street railway starter in City Square, is enjoying a week's vacation.

Rev. V. Vitting of this city preached on Sunday at the Swedish Methodist church in Gardner.

Henry L. Kineale and Co. are now prepared to move pianos and furniture, and do general jobbing.

Mrs. Kate A. Hayden left Saturday for a few days' rest at her former home at New Market, N. H.

Mrs. Wm. A. Marden of Coddington street has gone to Fall River for a week's visit with relatives.

John P. Bainbridge, who has been on the staff of the Quincy Herald, returned to Quincy on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Morse, Jr., have returned from their wedding trip and are at their home, 18 Merrymount road.

Mr. W. C. Hewson and daughter of Newcomb place left Saturday for a week's visit at her former home at Hanover.

After a summer's sojourn at Houghs Neck, A. H. Taber and family returned to their home on Baxter street on Saturday.

Miss Ellen Thompson gives the first in her series of talks on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Otto Hayward, Coddington street.

It was honorary members' night with the Christian Endeavor Society and Bethany church, Sunday evening, and Deacon A. L. Hayden was the leader.

The handsome house of Mr. Henry E. Hardwick, corner of Washington street and Revere road is in the hands of the painter and will look fine when finished.

Rumor has it that Mayor Bryant will veto the order passed by the City Council Oct. 3, appropriating $3,000 additional for the public schools of the city.

Miss Prescott's house on Bigelow street has been much improved by a coat of paint. It is red with cream white trimmings, and a creditable job to the painter.

The body of Edmund Marsh formerly of Quincy, who died at Plymouth, Oct. 2, was brought to Quincy on Monday, and buried in the family lot at Mt. Wollaston.

Miss S. Elizabeth Dunbar left Thursday morning on the excursion to Albany, and down the Hudson to New York City. She will stop over a week in New York with friends.

Arthur G. Mair Stevens has severed his connections as bookkeeper with Lyman A. Chapin and accepted a position in Boston. He will be greatly missed by the friends he has made while in this city.

Mrs. Morton's house on Spear street recently occupied by Commissioner Knowlton, is being fixed up for new tenants, with set range, and window shades. The house is also being painted.

Mr. Richard E. Brooks the sculptor returns to Paris about the first of November. He has been in this country for several weeks visiting the World's fair and is now in Quincy for a few weeks' visit with his sisters.

Among the exhibitors in the art department at the Brockton Fair last week was Mrs. George W. Jones of this city, who for two of her pictures used a small kitten as a model, with excellent results, and took a prize.

Messrs. William V. and John T. Hayward of Chestnut street were the central figures of a group of stockholders of the Bingham Copper Roy Mining Company in one of the Sunday papers, taken last month while in Utah.

The Quincy Tennis club lecture course began Saturday evening, October twenty-second, at Colonial hall when Mr. Leon H. Vincent, lectures on Thackeray. There are to be three lectures in the course, all by Mr. Vincent.

Several Quincy people took prizes at the Brockton fair, including: $2.50 to Mrs. John Lavoie for a bed room set; $5 to A. R. Lavoie for a bed room set; $7 to Samuel M. Jones for a professional portrait, and $1 to L. Dunkley for a spoon table.

The thirteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Spear of Braintree, formerly of this city, who was operated upon for appendicitis at the City Hospital Thursday last week, is reported as very comfortable and hopes are entertained for a speedy recovery.

The committee on G. A. R. fair have passed the contract to decorate theiseum building during fair week to H. Russell of Everett, who guarantees it shall be done in a first-class manner. Attend the fair and help the boys in love to increase their relief fund.

Rev. James N. Supple, State Chaplain of the Knights of Columbus, will deliver the sermon at the grand vesper service for Quincy Council at St. John's church, Sunday evening at 7.30. Seats will be reserved for members of the council. The regular choir will be assisted by excellent talent.

The Quincy basketball ball team will begin its season's games in Hancock hall about Nov. 1. The team is better and stronger than last year, and some good games may be expected. There is a possibility of a Norfolk county league being formed, to include teams from Quincy, West Quincy, Milton, Dorchester, Hyde Park and other places.

The woman's auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. is to be entertained on Monday afternoon the seventeenth, at the home of Mrs. C. Theodore Hardwick, Chestnut street. Miss Elizabeth Johnson of Braintree is to read a paper entitled "Service from a Unitarian Point of View," and Miss Alice Coe of Atlantic is to contribute contralto solos.

Colonial hall was tastefully decorated with hydrangea blossoms, contributed by Mrs. A. B. Packard, for Miss Webster's talk, Monday evening on "Patriotism." It proved most interesting and instructive and many will attend the opera in Boston next week with a clearer understanding. Well known musical people were in the audience among them Mr. and Mrs. John D. Buckingham, Mrs. John F. Hunt, Mrs. Frank Moore and Miss Grace Isaac.

SOUTH QUINCY.

Mrs. Alexander Smith the faithful caretaker at the birthplace of President John Adams, for three or four years, may still be found at her duties at the birthplace of President John Adams.

The Quincy High foot ball team went to Boston today to play Roxbury High.

The evening service at Christ church on Sunday will be at 7.30 instead of 7.

A fair in aid of John Erickson Court, F. of A., was held in Faxon hall this week.

J. Frank Merrill of the Assessors department at City Hall is away on a vacation trip.

G. V. Bowditch and W. T. Shea attended the Douglas banquet at Brockton on Thursday.

Miss Emily C. Wild is the guest of friends in New Bedford, going down on Wednesday.

Deleware King entertained his Sunday school class at Bethany chapel Tuesday evening.

John Bruce of the New York & Boston express took in the New York excursion this week.

An evening of art, humor and mystery will be the next attraction in the Bethany Brotherhood church.

Prizes were awarded Miss Ida V. Chisholm of Quincy for embroidery at the Taunton and Brockton fairs.

The sewing circle of the order of the Eastern Star of this city was the guest of Mrs. Goody of South Boston, Tuesday.

Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Butler were guests at the Peabody Lawrence wedding at Trinity church, Boston, on Tuesday.

There was a little hail Wednesday, the twelfth, and some say it snowed. Let us hope we are to have but twelve snow storms.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pennington of Weymouth, Me., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Pennington of Whitwell street.

Mrs. J. Henry Emery of Adams street has sent out at-home cards for Tuesday afternoon, October the eighteenth, from three to five-thirty.

Quincy ladies attended the annual conference of women's auxiliaries to the churches of the city on Tuesday, Oct. 12, at Cambridge on Tuesday, 300 delegates being present.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Packard and daughters of Chestnut street left Thursday on the Boston & Albany R. R. excursion to Albany and New York.

Miss Corine Hayward of Goffe street sailed Wednesday for Hampton, Va., to resume her position in the office of the treasurer of the Hampton Institution.

At the Republican Club banquet in Boston Tuesday evening were noticed Representative Freeman, H. Walter Gray, George W. Able, and others.

The Saturday hall holidays at City hall are over until next summer. Hereafter all will be open on Saturdays until 5 o'clock as on other days.

Oct. 20 is the last date for filing certificates of nomination and Oct. 21 the last date for filing nomination papers for officers to be filled at the state election.

Mrs. J. Q. A. Wild of Granite street is spending several weeks in Canton with her grand-daughter, who formerly lived in Quincy and before her marriage was Miss Ruth Wild.

The remnant of the hotel at Adams street, known as the Shiloh house, which was partly destroyed by fire last week, is being carried away. A good thing. It looked disagreeable.

William Walsh, president of the Street Railway Employees' Association, has been attending the convention of the A. F. L. at Lynn this week as delegate from the Quincy union.

Thursday was another record breaker for low temperature, being 44, or four degrees colder than Wednesday. This was the low mark for room temperature in October 1903.

Rev. L. B. Tenney of New Hampsh. will preach Sunday morning at Bethany church, and in the evening will give his illustrated lecture on "The making of modern Italy."

The axle of one of Cushing's South Weymouth express trains broke on Hancock street opposite the entrance to the Brackett estate Thursday evening, and blocked that part of the street for the night.

The Quincy Historical society is planning to celebrate the anniversary of the marriage of John Adams and Abigail Smith on Tuesday, October twenty-fifth, at the John Quincy Adams birthplace.

Sunday, Oct. 16, Rev. F. F. Reese, D. D., of Nashville, Tenn., will preach at the morning service at Christ church, and Rev. C. C. Kramer, archdeacon of South Louisiana, will preach in the evening. There will also be special preachers.

Among the weather was rather unfavorable there was a good attendance at Hancock hall this week to witness the hypnotist tests of Prof. Charles Franklin. He had perfect control over his subjects and their actions while under his influence was very laughable.

Rev. W. E. Gardner attended a Montpelier, Vt., on Tuesday and Wednesday and on the latter evening spoke in the House of Representatives on "The need of Christianity in our National education." About 300 legislators were in the audience.

Owing to the storm only a few ventured out to the whist party given in the A. R. hall, Wednesday evening, by the Ladies' Aid society. Seven tables were in play. W. M. Bird had a score of 53 and was awarded a table; Mrs. Peter Gomez, six china plates; J. P. Hedman, a picture, and W. Hogan, six tumblers.

Although Wednesday evening was stormy there was a good attendance at the Bethany Brotherhood meeting. The sermon was given by Rev. W. Sherman Thompson from being present, but his address on "The young man in the church" will be given next Tuesday evening. All men of the city are invited.

Several members of Adams Chapter of the Order of the Revolution are anticipating attending the exercises at Faxon hall, Boston, next Wednesday afternoon in observance of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis. Chapter regents are to report on the work of their chapters and refreshments and a social time will follow.

Persons intending to apply for the annual clerk-examiner examination to be held for the postoffice in this city in November are reminded of the fact that applications must be made and accepted not later than October 15, 1904. The required application form and descriptive pamphlet can be secured from the local Civil Service Secretary at the postoffice in this city.

WOLLASTON.

Bishop Anson Graves, of Laramie, Neb., was given a reception by the club, October 7. The affair was in charge of Mrs. A. C. Sellick and Mrs. Eugene Page. A large number of young people were present and the evening was most enjoyably passed.

Mrs. and Mrs. David White of Yorkport, P. E. I., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Mueller of Washington street.

The fence on South street near the Fore River house is badly in need of repair. It is to be wondered at that no serious accidents have resulted from it.

The conductors on the electric cars running between East Weymouth and this city are always prepared to meet those who try to ride free. It is a practice of some people, who wish to go only a short distance, to board the car, and before paying their fare, to ask if the car is going to a point which is not between East Weymouth and the time the car is stopped, and they have their answer, the city passengers have almost reached their destination.

The evening one conductor, evidently recognized a woman passenger, before the woman would get on the car, she said, "You'll have to try that trick on the next car coming along."

All who attended the Sunday morning service at the Quincy Point church were privileged to hear a grand sermon by their pastor, Rev. Leon H. Austin.

Mr. Austin's theme was: "Harvest time is here. It is a time of thanksgiving to the old—to those who are nearing the harvest time of life. The special music by the choir added much to the service. A selection was rendered by a trio composed of Mrs. G. K. Carter, Miss N. B. Gage and Mr. C. A. Tamm.

The choir was led by Mr. Tamm, and the organ by Mr. Gage. The prayer was by Mr. Carter and Miss Gage, sang as a response, the duet: "Come, Holy Spirit."

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Quincy Point church, held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with Mrs. C. H. Sherburne, South street.

Mrs. Pollard has returned from a visit to her eldest daughter, who lives in Camden, N. J., and is making her home with her son, Mr. T. B. Pollard of Boston.

The Register of Veterans met at Ward Two Saturday night and added 11 names to the voting lists.

The bark Alice, built at Weymouth, Mass. in 1881, and registering 810 tons, which has been lying idle at New York for the past few months, has been chartered by Capt. Shogher of Philadelphia, who will place her in the general coasting trade—Globe.

Albert Austin of Hartford, Conn., is spending a few days with his brother, Rev. Leon H. Austin. Mr. Austin is on his way to the Maine woods, where he will spend the winter.

Persons who have no claim to the title of artist can appreciate the beauty of the maple trees at this season of the year.

Richard Raycroft's house on Chubbuck street looks fine in its new coat of paint.

The shipyard of Wollaston, called Wednesday on the White Star line for Italy.

Mr. John G. Thomas of Wollaston has gone to Utah for two weeks.

Miss Anthony, of Worcester is the guest of Mrs. James Lewis, of Farringham street.

Charles Robertson and family have recently moved from Roxbury to Standish street, Wollaston.

Rev. F. W. Pratt, although still very ill with typhoid fever, is reported as comfortable—as could be expected.

Charles and George H. York of Phillips street are pleased to hear that she has returned to her home, much improved in health.

Mrs. Charles Goodspeed, of Prospect avenue and her two children have returned from Shirley, where they have been for the past four months.

A. L. Baker has returned from a trip to Maine. Next Monday he will leave on an extended trip that will cover about six months. From Quincy he goes to Buffalo thence to Chicago, the music was given by the choir of the Phillips street church.

Bishop and Mrs. Graves and Miss Graves of Laramie, Neb., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers of Grand View avenue during the Episcopal convention.

Fifth Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Fraser celebrated the fifth anniversary of their marriage at their home, No. 9 Pierce street, Norfolk Downs, on Monday evening.

In response to the invitations extended a great many friends assembled to congratulate the couple. Many friends assembled to congratulate them on the success which has attended them during the past five years.

The residence and surrounding estate were beautifully decorated in honor of the occasion.

The guests were highly entertained by talent from New York and Boston playhouses, after which a very elaborate collation was served at which speeches were made by prominent members of Wollaston society. Dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

Many gifts were received during the course of the evening, from their friends, among which were noticed a supply of fancy work.

The couple may be happy returns of the day the guests took their departure.

Mr. and Mrs. Fraser were married at Chelsea by the Rev. Ross C. Houghton of the First Congregational church, Chelsea, and have lived in Wollaston for the past three years.

Mrs. Fraser is the daughter of the late Hon. A. G. Hazenwood of East Boston. Mr. Fraser is a well known business man of Boston, representing the well known firm of J. C. Fraser & Sons, builders.

High School Pupils.

If the number of new pupils in the entering class at the Quincy High school next fall, the number of grammar schools in the city, the result would be 27. It is a singular fact that each of the buildings sent from 20 to 25 pupils, the largest number from the Massachusetts fields and the John Hancock, and the smallest number from the Gridley Bryant and Cranch.

At the same time the number of out-of-town schools became members of the entering class, and five went into higher classes.

The summary shows the number to graduate from each building and the number to enter the High school:

Grammar	New
Adams,	22
Coddington,	32
Cranch,	37
Gridley Bryant,	28
John Hancock,	42
Lincoln,	38
Mass. Fields,	37
Quincy,	33
Washington,	45
Willard,	45
Wollaston,	31

Many of the grammar graduates also entered the Woodward Institute and other schools.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY. Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c.

QUINCY POINT AND NECK.

A social dance was held in the hall over the Quincy Point Young Men's club, October 7. The affair was in charge of Mrs. A. C. Sellick and Mrs. Eugene Page. A large number of young people were present and the evening was most enjoyably passed.

Mrs. and Mrs. David White of Yorkport, P. E. I., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Mueller of Washington street.

The fence on South street near the Fore River house is badly in need of repair. It is to be wondered at that no serious accidents have resulted from it.

The conductors on the electric cars running between East Weymouth and this city are always prepared to meet those who try to ride free. It is a practice of some people, who wish to go only a short distance, to board the car, and before paying their fare, to ask if the car is going to a point which is not between East Weymouth and the time the car is stopped, and they have their answer, the city passengers have almost reached their destination.

The evening one conductor, evidently recognized a woman passenger, before the woman would get on the car, she said, "You'll have to try that trick on the next car coming along."

All who attended the Sunday morning service at the Quincy Point church were privileged to hear a grand sermon by their pastor, Rev. Leon H. Austin.

Mr. Austin's theme was: "Harvest time is here. It is a time of thanksgiving to the old—to those who are nearing the harvest time of life. The special music by the choir added much to the service. A selection was rendered by a trio composed of Mrs. G. K. Carter, Miss N. B. Gage and Mr. C. A. Tamm.

The choir was led by Mr. Tamm, and the organ by Mr. Gage. The prayer was by Mr. Carter and Miss Gage, sang as a response, the duet: "Come, Holy Spirit."

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Quincy Point church, held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with Mrs. C. H. Sherburne, South street.

Mrs. Pollard has returned from a visit to her eldest daughter, who lives in Camden, N. J., and is making her home with her son, Mr. T. B. Pollard of Boston.

The Register of Veterans met at Ward Two Saturday night and added 11 names to the voting lists.

The bark Alice, built at Weymouth, Mass. in 1881, and registering 810 tons, which has been lying idle at New York for the past few months, has been chartered by Capt. Shogher of Philadelphia, who will place her in the general coasting trade—Globe.

Albert Austin of Hartford, Conn., is spending a few days with his brother, Rev. Leon H. Austin. Mr. Austin is on his way to the Maine woods, where he will spend the winter.

Persons who have no claim to the title of artist can appreciate the beauty of the maple trees at this season of the year.

Richard Raycroft's house on Chubbuck street looks fine in its new coat of paint.

The shipyard of Wollaston, called Wednesday on the White Star line for Italy.

Mr. John G. Thomas of Wollaston has gone to Utah for two weeks.

Miss Anthony, of Worcester is the guest of Mrs. James Lewis, of Farringham street.

Charles Robertson and family have recently moved from Roxbury to Standish street, Wollaston.

Rev. F. W. Pratt, although still very ill with typhoid fever, is reported as comfortable—as could be expected.

Charles and George H. York of Phillips street are pleased to hear that she has returned to her home, much improved in health.

Mrs. Charles Goodspeed, of Prospect avenue and her two children have returned from Shirley, where they have been for the past four months.

A. L. Baker has returned from a trip to Maine. Next Monday he will leave on an extended trip that will cover about six months. From Quincy he goes to Buffalo thence to Chicago, the music was given by the choir of the Phillips street church.

Bishop and Mrs. Graves and Miss Graves of Laramie, Neb., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers of Grand View avenue during the Episcopal convention.

Fifth Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Fraser celebrated the fifth anniversary of their marriage at their home, No. 9 Pierce street, Norfolk Downs, on Monday evening.

In response to the invitations extended a great many friends assembled to congratulate the couple. Many friends assembled to congratulate them on the success which has attended them during the past five years.

The residence and surrounding estate were beautifully decorated in honor of the occasion.

The guests were highly entertained by talent from New York and Boston playhouses, after which a very elaborate collation was served at which speeches were made by prominent members of Wollaston society. Dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

Many gifts were received during the course of the evening, from their friends, among which were noticed a supply of fancy work.

The couple may be happy returns of the day the guests took their departure.

Mr. and Mrs. Fraser were married at Chelsea by the Rev. Ross C. H

G. A. R. FAIR,

COLISEUM BUILDING,
OCT. 17-18-19-20-21-22-1904,
For the Benefit of Relief Fund of Post 88.

MUSIC and ENTERTAINMENT

Furnished for Each Evening.

THREE HUNDRED DOLLARS

Given to Season Ticket Holders.

G. A. R. or S. W. V. UNIFORM

To Be Contested For.

Five Watches to be given to persons bringing in the highest number of votes.

COME ONE, COME ALL, AND FILL UP THE HALL.

Season Tickets, 50c. General Admission, 15c.

Doors Open at 7 o'clock.

Oct. 6. Ctd over p.2w

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

O.E. Wadsworth & Co.

YOU ARE INVITED TO THE GRAND OPENING
OF OUR NEW ANNEX.

Making a perfectly Equipped City Store.

SATURDAY, Oct. 15.

A Souvenir for Everyone.

We are prepared to show a full line of Smart Suits, Stylish Coats and Seasonable Short Waists at machine prices.

O.E. Wadsworth & Co.

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE.

Our National School Shoe

FOR GIRLS.

BOX CALF and DONGOLA.
SPRING HEEL and LOW HEEL.

5 to 8	$1.00
8 1-2 to 11	$1.25
11 1-2 to 2	$1.50
2 1-2 to 6	$2.00

Fits Good and We Warrant Every Pair to Wear Good.

GEORGE W. JONES,

Adams Building, - QUINCY.

The National Granite Bank

OF QUINCY, MASS.

THEOPHILUS KING, Pres't.
RUFERT F. CLAPIN, Cash'r.

1836-1865-1904

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

$20 Boston Box for $5.

A Safe Deposit for Your Valuables,
Bonds, Deeds, Insurance Papers, etc.

NEW VAULT, FINE BOOTHS. COMPLETE RETIREMENT.
PROMPT and COURTEOUS ATTENTION.

Call and Examine.
Oct. 1. 1p

Furniture and Pianos

Moved and Stored.

In addition to our regular business we will hereafter attend all kinds of furniture and piano moving and general jobbing. Our new furniture moving wagons have all the latest appliances for careful handling of furniture. We are especially equipped to handle the most difficult piano moving, particularly the putting of pianos into second and third story flats. Our new store house is light, airy, clean and of easy access. We solicit your business for all kinds of jobbing in addition to regular moving, particularly where a high order of work is desired, at prices that are fair to pay.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.

New England's Lowest Priced Furniture Store,
Hancock Street, Quincy.

We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

Have Your Job Printing at the Patriot Office.

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1904.

WEEKLY	Sun	Full	Mon	Thurs
ALMANAC	10.50	10.50	10.50	10.50
Sunday	11.00	10.50	10.50	10.50
Monday	11.00	10.50	10.50	10.50
Tuesday	11.00	10.50	10.50	10.50
Wednesday	11.00	10.50	10.50	10.50
Thursday	11.00	10.50	10.50	10.50
Friday	11.00	10.50	10.50	10.50

First Quarter, Oct. 16, 12.50 A. M.

This Week's Temperature.

The noon temperature of the week taken at Pettitville's jewelry store, compared below with that of last week and the same day of month for three years:

This Week	Last Week	1903	1902	1901
Sunday	58	59	62	59
Monday	62	60	57	50
Tuesday	68	60	50	54
Wednesday	68	65	54	66
Thursday	64	65	59	69
Friday	55	50	61	68
Saturday	55	57	67	75

Notes and Comments.

It is pleasing to see a small business increase year by year as has the D. E. Wadsworth & Co. Over a dozen years ago this firm began business in our city in a small store in the Adams building which they soon outgrew moving into the Greenleaf block. Here they have done an ever increasing business; the last few years being much cramped for room. Now they have annexed the store recently vacated by the drug store and today are having a grand opening. May they continue to prosper.

Stamford, Conn., is not the only place where a picture of our Thomas Crane Public Library, of which all Quincy is proud, is exhibited. It also appears in a large portfolio of Massachusetts public libraries in the school exhibit of the State at the World's Fair, and a smaller view is shown on a map of Massachusetts also exhibited at the fair, showing that nearly every city and town in the state has a public library building. In the portfolio three views of our library are given. Unfortunately the library is the only exhibit from Quincy at the World's Fair.

With any other candidate as an opponent but Gov. Bates, the appeal of candidate Douglas for the labor vote might meet with success. Mr. Bates may not be an avowed labor candidate, but he is distinctly a man of the people, and not a rich manufacturer. A gentleman who has won success in politics on his merits. On more than one occasion he has been the popular choice of the people, even against the machine, and has won signal victories. He has made one of the ablest governors the Commonwealth has ever had, and after two years in office the voters will not turn him down, but give him the customary three years by a good majority.

Neighbor Prescott is receiving congratulations on having won his recent suit. It always makes his fellow members of the craft feel good to see liberal cases result like this. The newspapers are published for the benefit of the public. They give the news as they get it and it is an error sometimes, there ought to be some other method for an over-sensitive person to right the wrong than by resorting to law, which means expense to both parties. If any person's character has been damaged, the money of a newspaper publisher cannot repair the damage, but the newspaper itself can place that man in a position before all the world, which will remove whatever stain or injury he has received. If you ever see anything in a newspaper that casts reflection on you, just go in a courteous manner, to the publisher and he will readily and freely set you right before the public—Quincy Advertiser.

Quincy should do everything it can to encourage historical pilgrimages to this city. Patriotic societies have done much recently by preserving historical sites and making them accessible, and now that there are so many places of interest which may be visited, out-of-town people will find that they can spend a whole day here with considerable pleasure. Not even Concord and Lexington, or Plymouth, have so many historical attractions as Quincy. The list includes:

Birthplace of President John Adams.
Birthplace of President John Quincy Adams.
Burial places of both the Presidents, and the old church in which one of them worshipped.
Site of birthplace of John Hancock, the first signer of the Declaration of Independence.
The Dorothy Q. house, the paternal home of Mrs. John Hancock.
These are some of the more important ones, but there are many others. Pilgrimages to Quincy will foster local pride, they will help the railroad and street railway, the hotels and the carriage drivers, the dealers in souvenirs and the newspapers, and incidentally a great many people.

The address of the chairman at the recent Democratic State convention furnished Gov. Bates with an excellent text at the Republican Club banquet Tuesday evening and he showed conclusively that all claims of decadence of Massachusetts have no foundation in fact. On the contrary there were gains all along the line in whatever direction one turns.

The State Board of Arbitration report but 800 men outside of Fall River, who are out of employment because of strikes and lockouts, while 400,000 are at work in Massachusetts at good wages. The number employed in 1897 was 314,000. The state of affairs in Fall River was deplored, but the good offices of the State had been declined.

Figures of the Bureau of Statistics of Labor report an increase in average yearly earnings, 1903 over 1897, of 45c per man.

While seven industries have moved away, six have moved into the state, and 92 new industries have been organized, a net gain of 81. Those to move away did not go South as some would have us believe, but to other New England states, where it is claimed there is adversity.

When 1903 is compared with 1897, more capital is now invested, the output of manufactured goods increased, the deposits in the savings bank larger, more passengers are carried on steam railroads and street railways, and we have prosperity and comfort.

Senators Forsaker and Ohio, Thurston of Nebraska and Lodge of Massachusetts were equally confident of progress in the United States, and their discussion of the Philippine question, the tariff, the building of the isthmian canal, and the candidates for President, were masterly and convincing.

The great enthusiasm shown for the speakers and at the mention of the names of Gov. Bates, Senator Lodge, ex-Secretary Long, Secretary Moody and President Roosevelt, showed that all have a warm place in the hearts of the people of Massachusetts, and that the Republicans are aroused over the issues and the election.

Edwin W. Marsh.

Wollaston Unitarian Club.

The first dinner opening the fifth year of the Wollaston Unitarian club was held at the church Tuesday evening. There was a good attendance and the services were largely attended. The pastor, Rev. F. W. Pratt, who is seriously ill, was greatly regretted.

A roast beef dinner was served at 6.30, and an hour later the President Eugene H. Sprague extended a welcome. He said that this was the first meeting of the fifth year, and that it was the wish of his pastor that this meeting should consider the question of peace. He introduced as the first speaker Baba Premannan Bharati of Brindaban, India, one of the delegates to the International Peace convention in Boston.

The visitor proved an interesting speaker and held the closest attention of his hearers for an hour and three quarters. He spoke very fluently and had a good command of the English language. That he was thoroughly in his subject, no one could deny, although his talk was more on religion than on peace. In his opening remark, he said he had come to talk of peace as peace was in the air.

Peace he said was the reflection of the Lord's spirit. He would seek a source of inspiration as they do in India. We never write a letter without subscribing on top the words "God is good." Peace is the word which every chapter of the Bible begins with every chapter ends with peace, peace, peace.

He had the good fortune to be a member of the International Peace Congress. He was proud of it, because they had come from the different parts of the world to bring about peace in the world. We in India find that Christ Jesus is the first person of divinity. These truths are eternal truths. The expression of the inner laws of nature.

The peace congress came to settle disputes of nations and bring about harmony. He would have been only too glad if his countrymen, the people of religion in it. Aside from a few hymns sung there was no demonstrations that made people think of God. We have a habit of looking at these things from a practical standpoint. We only want to establish peace by working the spiritual plain out of the material plain.

In my native country, when they want to bring about peace they take some songs to God. All the quarrelling parties are drawn to it. If you ask the Hindu how peace can be established among all nations he will say, God alone is bringing it about. Talk of God with all your soul. The Hindu is nothing if not practical in the matter of religion. The speaker then presented the conception of the Hindu of God and dwelt at length upon the object in life which all were seeking.

This he said was pleasure and happiness but we were never satisfied. The fact that we are not satisfied with things is proof that we do not need them.

The speaker closed his talk with a hymn based on his native language.

This he said was pleasure and happiness but we were never satisfied. The fact that we are not satisfied with things is proof that we do not need them.

The reception at Norfolk was most kindly. Mayor Riddick opened the city wide to the visitors and a large local pleasure looked after the comfort and pleasure of the visitors. There were 257 men in the company, and their good uniforms completely captivated the female friends. "Ain't they just grand" and "I could live on the sight of these splendid looking men" were some of the remarks heard.

Atlantic M. E. Church.

The tenth anniversary of Sunday. All of the services were largely attended. The pastor, Rev. F. W. Pratt, who is seriously ill, was greatly regretted.

A roast beef dinner was served at 6.30, and an hour later the President Eugene H. Sprague extended a welcome. He said that this was the first meeting of the fifth year, and that it was the wish of his pastor that this meeting should consider the question of peace. He introduced as the first speaker Baba Premannan Bharati of Brindaban, India, one of the delegates to the International Peace convention in Boston.

The visitor proved an interesting speaker and held the closest attention of his hearers for an hour and three quarters. He spoke very fluently and had a good command of the English language. That he was thoroughly in his subject, no one could deny, although his talk was more on religion than on peace. In his opening remark, he said he had come to talk of peace as peace was in the air.

Peace he said was the reflection of the Lord's spirit. He would seek a source of inspiration as they do in India. We never write a letter without subscribing on top the words "God is good." Peace is the word which every chapter of the Bible begins with every chapter ends with peace, peace, peace.

He had the good fortune to be a member of the International Peace Congress. He was proud of it, because they had come from the different parts of the world to bring about peace in the world. We in India find that Christ Jesus is the first person of divinity. These truths are eternal truths. The expression of the inner laws of nature.

The peace congress came to settle disputes of nations and bring about harmony. He would have been only too glad if his countrymen, the people of religion in it. Aside from a few hymns sung there was no demonstrations that made people think of God. We have a habit of looking at these things from a practical standpoint. We only want to establish peace by working the spiritual plain out of the material plain.

In my native country, when they want to bring about peace they take some songs to God. All the quarrelling parties are drawn to it. If you ask the Hindu how peace can be established among all nations he will say, God alone is bringing it about. Talk of God with all your soul. The Hindu is nothing if not practical in the matter of religion. The speaker then presented the conception of the Hindu of God and dwelt at length upon the object in life which all were seeking.

This he said was pleasure and happiness but we were never satisfied. The fact that we are not satisfied with things is proof that we do not need them.

The reception at Norfolk was most kindly. Mayor Riddick opened the city wide to the visitors and a large local pleasure looked after the comfort and pleasure of the visitors. There were 257 men in the company, and their good uniforms completely captivated the female friends. "Ain't they just grand" and "I could live on the sight of these splendid looking men" were some of the remarks heard.

Ancients Home Again.

The Ancients have arrived from Norfolk, Va., and the Quincy delegation it was the best trip they ever had. Everything possible was done for them, so there was nothing to do but enjoy themselves, which they certainly did. The reception at Norfolk was most kindly. Mayor Riddick opened the city wide to the visitors and a large local pleasure looked after the comfort and pleasure of the visitors. There were 257 men in the company, and their good uniforms completely captivated the female friends. "Ain't they just grand" and "I could live on the sight of these splendid looking men" were some of the remarks heard.

Petition in Bankruptcy.

A petition in bankruptcy was filed at Portland, Oct. 7, against the United States Standard Scale Company of Quincy.

The promoter and manager of the company was Andrew A. Meyer.

The company began business on Granite street but later erected a large brick building at Wollaston where business has since been carried on.

The company was largely a speculative weighing machine and it is said that at no time have many been regularly employed.

Welcome Guests.

Mrs. Olney and Miss Butler, on Oct. 7, visited their old home, known for many years as the Peter Butler house, but more recently called the Dorothy Q. house, which is being restored and put in order by the Colonial Dames for a historical museum. During their residence here the Butlers were a prominent factor in their church, the younger members under a great deal for the basis of the church, and when Mr. Seymour Butler died few years ago many will recall that the memorial service by Rev. Mr. Breed he said his sermon was based upon personal recollections but upon the tender and loving memory he left in the hands of the Colonial Dames, a member of the board of trustees of the National Sailors' home, and on his death was succeeded by his son, who served until his death. Mrs. Butler died a few years after the family left Quincy. It is expected Mrs. Olney and Miss Butler will erect a memorial room in their old home.

Probate Court.

Judge Flint held probate court for Norfolk County at Quincy, Wednesday and transacted the following business:

WILLS ALLOWED.

Of William McCarthy late of Weymouth, William H. McCarthy executor, bond $2000.

Of Mary J. Howe late of Quincy, Lucy A. Collins executrix, bond $500.

Of Martin Begley late of Dedham, William V. Begley executor, bond $3000.

ACCOUNTS ALLOWED.

First account of George S. Cushing, surviving executor of will of George S. Cushing late of Dedham, bond $500.

ADOPTION.

Hannah Anglin of Braintree was granted permission to adopt Mary Egan, a minor, and change her name to Maude Ellen Anglin.

COMMISSIONERS.

James H. Neil and Maurice P. Spillane were appointed commissioners to examine claims against the estate of Charles R. Flint late of Brookline, whose estate has been declared insolvent.

Foot Ball.

The Quincy High foot ball team played its first game of the season Tuesday. Its opponents were the Weymouth High and the visitors were vanquished to the tune of 10 to 0. Touchdowns were made by Jordan and Quinn.

Quincy played an almost entire different team the second half for the purpose of trying out its men. Quincy played well but showed a lack of purpose. The feature of the game was the good playing of Campbell at the end, Duncan a full back, and Jefferson as half back.

The Woods District included all inhabited territory west of Mr. Trasks. The Old Fields District was Quincy Point.

The Farms & Squantum District was the north part of the town; and the North District, that portion toward East Milton.

The names affixed to each district are the names of gentlemen approved by the town to take the census therein.

Edwin W. Marsh.

James Thompson a Candidate.

James Thompson, the principal assessor, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Mayor. His candidacy was formally announced at the meeting of the Republican City Committee on Thursday evening.

It is not understood that the committee is pledged to his support, and there was very little comment concerning his candidacy before adjournment, but after adjournment there was an informal talk among the present relative to the most available candidates.

It is said that recent criticism of Mr. Thompson, that he was pledged to reappoint certain City Hall officials, did the gentleman an injustice. The fact that these officials have endeavored to get other gentlemen to become candidates points that way.

Mr. Thompson was a candidate of the Republicans for the majority several years ago and was defeated by Hon. William A. Hodges by 361 votes. That was in 1903. The only way that a Republican majority that year was the Wollaston ward and the total vote was:

Hodges,	1747
Thompson,	1286
Blanks,	62

Since that year the city has become strongly Republican, and Mr. Thompson has also been prominent in city affairs, so that that vote need not be a bugaboo at this time.

The committee made arrangements for the caucus in connection with the City election, and the filing of nomination papers.

A. G. Dolliver is chairman of the Republican City Committee this year, and the members elected by wards at the city caucuses of 1903 were:

Ward One.—Edward Johnson, William T. Isaac, A. W. Weston, A. F. MacLeod, Otto Gelotte, A. G. Dolliver and George Westland.

Ward Two.—Charles C. Holmes, Arthur Sampson, Rollin H. Newcomb, George A. Sidelinger, Eugene R. Stone, Edwin W. Newcomb.

Ward Three.—Frank L. Carlton, Alfred O. Diack, John Kennedy, Harry S. Nicol, Walter E. Piper, John G. Roberts and Thomas F. Allen.

Ward Four.—James F. Allen, Andrew Anderson, Hiram W. Campbell, Per Person, Edward J. Sandberg, Alexander Shirley and William H. Teasdale.

Ward Five.—William M. Chase, Henry O. Fairbanks, Richard R. Freeman, George S. Baker, Albert W. Fay, Herbert J. Gunney, Walter S. Pinkham, Ward Six.—Daniel McGrath, Ralph W. Hobbs, Roger H. Wilde, Herbert D. Gearwar, Louis F. R. Langelier, Elwyn R. Thorpe and Arthur C. Beal.

Caucus Expenses.

All of the candidates for nomination as Representative to the General Court at the recent joint caucus must file with the City Clerk within seven days from the time of the caucus the amount expended by them to secure the nominations.

The time has expired and all of the candidates have complied with this law except Levi H. Turner and James H. Eloczek.

Gustave B. Bates and Timothy J. Carey say they expended nothing.

Edward J. Sandberg expended $25 for carriages and $3 for a driver.

Harry S. Nicol expended $12 for carriages and $4 for a driver.

Richard R. Freeman expended $25 in carriage hire.

Distinguished Guest.

Peter Curran, one of the delegates from England to the Peace Congress in Boston, gave an address in Hancock hall, Oct. 7, at the smoke talk held under the auspices of the Shipwrights, Joiners and Caulkers Union.

There was a large crowd present, and Mr. Curran, who comes from a ship-building center of England, was given a hearty welcome. G. H. Kirnan, one of the Fore River yard superintendents, presided, and in opening the meeting said that the chief weakness of most labor unions was too much local government and control of funds.

This allows unwarranted strikes between unions and employers by hot-headed and unreasonable members. After his experiences of twenty-five years in shipbuilding centers in England, Germany and America, he was convinced that the best workmen were trade unionists, and that their efficiency conserves the best interest of the employers.

Mr. Curran was then introduced. He said he believed that nations go to war, the workmen are the principal sufferers, as they not only supply the money by paying war taxes, but supply men whose lives are sacrificed. There were other wars than international ones. Internal wars, especially when organized capital and labor meet and carry with them poverty and destruction. Not perhaps to the extent of international war, but to a very great extent.

The strike weapon is a dangerous one. We, trade unionists, claim the right to strike if there is no other possibility.

If employers turn a deaf ear to the appeal of the voice of labor, we ought to strike to receive our rights. But every other method should be used before workmen throw down their tools. Refreshments were served and vocal and instrumental music was furnished by members of the union.

A GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES.

Itching, Bleeding or Protruding Piles. Druggists refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure any case, no matter how long standing, in 10 to 14 days. First application 5c and rest 50c. If your druggist hasn't it, write to J. C. Paine, 110 State St., Boston, or to Parke, Davis & Co., St. Louis, Mo.

Tremont Theatre.

It has been said "Parafin" Wagner's sacred festival melodrama which Henry W. Savage will produce in English at the Tremont theatre, Boston, on October 17th, for the first time on any stage, that in no other work of the master have the moods of the drama itself been so wonderfully reflected in and illuminated by music. In the prelude one hears the whole promise of the drama spoken to him in music of ecstatic beauty. Beginning with the "Eucharist" motive, one is carried through the spitting "Crucifixion" motive, the tremendous driving "Faith" motive and then, at the rise of the curtain, the agony of the sinning Ananias. More beautiful analysis of the prelude has ever been written than that which Wagner wrote himself. His poetic expression finds its truest and most fitting reflection in the music. Strong and firm does faith reveal itself, elevated and resolute even in suffering. In answer to the renewed promise the voice of Faith sounds forth from the distant heights—as though borne on the wings of the snow-white dove—slowly descending, embracing with ever-increasing breadth and fulness the heart of man, filling the world and the whole of nature with highest love; and, as though still to rest, glancing upward again toward the light of heaven. Thus once more from the awe of solitude arises the lament of loving comparison the agony, the holy sweat of the Mount of Olives, the divine sufferings of Golgotha; the body bashed, the blood streams, forth and flows now with the heavenly glow of blessing in the chalice, putting forth on all that lives and languishes the gracious Gift of Redemption through love. For him we are prepared, for we call the music the transcendence of the "Faith" motive and then, at the rise of the curtain, the agony of the sinning Ananias. More beautiful analysis of the prelude has ever been written than that which Wagner wrote himself. His poetic expression finds its truest and most fitting reflection in the music. Strong and firm does faith reveal itself, elevated and resolute even in suffering. In answer to the renewed promise the voice of Faith sounds forth from the distant heights—as though borne on the wings of the snow-white dove—slowly descending, embracing with ever-increasing breadth and fulness the heart of man, filling the world and the whole of nature with highest love; and, as though still to rest, glancing upward again toward the light of heaven. Thus once more from the awe of solitude arises the lament of loving comparison the agony, the holy sweat of the Mount of Olives, the divine sufferings of Golgotha; the body bashed, the blood streams, forth and flows now with the heavenly glow of blessing in the chalice, putting forth on all that lives and languishes the gracious Gift of Redemption through love. For him we are prepared, for we call the music the transcendence of the "Faith" motive and then, at the rise of the curtain, the agony of the sinning Ananias. More beautiful analysis of the prelude has ever been written than that which Wagner wrote himself. His poetic expression finds its truest and most fitting reflection in the music. Strong and firm does faith reveal itself, elevated and resolute even in suffering. In answer to the renewed promise the voice of Faith sounds forth from the distant heights—as though borne on the wings of the snow-white dove—slowly descending, embracing with ever-increasing breadth and fulness the heart of man, filling the world and the whole of nature with highest love; and, as though still to rest, glancing upward again toward the light of heaven. Thus once more from the awe of solitude arises the lament of loving comparison the agony, the holy sweat of the Mount of Olives, the divine sufferings of Golgotha; the body bashed, the blood streams, forth and flows now with the heavenly glow of blessing in the chalice, putting forth on all that lives and languishes the gracious Gift of Redemption through love. For him we are prepared, for we call the music the transcendence of the "Faith" motive and then, at the rise of the curtain, the agony of the sinning Ananias. More beautiful analysis of the prelude has ever been written than that which Wagner wrote himself. His poetic expression finds its truest and most fitting reflection in the music. Strong and firm does faith reveal itself, elevated and resolute even in suffering. In answer to the renewed promise the voice of Faith sounds forth from the distant heights—as though borne on the wings of the snow-white dove—slowly descending, embracing with ever-increasing breadth and fulness the heart of man, filling the world and the whole of nature with highest love; and, as though still to rest, glancing upward again toward the light of heaven. Thus once more from the awe of solitude arises the lament of loving comparison the agony, the holy sweat of the Mount of Olives, the divine sufferings of Golgotha; the body bashed, the blood streams, forth and flows now with the heavenly glow of blessing in the chalice, putting forth on all that lives and languishes the gracious Gift of Redemption through love. For him we are prepared, for we call the music the transcendence of the "Faith" motive and then, at the rise of the curtain, the agony of the sinning Ananias. More beautiful analysis of the prelude has ever been written than that which Wagner wrote himself. His poetic expression finds its truest and most fitting reflection in the music. Strong and firm does faith reveal itself, elevated and resolute even in suffering. In answer to the renewed promise the voice of Faith sounds forth from the distant heights—as though borne on the wings of the snow-white dove—slowly descending, embracing with ever-increasing breadth and fulness the heart of man, filling the world and the whole of nature with highest love; and, as though still to rest, glancing upward again toward the light of heaven. Thus once more from the awe of solitude arises the lament of loving comparison the agony, the holy sweat of the Mount of Olives, the divine sufferings of Golgotha; the body bashed, the blood streams, forth and flows now with the heavenly glow of blessing in the chalice, putting forth on all that lives and languishes the gracious Gift of Redemption through love. For him we are prepared, for we call the music the transcendence of the "Faith" motive and then, at the rise of the curtain, the agony of the sinning Ananias. More beautiful analysis of the prelude has ever been written than that which Wagner wrote himself. His poetic expression finds its truest and most fitting reflection in the music. Strong and firm does faith reveal itself, elevated and resolute even in suffering. In answer to the renewed promise the voice of Faith sounds forth from the distant heights—as though borne on the wings of the snow-white dove—slowly descending, embracing with ever-increasing breadth and fulness the heart of man, filling the world and the whole of nature with highest love; and, as though still to rest, glancing upward again toward the light of heaven. Thus once more from the awe of solitude arises the lament of loving comparison the agony, the holy sweat of the Mount of Olives, the divine sufferings of Golgotha; the body bashed, the blood streams, forth and flows now with the heavenly glow of blessing in the chalice, putting forth on all that lives and languishes the gracious Gift of Redemption through love. For him we are prepared, for we call the music the transcendence of the "Faith" motive and then, at the rise of the curtain, the agony of the sinning Ananias. More beautiful analysis of the prelude has ever been written than that which Wagner wrote himself. His poetic expression finds its truest and most fitting reflection in the music. Strong and firm does faith reveal itself, elevated and resolute even in suffering. In answer to the renewed promise the voice of Faith sounds forth from the distant heights—as though borne on the wings of the snow-white dove—slowly descending, embracing with ever-increasing breadth and fulness the heart of man, filling the world and the whole of nature with highest love; and, as though still to rest, glancing upward again toward the light of heaven. Thus once more from the awe of solitude arises the lament of loving comparison the agony, the holy sweat of the Mount of Olives, the divine sufferings of Golgotha; the body bashed, the blood streams, forth and flows now with the heavenly glow of blessing in the chalice, putting forth on all that lives and languishes the gracious Gift of Redemption through love. For him we are prepared, for we call the music the transcendence of the "Faith" motive and then, at the rise of the curtain, the agony of the sinning Ananias. More beautiful analysis of the prelude has ever been written than that which Wagner wrote himself. His poetic expression finds its truest and most fitting reflection in the music. Strong and firm does faith reveal itself, elevated and resolute even in suffering. In answer to the renewed promise the voice of Faith sounds forth from the distant heights—as though borne on the wings of the snow-white dove—slowly descending, embracing with ever-increasing breadth and fulness the heart of man, filling the world and the whole of nature with highest love; and, as though still to rest, glancing upward again toward the light of heaven. Thus once more from the awe of solitude arises the lament of loving comparison the agony, the holy sweat of the Mount of Olives, the divine sufferings of Golgotha; the body bashed, the blood streams, forth and flows now with the heavenly glow of blessing in the chalice, putting forth on all that lives and languishes the gracious Gift of Redemption through love. For him we are prepared, for we call the music the transcendence of the "Faith" motive and then, at the rise of the curtain, the agony of the sinning Ananias. More beautiful analysis of the prelude has ever been written than that which Wagner wrote himself. His poetic expression finds its truest and most fitting reflection in the music. Strong and firm does faith reveal itself, elevated and resolute even in suffering. In answer to the renewed promise the voice of Faith sounds forth from the distant heights—as though borne on the wings of the snow-white dove—slowly descending, embracing with ever-increasing breadth and fulness the heart of man, filling the world and the whole of nature with highest love; and, as though still to rest, glancing upward again toward the light of heaven. Thus once more from the awe of solitude arises the lament of loving comparison the agony, the holy sweat of the Mount of Olives, the divine sufferings of Golgotha; the body bashed, the blood streams, forth and flows now with the heavenly glow of blessing in the chalice, putting forth on all that lives and languishes the gracious Gift of Redemption through love. For him we are prepared, for we call the music the transcendence of the "Faith" motive and then, at the rise of the curtain, the agony of the sinning Ananias. More beautiful analysis of the prelude has ever been written than that which Wagner wrote himself. His poetic expression finds its truest and most fitting reflection in the music. Strong and firm does faith reveal itself, elevated and resolute even in suffering. In answer to the renewed promise the voice of Faith sounds forth from the distant heights—as though borne on the wings of the snow-white dove—slowly descending, embracing with ever-increasing breadth and fulness the heart of man, filling the world and the whole of nature with highest love; and, as though still to rest, glancing upward again toward the light of heaven. Thus once more from the awe of solitude arises the lament of loving comparison the agony, the holy sweat of the Mount of Olives, the divine sufferings of Golgotha; the body bashed, the blood streams, forth and flows now with the heavenly glow of blessing in the chalice, putting forth on all that lives and languishes the gracious Gift of Redemption through love. For him we are prepared, for we call the music the transcendence of the "Faith" motive and then, at the rise of the curtain, the agony of the sinning Ananias. More beautiful analysis of the prelude has ever been written than that which Wagner wrote himself. His poetic expression finds its truest and most fitting reflection in the music. Strong and firm does faith reveal itself, elevated and resolute even in suffering. In answer to the renewed promise the voice of Faith sounds forth from the distant heights—as though borne on the wings of the snow-white dove—slowly descending, embracing with ever-increasing breadth and fulness the heart of man, filling the world and the whole of nature with highest love; and, as though still to rest, glancing upward again toward the light of heaven. Thus once more from the awe of solitude arises the lament of loving comparison the agony, the holy sweat of the Mount of Olives, the divine sufferings of Golgotha; the body bashed, the blood streams, forth and flows now with the heavenly glow of blessing in the chalice, putting forth on all that lives and languishes the gracious Gift of Redemption through love. For him we are prepared, for we call the music the transcendence of the "Faith" motive and then, at the rise of the curtain, the agony of the sinning Ananias. More beautiful analysis of the prelude has ever been written than that which Wagner wrote himself. His poetic expression finds its truest and most fitting reflection in the music. Strong and firm does faith reveal itself, elevated and resolute even in suffering. In answer to the renewed promise the voice of Faith sounds forth from the distant heights—as though borne on the wings of the snow-white dove—slowly descending, embracing with ever-increasing breadth and fulness the heart of man, filling the world and the whole of nature with highest love; and, as though still to rest, glancing upward again toward the light of heaven. Thus once more from the awe of solitude arises the lament of loving comparison the agony, the holy sweat of the Mount of Olives, the divine sufferings of Golgotha; the body bashed, the blood streams, forth and flows now with the heavenly glow of blessing in the chalice, putting forth on all that lives and languishes the gracious Gift of Redemption through love. For him we are prepared, for we call the music the transcendence of the "Faith" motive and then, at the rise of the curtain, the agony of the sinning Ananias. More beautiful analysis of the prelude has ever been written than that which Wagner wrote himself. His poetic expression finds its truest and most fitting reflection in the music. Strong and firm does faith reveal itself, elevated and resolute even in suffering. In answer to the renewed promise the voice of Faith sounds forth from the distant heights—as though borne on the wings of the snow-white dove—slowly descending, embracing with ever-increasing breadth and fulness the heart of man, filling the world and the whole of nature with highest love; and, as though still to rest, glancing upward again toward the light of heaven. Thus once more from the awe of solitude arises the lament of loving comparison the agony, the holy sweat of the Mount of Olives, the divine sufferings of Golgotha; the body bashed, the blood streams, forth and flows now with the heavenly glow of blessing in the chalice, putting forth on all that lives and languishes the gracious Gift of Redemption through love. For him we are prepared, for we call the music the transcendence of the "Faith" motive and then, at the rise of the curtain, the agony of the sinning Ananias. More beautiful analysis of the prelude has ever been written than that which Wagner wrote himself. His poetic expression finds its truest and most fitting reflection in the music. Strong and firm does faith reveal itself, elevated and resolute even in suffering. In answer to the renewed promise the voice of Faith sounds forth from the distant heights—as though borne on the wings of the snow-white dove—slowly descending, embracing with ever-increasing breadth and fulness the heart of man, filling the world and the whole of nature with highest love; and, as though still to rest, glancing upward again toward the light of heaven. Thus once more from the awe of solitude arises the lament of loving comparison the agony, the holy sweat of the Mount of Olives, the divine sufferings of Golgotha; the body bashed, the blood streams, forth and flows now with the heavenly glow of blessing in the chalice, putting forth on all that lives and languishes the gracious Gift of Redemption through love. For him we are prepared, for we call the music the transcendence of the "Faith" motive and then, at the rise of the curtain, the agony of the sinning Ananias. More beautiful analysis of the prelude has ever been written than that which Wagner wrote himself. His poetic expression finds its truest and most fitting reflection in the music. Strong and firm does faith reveal itself, elevated and resolute even in suffering. In answer to the renewed promise the voice of Faith sounds forth from the distant heights—as though borne on the wings of the snow-white dove—slowly descending, embracing with ever-increasing breadth and fulness the heart of man, filling the world and the whole of nature with highest love; and, as though still to rest, glancing upward again toward the light of heaven. Thus once more from the awe of solitude arises the lament of loving comparison the agony, the holy sweat of the Mount of Olives, the divine sufferings of Golgotha; the body bashed, the blood streams, forth and flows now with the heavenly glow of blessing in the chalice, putting forth on all that lives and languishes the gracious Gift of Redemption through love. For him we are prepared, for we call the music the transcendence of the "Faith" motive and then, at the rise of the curtain, the agony of the sinning Ananias. More beautiful analysis of the prelude has ever been written than that which Wagner wrote himself. His poetic expression finds its truest and most fitting reflection in the music. Strong and firm does faith reveal itself, elevated and resolute even in suffering. In answer to the renewed promise the voice of Faith sounds forth from the distant heights—as though borne on the wings of the snow-white dove—slowly descending, embracing with ever-increasing breadth and fulness the heart of man, filling the world and the whole of nature with highest love; and, as though still to rest, glancing upward again toward the light of heaven. Thus once more from the awe of solitude arises the lament of loving comparison the agony, the holy sweat of the Mount of Olives, the divine sufferings of Golgotha; the body bashed, the blood streams, forth and flows now with the heavenly glow of blessing in the chalice, putting forth on all that lives and languishes the gracious Gift of Redemption through love. For him we are prepared, for we call the music the transcendence of the "Faith" motive and then, at the rise of the curtain, the agony of the sinning Ananias. More beautiful analysis of the prelude has ever been written than that which Wagner wrote himself. His poetic expression finds its truest and most fitting reflection in the music. Strong and firm does faith reveal itself, elevated and resolute even in suffering. In answer to the renewed promise the voice of Faith sounds forth from the distant heights—as though borne on the wings of the snow-white dove—slowly descending, embracing with ever-increasing breadth and fulness the heart of man, filling the world and the whole of nature with highest love; and, as though still to rest, glancing upward again toward the light of heaven. Thus once more from the awe of solitude arises the lament of loving comparison the agony, the holy sweat of the Mount of Olives, the divine sufferings of Golgotha; the body bashed, the blood streams, forth and flows now with the heavenly glow of blessing in the chalice, putting forth on all that lives and languishes the gracious Gift of Redemption through love. For him we are prepared, for we call the music the transcendence of the "Faith" motive and then, at the rise of the curtain, the agony of the sinning Ananias. More beautiful analysis of the prelude has ever been written than that which Wagner wrote himself. His poetic expression finds its truest and most fitting reflection in the music. Strong and firm does faith reveal itself, elevated and resolute even in suffering. In answer to the renewed promise the voice of Faith sounds forth from the distant heights—as though borne on the wings of the snow-white dove—slowly descending, embracing with ever-increasing breadth and fulness the heart of man, filling the world and the whole of nature with highest love; and, as though still to rest, glancing upward again toward the light of heaven. Thus once more from the awe of solitude arises the lament of loving comparison the agony, the holy sweat of the Mount of Olives, the divine sufferings of Golgotha; the body bashed, the blood streams, forth and flows now with the heavenly glow of blessing in the chalice, putting forth on all that lives and languishes the gracious Gift of Redemption through love. For him we are prepared, for we call the music the transcendence of the "Faith" motive and then, at the rise of the curtain, the agony of the sinning Ananias. More beautiful analysis of the prelude has ever been written than that which Wagner wrote himself. His poetic expression finds its truest and most fitting reflection in the music. Strong and firm does faith reveal itself, elevated and resolute even in suffering. In answer to the renewed promise the voice of Faith sounds forth from the distant heights—as though borne on the wings of the snow-white dove—slowly descending, embracing with ever-increasing breadth and fulness the heart of man, filling the world and the whole of nature with highest love; and, as though still to rest, glancing upward again toward the light of heaven. Thus once more from the awe of solitude arises the lament of loving comparison the agony, the holy sweat of the Mount of Olives, the divine sufferings of Golgotha; the body bashed, the blood streams, forth and flows now with the heavenly glow of blessing in the chalice, putting forth on all that lives and languishes the gracious Gift of Redemption through love. For him we are prepared, for we call the music the transcendence of the "Faith" motive and then, at the rise of the curtain, the agony of the sinning Ananias. More beautiful analysis of the prelude has ever been written than that which Wagner wrote himself. His poetic expression finds its truest and most fitting reflection in the music. Strong and firm does faith reveal itself, elevated and resolute even in suffering. In answer to the renewed promise the voice of Faith sounds forth from the distant heights—as though borne on the wings of the snow-white dove—slowly descending, embracing with ever-increasing breadth and fulness the heart of man, filling the world and the whole of nature with highest love; and, as though still to rest, glancing upward again toward the light of heaven. Thus once more from the awe of solitude arises the lament of loving comparison the agony, the holy sweat of the Mount of Olives, the divine sufferings of Golgotha; the

DO YOU COUGH?
DON'T DELAY TAKE
KEMP'S
BALM
THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Coughs, Croup, Sore Throat, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma, certain cure for Consumption in first stage, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by druggists everywhere. Large bottles 25 cents.

If You Wish to be SURE of first class work at honest prices, consult us in all branches of

Plumbing and Heating.
We are confident of our ability to satisfy, and our well known reputation and 30 years' experience in the business, is sufficient guarantee.

We carry a full line of
MAGEE RANGES.
Drop in and we will show you how they are superior to all others.

Kitchen Furnishing Goods,
Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Brushes,
Garden Tools, Vegetable and Flower Seeds, Poultry and Chickens, Kettles, Screens, Wire, Nails, Oil
Stoves, Lamps, etc., etc.

MAY BE FOUND AT OUR
NEW STORE.

SANBORN & DAMON,
1428. Hancock Street
Quincy.

Burdett
BUSINESS and SHORTHAND
Colleges

BOSTON
REMOVED TO
120 Boylston St.,
Washington St. Corner
Continental Building.
Most Elegantly
Equipped School
in New England.
Pat. Actual Business Teaching English and all Business
Methods as at Burdett
College, Boston.
Steno. Normal
Courses for Teachers.
Situations for Students.
Pupils may begin on and after Sept. 6.
Call or Write for Prospectus.
No Solicitors nor Canvasers.

LYNN
100 Lynn Street,
Opp. E. & M. Station.
Planned to accommodate 200 Students. Only
School in N. E. owning building it occupies.
Courses: Stenography and Methods as at Burdett
College, Boston.
Steno. Normal
Courses for Teachers.
Situations for Students.
Pupils may begin on and after Sept. 6.
Call or Write for Prospectus.
No Solicitors nor Canvasers.

POSTS! POSTS! POSTS!
—FOR—
Fences, Trellises and Hen Coops,
All Lengths and Sizes.
ALSO
HARD and SOFT WOOD, PINE SLABS
Beard Poles, Sand, Loom and Gravel.
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
Tel. 207-2. Residence 70 Copeland Street.
WEST QUINCY.
Quincy, April 9. 14-17

C. H. TOWER,
UPHOLSTERER.
CARPETS taken up, Cleaned and Repaired.
FURNITURE Upholstered and Repaired.
HAIR MATTRESSES made over and made to order.
Full line of latest coverings to select from.
Send postal or telephone for estimates.
Telephone, 614 Quincy.
Address 182 Howard Street, Quincy Point.
August 20. 17

"AUTHORITY OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE"
can well be claimed of a book that has the unqualified indorsement of the Executive Departments of the Government, the U. S. Supreme Court, all the State Superintendents of Schools, nearly all of the College Presidents, and Educators generally.

The New and Enlarged Edition of Webster's International Dictionary of English, Biography, Geography, Fiction, etc., has 2380 quarto pages with 5000 illustrations. It has 25,000 new words, new Gazetteer of the World and a new Biographical Dictionary, all edited by W. T. Harris, Ph.D., LL.D., U. S. Commissioner of Education, bringing the work fully up to date.

LET US SEND YOU FREE
"A Test in Pronunciation" is a pleasant and instructive evening's entertainment. Illustrations of the most famous men and women of the world. G. C. McFARLANE CO., Publishers.
600 SPRINGFIELD, Mass.

Worms
Handfuls of children and adults have worms, but are unused for their ailments. The symptoms are—indigestion, a variable appetite, full tongue, offensive breath, head and feet full with worms, small grubs and pains about the bowels, greenish stools, and a feeling of heaviness, during sleep, slow fever, and often in children, convulsions.

TRUE'S ELIXIR
It has been in use since 1851 in purely vegetable form, and is a pleasant and effective remedy for all ailments of the stomach and bowels. A positive cure for Constipation and Biliousness, and a valuable remedy in all cases of indigestion and general debility. Price 25 cents. Ask your druggist for it.
Dr. J. F. TRUE & Co., Auburn, Me.
Sole Importers for the Boston and Quincy Territory.

The Quincy Patriot.
Sixty-Eighth Year.
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1904.
SINGLE COPIES 5 CENTS.
FOR SALE AT
The Patriot Office,
Chapin's Periodical Store,
H. P. Kittredge,
J. P. O'Brien,
C. F. Carlson,
Miss E. M. Freeman,
Sprague & Abbott,
Simmons' Periodical Store,
Thomas Gurney,
Branches & Martens,
Branches & Martens,
Peter L. Lichfield,
W. E. Nightingale,
H. H. Doble & Co.,
Henry O'Brien,
Mrs. Lark's Store,
William Clark,
South Terminal Station,
Fred J. Muller,
N. R. Proctor,
S. H. Hunt,
Arthur Dunham,
Quincy,
City Square,
38 Hancock St.,
near Quincy Depot.
Quincy Point,
Quincy Point,
Wollaston,
Norfolk Downs,
Quincy Adams,
South Quincy,
West Quincy,
Brewer's Corner,
East Milton,
Neponset,
Braintree,
East Weymouth,
Houghton Neck.

FOR PRESIDENT.
THEODORE ROOSEVELT
FOR VICE-PRESIDENT.
CHARLES W. FAIRBANKS

Poetry.
Leaves.
AGNES LEE.
Little dead leaves, little dead leaves,
When the summer wanes and the autumn comes,
I have seen ye oft before!
We are little dead leaves, little dead leaves,
Tapping thy walks around;
Lying, we hide the sky's blue lands,
But now we hide the ground.
Little dead hands, beckoning me
From a fire's red glow,
I've seen ye tell me whether I live,
I will open my door and go.

Notes and Comments.
—Any one who has read even the briefest biography of Theodore Roosevelt knows that he has come into a personal contact with very nearly every kind of man this Republic can produce, and this in a course of a political career, but in the lines in which his own inclinations have led him to go. This is one secret of his power over the American people today. The ranchman knows that Roosevelt was one of the tenement people who know that he could make life easier for them; the farmers round about his summer home know that he has always treated them with warm friendship; the labor men know that he has studied the labor question with sympathy and understanding; and the result of all this is that he does not have to make up speeches full of platitudes, which may or may not hit the mark, to convince these people that he likes them. They know it already.—Old Colony Chronicle.

—The very latest new disease, hereafter to take place by the side of pneumonia, malaria, appendicitis and other afflictions unknown to our fathers, is called mental jaundice. It results from greed, pride, prejudice and worry. The germs are believed to be in every house. Look out!—Athol Chronicle.

—"What do you think of this for a sight I saw last week in Stoughton?" asked a friend. "I went into a house in this town and found a woman of 70, wearing a dressing bodice and her daughter of 80 years was papering a chamber room. Can any of our towns bet that?—Stoughton Sentinel.

—Carl Schurz tells the truth without meaning it when he says the legendary Roosevelt is a product of the imagination. But fortunately there is no danger in the product, which is one entirely of the Democratic imagination. In slandering and vilifying a brave man and an honest and successful chief magistrate of our nation the Democrats are earning only the contempt of thinking people, and are not injuring President Roosevelt in the least. It is precisely the same treatment they gave Abraham Lincoln in his second campaign; but the men who abused Lincoln so unmercifully could not say enough in honoring him a few years later.—Revere Journal.

—The opening of the Peace Conference last week in Tremont Temple, demonstrated vividly the great interest being taken in the subject of universal peace in the beginning of the twentieth century. Seven hundred delegates reported by registration, from every corner of the world. Four thousand people from Boston and its surroundings crowded about the great gates. Secretary Hay, in welcoming the delegates to the United States, exhibited a peace spirit and an ability as a speaker which brought shouts of applause at the close of every paragraph. When he said that the United States government would propose to the other powers of the world that a second Peace Conference should be held at the Hague next year, the enthusiasm knew no bounds. The Bishop of Hereford, England, speaking after Secretary Hay, said that this expression, coming from the man who made it, would have additional weight because of the personality of the man. The Bishop said that England looked to the United States as the country which would do most in bringing about universal peace. Germany it seems, has a proposal about a second conference in the near future, but America has been the first to broach it to the public. Let America, therefore, and Secretary Hay have the credit due to them.—Brookline Chronicle.

—We hasten to nominate Col. Tom Burke of Quincy for janitor of the new Registry of Deeds building at Dedham. He has all the qualifications of a hustler, and the good work he put in for his candidate for county commissioner, Mr. Foster of Brookline, ought to commend him to that gentleman. With the colonel as a resident of the shiretown, the wind would blow up High street every day in the week.—Hyde Park Gazette.

—A beautiful Episcopal church edifice dedicated to the Unitarian faith, and erected at a cost of a million dollars by a vulgar "millionaire" to perpetuate his own fame, is a somewhat curious phenomenon. The Unitarians Faith have on Buzzard's Bay will henceforth have the privilege of worshipping in a church which in its style of architecture is a reproduction of pre-Reformation days, while the religion of England was still Catholic. While the holding of Unitarian church services in such an edifice seems inappropriate, the incongruity can be lessened by that enrichment of the liturgy which Unitarian churches are practising in so many instances with good results. People who desire to study Perpendicular, the noblest style of architecture developed in church-building in England, will find a visit to the Rogers memorial church profitable without the necessity of travelling across the water, for the church is a very beautiful specimen of that style.—Brookline Chronicle.

—In 1893, when the Democrats came into power under Cleveland, our Savings Bank deposits were $1,785,150,007. They were cut down in 1894 to $1,747,061,280. Today under Roosevelt and protection they are over $5,000,000,000.—Old Colony Memorial.

—A new fake game has been discovered, says a trades paper, and is being worked with considerable success in Michigan cities. A man walks into a store and buys $5 to $10 worth of goods, tells the storekeeper to keep the goods until he calls for them at a certain date, and gives a $50 to $75 check on a bank in payment. The check is taken to the bank and returned marked N. G. At the date given, the man returns for his goods and is informed that the check is not honored. He cusses the bank, but pays for his goods, starts for the door, then walks back and asks for his check. He gets it with the merchant's endorsement. In a few days the merchant is notified by the bank of a check cashed bearing his endorsement. The merchant then weeps.

—In all probability the unjust accusations against Postmaster-General Payne by partisan newspapers during the investigation of the post-office department had serious effect in shortening his life. Now that he is gone, these same newspapers, always as unstable as a weather vane, are extolling his ability and merits.—Somerville Journal.

—In welcoming the members of the peace congress in behalf of the government, Secretary Hay said: "No place could be more suitable than this high-heated city, which has been for nearly 200 years the birthplace and the home of every idea of progress and enlightenment which has germinated in the western world." Mr. Hay's idea of Boston, including the suburbs of course, agrees with our own.—Somerville Journal.

—In Lincoln County, Maine, in a settlement of thirty farming folk, there are quite a number of six-toed individuals. As in many country districts the people have been born, brought up, settled on farms in the vicinity and married into each other's families until time has produced a number of six-toed people in a comparatively small district. The sixth toe is an off-shoot from the little toe of the ordinary foot. It is perfect in growth, although it is not always in alignment with the other five toes of the foot.—Bangor Commercial.

—St. Peter's church, Sunderland, England, has just celebrated its 1,200th anniversary. One of the most interesting facts in its history is that the venerable Bede entered the monastery attached to it when a boy seven years of age.—Universalist Leader.

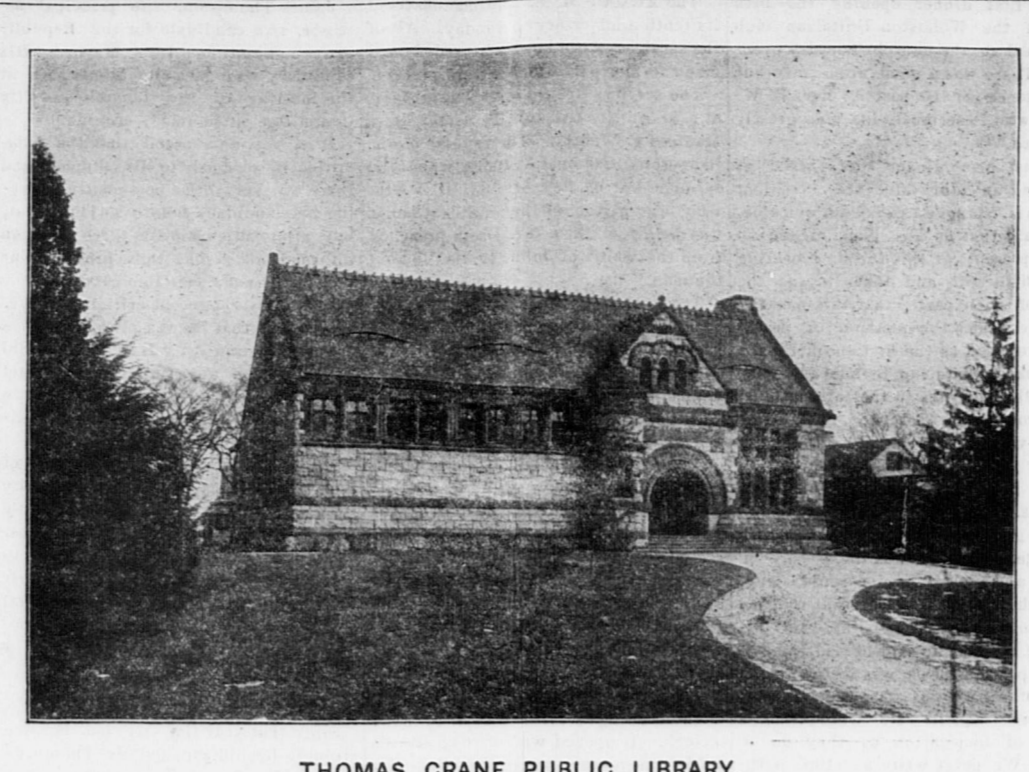

—Dr. W. S. Rainsford of New York says that the first suggestion of an "open church" is to him from a little four-year-old girl. While passing a closed church with her she remarked, "I s'pose God has a key to let himself in, but the rest of us have to go to the sexton."

—George E. Meredith, the somewhat eccentric English novelist, is out with a new theory concerning matrimony. He prophesies that there will be changes in the marriage laws whereby couples can remain wedded for a limited period, after which they may go about their business as if no tie had ever bound them together. That is, people will be allowed to divorce themselves after a certain time without recourse to the courts. He does not think, however, that this will come without a struggle, and he is well aware, he indicates, that conservative people will not endorse the change, but he is positive that it will be here in the far future. He does not believe, though, that it ever will. What would become of the children of these fleeting unions? Would they be sent to the almshouses and institutions, or would they be allowed to choose the parents that they would live with until they were able to take care of themselves when they would be mature enough to enter into a limited partnership with other men and women, according to sex? Truly, matters would be very much mixed under such a condition. No one would know who was who after a while. It would be worse than Mormonism, for there would be lots of women floating about without a home or a protector after their limited terms as wives had expired.—Boston Budget.

—The race issue has risen in San Francisco over admission of Japanese children to the public schools. The city attorney has given an opinion to the superintendent of schools that the two hundred Japanese pupils must go to public school set apart for the Chinese, he arguing that inasmuch as they are Mongolians they cannot be permitted to go to schools provided for children of the white race. The Japanese will appeal to the courts.

—Tramps cost Massachusetts last year $23,765. But tramps do not live Massachusetts and there are every year fewer and fewer in its borders. The State does not deport them, it sets them to work. Yet it gives one a shock to learn that there are still 129,000 cases of vagrancy in a single year. But in 1894 there were over 300,000.—The Leader.

—Andrew Carnegie says that when Canada decides to make a change, it will chop away at the line dividing it from the United States, in the hope that Americans will hear and help from the other side to make the union.

THOMAS CRANE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

DISPLAYED in one of the large show-windows of the store of Lyman Hoyt's Sons & Co., at Stamford, Conn., says the Daily Advocate of that city, is a picture which at once attracts attention because of its fine execution and its handsome framing, but which has a still greater interest because of what it represents and its association with a former resident of Stamford. It is a picture of the Thomas Crane Public Library at Quincy, Mass., a memorial of a man whose many years lived in Stamford, and whose son is now a resident of Strawberry Hill. The suggestion that the picture be exhibited in Stamford came not only from friends of Mr. Crane, but from persons who conceived that the exhibition here of the picture of an ideal library building might help to keep alive the hope that Stamford will some time have a public library building worthy of the town.

THE LATE THOMAS CRANE.
After whom the Library is named.

The beautiful Thomas Crane Memorial Library in Quincy was erected in 1882, as a memorial to Thomas Crane by his widow, the late Mrs. Charissa L. Crane, and his two surviving sons, Benjamin F. and Albert. In 1889, Mrs. Crane, by her will, gave large sums in bequests to various persons and institutions, and among them a foundation fund for this library. Since then, her son, Albert, has given two large pieces of land adjoining the original site, so that the library grounds now comprise nearly two acres.

The site of the library is one of the most beautiful spots in Quincy, and the structure is pointed to every visitor with a feeling of pride. The architect of the building was the late H. H. Richardson, who designed a number of the libraries.

Thomas Crane, who is remembered by most of Stamford's older inhabitants, came to this city about 1850. He purchased a farm of forty-five acres on the crest of Strawberry Hill, and erected there a beautiful and spacious residence. He named his villa "Rock-Acre," the substantial wall erected around the premises and the handsome granite gateway being in keeping with the title. Here he spent the closing years of a life that had been full of useful activity, and here he died at the age of 72 years.

His son, Albert Crane, is still a resident of the charming villa on the hill whose beauty as a place of residence was discovered by his father. Since the latter established his home there, many other fine houses have been erected in what has become the most select district in Stamford, though its development was practically begun when Mr. Crane came here.

The present owner of Rock-Acre is a lawyer by profession, and a graduate of Tufts College in 1883, and of Columbia in 1886, with the degree of Bachelor of Laws. He is a great lover of books, a man of broad culture and taste, devoted to music and art, a deep student, and has traveled extensively.

He was born in Quincy, where his memorial is erected, in 1892. When he was 20 he went to New York, where his industry and business capacity were soon rewarded. He became widely known as a contractor, dealing with extensive work, and always trusted, regarded as a man in whom absolute confidence might be placed. He was a director in several banks and insurance and street railroad companies, a trustee of Tufts College, and one of the staunchest supporters of the Universalist Church. While a resident of Stamford, he was a regular attendant at a faithful friend of the local Universalist Church.

These are some of the things called to mind, the last two or three days, by those who knew Mr. Crane as a fellow townsman in Stamford. To others, as has been suggested, the picture of the Thomas Crane Memorial Library at Quincy encourages the hope that a structure equally beautiful and useful might be erected in Stamford.

Banks in Quincy.

The following complimentary notice from the pen of Florence Vining, editor of the Hyacinth, comes from last week's issue. The banks and insurance office are a great credit to the city.

"No town on the South Shore can boast of such banks and such an insurance company as Quincy. Charles Howland has during his life made the Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co. the greatest in the state. I heard a man say it had a reserve of about a half million. Mr. Howland is a modest, quiet, unassuming man, prudent in all ways—bumble, but comfortable liver. He has given his only son a good education, and his only daughter is well married in England.

Every one knows that as president of the Mount Wollaston Bank he has made it a great success, financially. He is a very few years ago the Quincy Savings Bank erected a large brick building on the principal business street, occupying the lower half, a large, commodious room, spacious, and elegant in finish. Everything is kept first class. To Mr. Burgin belongs the credit of making things move along in an up-to-date manner. He really has stepped into the place of dear George L. Gil, the kindest man that ever lived. He was a comfort and pleasure to all who knew him. Mr. Burgin came to the savings bank at the death of Mr. Gil, and has done well for the business and its patrons ever since.

"The Granite bank, which has been many years on the corner of Granite street, has very recently come into the lower half of the Savings bank building, directly opposite the bank. Really, it would astonish all to see the accommodations of this institution. I don't know there is another so elegant in any town or city, of equal size, in the United States.

"Mr. Chaffin has been its president for many years, and it has lived and flourished wonderfully well under his care. A remarkably well equipped safe vault, in which are boxes for valuables may be found in the rear. These are let at the extremely low price of $5 per year, just half the price of other banks. By making it as cheap as this all women can have a place of safety for their jewels, etc. One has the privilege of taking them out often as they choose. There are also several private rooms in which are writing materials and all conveniences. Here one may examine their papers at their leisure and put them into the tin box which belongs to him. Every woman has articles which she values, and she should go at once and take one of these boxes 'where thieves do not break through and steal.' There is also a large table here where the gentlemen may sit down and make up their accounts, instead of standing, as in the past. The directors' room in the rear is finished in mahogany, as is the rest of the bank, making it very handsome indeed. Every one should know where they can safely deposit their belongings. All the ladies around through the Ways should avail themselves of this opportunity when a pleasant car ride will bring them so near.

House Warming.

The society of Colonial Dames held its first gathering in the Dorothy Q house Saturday afternoon. There was a very large attendance of ladies, upwards of two hundred being present, largely from out of town. The ladies began to arrive at 1 o'clock and were met at the Quincy depot by barge, which conveyed them to the house.

The gathering was of an informal nature, the greater part of the afternoon being passed in inspecting the different rooms of the house and planning for their furnishing.

The repairs which were commenced some weeks ago are not as yet completed. The ladies spent a delightful afternoon. Lunch was served.

In a few weeks the old historic house will be opened for visitors.

The sun will soon set before five o'clock.

Anecdotes.

"Since my daughter has given her consent, Mr. Stur," said the Old Man, "I am inclined to look with favor upon your suit. But I must first be satisfied as to your financial condition and prospects. Would you be prepared, now, to lend me, say, one hundred dollars?"

"No, sir," answered the young man. "Fifty?"

"No, sir," answered the young man. "Twenty?"

"No, sir," answered the young man. "Five?"

Mr. Stur wavered slightly, but answered in the negative, as before. "Take her, my boy!" said the Old Man, vainly striving to conceal his emotion. "Take her, and God bless you! You've got a lot more sense than I thought you had."

Quincy Real Estate Sales.

The following is a list of the recent real estate sales in Quincy:

William W. Jenness assignee and trustee to J. Winthrop Pratt.
Juliette H. J. Coleman to Fred W. Wood, $300.
Fred W. Wood to Royal S. Eastman.
Lyman F. Hewittson to Charles E. Farley.
Rachel S. Hewittson guardian ad litem to Charles E. Farley, $600.
Rachel S. Hewittson to Charles E. Farley.
William F. Gallagher to Eastern City Goods Co., $400.
Napoleon Z. Reed to Gertrude E. Hanson.
Gertrude E. Hanson to Napoleon Z. Reed et al.
Joseph Adams by title to Annie M. Angell.
Lewis M. Soule et al to Fred B. Rice.
Walter L. Whittemore, Jr., to Charles Whittemore.
Michael J. Collins to Richard J. Cahill (2).
Hattie H. Walker to Francis E. Quimby, $2000.
Harlow H. Rogers to Francis E. Quimby.
Fred W. Wood to Mary E. Anderson (4).
Charles A. Green et al to Hamilton Flood.
Frederick Howland to Hamilton Flood.
Beattie Elbridge to Frances Blackmar.
Harlow H. Rogers to Frederick L. Jones (2).
Thomas W. Smith to Quincy Column Turning Co., $2005.
Susan R. Romney to Ella F. Hawkins.
William Welch to Ella F. Hawkins.
Willard Welch to Della Lander.
Charles F. Adams et al to John R. Richards.
Lyons Granite Co. to John K. Hayward Jr.
O. T. Rogers Granite Co., to John K. Hayward.
Blue Hill Granite Co. to John K. Hayward Jr.
Frank Redford et al to John K. Hayward Jr.
John K. Hayward Jr. to Quincy Quarries Co.
Quincy Quarries Co. to American Looms and Trust Co. Jr.

Foot Ball.

The Fore River team by a big score, Saturday, in its game with the U. S. Bunting team in the Merrimac Valley league, association rules. The match was played on the Ward Two playgrounds and the score was 7 to 1.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

Castle Square Theatre.
The attraction at the Castle Square theatre next week is sure to create unusual interest among its host of patrons as the management has selected Broadway's famous comedy "The Henrietta" for production. It will be remembered that this play was one of the earliest successes of the Robson and Crane combination and that it made a fortune for these two famous actors nearly twenty years ago. This brilliant dramatic effort was, upon its original presentation at the Union Square theatre, New York, hailed as a typical American comedy, by an American author for American actors, original, truthful, clear and moral. Its record has proved the correctness of the estimate first put upon it and the playgoer who has not yet enjoyed the story told in "The Henrietta" has delightful dramatic treat to anticipate.

FOR PRESIDENT
ALTON B. PARKER
OF NEW YORK.

If the manufacturers of Massachusetts were limited in their sales to residents of this state, two-thirds of them would have to go out of business and discharge their laborers. Similarly, if the manufacturers of the United States are restricted in their sales to people in the United States, a fatal blow would be inflicted from which they never could recover. Our manufacturers need and are seeking foreign markets. The reciprocity treaties negotiated by President McKinley would have given us those markets we need. The Republican leaders, prominent among whom was Senator Lodge, joined together, each to defeat one, and as a result all were defeated.

If the manufacturers and the people wish extended trade, more work, and consequent prosperity, they should vote for ALTON B. PARKER of New York for President. Massachusetts Democratic State Central Committee.

ABOUT STOMACH TROUBLES.

Dear Public:

Twenty years of prescription filling for all conceivable forms of stomach disorder has shown us the effect of every drug and specific on our shelves. We know just what may be expected from each one—and we handle them all.

Jaynes' Peppajice is made from the most remarkable close observation has brought to light. It is twenty years' experience compounded into one sterling remedy. It is a sure cure for stomach ailments. It wonderfully strengthens stomachs, cures biliousness, constipation, loss of appetite, dyspepsia, and liver and stomach complaints of all kinds.

Its action is prompt and sure. If you have any form or variety of stomach disorder whatsoever, Peppajice will end it, no matter how hopeless it may seem. It never fails. We know this from long and repeated experience. If it doesn't cure, you get your money back. But it WILL cure. It will remake you. Peppajice is your golden opportunity.

JAYNES & CO.
TRADE MARK.

20 WASHINGTON ST., Cor. Hanover | 277 WASHINGTON ST., Opp. Oak
123 SUMMER ST., Cor. South | 129 SUMMER ST.,
BOSTON, MASS.

"Peppajice hit my case exactly. I have experienced no heartburn or sleeplessness since taking it.—Mrs. Geo. F. Gardner, So. Braintree, Mass."

"I used to exhale considerable gas after eating. Peppajice has entirely stopped it.—Mrs. Nellie Fennell, Arlington, Mass."

"My stomach seemed to be on fire and I could not eat plain food with any comfort. Peppajice has completely cured me.—Mrs. S. C. Corcoran, Everett, Mass."

Jaynes' Peppajice, 63c.

Other Dealers would charge you $1.25 for medicine of same quality and quality as Peppajice. Jaynes' Quality is highest—Prices are lowest. All our goods are sold direct from wholesaler or manufacturer to consumer—you save from 25 to 33 per cent. every day on every purchase you make at Jaynes' and are guaranteed satisfaction or your money back.

WE GIVE S. & H. GREEN TRADING STAMPS.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA

900 DROPS
CASTORIA
Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of INFANTS & CHILDREN.
Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness, and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Facsimile Signature of
W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furniture and Piano Mover.
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING.
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen in Music Hall Building, or at W. T. Arnold's, Revere Road.
Residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
August 20. 17

SMITH PATTERSON COMPANY
FINE CARVING SETS.
PEARL HANDLE KNIVES.
STERLING SILVER.
KNIVES, FORKS, SPOONS.
ALSO BEST QUALITY SILVER PLATE
TABLE WARE.
32 SUMMER ST.
BOSTON, MASS.

W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furniture and Piano Mover.
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets taken up, Cleaned and Relaid.
JOBBING.
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen in Music Hall Building, or at W. T. Arnold's, Revere Road.
Residence, 10 Foster Street, Quincy, Mass.
August 20. 17

The Water of three ponds in Quincy, Mass., has been analyzed by the State Board of Health for the purpose of determining whether ice therefrom would be pure. The Board reported sewerage pollution in the water. The Crystal Spring Ice Co.'s pond at Quincy Neck, Mass., examined and found in first class condition.
ICE TRADE JOURNAL, Feb. 1, 1904.

SEASON OF 1904.
Crystal Spring Ice.
Office, 28 Edwards Street,
QUINCY, MASS.
TELEPHONE 4-3.

TWO VALUES
OF NEWSPAPER
ADVERTISING.

What It Costs
AND
What It Pays

Are two values of newspaper advertising that the merchant has to consider. But the most important thing is WHAT IT PAYS. The merchant can get space in papers of small circulation and little influence for a little less money than the same space would cost in THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Does it pay to throw away the certainty of the profitable returns which are sure to PATRIOT advertisers, because it costs less to advertise in a cheaper paper?

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1904.

VOL. 68, NO. 43.

FIVE CENTS PER COPY; $2.50 PER YEAR.

The Quincy Patriot,
Established in 1837.
PUBLISHED SATURDAY MORNING BY
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON,
OFFICE, No. 1424 HANCOCK STREET.
Subscription Price, $2.50 per Year.
A reduction of fifty cents will be made when paid one year in advance.
Quincy Daily Ledger.
The ONLY DAILY in the Only City in Norfolk County. Established in 1889.
Subscription Price, $6.00 per Year.
A reduction of $1 will be made when paid one year in advance.
ALSO PUBLISHERS OF THE
3-antree Observer
A Weekly Established in 1878

H. T. WHITMAN,
Civil Engineer
—AND—
SURVEYOR.
ADAMS BUILDING, - QUINCY
Boston Office, 85 Devonshire street
Hours, 12 to 2 p. m.
N. B. Plans of nearly all the Real Estate in the City of Quincy can be found at my office. Telephone connection.
May 28. 11

JULIUS JOHNSON,
Carpenter, & Contractor
—AND—
BUILDER.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
NO. 64 CENTRE ST., QUINCY, MASS.
Telephone, 69-2
June 19. 11

WILLIAM PARKER & SON,
Carpenters and Builders.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
JOBbing PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
HANCOCK COURT, - QUINCY, MASS.
IRA LITCHFIELD,
CARPENTER and BUILDER
PEARL STREET,
SOUTH QUINCY.

JOHN W. MCANARNEY,
COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW,
ROOM 1, DUBIN & MERRILL'S BLOCK,
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.

DR. C. T. SHERMAN
DENTIST.
Hancock Building, over W. G. Shaw's store,
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY.
Office Hours, 9 to 12; 2 to 5.
Residence, Greenleaf street.

DR. FENIMORE S. ANDREWS,
DENTIST.
67 Franklin St., Cor. Water St.,
PINE BLVD., QUINCY ADAMS.
Office Hours, 9 to 12; 2 to 5.
Telephone number, 146-2.
Aug. 16. 11

J. E. KENILEY & CO.,
PLUMBERS.
All orders promptly attended to at reasonable prices. Satisfaction guaranteed.
NO. 9 TEMPLE STREET, QUINCY.
Jan 6. 11

W. E. BROWN,
UNDERTAKER,
Office and residence, corner of Canal and Mechanic streets.
Quincy, Feb. 6. 11

DAVID BROWN,
HORSE SHOEING,
Carriage Work and General Jobbing,
WASHINGTON STREET, - WOLLASTON,
Nov. 9. 11

Quincy Savings Bank,
New Savings Bank Building.
President, EDWIN W. MARSH
Vice-President, JOHN Q. A. FIELD
Treasurer and Secretary, CLARENCE BURGIN
Board of Directors—EDWIN W. MARSH, JOHN Q. A. FIELD, HENRY M. FAXON, RUFUS P. CHAPLIN.
BANK HOURS: From 8.30 to 12 A. M. and 2 to 4 P. M. Will close on Saturdays at 12 M.
Deposits placed on interest on the first Tuesday of January, April, July and October.
CORPORATED BY THE STATE OF MASS.
Quincy, April 30, 1904 11

ABBOTT & MILLER'S
BOUGHS NECK,
QUINCY AND BOSTON EXPRESS.
G. M. MILLER, General Manager.

Furniture Packed.
Office, 64 Washington Street.
Quincy P. O. address, Lock Box 8.
Telephone Connections.

JOB PRINTING
AT THE
PATRIOT OFFICE

Incorporated 1837.
Dedham Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
DEDHAM, MASS.
STATEMENT JANUARY 1, 1904:
Amount at Risk, $6,915,941.25
Cash Assets, 161,046.09
Total Liabilities (including re-insurance), 59,270.86
Amount of Cash Surplus, $101,795.22
Contingent Assets, 106,428.43
Total Available Assets, 208,223.65
Dividends are now being paid on five-year policies, 70 per cent.; on three-year policies, 50 per cent.; on one and two-year policies, 25 per cent.
J. WHITE BELCHER, President.
HOWARD COLBURN, Treasurer.
DIRECTORS:—Howard Colburn, Dedham; Don Gleason Hill, Dedham; J. White Belcher, Randolph; A. E. Endicott, Dedham; P. H. Mansfield, Dedham; Frederick D. Ely, Dedham; Alfred Hewins, Dedham; Samuel Gannett, Milton; Charles M. Fawcett, Boston
GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent for Quincy.

QUINCY
Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
INCORPORATED IN 1851.
COMMENCED BUSINESS IN 1852
CHAS. A. HOWLAND, President.
WILLIAM H. FAY, Secretary.
C. A. HOWLAND, Jr., Asst. Sec.

CASH FUND January 1, 1904, $105,963.30
SURPLUS over Re-insurance, $455,776.74
LOSSES paid the past year, $42,201.94
DIVIDENDS PAID the past year, $66,032.42
GAIN IN SURPLUS the past year, $20,293.04
GAIN IN CASH FUND the past year, $20,293.04
AND EVERY LOSS PAID IN FULL.
AMOUNT AT RISK, $32,586,226.06
TOTAL LIABILITIES, $250,186.56
Dividends Paid on Every Expiring Policy: 60 per cent. on 5 years, 40 per cent. on 3 years, and 20 per cent. on all others.
Quincy, Mass., 1904.

DORCHESTER
Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
BOSTON, MASS.
INCORPORATED 1855.
FORTY-NINTH ANNUAL STATEMENT
JANUARY 1, 1904.
Amount at Risk - $34,122,020.00
Cash Assets - 752,311.14
Deposits Notes - 569,044.43
Total Liabilities - 1,041,355.57
Total Available Assets - 34,863,375.57
Gains in Surplus in 1903 - 1,309.25
Gains in Surplus in 1902 - 149,807.21
Losses paid in 1903 - 72,704.08
Dividends paid in 1903 - 216,622.56
Receipts in 1903 - 2,575,253.33
This Company now pays the following Dividends:
On five-year Policies - 60 per cent.
On three-year Policies - 40 per cent.
On one-year Policies - 20 per cent.
All losses promptly adjusted and paid.
THOS. F. TEMPLE,
President and Treasurer
W. D. C. CURTIS, Secretary
Directors: J. B. L. Bartlett, Clarence Burgess, W. D. C. Curtis, Charles F. Gallagher, Seth Mann, Ed. Latham, Pratt, Thomas F. Temple, James H. Lyman, Samuel A. White
Home Office, Neponset, Boston, Mass.

ETNA INSURANCE CO.,
HARTFORD, CONN.
Incorporated 1819. Charter Perpetual.
Losses Paid in 55 Years, $96,283,139.96

JANUARY 1, 1904.
Cash Capital, $4,000,000.00
Reserve for Re-insurance (Fire), 4,281,503.60
Reserve for Unpaid Losses (Fire), 645,290.18
Reserve for Other Claims, 226,458.50
Net Surplus, 6,060,737.11
Total Assets, 15,152,858.16

John Hardwick & Co.,
45 Granite street,
Agents for Quincy.

Incorporated 1823.
Norfolk Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
DEDHAM, MASS.

STATEMENT, JANUARY 1, 1904.
Amount at Risk, $24,154,504.84
Cash Assets, 645,290.18
Total Liabilities, including re-insurance, 187,897.32
Amount of Cash Surplus, $458,332.51
Contingent Assets, 569,044.43
Total Available Assets, 927,376.94
Dividends are now being paid on five-year policies, 70 per cent.; on three-year policies, 50 per cent.; on one and two-year policies, 25 per cent.
J. WHITE BELCHER, Pres. and Treas.
JAMES Y. NOYES, Secretary
DIRECTORS:—J. White Belcher, Randolph; Howard Colburn, Dedham; Tyler Thayer, New Bedford; A. H. Endicott, Dedham; Samuel Gannett, Milton; Stephen M. Weld, Dedham; Thomas B. Draper, Dedham; James H. Lyman, Lincoln; Brookline; James Hewins, Medford.
GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent for Quincy.

INSURANCE AGENCY.
ESTABLISHED in Quincy in the year 1849 by
W. PORTER.
Insurance effected in reliable and safe Stock and Mutual offices.
By W. PORTER & CO.,
At No. 82 Water street, Boston.
Residence, Hancock street, Quincy.

Granite Firms.
FINE MONUMENTAL WORK FROM AMERICAN AND FOREIGN GRANITE AND MARBLE. Latest designs. Superior workmanship. Works, South Quincy, B. & N. Stoughton, Mass.

BADGER BROTHERS,
Granite Dealers and Machinists. Monumental Work of all Descriptions. Colored Ashland Emery for sale. West Quincy.

FULLER, FOLEY & CO.,
Granite Manufacturers and Dealers. Works opposite West Quincy Depot.

MILNE & CHALMERS,
Monumental and Cemetery Work of every description. Works near Quincy Adams Depot. P. O. Address, Quincy, Mass. Branch Office, 4 West Main St., North Adams.

MERRY MOUNT GRANITE CO.
Incorporated 1881. Manufacturers and Dealers in Monumental and Cemetery Work. Works near Quincy Adams station, So. Quincy.

McGRATH BROS.,
Large stock of Finished Monuments and Tablets constantly on hand. Works at Quincy Adams Station. Established 1854.

CAREY BROTHERS,
Dealers and manufacturers of Polished and Hammered Monuments, Curbing and Headstones. Worked in Quincy, West Quincy.

WE CALL ATTENTION TO OUR FALL OFFERINGS IN Men's Underwear.
We invite the seekers after Genuine Bargains to compare the Quality and Prices of Our Assortment with that Shown Elsewhere.
CONTOOCOOK A 97 cts.
GEORGE W. JONES,
Adams Building, - QUINCY.

STEARNS' INTERIOR FINISH.
Everything in Wood or Woodwork, Any Kind of Wood.

THE A. T. STEARNS LUMBER COMPANY.
(ESTABLISHED 1849).
Main Office, Mills and Wharves at Neponset, Branch Office and Exhibit, 169 Devonshire Street, and Haymarket Square Salesroom, 1 Sudbury Street, corner Merriam Street, BOSTON.
Our Florida Ash is of light and uniform color, some of it being not unlike White Mahogany. It is well adapted for fine interior finish and is not expensive.
We Believe that our Building Specialists are much superior to any similar material in America, and we simply want an opportunity to tell you why it is so before you have purchased elsewhere.
If Interested write us fully regarding the results desired. We can write you more intelligently and you can then Form Your Own Opinion.
SEE OUR SPECIAL DEPARTMENT CATALOGUES.

Handsomeness Rugs.
In the modern home of today, rugs are taking the place of carpets. They are more attractive, easy to care for and cost less than carpets.
We have some of the newest and most attractive made up Rugs you have ever seen, especially designed for Dining Rooms, Parlors and Halls. These Rugs are in Brussels, Moquette, Tapestry, Oriental and Smyrna.
Our prices are from 10 to 25 per cent. lower than those of Boston stores.
Cash or Easy Payments.
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
New England's Lowest Priced Furniture Store.
Hancock Street, Quincy.
We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT
"The American Boy" Magazine FREE
We are pleased to state that we have made arrangements with the publishers of THE AMERICAN BOY whereby we can give a subscription for 12 months to any boy purchasing goods in our Boys' Clothing Department to the amount of Five Dollars. The magazine is issued each month, and is devoted to boys' interests. It is a clean, bright paper, and has impressed us so favorably that we are glad to help its circulation in this way.
Write to us for a sample copy, mentioning this paper, and if the magazine pleases you, then visit our Boys' Clothing Department, make your purchase of Five Dollars' worth of merchandise, and you will be given a card entitling you to twelve numbers free, delivery being made each month upon presentation of your card.
The Water of three ponds in Quincy, Mass., has been analyzed by the State Board of Health for the purpose of determining whether ice therefrom would be pure. The Board reported sewage pollution in—The Crystal Spring Ice Co.'s pond at Quincy Neck, Mass., examined and found in first class condition.
ICE TRADE JOURNAL, Feb. 1, 1904.

MACULLAR PARKER COMPANY
Manufacturers and Retailers of Clothing for Men and Boys 400 Washington Street, Boston

SEASON OF 1904.
Crystal Spring Ice.
Office, 28 Edwards Street, QUINCY, MASS.
TELEPHONE 4-3.
Pure Ice and Good Service at Fair Prices Guaranteed.
March 19. 11

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Beware of cheap imitations.
Sole and General Distributors
Quincy, Mass.
P-14

Poetry.

The Ridiculous Optimist.

S. E. KISER.

There was once a man who smiled
Because the day was bright;
Because he slept at night;
Because God gave him sight
To gaze upon his child!
Because his little one Could leap and laugh and run;
Because the dawn sun
Smiled on the earth, he smiled.
He smiled because the sky
Was high above his head;
Because the rose was red;
Because the grass was green;
He never wondered why
That all things were as they
The Lord had bled and so
That all things were as they
The wrong way here below
That everything was sky.
He told and still was glad
Because the air was sweet;
That claimed his love, and he Shared all the joys they had;
For being always glad Because the sweet world new;
Because that he could live
And hammer he was glad.
Because he lived and smiled,
And did not look ahead
With bitterness or dread
But nightly sought his bed
As calmly as a child.
And people call him mad
For being always glad
With such things as he had,
And hook their heads and smile.

Miscellaneous.

Forty-one Sou's

Monsieur Aristide Chapoutel, a retired merchant, a widower with an only daughter, is seated in the dining-room near the table upon which he has deposited a glass of champagne. The table is set for two persons, and two chairs are drawn up to it. Since five minutes to six the ex-merchant widower with one child has waited for his daughter, and as the clock now marks half-past, one may appreciate the extent of his hunger. Not to have begun upon the desert at half-past six! It is about to strike the half hour now—it is striking—it has struck. The two doors of the little rustic clock open and the impatient bird, shaking its wings, sounds its "cuckoo" in a particularly ironic tone. For thirty-five minutes an excellent soup has been spoiling little by little, and, worse than all, he does not know what may be happening, for good or ill, to his beloved daughter (Charlotte) at the dining-room grumbling.
"Mademoiselle left as usual at four o'clock for her music lesson. The lesson lasts an hour. Allowing half an hour to go and along to return, she should have been here, as she always is, at six o'clock."
And now it is thirty-five minutes past.
"But the omnibus is frequently full."
"A plague on the omnibuses!"
"Perhaps, as the weather is fine, mademoiselle has taken a walk and will return home by way of Rue de la Paix, and there are many milliners and jewelers and pretty things to attract a young person along this route."
"The deuce take the fashions and the jewelry, and the girl herself, if she keeps me waiting like this! I should like to know what one wishes to see after the dinner hour has arrived."
"Not to mention the lovers—the dandies that follow pretty pussies-by to whisper to them a com—"
"Oh! I see! Lovers, indeed! You are laughing at me, Gertrude. Thank the Lord, Charlotte understands how to send such rascals to the right-about."
"There is perhaps nothing in it, and I may be a fool, but how a father can have his daughter run alone through the streets, I—"
"Rats! Rats! In the name of heaven! You know, on the contrary, Gertrude, Charlotte never harries herself."
"I am glad you can just about it. But mark my words, this will all end badly!"
Monsieur Chapoutel refuses to listen further. He takes a sudden respite.
"Gertrude, take away the soup. Keep it hot, and bring me my boots; I am going to meet her."
Gertrude, still numbing, removes the tureen, and is returning with the boots, when the door-bell peals out joyously.
"That is Charlotte at last!" exclaims the father, who has just taken off his slippers.
"It is mademoiselle," repeats Gertrude, who in her haste to open the door forgets the boots upon Monsieur Chapoutel's plate.
Charlotte enters like a miniature whirlwind. She is small and graceful, with laughing eyes and fluffy hair—eighteen years old, has little feet and large, deep, and pretty head, perfectly gloved; beside a thousand other charming details there are dimples in her cheeks, and she has a clean-cut little chin, and a softly-rounded form. In a word, she is an adorable little Parisienne, a butterfly, all ribbons and lace, flowers and feathers, with all the goods of her father's shop upon her dainty person, but assuredly nothing of the shop about her.
"You have come at last," announces the father ironically, as he seats himself at the table and unfolds his napkin.
"Oh, papa, I was just going to tell you."
"Sit down, sit down first; you can explain while eating, and I will understand you better then. The deuce! I have waited long enough already. Gertrude, the soup."
"But, papa, you can't think! I've had a real adventure."
"An adventure!" cries Monsieur Chapoutel, starting up, just as Gertrude gives him a glance of reproach as well as triumph, above the tureen, as much as to say, "I told you so!"
"Yes, papa, an adventure, in the omnibus, with a young man."
"In the omnibus, with a young man? Merciful heavens!"
Oh, papa, an adventure with a young man, who was altogether nice, I assure you."
"I would have you know, my dear, that a young man who is all right never has an adventure with a young lady—above all in an omnibus. Explain yourself!"
That is easy to do, little papa, and really it isn't of the least use to make such big eyes at me and talk to me in such a voice. I had forgotten my pocketbook—a thing that is liable to happen any day—"
The father, without waiting to explain the circumstances to the conductor—the driver—to the controller—to anybody. One does not forget one's pocketbook when going on an omnibus, or, better still, one does not go on an omnibus after having deposited a glass of champagne. How to you propose to return these six sou's to this young man? For I hope you do not intend keeping them."
"But, papa, I have his card. See here: Monsieur Agnor Balchot, suzerain to the Ministry of—"
The father, without waiting to hear more, snatches the bit of paste-board from the girl and cries:
"What, not content with lending you thirty centimes in violation of all the proprieties, this gentleman gives you his card beside! He is the pettiest intriguer, the lowest of the low—a young man who is all right."
"Now, papa, be reasonable; to return the money, it was, of course, necessary to know his address."
Monsieur Chapoutel finds no suitable reply to this ingenious reasoning; but, with a gesture indicative of ill-humor, throws his napkin on the table.
"I am fated not to dine today," Gertrude, go engage me a carriage. I wish to return this Agnor his six sou's at once, and tell him a few plain truths beside."
"Oh, papa, papa, you won't find that! It would be base ingratitude. Only think of it. This young man has ex-terminated me from a very unpleasant situation." Unpleasant situation! Let me alone, I do not care to be lectured, especially by a rattle-brain who loses her pocketbook."
"Monsieur puts on his boots and takes his cane and hat, all the while growing more and more morose. Gertrude, the cabman is below. But he only promises to take you there, not to wait for you."
"Very well. I can get another cab to bring me back."
So Monsieur departs, after slamming the door, while Charlotte, blushing and trembling, recounts to her old friend Gertrude how she is much better acquainted with Agnor than she dares confess to her father; that for a month at least she and he have taken the omnibus at the same time, each evening, and that, without ever seeming to do so, she, Charlotte, has noticed, and so forth, and so forth!
A fine affair, indeed! exclaims the astonished servant, all is a tangle of excitement.
Agnor is in his bachelor apartments, and in a sentimental mood is gazing at the head that his charming neighbor in the omnibus has touched while taking the card he gave her.
Suddenly there comes a knock at the door, which opens abruptly. A large figure of breath, his hat over his ear, his cane in his fist, enters unceremoniously.
"Sir," he exclaims, "to say the least of it, your conduct is unworthy of a French gentleman. A gallant man does not thus take advantage of the innocence, the inexperience, the artlessness, the embarrassment of a young girl. To profit by the absence of a father and a pocketbook, to brutally offer to a young person who is alone, not only thirty centimes, but a visiting card, may be a good investment, but it is very bad manners. But here they are, six sou's. And the large man, after perceiving with such volubility, begins to search in his pockets; but before Agnor, who is literally dumbfounded, can utter a word, a man actor appears upon the scene. It is the cabman, who comes in furiously brandishing his whip.
This is fine! I tell you I will bring you here, but not wait for you, and you accept the terms. You even order me to make haste, and when we arrive you shoot off like a zebra, as slippery as an eel, without paying me and calling me to wait. That won't go down, I tell you! I mean what I say. One trip means one trip, nothing else. Come, hurry up, citizen! No tip, if that worries you, but I want my thirty sou's, and be quick about it."
Agnor does not understand; but the large gentleman, who has precipitately dived into each pocket, then successively turned them all wrong side out without appreciable result, grows pink and white, then crimson, then violet, and now shades off into green—a rainbow in a pug hat and overcoat.
"I have forgotten—my—my pocket-book!"
"That's an old trick," roars the cabman, "but you can tell that to the commissary. It won't answer with me." "I am prepared to seize the arm of the unfortunate, who, in despair, on the verge of apoplexy, meekly submits. But Agnor, a veritable providence to the family, gives the cabman the necessary amount, and orders him away.
"Permit me," the young man says, with exquisite politeness to Monsieur Chapoutel, who barely has strength to articulate:

"Certainly, my dear sir, with pleasure, but give him only twenty-five centimes—no more."
The father of Mademoiselle Charlotte who but recently could not understand that a person has not always as much as thirty centimes about one to pay in an omnibus, now admits that he is very happy to have some one advance the sum of thirty-five sou's to stop the mouth of a pitiless cabman.
Thus, notwithstanding the diverse and unusual emotions he has just experienced, it is with an almost gracious smile that he says to Agnor:
"Monsieur—Monsieur Balchot, I believe. I now owe you forty-one sou's. If you will do me the pleasure of dining with me this evening, we will settle this little affair. A merchant does not like old debts—besides short reckonings make good friends."
A quarter of an hour later Gertrude places an extra plate on the table of the Chapoutels. It is still placed there every day, for the next month the bans of Mademoiselle Charlotte and Monsieur Agnor were published. And papa Chapoutel says to any one who cares to listen to him:
"Never borrow, O ye fathers of families; it costs too dear. I once owed a debt of forty-one sou's, and in order to pay it I had not only to give away my daughter, but eighty thousand francs as her dot."—Boston Home Journal.

Summer Resort Expressions.

A girl with two evening gowns—a belle.
Woman who wears many diamonds at breakfast—a society leader.
Woman who plays golf—a champion.
Girl with three evening gowns—a great belle.
Girl with three trunks—an heiress.
Man who goes fishing—Disciple of Isak Walton.
Man who treats ladies to lemonade—Such a nice man.
Man who treats to wine—a splendid host.
Young man whose father has plenty of money—a perfectly lovely young man.
Man who minds his own business—a mystery.
Woman who gossips—Such a lovely entertainer.
Woman who watches others—a great observer.
Girl with morning paper—a great reader.
Girl with magazine—a student.
Girl with book—a scholar.
Woman who tells stories—a gossip.
Man who listens well—a bore.
Man who knows no one—a fool.
Man who introduces nobody to his friends—a diplomat.
Poor girl who plays piano—a nuisance.
Poor girl who sings in the parlor—a terror.
Rich girl who plays the piano—a genius.
Rich girl who sings in the parlor—such a brilliant addition to our most select circles.
Girl who receives a box of candy by express—a general society favorite.
Girl who receives many letters—Engaged.
Girl who wears a veil—a beauty.
Good child of poor parents—Such a horrible bother.
Bad child of rich parents—Such a little darling.
A thoroughly polite gentleman—a freak.
Man who flatters all the girls—Such a perfect gentleman.—Chicago Saturday Evening Herald.

A Cure for Naughtiness.

Conscientious parents realize it is necessary to encourage good impulses, and also to train the child's moral nature through the education of his faculties; but it is hard to convince them that in respect of those venial faults most children exhibit quite early neglect is better policy than discipline.
Many times a child who accidentally finds naughtiness an interesting experiment would quickly weary of it if it were not for the commotion it makes in the family. To become an offender is to become important, and nothing is more agreeable to a young or old character than to attract attention. One is liable to tire of tedium to attract attention in some way, even if it involves making one's self odious.
The desire for notoriety, is in its incipient form simply a determination to become the center of something, and children show it as soon as they even frankly than their elders.
It is not then desirable to make a child's small attempts at intractability difficult to him, so that he shall forget them? Every act that we remember well we incline to do again, and the best thing that can happen to children is to have all their good acts marked by red letters, while their minor offenses are dropped into the gulph of forgetfulness.—Woman's Home Companion.

New Idea.

A friend who came for a piazza visit took from her working bag a dozen neatly homed dish towels on which she embroidered in hasty outline stitching with a dark blue thread the outlines of various utensils such as tumblers and a cup and saucer; one had a small frying pan on it. "Isn't it waste of work to embroider dish towels?" I suggested mildly. "Not at all. It is an economy of time. I have gone through the trial year after year of trying to make Swede, German or French girls understand me. One of the things I could not impress on their memories was which dish towel was to be used for certain dishes. They wiped my cut glass with the heavy crash towels and the frying pan with a glass towel. One day my little girl brought home from kindergarten a card on which a cup and saucer were sewed prettily. I transferred the pattern to some new dish towels. I was hemming and Johanna took it to it at once. Now I've put emblems on two dozen, my new supply, and it works like magic. She does not know a tumbler yet by name, but she knows its form."—Good Housekeeping.

Letter from the Capitol.

Washington, Oct. 15, 1904.

It seldom happens that a people enjoy the inauguration of an entirely new economic system, instituted by officials who have all the advantages of 20 years' experience in shaping a progressive nation, at their command, but that is the advantage which the Philippines are now enjoying and the results promise to prove of the utmost value to them. A striking instance of this advantage is furnished by reports on the work of the Philippine Bureau of Forestry which have just been received by the War Department. Instead of the reckless, extravagant and short sighted policy which has resulted in the devastation of the forests of this country and the consequent enhancement of the price of lumber to the consumers of the present day, the American administrators of the Philippines have adopted a policy which warrants the belief that the vast forest resources of the Philippines will prove a perpetual and constantly increasing source of revenue to the islands and will, incidentally, contribute to the development of the archipelago in other directions.

No forest land is sold in the Philippines but twenty-year leases are granted to lumbermen conveying the right to cut, not all the timber in sight, but only those trees which have reached maturity and have been marked by the expert foresters employed by the government. The forest lands are divided into classes according to their proximity to market and the trees are divided into groups according to the value of the wood, the tax varying 5 pesos per cubic meter for the more valuable woods in close proximity to market, to one-half peso for the least valuable groups in the most inaccessible locality. The lease-holders are constructing roads and developing hitherto neglected sections of the archipelago, the productivity of the forests is being steadily increased and a perpetual source of revenue of no mean proportions is afforded to the government. This is but a single instance of the things which seem to warrant the reflection, "We do things better in these days."

The poisoning of twelve persons with bad whiskey, which occurred in New York last week, has resulted in Dr. Wiley, the Chief of the Bureau of Chemistry, giving out some of the results of his investigations which should cause liquor drinkers to pause. According to this eminent chemist, 80 per cent. of the cheap whiskey sold in the saloons, hotels and clubs of this country is not the genuine article but a cheap imitation. Although a greater part of this stuff will not produce death, as did the New York whiskey, it is seriously injurious to health and where used constantly is at least a predisposing cause to serious diseases. "If the pure food bill which passed the House last session and is now awaiting the action of the Senate becomes a law we will have a legal method of condemning this stuff," said Dr. Wiley today, "but at present there is no way in which the Government can reach it. Most of the Scotch whiskey sold in this country is adulterated with creosote and most of the American whiskey is seriously adulterated after it is removed from bond." Thus far the influence of the whiskey trade, and the disinclination of some temperance advocates who condemn all use of whiskey have proved an insurmountable obstacle to legislation which would authorize the condemnation of adulterated liquor and the punishment of those who sell it.

The government spent last year, for the military establishment of the nation, $195,000,000. That amount included the entire cost of the army in this country, and the Philippines and the Philippines, the cost of adding a number of new ships of the most approved and expensive type to the navy, of maintaining the navy and of fortifying the coasts of the United States. It may be recalled that during the Spanish War grave anxiety was felt among sea coast cities when it was learned that a Spanish fleet had sailed for America. Within the past year $8,000,000, included in the above total, has been spent on the coast defenses of the United States and the European coast. One is liable to tire of tedium to attract attention in some way, even if it involves making one's self odious. The desire for notoriety, is in its incipient form simply a determination to become the center of something, and children show it as soon as they even frankly than their elders. It is not then desirable to make a child's small attempts at intractability difficult to him, so that he shall forget them? Every act that we remember well we incline to do again, and the best thing that can happen to children is to have all their good acts marked by red letters, while their minor offenses are dropped into the gulph of forgetfulness.—Woman's Home Companion.

A Case of Ditto.

The residents of Lawnview avenue were visited by two buxketers a few mornings ago. Each of the buxketers had a wagon load of "garden rasc." and each wagon was drawn by a horse that had been a better day than the first buxketer was a man of strong vocal attainments. He belted forth the nature of his goods in a voice that penetrated between the pickets of the side gates and manderled clear around to the back doors.
It was a large, robust voice that left nobody in doubt to the freshness of his vegetables and the ripeness of his berries.
The second buxketer, who followed the first at discreet distance was not gifted vocally. His mild voice however was far-reaching.
"Po-ta-toes, kebages, onions, strawberries, rawbees, ripe currants," shouted the first buxketer.
"We haf de same on dis vaggin," cried the second buxketer.
And so they passed down the street, the first buxketer fiercely yelling:
"Po-ta-toes, kebages, onions, strawberries, rawbees, ripe currants!"
The second buxketer mildly adding:
"We haf the same on dis vaggin."
Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Getting in the Walnuts.

The first English walnut orchard in California was planted with seed from the Los Angeles Mission gardens where the padres had planted a few trees with nuts brought with them from Spain.

The undertaking was a success from the first, and the acreage of walnuts has steadily increased—slowly at first, but now with rapid strides. The walnut tree's early age of bearing, its long life and the steady demand for its product tend to make the enterprise deservedly popular. Already it is superseding the orange in favor among fruit growers.
The walnut tree begins to bear when six or seven years old, and nothing is known definitely of its age limit of bearing. Fabulous stories are told of trees in Spain one or two centuries old, bearing enormous crops. The oldest trees in California are still bearing, but deductions from the short history already made, show that the tree is in its prime from its twenty-fifth to its thirtieth year. Fifteen hundred pounds of nuts to the acre is a good average yield, making seventy-five pounds the average weight from one tree.
The harvest time begins about the middle of September and lasts nearly six weeks. The nuts begin to fall with the leaves, and the perfect cultivation under the trees leaves no chance for them to lose themselves among clods or weeds. The brown, dead leaves alone hide the nuts. Under normal conditions they drop free from the out-crust, or hull through its irregular bursting, and getting the nuts picked up is a simple matter. Sometimes the trees are well irrigated just before harvest time to insure the clean dropping of the nuts.
Boys and girls, men and women, Japanese and Chinese, are all pressed into service, and on hands and knees the great orchards are gone over, not once, but several times, on account of the irregular ripening of the nuts. The trees are occasionally shaken during the season to loosen the nuts, and before the last gleanings they are "poled" to start the very tardy ones. This is done by long, coarse, bamboo poles, whose light weight makes them easily handled.

In certain rural districts the public schools close regularly for a "walnut vacation." The help of the children is needed, and the children are nothing loth to replenish their diminished purses. Pails, cans and gunnysacks are scattered among the pickers, and when the nuts are full they are carried to the drying grounds, where they are spread out on slat trays to dry. "The Review of Reviews."

"I had been living alongside of Silver Lake for fifteen years," said the judge, "before I concluded to go fishing. I suppose I have seen five carloads of fish taken out of the lake during this season for a 'walnut vacation.' The help of the children is needed, and the children are nothing loth to replenish their diminished purses. Pails, cans and gunnysacks are scattered among the pickers, and when the nuts are full they are carried to the drying grounds, where they are spread out on slat trays to dry. "The Review of Reviews."

The Frog and the Judge.

"I had been living alongside of Silver Lake for fifteen years," said the judge, "before I concluded to go fishing. I suppose I have seen five carloads of fish taken out of the lake during this season for a 'walnut vacation.' The help of the children is needed, and the children are nothing loth to replenish their diminished purses. Pails, cans and gunnysacks are scattered among the pickers, and when the nuts are full they are carried to the drying grounds, where they are spread out on slat trays to dry. "The Review of Reviews."

A Case of Ditto.

The residents of Lawnview avenue were visited by two buxketers a few mornings ago. Each of the buxketers had a wagon load of "garden rasc." and each wagon was drawn by a horse that had been a better day than the first buxketer was a man of strong vocal attainments. He belleted forth the nature of his goods in a voice that penetrated between the pick

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1904.

Registration.

Registration for State election closed Wednesday night at 10 o'clock, 182 names having been added to the list during the day.

The total registration is now 5,134, the largest in the history of the city. Patrick J. Foy was the 5000th name to be added to the list and City Clerk Keith presented him with a cigar.

During the present registration 575 names have been added to the list. The total registration as it stands today shows an increase of 148 over the municipal election of 1903 and an increase of 237 over the State election of 1903, as will be seen below.

	Nov.	Dec.	Total
Ward One, Pre. 1,	428	441	869
Ward One, Pre. 2,	477	493	970
Ward Two, Pre. 1,	297	304	601
Ward Two, Pre. 2,	389	406	795
Ward Three, Pre. 1,	409	419	828
Ward Three, Pre. 2,	410	418	828
Ward Four, Pre. 1,	439	448	887
Ward Four, Pre. 2,	489	494	983
Ward Five,	840	847	1,687
Ward Six, Pre. 1,	341	345	686
Ward Six, Pre. 2,	294	299	593
	4,997	4,986	9,983

It will be seen that three wards have raised 500 voters. Ward Three leads Ward One by 11 and Ward Four one of the largest ward in the city now has 44 less than Ward One. Ward Five is a good fourth, being only 32 behind Ward Four. Ward Six feels the list and did not hold its own with Ward Two the past year.

Wards One and Three lead in gain over Nov. 1903, each having 60 more voters. Ward Five came next and Wards Two and Six followed. The smallest gain was in Ward Four.

Dynamite Hidden.

Thursday Inspector Bradley recovered 61 sticks of dynamite, a lot of percussion caps and a fuse in the woods off Bates avenue. This is probably part of the dynamite stolen from the quarry of Maguire & O'Brien just before the Fourth of July. The recovery of the dynamite Thursday was a matter of accident, and it was by the merest chance that it was not exploded. Thomas Foley was clearing out a space in the woods off Bates avenue and in the process he discovered a box of dynamite. He had been struck by the dynamite with the axe it probably would have been all over with Mr. Foley. He reported the find to Inspector Bradley who took charge of it.

Burglars at Library.

The Thomas Crane Public Library was entered again sometime Thursday night. Entrance was made through a window. As far as known nothing was taken although the parties opened the desk of Miss Bumpus and scattered the contents about. This is the second time that the library has been entered this year. The first time some small change had been received for fines was taken. Since then no money has been left in the library over night. The work is thought to have been that of boys. The police have taken the matter up and will try and bring the parties to justice.

Great Religions.

A meeting of the Quincy Branch Alliance will be held in the parlor of First Church, City Square, Monday, October 24, at 8 o'clock.

The subject for study this season is "Great Religions" and at this meeting the teachings of Zoroaster and Mohammed will be presented. Mrs. Wilson Marsh is the committee in charge, which insures an interesting method of treating the topic.

All women are cordially invited to attend these meetings.

Vespers at Wollaston.

The musical program at the vespers at the Wollaston Congregational church on Sunday, at 4 P. M., will be as follows:

O worship the Lord, Watson
Vocal Solo, Adagio, Delectable
Sing to the Lord of Hosts, Maudslow
Solo with violin obligato, Selected
Be glad and rejoice, Foster
Sunday will be a harvest day of praise at this church.

Drinkwater Declines.

Representative Horace R. Drinkwater of Braintree has declined the nomination for senator in this district, which was tendered to him unanimously by the Democrats.

The committee have selected Frank Farrell of Hyde Park as the candidate of the party in place of Mr. Drinkwater.

The annual dinner of the Norfolk Club will be held at the American House, Boston, today at 1 P. M. The following are the speakers: S. Senator Dillingham of Vermont, Gov. Bates, Col. A. E. Baxter of Elmira, N. Y., J. W. Weeks and J. B. Crawford, candidates for congress in the twelfth and thirteenth districts, respectively.

"Uncle" John Libby, 70 years old, the treasurer, town clerk, postmaster, justice of the peace and general storekeeper of Prospect, Maine, is among the missing, and, since an examination of his accounts show debts and irregularities which may amount to $20,000, the widest kind of rumors are afloat in this little hamlet of 874 souls.

The full bench of the Supreme Court decided on Thursday that a school committee cannot exclude a pupil from school without first giving him a full opportunity to be heard on the question of his exclusion.

After a long discussion this week by the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church, held in Boston, it was decided by a vote of 98 to 12, that the innocent party in a suit for divorce for adultery shall have the right to remarry.

Apples are so plenty in some portions of Vermont that they hardly pay for picking—good apples are selling for $1.00 a barrel, and farmers are obliged to pay from 30 to 40 cents for empty barrels.

Two deaths of hunters mistaken for deer, this week: one in Jackson, N. H., and one in Shapleigh, Me., and the season only a few days' old.

On Wednesday four or five distinct shocks were felt at Danversis, Maine, believed to have been caused by an earthquake.

Senator Scott, chairman Republican National Committee, says that Parker will be beaten as badly as was Greeley.

CITY BRIEFS.

Full moon Monday evening. An epidemic of Quincy fatalities this week.

Miss Elsie Russell has returned from Amherst, N. H.

The sun now rises about six o'clock, and sets before five.

The Fore River Shipbuilding Company is advertising for additional help.

Mr. and Mrs. Zenas Arnold have returned from a short visit to New York City.

W. E. Well of Foster street is having his house improved by the painter's brush.

Miss Theresa Embur of North Weymouth is assisting Miss Bliss in her millinery department.

The Registrars of Voters met in City Hall Tuesday evening and added 115 names to the voting lists.

Miss Etta Brown of Roslindale has been the guest of Miss Mae Langley of Washington street the past week.

The Wellesley High school football team is scheduled to play Quincy High at Quincy on Friday of next week.

Charles H. Burgess and William P. Thompson are mentioned as candidates for the City Council from Ward One.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus W. Billings have rented Miss Prescott's house on Bigelow street and will take possession November first.

James H. Webb of Paul Revere Post has been appointed by Department Commander Ford as inspector of Posts 58, 57, 58, and 110.

Miss William M. Marden has returned to her home on Codding street after a visit to her relatives passed with relatives at Fall River.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company are to occupy Room 5 in the Adams building just vacated by the Master Builders' Association.

A new house is being started out on Whitney road between the residence of Mr. Ames and Mr. Nowland. Very few building lots are left on this street.

Miss Emma D. Conklin has returned from an eight weeks' visit at Potomac and will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. M. Marden of Codding street the remainder of the month.

Quincy Lodge, New England Order of Protection, entertained at their guest C. A. L. Hubbard, D. D. G. W., and the deputies of Boston at their regular meeting in Wilson's hall, Friday evening.

Herbert Hodgkinson of Bigelow street, a High school boy, had the misfortune to stick a nail in his foot last week which confined him to the house several days. He was at work in the cellar at the time.

Mrs. Annie Mae Smith who has been ill at the city hospital the past four weeks is rapidly improving, and was moved to her home on Palmer street Monday where she will be pleased to see her many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Spooner of Revere road left Saturday for a two weeks' trip to the St. Louis Fair. They will also be the guests of Dr. and Mrs. E. P. Henderson of Chicago, formerly of this city, for a few days.

A special session of the district court for naturalization was held by Judge W. E. Well on Monday night, and a busy session it proved to be. Forty-six were granted their final papers, and thirty took their final papers.

Miss Mary Holden and Miss Alice Keith Prescott are delegates from First Church Sunday school to the Sunday school conference to be held Wednesday at Fairhaven at the new beautiful Rogers Memorial church.

Some art portraits which are appreciated by the people of Bethany church have been loaned by Mrs. E. C. Butler. They give an excellent view of the interior of the church and a photo of the pastor, Rev. E. N. Hardy.

It will be many weeks before Engineer William Adams leaves the Massachusetts General Hospital. He was seriously injured in the disaster to the Plymouth express at Braintree a few weeks ago, and is getting along well.

Mrs. Adeline Dodge Munroe, the eldest daughter of Mrs. N. B. Farnham of Washington street, died on Sunday at her residence on Warren street, Dorchester. She was the widow of Josiah J. Munroe, and was in her 81st year. Funeral services were held Tuesday.

H. S. Burgess, the obliging clerk in the Fore River Ship Building Co.'s pay office, has returned from his country home on the south shore of Long Island with his charming wife, Hattie Ellis Burgess, and from appearances they must have spent a very pleasant season.

Commissioner Knowlton commenced work Monday moving the wall on the Sea street side of Mt. Wollaston cemetery to the street line, preparatory to grading the land between the cemetery and the new street line. The work is being done in honor of the city by the City Council some months ago.

Probation Officer Spear finds a little time outside of his court duties to do a little farming. This summer he has taken to raising lemons. He harvested his crop of lemon Monday. It was a beauty. It tipped the scales at 26 ounces and measured 14 1/2 inches in circumference one way and 15 1/2 inches the other way.

This year the voters committee of the school committee are: one member and Wards Two and Three will each elect one from ward. The member at-large whose term expires is Dr. N. S. Huntington, and the members from wards are Frederick H. Smith of Ward Two and John L. Miller of Ward Three. All will probably be reelected without contest.

Richard J. Foley a former superintendent of the Prudential Life Insurance company in this city has been promoted to a like capacity in the Brooklyn and Taunton district. Prior to his departure the collectors in the local office presented Mr. Foley with a useful and substantial gift. His many friends in this city wish him continued success in his new field of labor.

The fence has been taken down and workmen are busy moving the stone posts between the Thomas Crane Public Library and Codding street. The grass land is being leveled and made attractive like the beautiful lawn so much admired that surrounds the building. Next season the grounds will probably be further enlarged by moving the old hotel building on Washington street.

The sisters of Miss Julia M. Little who have been spending a few weeks very pleasantly in this city and other parts of New England started Tuesday for their home in California. They were not so direct but made several stops before reaching the golden State. They have had a delightful time and really regretted leaving their sister in this city but felt their distant home was anxious for their return.

All hallows eve a week from next Monday.

The Holden-Whitcher wedding is announced for late in November.

The State election this year comes on the latest possible date in November.

Mrs. Edward Russell is confined to her home on Greenleaf street by illness.

The afternoon will reach their shortest Dec. 2, six weeks from Friday.

A whist party was held Wednesday evening at the old Masonic hall by the Order of the Eastern Star.

Court John Erickson, F. of A., will hold his 40th anniversary banquet at Hancock hall on Thursday evening, Oct. 27.

Registration for the State election has closed and Quincy for the first time in its history has over 5100 voters. We are growing.

Mr. and Mrs. Pettie of Boston are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Theophilus King of Adams street. Mrs. Pettie is Mr. King's only sister.

Miss E. H. Simmons who has taught three years at the Cambridge Y. W. C. A. will teach millinery at Miss Spear's, on Tuesdays at 7 P. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Price are spending a fortnight in Washington, D. C., guests of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Greene Ogden, nee Faxon.

There has been a large attendance of Quincy people at Parsifal at the Tremont theatre, Boston, this week and many are booked for next week.

Rev. E. C. Butler gave an essay, subject: "The Vauds Movement," before the Middlesex Unitarian Conference at Westford on Thursday.

Andrew J. O'Brien of this city has been elected one of the editors of the Boston Globe Stylus, which has just made its appearance in a new form.

A meeting of the Hospital Aid Association will be held at the Hotel, October 27th, at 8 P. M., at the home of Mrs. S. Keyes, 15 Allyn street.

Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Emerson Ward and Miss Gertrude Bannett of this city attended the French-Gannett wedding at Milton on Monday evening.

The reception which the Quincy Historical society is giving next Tuesday afternoon at the birth place of the President Adams is by invitation and not for the public at large.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse F. Curtis celebrated the eighteenth anniversary of their marriage in quite an informal manner at their home on Miller street on Wednesday.

Dr. C. A. Evald of Chicago lectured at the Swedish Lutheran church, October 14th. Dr. Evald is one of the leading clergymen of the Lutheran church in this country.

Thorp Babcock is registered as a student at the Yale law school, New Haven, Conn. He has been for the past six months in the Boston office of Crawford & Jenney, attorneys-at-law.

Frank Baxter, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Baxter, formerly of Greenleaf street, Quincy, and now of Newton, is registered at the Sheffield Scientific school, New Haven, Conn.

The second of Miss Ellen Thompson's talks is to be given on Tuesday afternoon at 8 P. M. at the home of Mrs. Russell, park, with Fra Lippo Lippi; his life and works, as the subject.

The Catoch club of Braintree is to have a series of four whist parties, the first on Wednesday evening, November 1st. The committee are Mrs. George O. Wales, Mr. W. J. Harrison and Mr. W. H. Ham.

Mrs. Gavin and family are moving from their old home on Pleasant street to the Mandy house on Irving place.

Mrs. Gavin is the widow of Mr. Patrick Gavin, who was one of Quincy's most successful and popular business men.

The Catoch club of Braintree opens its season of entertainments at the club house next Tuesday evening when the entertainers will be Miss Frances Dyke, monologist, Miss Edna Gouillard, soprano, with Miss Louise Pray at the piano. All Braintree talent and all great favorites.

Mrs. Elizabeth D. Chadwell, D. S. and Simmons College will open the cooking classes at Miss Spear's Tuesday at 8 A. M. and T. P. M. as soon as the entries warrant the continuance of the work. Miss Chadwell is engaged three evenings a week at the East Boston Educational Centre.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Davidson of Detroit, Michigan, are at Hotel Greenleaf. Mr. Davidson left Quincy about twenty-eight years ago and is here now with his wife on a short visit, bringing friends and companions of earlier days, as well as making a general tour of Boston and other eastern cities.

Maple lodge, K. and L. of H., at its regular meeting in Wilson's hall Wednesday evening entertained D. D. Nellie E. Hallett of Charlestown, S. D. D. Viles of Boston, and members of Waverly lodge, Charlestown. A fine collation was served and the evening was most enjoyable. One application was received.

It is not, perhaps generally known that the Metropolitan sewer that runs through Quincy is now in use, and is taking care of the sewage this side of Roxbury. The force main from the Quincy pumping station to the sewer has not been laid as yet, but will be shortly. It will enter the Metropolitan sewer at the junction of Greenleaf and Valley streets.

Inspectors McKay and Bradley accompanied by Officers Goodhue and George A. McKay raided the boarding house of Sarah A. Madden at 5 Temple street, Sunday noon, and seized a small quantity of beer, and a lot of empty beer bottles. As the officers approached the premises they were seen by parties in the house, one of whom hastily smashed a jug of whiskey in the sink.

The autumn meeting of the New England Association Alliance was held Thursday, October 20th, in the First Parish meeting house, Concord, Mass. The president of the Quincy branch, Mrs. George G. Saville, was one of the speakers. Her subject was "The Mission of the Woman." The paper was well written, thoroughly practical and full of helpful suggestions. The attendance was large; three states being represented. An early adjournment was made and an ideal afternoon spent in driving about the historic town.

The Quincy Historical society has issued invitations to a reception to be held at the birthplace of President John Quincy Adams, on Tuesday afternoon, October the twenty-fifth, the occasion being the one hundred and fortieth anniversary of the marriage of John and Abigail Adams. Adams (chapter) daughters of the Revolution has tendered the society the use of their house, the birthplace of President John Adams. Several members of the Adams family are to be present and it should be a notable occasion.

No school yesterday afternoon, because of the storm.

Very few leaves will be left on the trees after this storm.

The City Council Committee on Streets met Thursday evening.

Mrs. Charles Trumbull of Beverly has been the guest of Mrs. E. C. Butler this week.

A regular meeting of the School Committee will be held next Tuesday evening.

When the alterations at Johnson Bros. store are completed the store will be very attractive and up to date.

Quincy members of the Union Prisoners of War Association were in attendance at the annual reunion in Lynn.

F. J. Howard's moving pictures will be the attraction for the children at the Grand Army fair at the Coliseum this afternoon.

Miss Ethel Frances Silva and Mr. Joseph McInnes were united in marriage Wednesday evening by Rev. Mr. Ellis of Brockton.

A. E. Baxter, the independent candidate for Representative, feels sure of election but is not sure of the two Republican candidates will be defeated.

Quincy has more voters than any of the following cities—Melrose, Medford, Beverly, and Chelmsford—and about the same number as Everett and Gloucester, with several cities to be heard from.

C. W. Trull, who has been living at the Greenleaf, and Charles P. McGilvery recently with Murphy's drug store, have formed a partnership and have changed a large drug store in Wakefield.

Arthur C. Merritt is in the Boston Globe contest to stay on and will give a whist party to his home on Elm place on Tuesday evening next at 8 o'clock to help along his candidacy. Ten coupons will admit you.

The Young People's Religious Union will hold their regular meeting on Sunday evening, at 7 o'clock. Mrs. George Saville will speak on "Suggestions for Young People's Religious Union." All are cordially invited.

There was a rough and tumble fist encounter in the field off Tremont road about 6 o'clock Thursday evening. The yell of one of the men indicated that he was either hurt or frightened and alarmed the neighborhood.

A steam heating plant is being installed in the First church to replace the four furnaces with which the church has been heated in the past. It was necessary to remove part of the cellar wall to get the boiler in.

The case of Seth Perkins et al. of Brockton and Quincy vs. the Union Casualty & Surety Company of St. Louis is on trial in the Norfolk Superior Court. It is an action to recover $10,000 as an indemnity or a casualty policy.

Senator Lodge and ex-Representative Guy A. Ham addressed the Republican rally at Quincy Music hall last evening. Few can discuss the issues of the Presidential election as ably as the senior senator from Massachusetts.

Several of the Quincy Masons visited Randolph last evening to attend the meeting of the Quincy Lodge, No. 10, of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, at the home of Mr. W. C. F. Francis Pope of Brockton to Norfolk Union lodge, of which E. J. T. Dexter, formerly of Quincy is master. The third degree was worked on a well known resident of Holbrook.

The new Y. M. C. A. building looks more lofty than many anticipated. But the front part has five floors 45 by 65 and naturally it makes a show. It is now located in the side of the building is 45 feet on the street by 130 feet deep, but the gymnasium in the rear is only two stories.

At the matinee whist given at the home of Mrs. Beatrice Porterfield Thursday afternoon, seven tables were in play and prizes were captured by Mrs. Julia Driscoll, Mrs. Phelan, Mrs. Sarah C. Williams, Mrs. Annie Holman, Mrs. Denton, Mrs. Annie T. Jones, Mrs. Jennie Langhorn, and Mrs. Stoddard.

H. H. Healy of Cambridge, secretary of the New England Basket Ball league, has been in town this week in the interests of the sport in this city. He has organized a Quincy team to play at the Coliseum, and would like to organize a basketball league. With this he invites managers of basketball teams to meet him at Hotel Greenleaf next Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

George L. Gill-Ribbeck lodge, at its regular meeting in I. O. F. hall Thursday evening, entertained D. D. Clara M. Folger and Grand Marshall Clara H. Bartlett of Brockton. Members to be present, including a delegation from Amasa lodge of South Braintree. Five applications were received, which shows the progress and increase the lodge is making. At the close of the meeting a fine collation was served.

Invitations are out from Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Stanwood, of Commonwealth avenue, Boston for a small reception at their home in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. Miss Audrey Stanwood will assist in receiving. Owing to the family being in mourning for Mrs. Stanwood's father, Mr. Thomas A. Whitcher late of this city, the affair will be much smaller than otherwise and limited to close friends. Mr. and Mrs. Stanwood were married Oct. 30, 1879.

About one hundred were present Thursday evening at the reunion of the young people's societies of the Swedish Lutheran church. The evening proved most enjoyable. There was a short entertainment consisting of a recitation by Carl Samuelson, dialogue by the Misses Magnusson, and songs by the choir. There was also an address by the pastor, Rev. John A. Bernhard. Coffee was served by Masters Erickson and Jacobson. A social time followed.

Cards were received in Quincy Friday announcing the marriage of Mr. William Palmer Turner of Los Angeles, California, formerly of Quincy, and Miss Lucy Servis of La Crosse, Wisconsin. They will be at home at the Angelus hotel, Los Angeles, after December first. Mr. and Mrs. Turner are coming east on their wedding trip and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goodwin are giving a reception for them at their home on Huntington road, East Milton on Wednesday evening, November ninth.

Home Missionary Convention. The twenty-fifth annual meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Association will be held in the Park street church, Boston, next Wednesday. Among the speakers will be President Hazard of Wellesley College, President Charles Cuthbert Hall of Union Theological Seminary, Miss I. D. White, Mrs. A. G. West, and two former presidents of the association, Mrs. W. Danielson and C. L. Goodell. A reception will be held at the noon hour, followed by a basket luncheon, at which tea and coffee will be served as usual.

WOLLASTON.

Mr. and Mrs. Eben Harrison of Prospect avenue are enjoying a trip to St. Louis.

Mrs. Alfred Dams of Arlington street had as her guests this week, Mrs. Harrison and Miss Harrison of Baltimore, Md.

Edith Doane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Doane, of Arlington street, observed her seventh birthday last Saturday afternoon, giving a party to about fifty of her young friends. Games were played, refreshments served and a very pleasant time was enjoyed.

Miss Corlew has opened her dancing class for the season at Wollaston hall, most successfully. Miss Corlew's attention to the deportment of the children, is very pleasing to the parents, who visit her class.

The Royal Temperance Legion met in the vestry of the Methodist church on Friday.

The many friends of Rev. Frank W. Pratt will be pleased to know that he is very much recovered. His fever has turned and his physician hopes for a speedy recovery.

There was a recital at the Quincy Mansion school Friday evening, by J. Herbert Marceau, tenor, William Howard, violinist and Betram E. Henry, pianist.

Ernest Henry leads in the voting contest for the silver loving cup which is put up by the Wollaston Yacht Club for their annual fair, Oct. 27, 28, and 29. This cup is to be given to the most popular yachtsman in either of the three Quincy yachts.

The pupils of the Quincy Mansion school have attended many of the meetings of the Bazaar and Episcopal convention, and Prof. Jean C. Biquet of Vassar college, a delegate to the congress, has been a guest of Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Pratt.

A. G. Lockwood made the best gross score (78) at the open handicap tournament on the Wollaston golf links on Saturday, but the prize for the best net score went to M. F. O'Connell with 73. B. L. Pratt of Wollaston was tied with Mr. O'Connell at six for the second best gross score, and with G. S. Sprague of Braintree for the second best net score. Thirty-one cards were turned in.

Rev. Rufus Tobey, who has been confined to the house, is improving and is expected out in a few days.

The pastor of the Baptist church, Mr. A. E. Ellsworth, will preach at the Washington street church Sunday morning.

Frank E. Parlin, Superintendent of Schools, will speak at the Quincy Point church Sunday evening; subject—"What I would do if I were a boy."

The pastor of the old Post Office store at Quincy Point, occupied for many years by Miss E. M. Freeman, and previously by her father, was the first schoolhouse at Quincy Point. Without doubt it is over 100 years old.

Mrs. Austin, the wife of Rev. Leon H. Austin, is critically ill.

The body of Hugh F. Quinn was found on Wednesday in the woods off South street in the rear of the Alex. Nash estate. The body was found by J. Oliver, who was going through the woods looking for a hat which he had lost. The police were notified and the body removed to Hall's undertaking rooms.

Quinn, who is a single man, was employed at the Fore River works, and his case was continued until Oct. 21 to pay a fine. He was about 25 years of age. He had been in South street although his home is said to have been in South Boston.

Medical Examiner Jones, who viewed the body, gives the cause of death as alcoholism and suffocation. It is thought that Quinn, while under the influence of liquor, was down in such a position that he suffocated.

Friends were in town Thursday morning and arranged to have the body removed to East Boston for burial. His friends while admitting that he was a drinking man, do not think he died as a result of alcoholism. They say that he served all through the Spanish war and while stationed at Porto Rico contracted malaria and had to be sent to New York. He remained in a hospital there seven months. The malaria brought on a weakness of heart and he was subject to fainting spells. He has been known to drop suddenly and remain unconscious for some time when he had an attack of his trouble, and had been told by physicians that he would die suddenly that way sometime. His friends therefore believe that he had an attack of malaria Tuesday night, which with his weak heart caused his death.

Represents the City Blind. I think it was in the year 1886 that I was a sub-contractor for one of the work in the construction of the John Hancock school building in a very beautiful city (then town). I will remember how surprised we mechanics were that the good people of Quincy should put up such a valuable building with its front close on the back yards of some small dwelling houses. But it was explained by some of the wise ones that the town would soon have all the land between the new building and Granite street, thus making a beautiful spot in front.

The other day, when passing that way, I was more surprised than ever, that the school building was so near to the city hall, and before the flames could be extinguished by her parents' screams, she was badly burned.

Dr. Maria Drew, who was called, found that the child's right side was burned from her feet to her chin. Her right hand being very severe. This is thought to have been due to her trying to extinguish the flames. Dr. Drew did not consider her burns to be necessarily fatal, but it is thought that she must have inhaled some of the flames.

Runaway Accident. Clarence Littlefield, a driver of Turner's produce wagon, died at the City Hospital on Tuesday from injuries received by being thrown from his wagon on Beach street, Norfolk Downs, Monday afternoon. Littlefield was returning from Boston, and on account of the Atlantic bridge being closed was returning through Norfolk Downs. It was there that his horse ran away and the team capsize throwing Littlefield to the ground.

When found he was unconscious. He was removed to the City Hospital where he died this morning. He was about 31 years of age.

His injuries consisted of a dislocated shoulder and internal injuries. Littlefield was employed by John F. Turner of Cohasset.

Paper Filed. Arthur E. Baxter filed at State House Thursday nomination papers signed by the required number of voters of the city giving him an independent nomination for Representative to the General Court.

The district elects two and there are now seven candidates in the field.

Charles H. Clare of this city is manager of the sophomore foot ball team at Tufts college. The annual class foot ball game and flag rush will take place this afternoon.

Passengers are now carried by motor-car between Chimo and Blantyre, Central Africa.

QUINCY POINT AND NECK.

The torpedo boat destroyer Lawrence has been detached from the coast squadron and assigned to duty at the naval academy.

Mrs. Geo. Culver of Wollaston called on some of her Quincy Point friends last week.

Miss Nan Carter has arrived home from the Berkshires, after two months' visit at Interlaken, her sister's home.

Mr. H. H. Smith has moved into his new home on Washington street and the old Post Office store is closed.

Jennie, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gibb of Edison park, fell from the porch Oct. 14 and it is feared that she is injured internally. Two doctors were called in.

Mr. and Mrs. Stetson Pierce of Quincy avenue entertained friends Friday, Oct. 14th.

Orders were issued by the Navy department on Monday whereby Lieutenant-Commander J. J. Gow is relieved of duty as inspector of ordnance works of Fore River Ship Building Company, Quincy, but will continue other duties.

Harold W. Newcomb is visiting in Washington, D. C.

Albert Hayner and family moved into their new home this week. Harry E. Sherbourne of South street is attending the World's Fair. Quincy Point is being well represented at the exposition this year.

The new veranda on the front of the Fore River house is a great improvement.

Mrs. Laila of Edison Park and party of friends will visit St. Louis fair for ten days.

Tuesday night was another busy night at the shipyard, the big hammer was in action about all night.

By to see that the sewer pipes are laid on once more. Sewer pipes are to be laid. The condition of the fence on South street near the Fore River house is growing steadily worse instead of better. The pickets are mysteriously disappearing.

A. E. Ellsworth will preach at the Washington street church Sunday morning.

Frank E. Parlin, Superintendent of Schools, will speak at the Quincy Point church Sunday evening; subject—"What I would do if I were a boy."

The pastor of the old Post Office store at Quincy Point, occupied for many years by Miss E. M. Freeman, and previously by her father, was the first schoolhouse at Quincy Point. Without doubt it is over 100 years old.

Mrs. Austin, the wife of Rev. Leon H. Austin, is critically ill.

The body of Hugh F. Quinn was found on Wednesday in the woods off South street in the rear of the Alex. Nash estate. The body was found by J. Oliver, who was going through the woods looking for a hat which he had lost. The police were notified and the body removed to Hall's undertaking rooms.

Quinn, who is a single man, was employed at the Fore River works, and his case was continued until Oct. 21 to pay a fine. He was about 25 years of age. He had been in South street although his home is said to have been in South Boston.

Medical Examiner Jones, who viewed the body, gives the cause of death as alcoholism and suffocation. It is thought that Quinn, while under the influence of liquor, was down in such a position that he suffocated.

Friends were in town Thursday morning and arranged to have the body removed to East Boston for burial. His friends while admitting that he was a drinking man, do not think he died as a result of alcoholism. They say that he served all through the Spanish war and while stationed at Porto Rico contracted malaria and had to be sent to New York. He remained in a hospital there seven months. The malaria brought on a weakness of heart and he was subject to fainting spells. He has been known to drop suddenly and remain unconscious for some time when he had an attack of his trouble, and had been told by physicians that he would die suddenly that way sometime. His friends therefore believe that he had an attack of malaria Tuesday night, which with his weak heart caused his death.

Represents the City Blind. I think it was in the year 1886 that I was a sub-contractor for one of the work in the construction of the John Hancock school building in a very beautiful city (then town). I will remember how surprised we mechanics were that the good people of Quincy should put up such a valuable building with its front close on the back yards of some small dwelling houses. But it was explained by some of the wise ones that the town would soon have all the land between the new building and Granite street, thus making a beautiful spot in front.

The other day, when passing that way, I was more surprised than ever, that the school building was so near to the city hall, and before the flames could be extinguished by her parents' screams, she was badly burned.

Dr. Maria Drew, who was called, found that the child's right side was burned from her feet to her chin. Her right hand being very severe. This is thought to have been due to her trying to extinguish the flames. Dr. Drew did not consider her burns to be necessarily fatal, but it is thought that she must have inhaled some of the flames.

Runaway Accident. Clarence Littlefield, a driver of Turner's produce wagon, died at the City Hospital on Tuesday from injuries received by being thrown from his wagon on Beach street, Norfolk Downs, Monday afternoon. Littlefield was returning from Boston, and on account of the Atlantic bridge being closed was returning through Norfolk Downs. It was there that his horse ran away and the team capsize throwing Littlefield to the ground.

When found he was unconscious. He was removed to the City Hospital where he died this morning. He was about 31 years of age.

His injuries consisted of a dislocated shoulder and internal injuries. Littlefield was employed by John F. Turner of Cohasset.

Paper Filed. Arthur E. Baxter filed at State House Thursday nomination papers signed by the required number of voters of the city giving him an independent nomination for Representative to the General Court.

The district elects two and there are now seven candidates in the field.

Charles H. Clare of this city is manager of the sophomore foot ball team at Tufts college. The annual class foot ball game and flag rush will take place this afternoon.

Passengers are now carried by motor-car between Chimo and Blantyre, Central Africa.

SINGLE COPIES 5 CENTS.

FOR SALE AT
The Patriot Office,
Quincy,
H. P. Kirtland,
J. P. O'Brien,
C. P. Carlson,
Miss E. M. Freeman,
Sprague & Hobart,
Quincy Post Office,
Atlantic
Branches & Martens,
Norfolk, Mass.,
Quincy, Mass.,
West Quincy,
Mass.,
South Quincy,
Mass.,
Neponset,
Mass.,
Arthur Dunham,
East Weymouth,
Hingham Neck.

FOR PRESIDENT.
THEODORE ROOSEVELT
FOR VICE-PRESIDENT.
CHARLES W. FAIRBANKS

Poetry.

Busy, Busy, Busy.

Here lies a poor woman who always was busy,
She lived under pressure that rendered her dizzy.
Belonged to ten clubs, and read Browning by sight, Shook at luncheons and teas, and would vote if she might;
And she served on a school board with courage and zeal;
And she gilded and she kokaded and rode on a wheel;
She read Tolstol and Ibsen, knew microbes by name,
Approved Dantre; was a "Daughter" and "Dane";
And her children went to the top education;
Her husband went seaward for nervous prostration.
When one day she found an hour free, it is said,
Oh! the shock was too great, and the woman fell dead!
—Everywhere.

Notes and Comments.

—Chestnuts are very plenty this year. A writer from Shelburne Falls tells the following story: "A boy while he had the cow found a place where chestnuts were very thick, and as he had no bag nor basket, took two strings from his pocket, tied them around the bottom of the cow's legs and then filled in the trousers with about 12 quarts of chestnuts. He soon found he couldn't bend down to pick, so he had to tie down and chuck them in side-ways. But for a bush near by, he would hardly have been able to get up."

—The Hingham Journal says: "Last week the new power station at Rockland, which has only recently been completed, was started up. It is a sub-station, where the high pressure current from Quincy is transformed and fed to the street car lines in its vicinity. The station is Abington will be discontinued."

—It is rather early for the weather prophets to bring out their predictions for the coming winter, but as the one who speaks first has the chance to be believed the longest, Mr. William H. Sears of Plymouth is perhaps well to place himself on record while winter is yet in the far distance. Here is what he has to say: "We shall have another hard winter. It will be similar to the one we had last year. The winter will arrive on schedule time, and there will be no lack of snow and ice. The storm periods will bring principally snow, instead of rain, and this is true from the beginning of the first snowfall to the last. No one need waver in regard to this prediction, and those who would profit by it, take heed. Cut out this prediction and see if it agrees with the weather experience." Mr. Sears enjoys local reputation as a long-distance weather prophet and is said to have a "system" on which he bases his computations. We may very likely have a hard winter, but before yielding to fearful anticipation let us see what the goosebore and the market have to say about it. Here is the meandering there is a glorious autumn to be enjoyed right now.—Boston Courier.

—We heard an opponent of President Roosevelt remark the other day that Mr. Roosevelt was born in Lisbon, Ireland. We had always supposed that Mr. Roosevelt was born in the United States. The same man remarked that history is a great thing. Doubtless it is.—Medford Leader.

—It is to be a great year for apples, according to all reports. Last year's yield was under the average, but of 250 separate returns to the Boston chamber of commerce, 129 report an over-average, 109 an average, and only 13 an under-average. Canada and New England will have a heavier yield than last year, and western New York will have a much heavier yield. Reports from Nebraska, Missouri, Arkansas, etc., indicate prevalence of enormous yields wherever the trees have been cared for and sprayed—and fruit-growers are now giving increasing attention to such methods for protecting the trees against blight and insects. It is the sales of Great Britain and France will have a large crop. This will not be helpful to the export trade in apples, which has become quite an item in our exterior commerce. The apple is the most valuable of all our fruits, and a season of plenty will please everybody.—Milford Gazette.

—It is stated as a fact that owing to the demand by the manufacturers that non-union men shall have the same treatment as union men, unionism is on the down grade in the Federation of Labor. The secretary of the Federation of Labor of that city says it has now only 150,000 members as against 250,000 a year ago. A citizen of Brockton exceptionally well qualified to judge informs The Record that in that city he has no doubt a vote by the Australian ballot would show a majority of the working-men opposed to the union. And yet there are a great many good points and advantages in the association for mutual aid and assistance of men engaged in the same occupations. The evil was in a certain portion of the remaining. The reason is that they themselves the right to say and then in forbidding the same privilege to their fellows.—Stoughton Record.

Annual Gathering.

The Republican Editorial Association held their annual gathering at Young's hotel, Boston, Saturday morning, October 16, 1904. It was one of the most enthusiastic meetings that has been held by the association for years.

President A. E. Winship in his opening address congratulated the members on the fact that this was the largest meeting in the history of the association and that the organization had had a most prosperous year. He said: "This is not a year of political enthusiasm as represented by rallies, but it is a year when the speeches of candidates have been read as seldom before. It is a year in which people have been doing their own thinking. There never was a time when Massachusetts knew her own mind as she does now."

"The cause of labor in Massachusetts has never had so much at stake as now. It is a year in which people have been doing their own thinking. There never was a time when Massachusetts knew her own mind as she does now."

"Labor has never gotten aught that is important by way of legislation from any Democratic or doubtful state until now after it has been accomplished in some Republican state. Massachusetts has never done anything in her history from fear or in response to a threat. All that she has accomplished for labor, education and civic virtue has come from an earnest purpose to right humanity's wrongs. She is courageous for the right and equally so in defiance of a threat."

"If the cause of labor is to be benefited in the future as in the past in this state it must appeal to our sense of justice and not to our timidity."

"Never has Massachusetts had a governor who from first to last has been more attentive to and interested in the betterment of the state than the one who has been in office during twelve years of public life. In city and state, upon the floor of the House, in the Speaker's chair, and in the chief executive office he has been accessible to the representatives of labor and kindly sympathetic to their requests. In him labor has always found a friend. This year his judgment did not coincide with that of the specialists who led in the effort to secure unusual legislation for textile workers. In his opinion, under the present terrific strain to which New England cotton manufacturers have been put, it is not a good time to place upon them unnecessary burdens. At a time when these manufacturers need all their energy to counteract the competition of low wages, long hours, and child labor, and when in the South, there should be absolutely no chaffing, no legislative nagging. As a friend of labor he differed in judgment with other friends of labor. Because of this difference among friends the drum major of the opposing candidate attempted a spectacular leadership of an effort to punish the chief executive of the state for not being their slave rather than the servant of the people and the friend of labor."

"Will the labor leaders allow no man to be their friend who is not their slave? The Republicans of Massachusetts have been the friends of labor from the first. Friends they would like to be. Slaves they will never be, and no man can ever occupy the executive chair with their consent who has not the courage to think and speak and act for all the people. The advice of any man, the appeal of any friend will receive the courteous and friendly attention of her governor, but the threat, your signature or your defeat has never won, will never win in the Old Bay State."

"The Republican editors of Massachusetts are proud to honor the courageous and devoted friend of the people, his Excellency, John L. Bates."

"Rarely," people say, "has nature ever created so rich wonderful a beauty of color, as are now being seen in the foliage of Northern New England." No glory of color in any or all of the picture galleries of Europe for a moment approaches the work of the magic finger that has painted the surrounding landscape in tones of such richness and analysis. No dream of Turner, John Constable, D'Albigny, Corot, Titian or any other ever conceived such brilliancy and delicacy, a blending so harmonious, as nature has spread out before us for every eye that chooses to behold. Every man, woman and child ought to take a day off, as it were, and go out and take in nature's autumnal show. The marvels of St. Louis fair are tawdry and petty in comparison with it.—Milford Gazette.

"The problem of sealing by wire as we hear by wire through the telephone, may be nearer solution than we suspect. Here is a story told of a Boston inventor by one for whose veracity the Listener in the Transcript vouches. "His secret is carefully guarded," writes the places of the tale. "He has a small, his little daughter stands at the end of the line, and the curious spectator goes with him through two rooms into a third, on the wall of which appears this new magic 'phone. Looking through the office, framed in a circle of light appears the child, with all the play of expression which the stranger's surprise would call up. Different cards are then shown, and distinctly identified by the visitor, colors being as clearly seen as forms. It was only a few months ago, that he found that his man was really and truly coming out right. But he says that his invention is yet in its infancy, and that he will not seek for a patent yet awhile. He believes that wonderful things are in store for it—for instance that a man will be able to see a baseball game, a prize fight, or a play from his own home—that a train dispatcher can from his desk watch the trains swing out along their different roads." If all this is done already, there must be more in the invention than merely a development of the selenium screen with which some tentative experiments have been made. Wait and see.—Boston Courier.

—Recent investigations by life insurance experts in Great Britain and the United States show that total abstainers have a much higher chance of life than moderate drinkers. Between the ages of 20 and 30 years the number of deaths is 11 per cent in excess; between 30 and 40 it is 68 per cent; between 40 and 50 it is 74 per cent; and after 50 and 60 it is 42 per cent and after 60 and 70 the percentage gradually decreases. The reasonable inference is that moderate drinking is the greater part of the weaker drinkers have died, leaving only those who are exceptionally strong physically.—Weymouth Gazette.

The City Council.

The expected veto from the Mayor of the additional school appropriation was held in the City Council Monday evening, but many being absent no attempt was made to pass the order over the veto. Again it was shown that the Council is too evenly divided to accomplish anything on High school accommodations.

Ward Five. The Mayor forwarded a reply from the Old Colony street railway in relation to the matter of better car service and the reissuing of the eight-cent transfers.

The reply stated that the company had no knowledge of poor car service and that the superintendent had been instructed to consult with him in relation to the matter. As to the transfers they were discontinued by order of the directors and could not be restored.

At present the president could not recommend that they be restored. To special committee.

The Mayor returned without his approval of the order for $2,000 for the School department. His reasons were that the order called for the paying of a note in 1905. Under the new order, the city would be required to pay the taxes of this year and it was neither just nor legal to charge it to taxpayers of next year. He was heartily in sympathy with giving school children the best possible, but as the order passed was plainly a violation of the law he could not give it his approval.

The order was laid on the table. Several petitions for minor licenses were received and referred.

A petition was received asking that Hunt street be accepted as a public way. To Committee on Streets.

The Committee on Licenses reported an order granting Colonial hall a license for a fee of $15. Adopted.

The Committee on Ordinances reported an ordinance relative to issuing of licenses to junk shops. The ordinance provided that no license for a junk shop or junk wagon should be issued to other than residents of Quincy. Ordered to a second reading.

The Committee on Public Buildings reported an order for $800 for erecting public scales in City Square. To Finance Committee.

The Committee on Ordinances reported on the order laying out Channing street. Rules suspended and order passed.

Councilman Bass offered an order for $500 for extending the paved gutter on Goff street to Saville street. To Committee on Streets.

The petition of William Cashman, for removal of Cross Furnace avenue at grade with a private railroad was taken from the table and referred to the Committee on Streets.

Councilman Hughes offered an order designating the polling places for the election of December 6. Passed.

Councilman Hughes offered an order refunding Salvatore Puppari $2 poll tax paid twice in 1903. To Finance Committee.

Councilman Bass offered an order refunding Willard Walsh $33.80 and $47.20 on tax titles. To Finance Committee.

Upon motion of Councilman Hardwick the order for $8000 for purchase of land for a school lot in Ward Three was taken from the table.

Councilman Hardwick said it seemed to him that this matter should have immediate attention. The time has come for action.

Councilman Stone thought it should be voted on tonight. There were many reasons why it should not pass. He read a letter he had written to several superintendents asking as to the desirability of two schools where there were from 700 to 1000 children, as to which cost the most to maintain.

He also read replies received, which in brief were as follows: Somerville—One high school can be maintained at less than two. Less for salaries and less for heat. Two sessions were satisfactory.

Cambridge—A central high school was most desirable. The cost was less for one large than two small buildings. The Secretary of the Massachusetts Educational department at World's Fair believed in one building up to 900 pupils. One school cost 15 to 20 per cent less than two.

Councilman Piper could not see anything detrimental to the purchase of a second lot. He could not see that those letters had any influence.

Councilman Whiton these letters seem to overlook every argument for two buildings. He could not see any redeeming feature to vote for a second lot.

Councilman Hughes did not know of any pet scheme in Wards Three and Four. The order for enlargement was the one that should have been taken up, not this order. The present building was not anywhere near the High school centre.

Councilman Nickerson was called to the chair and President Nickerson, taking the floor, said the time had come to take some action. It was up to the Council to provide suitable accommodations for the High school. The question had been given ample consideration and there seemed to be no new light. There was an opportunity for honest difference of opinion but it should be decided. He questioned if it was wise to buy another lot at the present time. He could not see the occasion for two buildings today. It cost more to run two than one institutions than one. He could not see how the Council could pass this order. He hoped they would put themselves on record in the matter. Sentiment in Wards Three and Four is divided. The general sentiment is not in line of building two High schools.

Councilman Piper moved to lay on the table. Motion lost.

On verification the Councilmen voted as follows: Yeas—Bass, Gassett, Hughes, Johnson, Lord, Piper, Spargo, Stewart and Walsh—9. Nays—Gearwar, Hardwick, Langelier, McFarland, Nickerson, Stone, Thompson, Whiton and Nichols—9.

Absent—Adams, Hadlock, Holmes, Polk and Readman—5. The motion was lost on a tie vote. Councilman Whiton moved to reconsider.

Miss Georgianna Bishop of Bridgewater, Conn., won the women's golf championship for the United States at Philadelphia on Saturday, defeating Mrs. E. F. Sanford in the finals 5 and 3 to play.

Household Receipts.

Oyster Pannecakes. This consists of small hot rolls, scooped out and filled with hot fried oysters. When served one to each person on a lace paper on a small plate with fried parsley it is a very desirable dish. Use small rolls, as they are much daintier and more easily handled by both the cook and the guest.

Veal Stew. The ends of the ribs, the neck, and the knuckle may be used in a stew. Cook the meat—two pounds—in small pieces, and remove all the fine bones. Cover the meat with boiling water; skim as it begins to boil; add two small onions, two teaspoons of salt, and one teaspoon of pepper. Simmer until thoroughly tender. Cut four potatoes in halves; soak in cold water, and parboil them five minutes; add them to the stew. Add one tablespoon of flour wet in cold water, and more seasoning if desired; and, just before serving, add one cup of cream, or if it can be used, add one tablespoon of butter.

Hot Pineapple Lemonade. One cup sugar, one pint water, juice from one can of pineapple, three lemons, one quart boiling water. Make a syrup by boiling a cup of sugar and pint of water ten minutes; add the pineapple juice, lemon juice, and quart of boiling water.

Peach Cobbler. Line a dish with biscuit dough, and put in a layer of drained, canned peaches, then a layer of sugar and dot with bits of butter rolled in flour, then peaches, and so on until the dish is full. Cover with the crust and cut a slit in the middle and pour in one cupful of boiling water and bake.

Knights of Columbus Services. Special services for Quincy Council, Knights of Columbus, were held Sunday evening at St. John's church, and were largely attended by members and friends.

The services were conducted by Rev. John J. Coan assisted by Rev. Julian E. Johnstone and Rev. John S. Casey. The musical vespers were by the regular choir, assisted by the choir of St. John's church.

The regular choir of St. John's church, under the direction of Miss Anastasia A. Hughes, the organist. The anthems were chanted by a double male quartette. "Ave Maria Stela" was sung by the quartette. "Veni Creator," by Mr. Forrester. "O Salutaris," by William Sullivan; and "Tantum Ergo" by double male quartette.

The sermon was by Rev. James N. Supple, the State chaplain, whose theme was the need of christian men. Fr. Supple said that men of christian faith must assist themselves. They are needed in the home and in public places. Men who will lead an honest life before the world, and do their duty to church and state. There is danger in this age of liberality of losing faith and christianity.

There are in this country 75,000,000 people. The Roman Catholics claim 10,000,000 to 15,000,000. The Protestants 20,000,000. The 20,000,000 have different beliefs and creeds. There are 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 who reject christianity. Thus the atmosphere is dangerous unless we are strong of character. Our young men should not be led astray by secularization or by infidelity.

The only safeguard is in organizations like the Knights of Columbus which have an attachment for the church, the home, and the uplift of society. You are needed in the world, what it is to be a christian Catholic man. Liberalism means the destruction of church and society. United we gain the admiration and respect of the public. What you preach, do.

Our battle today is fought in the body and soul of the child. We must work for the protection of the child. They should be taught in the home or by persons duly authorized by the church.

The only way to make men love our church and faith is to set an example. The valiant men. It is better to die in battle, than to allow evils to exist which threaten the church and the home. Work for the love and glory of God.

Thayer Academy Notes. Luis Thayer Ojeda de Santiago de Chile, South America, has sent to the Academy a manuscript of sixty pages, printed in Spanish and containing a biographical catalogue of the Thayer family of Braintree.

A reunion of the former pupils of the school will be held on Friday, Nov. 18, at the hotel Brunswick, in Boston. Circulars with full details will be sent out last part of October.

Other magazines come and go but the Youth's Companion keeps on in its even tenor being now nearly four score years old and as well as welcome a visitor in the home each week as in its infancy. It is read by old and young with equal pleasure and gives its reader a great variety of interesting reading matter. Visitors are always welcome at the Companion building in Boston.

The New England Kennel club opened its trap shooting season at Braintree on Saturday, W. F. Beal secured a leg for the Monaquinet cup, and W. R. Goodnow won the weekly club cup.

Anecdotes. Little Betty was at her first evening entertainment, where everybody was strange to her. She grew homesick, and with tears in her eyes, begged her hostess to send her home.

As she was standing, she smiled down through her tears, and she said: "Good-by, Miss Smith! Mama told me to be sure and tell you I had enjoyed myself!"

"When does a man become a seaman?" "When he hems and haws."

"No." "When he threads his way."

"No." "When he rips and tears."

"No." "Give it up."

"Never, if he can help it."

"There's a lesson in that would-be Western epicure who died from eating six pigs' feet."

"What is it?" "That four are enough for any pig."

—Philadelphia Times.

"I hear that Willy is ill?" "Yes, he's dreadfully sick."

"What seems to be the matter?" "Well, the doctor says he has symptoms. Pop had him too before he died and I'm afraid Willy ain't long for this world."

Mr. Henpeck—"Young Mrs. Bagley, who was married on last Thursday, tells me her husband left almost immediately for the West on a business trip."

Henpeck (viciously)—"Yes; he writes me that he finds married life a very happy existence." —Philadelphia North American.

FOR GOVERNOR.

WILLIAM L. DOUGLAS

The Best Type of a Self-Made Man—Elect Him Governor and Massachusetts' Appeal for Reciprocal Trade Treaties Will Be Heeded at Washington.

The career of the Hon. William L. Douglas, who has been nominated for Governor, is one of the most remarkable in the history of the Commonwealth. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

put a check upon extravagance in State expenditures. In him the people will find no untied man, but one whose ripe judgment affords ample guaranty of wise and economical administration.

If he is elected, every legislative act will receive the careful consideration of a trained business man—one who has been employed and employer—one who knows exactly the situation and necessities of both, and whose honesty and judgment will be trusted by both. In him both employer and employee will find a harmonizer, a conciliator, a true friend.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

William L. Douglas is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people. He is a man of the people and for the people.

could fill the position of chief executive of the Commonwealth with marked ability and success. The brain that gives a business of over six millions of dollars a year its impetus would be worth much at the head of the affairs of the Commonwealth.

The people of the State could not hire for money, a man of such ability to be the business manager. But they can elect him. It is this ability for judging men and measures, this ability to grasp situations and analyze them, and this marvelous power of organization and executive direction that he has shown in his business and public life that will induce so many members of other parties to vote for him for Governor of Massachusetts this year.

We are now at the parting of the ways. Unless the true road is taken, Massachusetts industries will rapidly decay. The hour has arrived when a leader is needed. The leader is at hand, ready to go forward. Our leader, William L. Douglas, was born in the historic town of Plymouth 59 years ago. He began his struggle at the age of seven years, attending school in the intervals of work and pursuing both studies and labor with that characteristic zeal which has since brought him such large rewards. In his career he has exemplified every phase of industrial life, for at the age of 31 he had been apprentice, journeyman, foreman and proprietor. The business he then established has been successful, and to-day has grown to immense proportions.

In the domestic circle and in the sphere of charity, he has exhibited the traits which ennoble the life of man. No better definition of the term "self-made man" can be found than in his career. Successful in his private business, he possessed in a high degree that public spirit upon which the well-being of every community so largely depends. He has represented his district in the House and in the Senate, and has served his city as councilman and mayor. He has been thrice a delegate to national conventions. No public task was ever shirked by him; no public call was ever left unanswered.

Mr. Douglas is a quiet, unassuming gentleman. Unspoiled by business success, the possession of millions, or the honors that have been his in his public life, fealty to his home and the members of his family always has been and is today the mainspring of his life.

His philanthropy, as well known. He assists with a liberal hand when a sickened of the worthiness of the object, and, although he has shown this side of his character in a number of public ways, only he and his devoted wife know the hundreds of other cases in which their wealth has been used to help others.

His nearly sixty years of life are unmarred by any selfish act; he believes in the greatest good to the greatest number; he believes in Massachusetts and wants to preserve and extend her influence. This can be accomplished by making of Massachusetts a doubtful political State, to the end that out of the political chaos, the people of the State may be saved.

In every gridding struggle of life William L. Douglas has passed the ordeal successfully. He has represented his district in the House and in the Senate, and has served his city as councilman and mayor. He has been thrice a delegate to national conventions. No public task was ever shirked by him; no public call was ever left unanswered.

His ability to manage an enormous commercial enterprise successfully is Mr. Douglas's best recommendation to the voters of the State, that he be elected as Governor of Massachusetts.

Quincy Real Estate Sales. The following is a list of the recent real estate sales in Quincy:

Charles F. Adams & Co. to Antonio Lucche. Barnabas Clarke by executor to John K. Hayward, Jr., $2,000.

William L. Walker to George E. Wales, $2,000. Harry H. Rogers to John Sullivan.

Royal S. Eastman & Co. to Annie Young, $100. Climens H. Drake to Fred H. Robinson.

John K. Hayward to John Chasman. Cornelius Moynihan to Anthony Sweeney, $970.

Evantte F. Osborn to Josiah P. Quincy. Herbert T. Whitman & Co. to Arthur E. Partidge.

John H. Diagen to Timothy Leary. William E. Harmon to George W. Hopkins & Co.

Quincy Savings Bank to Leverett H. Brown. Clifford T. Drake to Quincy Savings Bank.

John H. Storey & Co. to Louis N. Melson. Mary N. Smith to Frederick McLennan.

Smith Patterson Company. GORHAM. STERLING SILVER W

Hospital Week.

There was a very large attendance Thursday evening at the meeting at the residence of William B. Rice to arrange for the annual Hospital week collection, including the committees from each ward recently elected, and ladies, the trustees of the hospital, the matron and others.

The time fixed for the collection was the week of Nov. 9 to 16 inclusive. The following were appointed chairman of the several ward committees:

Ward One, Deleware King;
Ward Two, A. W. Newcomb;
Ward Three, John P. Richards;
Ward Four, James F. Burke;
Ward Five, Frank A. Page;
Ward Six, Charles H. Alden.

Each chairman will announce his list of collectors later.

Mr. and Mrs. Rice entertained very hospitably, not only throwing open their attractive residence, but serving salads and ices.

There was an informal talk on the affairs of the Hospital in general, and an endorsement of the good work being done.

Masonic Visitation.

Rural Lodge, A. F. & A. M., received an official visit Thursday evening from R. W. E. Francis Pope of Brockton, district deputy grand master of the 24th district. He was accompanied by a suite of eight masters and past masters of the district.

It was the occasion of a large gathering of members, and brethren from several lodges.

The M. M. degree was very creditably worked on two candidates by W. Master Pierce, and the regular officers of the lodge, including J. P. Prout as senior warden, H. L. White as junior warden, and Charles Sampson as senior deacon.

The work received the plaudits of District Deputy Pope and others.

A bountiful banquet including salads, ices, etc. was served by Rural lodge, which has a wide reputation for hospitality.

Pedagogues and Parents.

A book on Education by Mrs. Wilson, wife of the Rev. D. M. Wilson, a former pastor of the First Church of this city, is expected to appear about the first of November. The title of the book is "Pedagogues and Parents" and is published by Henry Holt & Co. of New York.

Mrs. Wilson believes that all educational books should not be written and read, as they are almost exclusively by educators. This book, although displaying wide knowledge of pedagogical methods and theories, is written from a parental point of view, and is addressed primarily to parents.

It is written pleasantly, with a brief and illustrative anecdote and humor.

The "Quincy System" is considered, and is given a very honorable place among the educational experiments. Those who can recall the "New Departure" and Colonel Parker's enthusiastic work will read with interest the account of this system as well as serious, of those stirring times.

The Blue Hills.

Several thousand people went to the top of the great Blue Hill on Sunday. It was a delightful day and many enjoyed the time to visit the highest point in eastern Massachusetts. The street cars now carry passengers to the foot of the mountain, and it takes from 15 to 20 minutes to walk to the top.

Never before did so many people see the Blue Hills to enjoy the charms and delights thereof presented, which the eye and the mind feast upon for hours without weariness, breathing the fresh, deliciously clear air of heaven, and be almost entranced by the beauty of the scene, which cannot be reproduced by the hand of man.

Popular at Plymouth.

Miss Minnie M. Jameson of this city completed her duties as instructor of music in the public schools at Plymouth, on Thursday, when her resignation took effect. During the day she was presented by different grades at the grammar schools with silverware, flowers and other gifts. At the high school Miss Jameson was presented with a rich tea cloth of Mexican work and a beautiful cut glass cracker plate. In the evening she was tendered a reception by the teachers of the public schools of Plymouth, who presented her a case of solid silver. There was universal regret at the resignation of Miss Jameson, who was a success as a teacher of music and a friend of all.

Mayorality Candidates.

John W. McAnaney has announced that he will become a candidate for the Republican nomination for Mayor at the caucus Nov. 15. The necessary papers were taken out yesterday and are being circulated for signatures.

Papers have also been taken out by James Thompson for Republican candidate for Mayor.

Simultaneously with these came Timothy J. Carey, who took out two nomination papers for the Democratic candidate for Mayor. These are understood to be for George H. Wilson and Peter T. Fallon.

The Baltic fleet which occasioned such a commotion by sinking a fishing smack in the North Sea is one of the largest armadas that ever went to sea and one of the most powerful. It is commanded by three rear admirals, Rozhdestvensky, Falkenberg and Ekelund, and an enormous amount of money has been expended in its construction, armament and equipment. The value of the fleet, the Herald says, is $85,750,000. Nevertheless, John Bull would probably experience no serious embarrassment in bringing it to terms if he should set out to do it.

Mr. Douglas is getting a superior quality of clean, clear advertising, and even though he loses the prize he gets, the result will be in any way to his disadvantage. From one point of view the Brocktonian is a sure winner. Should he be from all points of view he will have made one of the greatest all-round successes ever known to an American business man—Brockton Enterprise.

Labor organization have never rarely made so serious a mistake as when a few of their clever advisers were allowed to represent them in all denouncing Governor Bates for his veto of the misnamed "overtime" bill. They do not claim that any great wrong has been done the laboring people, but merely that he would not do what their few leaders demanded.

The Y. M. C. A. evening classes in drawing will open next week.

CITY BRIEFS.

A house is being erected on Hancock street near the car barn, and the street railway is storing a large quantity of sand at the car barn for use on slippery rails.

Miss Edith Cushing of Arlington has been the guest of friends in this city the past few days.

Officer Crocker is having his vacation and Officer Boutin is covering the day beat in City Square.

Sunday was an ideal day and thousands improved the opportunity to make one more visit to the beaches.

The new Y. M. C. A. building may be seen from many different parts of the city. It will need a flag.

Several from Quincy saw the Harvard team win from the Carlisle Indians at Cambridge on Saturday 12 to 0.

George Ruxton of 228 Whitwell street is confined to his home seriously ill with erysipelas in the head.

The time for filing nomination papers for candidates to be voted at the caucus Nov. 15, expires next week.

The enlargement makes Remick Bros. one of the largest and most attractive business houses of the city.

George E. Adams has been officiating as clerk at the district court this week during the absence of Clerk Churchill.

Important changes in the timetable of the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R. will go into effect on Sunday at 12:01 A. M.

Patents were issued this week to Frank E. Hall of Wollaston and Percy R. Glass and A. M. I. McLeod of Quincy.

Don't put off too long the preparation of nomination papers for the City caucuses. They must be filed next week.

John W. Hall and family, after a sojourn of many weeks at Hough Neck, returned last week to their home on Hancock street.

Rev. F. S. Hatch, formerly secretary of F. I. S. Hatch, will speak at the Union rally in Quincy, Nov. 9, on Christian Endeavor work in India.

Lawyer Frank A. Tirrell has been appointed guardian ad litem of the defendant in the action of St. Pierre vs. Barnicot, by Judge Avery.

Elwood M. Littlefield, who has been confined to his room on Washington street for the past two weeks with rheumatism, is slowly improving.

Officer James W. Murray is still confined to his bed with typhoid fever. He is on the mend however and his many friends hope to see him about soon.

The next entertainment in the Bethany Brotherhood course will be by the Theban Dramatic Company, which includes three young ladies and one young man.

Mrs. Malcolm Rich of Gloucester is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Effie L. Rhines of Miller Street road, for a week, while Mr. Rich is away on a business trip through New Hampshire.

Several new names are mentioned in Ward One for nomination, and all are well-known business men, viz.: J. S. Swingle, D. E. Wadsworth, C. C. Hearn and Warren W. Adams.

D. D. G. M., Frank W. Flowers and suite with 25 Old Fellows from Mt. Wollaston lodge made an official and fraternal visit to Old Colony lodge at Hingham, Oct. 21, and were royally entertained by that lodge.

James Hogan, employed by the Quincy Real Estate and Trust company, is receiving the sympathy of a large circle of friends upon the sudden demise of his brother Michael Hogan, who occurred recently in St. Paul, Minn.

Timothy J. Carey, one of the Democratic candidates for Representative to the General Court, has withdrawn. It is presumed that the money will not be raised and that James H. Elock will be the only Democratic candidate from this district.

At the coupon night party held at the home of A. C. Merritt, Elm place, Tuesday evening, nine tables were in play and souvenirs were awarded to Mrs. J. F. M. Hogan, Mrs. Juliet Driscoll, Master Charles French, W. M. Bird and J. F. M. Hogan.

The dancing class of Miss Helen Rhines, which is being held in Colonial hall Saturday afternoon is making rapid progress. Miss Rhines is a popular young lady and her many friends wish her success in her new work, which she has made a study of for years.

The car trucks of the S. & O. A. M. car Tuesday for Brockton took the switch at Temple street and started in that direction while the forward car was being moved. The result was the delaying of all cars until the service car arrived and pulled the car to the car barn.

In the Merrimac Valley league on Saturday at Lynn, association rules, the Quincy team was defeated by the Lynn team 6 to 0. The home team scored five of their goals in the first period. The Quincy team put up an excellent game but luck was against them.

People travelling on the electric cars on the Neponset line have to leave the car at the Atlantic bridge and walk over to the other side and get on again while the car passes over empty, owing to the dangerous condition while building the new bridge.

L. M. Pratt & Son offered the clerk selling the most pounds of coffee in a month a gold watch. George A. Lyons of Washington street, sold between three and four hundred pounds, and was the lucky man. He is now wearing, not only a handsome watch, but a smile that won't come off.

Quite the most pleasing feature of the Quincy Historical society reception, was the dispensing of hospitality by the young great granddaughters and granddaughters of President John and Abigail Adams.

These young ladies, Miss Abigail Adams and Miss Dorothy Quincy, served tea and coffee most graciously in the home of their ancestors, making every one as cordially welcome, as was the good old custom of years ago.

A surprise party was tendered to Miss Annie Riddell at her home on Kinder street, Oct. 20 by her numerous friends. Miss Riddell was presented with a handsome gold bracelet.

The evening was enjoyed by playing games and also dancing, music being furnished by Burke's orchestra. At 10:30 refreshments were served, after which the happy assembly returned to Miss Riddell.

A Canadian Club has been organized in Quincy for the general objects of good government. It started last Saturday with a large charter membership and many applications were read and referred to the investigating committee.

Any Canadian who has been naturalized and is not a candidate for office is eligible for membership. The proof of good moral character. The club is strictly non-partisan, but plans active work in politics this fall.

Ice yesterday morning. The Engineers' Union held its grand ball last night.

John R. Graham of Bangor, Me., was in town this week on a brief visit.

Nomination papers for candidates to be voted for at the caucus November 15 must be in by next Thursday night.

There will be a meeting of the Fragment society in the Unitarian chapel next Wednesday evening at 2 o'clock.

The Wednesday evening subscription whist parties at the Cocolato club, Braintree, commence November second.

Mrs. Ehen W. Sheppard of Greenleaf street is hostess for Miss Thompson's talk on Tuesday afternoon, November first.

The Democrats will not fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Timothy J. Carey who was nominated for Representative.

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Hussey, nee Williams, are at home to their friends at 26 Union street, Boston, after November first.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Q. Hodges, nee Graham, who were married at East Milton early in September are at home Fridays after November first at Reading, Mass.

Dr. and Mrs. Rosa Kittredge Whitton, who were married the first of September, are making their home at 1220 Hancock street, are at home to their friends after November first.

The Young People's Religious Union will hold a Halloween party in the basement of the First Church this evening, at 7:15. All members and their friends are invited to attend.

"The call of young Japan" is the subject of an interesting program prepared for a Sunday school concert at Bethany Congregational church Sunday evening at 7:30. Everyone is invited.

Mrs. Henry C. Rodgers of Edwards street, who has been ill for several weeks, was able to get out dining for a little while on Friday. Her friends are now hoping for a speedy recovery.

Mr. Edward H. Dawson of Pittsburg Penn., has been spending a week in Quincy at the home of his mother, on Adams street. He was called this way by business and his friends gave him a cordial welcome.

The East Norfolk and Clark Christian Endeavor Union will hold a grand rally at the Bethany church, Wednesday evening, Nov. 9. The speaker will be Rev. F. S. Hatch, co-secretary of the India Christian Endeavor.

Miss Florence N. Locke has rented the room over McConnel's fruit store which were occupied for so many years by the late Miss S. H. Hussey. Miss Locke will move from Union road the second week in November.

Much of the success of the Quincy Historical society reception this week was due to Mr. and Mrs. George W. Patton and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. A. Martin, who ably assisted the Adams family in the arrangements.

The First Church Social club course of entertainments begin Friday evening, Nov. 25 with a dance at Faxon hall. There are to be seven evenings this season, three dances, a pop concert, two entertainments and a children's party.

All persons interested in education will be welcome at either or both sessions of the Norfolk County Teachers Association in Boston next Friday. It will be held in one of the Institute of Technology buildings and no tickets are required.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Fitts of Bigelow street have moved this week to Somerville, much to the regret of their Quincy friends. The best wishes of a host of friends go with them to their new home where it is hoped they will be very happy and prosperous.

Miss Alice D. King of Union street, a graduate of the class of Quincy High school, has accepted a position as teacher of a school at Hill, N. H., and left this week for that place. Her many friends wish her success and offer their congratulations.

The members of the Adams Academy Athletic Association will observe Founders day on Monday next with an interesting series of sports on the academy grounds at the junction of Union and Washington streets. A list of the entries for each event will appear in the Saturday eight-page Ledger.

At a meeting of the directors of the Quincy Co-operative Bank Wednesday evening at the rooms of the secretary, Richard D. Chase, it was voted to declare a dividend of five percent per annum for the past six months. A new series, the 32d, is now for sale.

At G. A. R. hall Wednesday evening the whist party given by Ladies Aid society was largely attended. Thirteen tables being in play. W. A. Bird having a score of 50 was awarded the first souvenir. The other successful winners were Mrs. Calvin Fletcher, John L. Worth and Mrs. W. H. Bennett.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gardner Locke, who were married early in October at the Braintree Baptist church, are receiving their friends on Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bennett.

Mr. Locke is the son of Mr. Frank A. Locke of Rosindale, who is well known in Quincy and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Tanner are spending their honeymoon in the east stopping with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goodwin of Huntington road, East Milton. They arrived Sunday morning and will return for California the middle of the month.

Rev. Merrill C. Ward, a former pastor of the Unitarian church in this city, is to be congratulated. Mrs. Ward on Tuesday last, at her mother's residence at Buxton, Maine, presented him with a smart eight-pound boy, which they have named Harrison Perry, for the mother's family.

A large and select company were disappointed at not hearing Mr. Vincent in his lecture on Saturday night. On account of the death of accident Mr. Vincent was not able to reach the hall until too late. The first lecture on Thackeray will be given this evening and others will follow on the two successive Saturdays.

The ladies of the Quincy Day Nursery association are to hold a rummage sale about the middle of November to raise money to carry on the work of the nursery. Housekeepers are asked to put by things for the sale. Articles of any kind will be accepted with thanks. The ladies say they will take anything big or little.

The City Union of King's Daughters are to have their annual reunion in Bethany chapel Saturday afternoon and evening. A business meeting is to be held at four o'clock when there will be two speakers who will tell of the work of the Pond house and there will be a social hour until seven. At the evening session at seven o'clock there will be an address and music.

Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Adams, who were married the first of September, are making their home at 1220 Hancock street, are at home to their friends after November first.

The Young People's Religious Union will hold a Halloween party in the basement of the First Church this evening, at 7:15. All members and their friends are invited to attend.

"The call of young Japan" is the subject of an interesting program prepared for a Sunday school concert at Bethany Congregational church Sunday evening at 7:30. Everyone is invited.

Mrs. Henry C. Rodgers of Edwards street, who has been ill for several weeks, was able to get out dining for a little while on Friday. Her friends are now hoping for a speedy recovery.

Mr. Edward H. Dawson of Pittsburg Penn., has been spending a week in Quincy at the home of his mother, on Adams street. He was called this way by business and his friends gave him a cordial welcome.

The East Norfolk and Clark Christian Endeavor Union will hold a grand rally at the Bethany church, Wednesday evening, Nov. 9. The speaker will be Rev. F. S. Hatch, co-secretary of the India Christian Endeavor.

Miss Florence N. Locke has rented the room over McConnel's fruit store which were occupied for so many years by the late Miss S. H. Hussey. Miss Locke will move from Union road the second week in November.

Much of the success of the Quincy Historical society reception this week was due to Mr. and Mrs. George W. Patton and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. A. Martin, who ably assisted the Adams family in the arrangements.

The First Church Social club course of entertainments begin Friday evening, Nov. 25 with a dance at Faxon hall. There are to be seven evenings this season, three dances, a pop concert, two entertainments and a children's party.

All persons interested in education will be welcome at either or both sessions of the Norfolk County Teachers Association in Boston next Friday. It will be held in one of the Institute of Technology buildings and no tickets are required.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Fitts of Bigelow street have moved this week to Somerville, much to the regret of their Quincy friends. The best wishes of a host of friends go with them to their new home where it is hoped they will be very happy and prosperous.

Miss Alice D. King of Union street, a graduate of the class of Quincy High school, has accepted a position as teacher of a school at Hill, N. H., and left this week for that place. Her many friends wish her success and offer their congratulations.

The members of the Adams Academy Athletic Association will observe Founders day on Monday next with an interesting series of sports on the academy grounds at the junction of Union and Washington streets. A list of the entries for each event will appear in the Saturday eight-page Ledger.

At a meeting of the directors of the Quincy Co-operative Bank Wednesday evening at the rooms of the secretary, Richard D. Chase, it was voted to declare a dividend of five percent per annum for the past six months. A new series, the 32d, is now for sale.

At G. A. R. hall Wednesday evening the whist party given by Ladies Aid society was largely attended. Thirteen tables being in play. W. A. Bird having a score of 50 was awarded the first souvenir. The other successful winners were Mrs. Calvin Fletcher, John L. Worth and Mrs. W. H. Bennett.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gardner Locke, who were married early in October at the Braintree Baptist church, are receiving their friends on Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bennett.

Mr. Locke is the son of Mr. Frank A. Locke of Rosindale, who is well known in Quincy and vicinity.

The Democrats announce a grand rally to take place in Quincy Music hall next Tuesday evening. Thomas J. Gargan, Charles S. Hamilton and others will be the speakers.

Dexter E. Wadsworth, past master of Macdonald lodge, attended the dinner of the past masters of the fourth Masonic district at the United States hotel, Boston, Thursday evening.

Mrs. Charles F. Harper of Putnam street entertained the Junior Friday club on Monday afternoon, it being the second meeting of the season. The club is continuing the study of American history.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Prescott attended an old-fashioned husking at Brookside farm at Littleton on Wednesday last and assisted in husking over 100 bushels of corn. It was a grand time, concluding with a supper and games.

The annual dinner of the Adams Academy Alumni Association will be held Saturday evening at the United States Hotel, Boston. As the years go by the interest in these reunions increases and good times are enjoyed. All former members of the school whether they graduated or not, will be cordially invited.

John Ericsson, Chief, Foresters of America, celebrated his fifth anniversary Thursday evening at Hancock hall. The feature of the evening was a grand Swedish banquet, which was thoroughly enjoyed by the large number present.

Several of the grand officers of the order were present and made brief addresses on the order and the good work which it was doing.

The cantata "Rise to be given in Bethany church early in December by the King's Daughters, with Mr. Arthur Raymond of Weymouth conductor and Mrs. Harriet R. Morgan, Miss Sara Belle Huff and Mr. Charles Delmont as soloists. There will be seventy voices in the chorus with a handsome piano accompaniment. It will certainly be one of the finest productions ever given in Quincy.

The South Quincy foot ball team went to Holbrook on Saturday and whitewashed the local team 11 to 0. The kicking of Littlewood and the 50-yard run by Troupe of South Quincy were features of the game.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hayden of Brooks street, a ten-pound boy being born Sunday to join the happy family.

Miss Alice E. Pinel was agreeably surprised at her home, 71 Franklin street, October 21, by about fifty of her friends and schoolmates. At 8 o'clock Miss Margaret G. Duran on behalf of her friends presented her with a handsome gold chain watch. After receiving from her surprise Miss Pinel thanked her friends in a neat speech and offered to them the freedom of her home in which to enjoy themselves.

Chief Hayden, with Inspector McKay, Officers Goodhue, Hinchman, Holloran and George A. McKay, raided the premises of Joseph Shaw at 93 Willard street at 9 o'clock Tuesday evening and seized 50 gallons of wine, 10 gallons of ale and one gallon of beer.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sheehan of 32 Crescent street gave a party October 21 to their little son William, in honor of his fifth birthday. Twenty little ones were present and all enjoyed the games and entertainments. A dainty lunch was served. Willie was the recipient of many gifts.

There was quite a lively row in an Italian boarding house at No. 1 Lary place on Sunday evening, during which Serafine Salvucci received a bad cut under the left eye with some blunt instrument. He was taken to Walsh drug store where his injuries were dressed. Salvucci is the man who is alleged to have made a murderous assault on Daniel Mahoney at a dance hall Feb. 7, 1903, and for which he later served a sentence in the house of correction.

Mrs. A. A. Shackley of Barr, Vt., has been the guest of Mr. H. H. Ripley of Cross street the past week. A furniture store has been opened in the new block on Copeland street.

The Copeland and Defender A. C. will meet on the gridiron at West Quincy, this afternoon.

Lutheran Fair.

The Swedish Lutheran fair opened at Faxon hall Thursday evening and was very largely attended. There were many attractions, including a variety of fishing, pond, cane, toss, ball toss into barrel, a Laplander as a grab bag, a fancy table, a refreshment table, ice cream table, tonic table, etc.

A novelty at the fair was the art museum in the gallery in charge of W. R. Rogers. The collection was made up of old Century club and included antiques and novelties from all parts of the world, particularly the Philippines, Africa and Sweden.

Early in the evening the six characters in charge were introduced individually to those assembled in the hall below. The dancers were four men and two women in some. Later these were busy in the old time employment of carding wool, knitting stockings, reading and explaining the exhibits. There was music by a phonograph.

Alliance Meetings.

Monday afternoon's meeting of the First Church Alliance was the most interesting one. Over fifty men gathered in the church parlors. Mr. George G. Saville, the president, presided during the opening exercises and the short business session, after which he introduced Mr. Wilson Marsh, chairman of the afternoon.

This year the Alliance is making a study of the great religious movements of the world. The subject was Zoroastrianism and Mohammed. Mr. Marsh handled the subject broadly, interestingly and in such a clear way that every one got a better understanding of these two religions. Mr. George W. Morton, Mr. Annie E. Faxon, Mrs. John W. Sanborn and Mrs. George G. Saville supplemented Mr. Marsh's paper by reading short selections.

A social half hour with refreshments followed.

Colbert-Brace.

Mr. Richard J. Colbert, a permanent member of the fire department, and Miss Annie Louise Bruce, daughter of the late Timothy Bruce of Garfield street, were united in marriage on Tuesday at St. John's church by Rev. John J. Coan.

Mr. James M. Bruce was best man and the bridesmaid was Miss Mary E. Y. Bruce. The bride wore crepe de soire and Duchess lace, in train, and carried white crepe de soire. The bridesmaid wore white crepe de soire.

A wedding breakfast followed at the bride's home after the ceremony. Later in the day the bridal party left for a trip to Baltimore.

Museum of Fine Arts.

The trustees of the museum of Fine Arts in Boston, have determined that for the future the museum shall open to the public on Monday mornings at 9 o'clock instead of on Wednesday evenings. They have also decided that it shall be open free to the public on Washington's birthday, Patriots' day, Memorial day, the Seventeenth of June and Labor day.

Governor Bates has served the state and all its citizens so faithfully that this, his last year as candidate for governor, should witness a phenomenal vote, regardless of party lines.

For the first time the children of a President of the United States are pupils in the public schools of Washington.

Mr. Finch, principal of the Wollaston and South Fields schools, has revived the old time out-door recess in the first, second and third grades, in each building. No system of ventilation can keep the air of our crowded school rooms absolutely pure, and a brisk run in the open air is much more beneficial to the children than any indoor gymnastics. Mr. Finch also believes that supervised play is education, so that the time spent on the playground during the recess may be made profitable as well as enjoyable.

Wollaston people miss the weekly foot ball games by the popular Wollaston club, and regret that the business of the individual members prevented the team organizing this year.

Miss M. B. Adams finished third on Monday in the open medal play handicapped golf tournament of the Country club, Mrs. F. W. Batchelder of Oakley being first with 35 strokes and 90 net.

Mr. Chandler W. Smith, Mrs. George Weston, Mrs. Charles Crane, Mrs. Clara Comins and Mrs. W. E. Rowe of Wollaston attended the meeting of the New England Association Alliance held at Concord last week. They report a very interesting and profitable meeting.

The subject of Col. Sprague's talk last week in the course that he is giving at the Quincy Mansion School was Shakespeare. The early life and environment of the poet was most interestingly portrayed. The subject will be continued in the next talk.

Mrs. Annie E. Jones entertained a party of lady friends from Dorchester, Boston and Quincy at her home on Beale street Tuesday afternoon and evening. A dinner was served, covers being laid for twelve.

Fred C. Chamberlain of Wollaston, who recently returned from a ninety days' tour of duty in the Philippines, is interestingly illustrated article in the Sunday Globe on Midway Islands of the Pacific ocean of coral formation about which little is known. The average elevation above the sea is ten feet and the highest point but 43 feet.

The islands are stars and stripes and are the most beautiful in the world. A large crowd thronged the store both in the afternoon and evening.

Miss Jennie Gibb of Edison Park is recovering from her recent fall.

Mr. Starvaut of Washington street, Sunday with his sister in East Bridgewater.

Harold W. Newcomb has returned from a visit to Baltimore and Washington and reports a very pleasant time.

Rev. A. A. Ellsworth preached at the Quincy Point church Sunday morning, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Leon H. Austin.

Smells have made their appearance in Haywood creek, though not as numerous as in former years.

Among the things stored away by James M. Harris, who lived so many years at Quincy Neck, was the old signboard giving notice of the toll gate, which used to be on Quincy avenue near the Mitchell estate. Mr. Harris was the last toll gatherer and the sign has been repainted and will be preserved.

Mr. Albert Austin of Hartford, Conn., was in town Thursday, on his way to attend a hunting trip in Maine. Mr. Austin reported a delightful trip as well as successful. Some of his Quincy friends received unique souvenirs of the Maine woods.

House 4 looks fine in a fresh coat of paint.

WOLLASTON.

Mr. Finch, principal of the Wollaston and South Fields schools, has revived the old time out-door recess in the first, second and third grades, in each building. No system of ventilation can keep the air of our crowded school rooms absolutely pure, and a brisk run in the open air is much more beneficial to the children than any indoor gymnastics. Mr. Finch also believes that supervised play is education, so that the time spent on the playground during the recess may be made profitable as well as enjoyable.

Wollaston people miss the weekly foot ball games by the popular Wollaston club, and regret that the

DEMOCRATIC RALLY

MUSIC HALL, QUINCY,

(HANCOCK STREET.)

TUESDAY, NOV. 1st, 1904.

At 8 P. M.

The following speakers will address the meeting.

HON. CHARLES S. HAMLIN.

HON. THOMAS J. GALLAN.

HON. JAMES A. CARRIVAN.

MR. QUINCY A. LOTHROP.

Congressman WILLIAM S. McNARY.

Quincy, Oct. 28.

141-p-1w

Plumbing, Heating and Gas Fitting.

Next to Washing Dishes

the most despised drudgery of house keeping is the care of the several Cress and the sweeping up of the ashes and dust they produce. Unless, of course, you own a Hot-Water or Steam System—only one fire-ten needed and no dust or ashes in the living rooms.

IDEAL Boilers and RADIATORS

Do not delay too long. Did not your experience last winter with the Old Hot Air Furnace teach you it was time to change. Compare the Cost of the Fuel saved in your case, not to mention the First Cost of the Heating job. Speaking of Plumbing, that's our stronghold. Try us and be convinced.

W. A. BRADFORD,
Tel. 111 9 Savings Bank Building, City Square. On Monday and Saturday Evenings.
Sept. 12.

The National Granite Bank

OF QUINCY, MASS.

THEOPHILUS KING, Pres't.

RUPERT F. CLAPIN, Cash'r.

1836-1865-1904

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

$20 Boston Box for $5.

A Safe Deposit for Your Valuables,
Bonds, Deeds, Insurance Papers, etc.

NEW VAULT, FINE BOOTHS. COMPLETE REINTERIOR.

PROMPT AND COURTEOUS ATTENTION.

Call and Examine.

Oct. 1.

1p1f

OUR FALL AND WINTER LINES

Underwear, Hosiery, Gloves, etc., NOW READY.

ECLIPSE FANNEL, in Latest Designs,

For Kimonos, Wrappers and Shirts.

PLAIDS AND CASHMERE for Children's Dresses.

BUTTERICK PATTERNS.

MISS C. S. HUBBARD

1363 Hancock St. City Square.

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1904.

WEEKLY Sun Full Sea. Moon
ALMANAC. Rises Sets Morn. Eve. rises.
Saturday, Oct. 29, 4:52 4:52 2:00 1:55
Monday, " 3:16 4:20 4:00 3:15 10:52
Tuesday, Nov. 1, 4:17 4:28 4:55 3:15 12:03
Wednesday, " 4:18 4:37 4:50 4:15 12:08
Thursday, " 4:20 4:38 5:00 4:15 1:18
Friday, " 4:21 4:38 5:00 4:20 2:30
Last Quency, Oct. 31st, 5:15 P. M.

This Week's Temperature.

The noon temperature of the week taken at Pettengill's jewelry store, is compared below with that of last week and the same day of month for three years:

This	Last	1903	1904	1897
Sunday,	57	63	75	73
Monday,	64	67	54	73
Tuesday,	61	67	59	69
Wednesday,	60	57	50	55
Thursday,	53	65	45	60
Friday,	46	69	44	52
Saturday,	—	67	56	67

Notes and Comments.

Evidently the Quincy Historical Society has taken a new lease of life. With monthly meetings it should flourish.

Every prominent clergyman, no matter what his denomination, who has visited the Philippines, declares that America is doing a great Christian work there.

Representative Adam Bede says that the effort to start a Christian Endeavor chapter in the Philippines was a failure because the missionaries couldn't find anything in the bad pagans to like.

When Senator Tillman visited the Chicago Stock Yards, they asked him, if the Democratic party was the poor man's friend, why it had a capitalist judge and a millionaire mine owner at the head of its ticket.

Dana J. Flanders, the successful general passenger agent for the Boston & Maine R. R., was on Thursday elected grand commander of the Knights Templar of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Wonder if he will take them all "Down East"? Many are waiting for the call from labor.

Every one who attended the Quincy Historical society reception on Tuesday afternoon at the birthplace of presidents John Adams and John Quincy Adams were much pleased. It was a most delightful and informal affair, calling to the attention of the people of Quincy and vicinity. Every year the two old Adams houses grow dearer and dearer to Quincy people, and their preservation is now a certainty.

Candidate Parker recently charged that officers of the Government are now "practically chosen by a handful of corporate managers." The chief officers of the government today are, Hay, Taft, Moody, Metcalf, Shaw, Wilson and Wythe. The men who have so obliged Mr. Parker in this campaign as to insure their becoming the officers of the Government if he is elected are, D. B. Hill, August Belmont, Delaney, Nicol, William F. Stearns, Thomas Taggart, McCarran, et al. Which group do you believe would prove the most willing servants of the "corporate managers"?

In the death of Hon. William A. Hodges Quincy loses the first from the list of its Mayors. For sixteen years we have been a city but with this exception all our ex-Mayors are hale and hearty and in active business today. With the exception of Hon. Charles H. Porter, Mr. Hodges was the only selectman of the old town government who has been executive of the city. Mr. Hodges at the time of his death had served more years as selectman of Quincy than any living, many years were with the late William N. Eaton who recently passed away, and others with J. Q. A. Field, the late Joseph W. Robertson, the late Esq. S. Fellows, the late Wyman Abernethy, the late John Chamberlin, Hon. Charles H. Porter, the late Alfred Sampson, George Harvey Field and Walter H. Ripley. Mr. Hodges served in all eleven years as Selectman, and he was Mayor two years.

The Boston transit commission yesterday opened proposals for the construction of the first section of the Washington street subway. Ten contractors submitted bids. The lowest bidders were Jones & Mehan, their figures being $82,888. It is agreed in the contract that the first section shall be finished by June, 1905.

After the death of John Adams the house was occupied by various tenants. The house gradually fell into disrepair until it almost wished a conflagration would solve the problem of what to do with the house.

Then W. G. Spear of the Historical society took an interest in one of the houses and it was put in repair. It is now the house occupied by the Historical society. The house gradually fell into disrepair until it almost wished a conflagration would solve the problem of what to do with the house.

Now the two houses are devoted to the exact purposes for which I hope they will ever continue to be, as they are perfect specimens of old New England homes.

The time will come when there will be pilgrimages to Boston, as there now are to Europe to see these objects of interest. As far as his family were concerned he was as soon think of alienating an own child as selling the property for commercial purposes at any price.

The guests were then invited to visit the John Adams birthplace and partake of tea.

It was most fitting on this day of the centennial of the birth of John Adams and John Quincy Adams that two of their great grand-daughters should preside at the refreshment table; Miss Abigail Adams and Miss Dorothy Quincy, coffee. Members of the Historical society assisted in serving among them being Mrs. Brooks Adams, Mrs. George W. Morton, Mrs. William G. A. Patten, Miss Ellen Porter, Mrs. William E. Alden, Mrs. Otto Hayward, Mrs. Theodore Hardwick, Miss Putnam, and others.

The officers of the Quincy Historical society are:

President—Brooks Adams.
Vice President—W. G. A. Patten.
Secretary—Miss Elizabeth H. Alden.
Treasurer—James L. Edwards.
Librarian—Houghton Schumacher.
Curators—Brooks Adams, W. G. A. Patten, George W. Morton, Emery L. Craze, Fred B. Rice and George Wales.

A Rice Case.
Michael T. Berry, the Socialist labor candidate for Governor, was arrested Wednesday evening in Charleston for holding an open-air meeting in Hayes square.

Members of the socialist-labor party have professed all along to believe that if a case of this sort ever came before the courts the police would not be trusted, and it was in the hope of verifying this prediction that they started Wednesday evening's meeting.

Notable Anniversary.

In response to invitations sent out by the Quincy Historical Society, a large number gathered at the Presidents' houses Tuesday afternoon to observe the one hundred and fortieth anniversary of the marriage of John and Abigail Adams.

It was also to make known the fact that the residence of President and Mrs. John Adams (the birthplace of President John Quincy Adams) would hereafter be opened to the public. The Historical society which has recently been reorganized has engaged James Ridout as caretaker, who will show visitors about the house upon request.

Those present of the Adams family were: Hon. and Mrs. Charles Francis Adams, their two daughters, Mrs. Mary Adams Abbott, Mrs. Louise Catherine Adams Perkins; Mrs. John Quincy Adams and daughter, Miss Abigail Adams; Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Adams; Mrs. Mary Adams Quincy and two daughters, Miss Dorothy Quincy and Miss Ellen Quincy.

Letters of regret from Charles W. Elliot, president of Harvard University; Prof. J. B. Sewall, formerly master of Thayer Academy; Seth Mann, Jr., of Randolph Prof. A. B. Hart of the History Department of Harvard, Rev. Daniel Munro Wilson, Col. Thomas Wentworth Higginson of Cambridge, and others of Portland, Me., and many others.

Cheerful log fires blazed in all the open fireplaces Tuesday and the visitors wandered through the various rooms examining the interesting articles of furniture and the house of the Adams family. The closets were full of rare old china and pewter and were greatly admired.

On the walls of what was the parlor were three handsome and rare old pictures that were brought out from Boston for the day. These were pastels of John and Abigail Adams, and a painting by John Quincy Adams by Copley. Beneath the portrait of President John Quincy Adams was a beautiful wreath of green.

There were also on the walls of the different rooms quotations from the letters of Abigail Adams which reveal her character. One of these which will serve as an example was from a letter written April 11, 1776, which read "I live in hope, to have the reputation of being a good farmeress as my partner has of being a good statesman."

The guests of the afternoon began to arrive early, and shortly after 4 o'clock they gathered in the yard. President Brooks Adams, Esq., the president of the society and the great grandson of President John Adams, spoke briefly, expressing his great pleasure at seeing them all here, and then he turned to the day are interesting, more than any day. It was seldom that two people whose names have survived centuries are so well remembered. Here it was she wrote those letters. I have come to consider the day as devoted particularly to her. He then introduced his brother Charles Francis Adams.

Mr. Adams gave a brief historical sketch of two old houses. He said he was 13 when his grandfather died. He had lived with him for five or six years. He died in 1848. My recollections of this neighborhood goes back to sixty years. That house has been the only selectman of the old town government who has been executive of the city. Mr. Hodges at the time of his death had served more years as selectman of Quincy than any living, many years were with the late William N. Eaton who recently passed away, and others with J. Q. A. Field, the late Joseph W. Robertson, the late Esq. S. Fellows, the late Wyman Abernethy, the late John Chamberlin, Hon. Charles H. Porter, the late Alfred Sampson, George Harvey Field and Walter H. Ripley. Mr. Hodges served in all eleven years as Selectman, and he was Mayor two years.

When John Adams married there was a question whether he would marry one of the Quincy family or Nabby Smith as she was called. Immediately after this marriage he came to Quincy to live. He then referred to the finding of the grave of John Quincy in the old burying ground upon which he intended to erect a memorial. He died as John Quincy Adams was born. He was named for his great grandfather who was then passing away.

They remained here until 1783 when peace was declared. It was here that John Adams drafted the constitution of Massachusetts which was subsequently adopted. Soon after they went to Europe and the never returned to Quincy to live. When they returned to Quincy it was to the Vassel house, but it was so different from what she had expected and the contrast was so great from what she had in Europe that she sat down and cried.

Thomas Boylston Adams lived in the John Adams birthplace until 1817 and it was here that Isaac Hull Adams was born. He was named for the Commander of the frigate Constitution. The speaker visited Elizabeth Adams on her death bed less than two years ago and then he said he had barely known him but while he was present she kept repeating these words: "Thank God for Bull's victory."

His mind had gone back to those stirring times.

After the death of John Adams the house was occupied by various tenants. The house gradually fell into disrepair until it almost wished a conflagration would solve the problem of what to do with the house.

Now the two houses are devoted to the exact purposes for which I hope they will ever continue to be, as they are perfect specimens of old New England homes.

The time will come when there will be pilgrimages to Boston, as there now are to Europe to see these objects of interest. As far as his family were concerned he was as soon think of alienating an own child as selling the property for commercial purposes at any price.

The guests were then invited to visit the John Adams birthplace and partake of tea.

It was most fitting on this day of the centennial of the birth of John Adams and John Quincy Adams that two of their great grand-daughters should preside at the refreshment table; Miss Abigail Adams and Miss Dorothy Quincy, coffee. Members of the Historical society assisted in serving among them being Mrs. Brooks Adams, Mrs. George W. Morton, Mrs. William G. A. Patten, Miss Ellen Porter, Mrs. William E. Alden, Mrs. Otto Hayward, Mrs. Theodore Hardwick, Miss Putnam, and others.

The officers of the Quincy Historical society are:

President—Brooks Adams.
Vice President—W. G. A. Patten.
Secretary—Miss Elizabeth H. Alden.
Treasurer—James L. Edwards.
Librarian—Houghton Schumacher.
Curators—Brooks Adams, W. G. A. Patten, George W. Morton, Emery L. Craze, Fred B. Rice and George Wales.

A Rice Case.
Michael T. Berry, the Socialist labor candidate for Governor, was arrested Wednesday evening in Charleston for holding an open-air meeting in Hayes square.

Members of the socialist-labor party have professed all along to believe that if a case of this sort ever came before the courts the police would not be trusted, and it was in the hope of verifying this prediction that they started Wednesday evening's meeting.

Former Mayor Dead.

Hon. William A. Hodges, ex-Mayor of Quincy, passed away early on Thursday, after a lingering illness. He had a third shock last week, and has been unconscious most of the time since, so that death was momentarily expected. For many years Mr. Hodges was one of Quincy's most prosperous merchants, and probably no citizen of today has received so many honors in political life.

William A. Hodges, son of Dr. Jerry and Mary (Cherry) Hodges, was the tenth in a family of eleven children, and born at Peterham, Mass., May 15, 1834. His youth until fourteen, was passed with his parents, with the common-school advantages. In February 1848, he commenced life for himself, going first to Boston, and afterwards to Milton, where he served an apprenticeship of three years as a baker, a trade that he followed until a few years ago. After his apprenticeship he worked as journeyman at Milton, Roxbury and elsewhere until 1858.

In that year he went to California, where he engaged in various occupations in mining and logging. Returning to Massachusetts he again engaged with his former employers at Roxbury, continuing with them until 1862, when he took a trip to the West in search of a location where to establish himself. He remained in California for several months, then returned to Roxbury and his former employers.

In May, 1866, he came to Quincy and purchased an interest in the business of a baker on Hancock street. After eight months he became sole proprietor, and in 1867 he was elected mayor of Quincy. He was re-elected in 1870, 1873, 1876, 1879, 1882, 1885, 1888, 1891, 1894, 1897, 1900, 1903, and 1904.

As a citizen, Mr. Hodges was enterprising and public-spirited; as a friend, warm and faithful; as a man he was held in the highest esteem. Believing in the principles of his fathers, which were given by Thomas Jefferson and enshrined in the Constitution of the United States, Mr. Hodges was a Democrat of the most unswerving order. His devotion to principle, his high sense of duty, and his love of his country, were his guiding lights.

The meeting refused to allow Mr. Miller to withdraw his name. Mr. Miller then thanked the meeting for their support. What can one or two men do in an organization like that? Do not expect to accomplish anything, but I will do my duty.

The following names were then placed in nomination for Ward Committee.

Frank L. Carlton, Harry S. Nicol, Walter E. Piper, John T. Roberts, John Miller, Robert Thompson, George Bowman, Alfred O. Diack, John L. Johnson, Frank Tinney, John Hobbie, George Frost, Charles Johnson, John C. Murray, John P. Bigelow, Andrew Milne.

Mr. Adams gave a brief historical sketch of two old houses. He said he was 13 when his grandfather died. He had lived with him for five or six years. He died in 1848. My recollections of this neighborhood goes back to sixty years. That house has been the only selectman of the old town government who has been executive of the city. Mr. Hodges at the time of his death had served more years as selectman of Quincy than any living, many years were with the late William N. Eaton who recently passed away, and others with J. Q. A. Field, the late Joseph W. Robertson, the late Esq. S. Fellows, the late Wyman Abernethy, the late John Chamberlin, Hon. Charles H. Porter, the late Alfred Sampson, George Harvey Field and Walter H. Ripley. Mr. Hodges served in all eleven years as Selectman, and he was Mayor two years.

When John Adams married there was a question whether he would marry one of the Quincy family or Nabby Smith as she was called. Immediately after this marriage he came to Quincy to live. He then referred to the finding of the grave of John Quincy in the old burying ground upon which he intended to erect a memorial. He died as John Quincy Adams was born. He was named for his great grandfather who was then passing away.

They remained here until 1783 when peace was declared. It was here that John Adams drafted the constitution of Massachusetts which was subsequently adopted. Soon after they went to Europe and the never returned to Quincy to live. When they returned to Quincy it was to the Vassel house, but it was so different from what she had expected and the contrast was so great from what she had in Europe that she sat down and cried.

Thomas Boylston Adams lived in the John Adams birthplace until 1817 and it was here that Isaac Hull Adams was born. He was named for the Commander of the frigate Constitution. The speaker visited Elizabeth Adams on her death bed less than two years ago and then he said he had barely known him but while he was present she kept repeating these words: "Thank God for Bull's victory."

His mind had gone back to those stirring times.

After the death of John Adams the house was occupied by various tenants. The house gradually fell into disrepair until it almost wished a conflagration would solve the problem of what to do with the house.

Now the two houses are devoted to the exact purposes for which I hope they will ever continue to be, as they are perfect specimens of old New England homes.

The time will come when there will be pilgrimages to Boston, as there now are to Europe to see these objects of interest. As far as his family were concerned he was as soon think of alienating an own child as selling the property for commercial purposes at any price.

The guests were then invited to visit the John Adams birthplace and partake of tea.

It was most fitting on this day of the centennial of the birth of John Adams and John Quincy Adams that two of their great grand-daughters should preside at the refreshment table; Miss Abigail Adams and Miss Dorothy Quincy, coffee. Members of the Historical society assisted in serving among them being Mrs. Brooks Adams, Mrs. George W. Morton, Mrs. William G. A. Patten, Miss Ellen Porter, Mrs. William E. Alden, Mrs. Otto Hayward, Mrs. Theodore Hardwick, Miss Putnam, and others.

The officers of the Quincy Historical society are:

President—Brooks Adams.
Vice President—W. G. A. Patten.
Secretary—Miss Elizabeth H. Alden.
Treasurer—James L. Edwards.
Librarian—Houghton Schumacher.
Curators—Brooks Adams, W. G. A. Patten, George W. Morton, Emery L. Craze, Fred B. Rice and George Wales.

A Rice Case.
Michael T. Berry, the Socialist labor candidate for Governor, was arrested Wednesday evening in Charleston for holding an open-air meeting in Hayes square.

Members of the socialist-labor party have professed all along to believe that if a case of this sort ever came before the courts the police would not be trusted, and it was in the hope of verifying this prediction that they started Wednesday evening's meeting.

All for James Thompson.

Principal Assessor James Thompson was the unanimous choice of the Republicans assembled at Malott hall, Thursday, as a candidate for Mayor. John L. Miller was the only man who carried with him the name of Thompson. It was confident of one thing, and that was the Mayor has a big job on his hands. We want a man who has a mind of his own. He would like to ask Mr. Thompson if he favored no license and his vigorous enforcement.

Mr. Thompson replied, yes. Continuing, Mr. Faxon said, I know the liquor law has not been enforced during the last year as it ought to have been. It was an important matter to enforce the license law, but after extending thousands of dollars he did not like to be insulted and not be appointed a constable without pay. Thompson, Diack, however, said that he was a candidate but thought it should go to Councilman Piper. Mr. Piper thought differently and spoke in favor of Mr. Diack. Upon a show of hands Mr. Diack was nominated.

The meeting then commenced to select names for ward councilmen. Many names were proposed but through decision the list resolved itself down to the following:

Walter E. Piper, William T. Spargo, Frank Tinney, Newman A. Savage, Harry S. Nicol, Lloyd W. Jones, and John C. Murray.

The name of John L. Miller was proposed for School Committee from the ward.

Mr. Miller did not want to take the nomination. He had consented to take any nomination, but he thought some others better fitted.

Alfred O. Diack believed he was the man for the place. A man like him is needed.

Chairman Murray thought we should have good men on that board. Mr. Diack was the right man in the right place.

Andrew Milne hoped Mr. Miller would stand.

Councilman Piper, "We, in the Council, have been up during the School Board during the past year. It needs a man like Mr. Miller. A man with a mind of his own and one who will fight for it.

The meeting refused to allow Mr. Miller to withdraw his name. Mr. Miller then thanked the meeting for their support. What can one or two men do in an organization like that? Do not expect to accomplish anything, but I will do my duty.

The following names were then placed in nomination for Ward Committee.

Frank L. Carlton, Harry S. Nicol, Walter E. Piper, John T. Roberts, John Miller, Robert Thompson, George Bowman, Alfred O. Diack, John L. Johnson, Frank Tinney, John Hobbie, George Frost, Charles Johnson, John C. Murray, John P. Bigelow, Andrew Milne.

Mr. Adams gave a brief historical sketch of two old houses. He said he was 13 when his grandfather died. He had lived with him for five or six years. He died in 1848. My recollections of this neighborhood goes back to sixty years. That house has been the only selectman of the old town government who has been executive of the city. Mr. Hodges at the time of his death had served more years as selectman of Quincy than any living, many years were with the late William N. Eaton who recently passed away, and others with J. Q. A. Field, the late Joseph W. Robertson, the late Esq. S. Fellows, the late Wyman Abernethy, the late John Chamberlin, Hon. Charles H. Porter, the late Alfred Sampson, George Harvey Field and Walter H. Ripley. Mr. Hodges served in all eleven years as Selectman, and he was Mayor two years.

When John Adams married there was a question whether he would marry one of the Quincy family or Nabby Smith as she was called. Immediately after this marriage he came to Quincy to live. He then referred to the finding of the grave of John Quincy in the old burying ground upon which he intended to erect a memorial. He died as John Quincy Adams was born. He was named for his great grandfather who was then passing away.

They remained here until 1783 when peace was declared. It was here that John Adams drafted the constitution of Massachusetts which was subsequently adopted. Soon after they went to Europe and the never returned to Quincy to live. When they returned to Quincy it was to the Vassel house, but it was so different from what she had expected and the contrast was so great from what she had in Europe that she sat down and cried.

Thomas Boylston Adams lived in the John Adams birthplace until 1817 and it was here that Isaac Hull Adams was born. He was named for the Commander of the frigate Constitution. The speaker visited Elizabeth Adams on her death bed less than two years ago and then he said he had barely known him but while he was present she kept repeating these words: "Thank God for Bull's victory."

His mind had gone back to those stirring times.

After the death of John Adams the house was occupied by various tenants. The house gradually fell into disrepair until it almost wished a conflagration would solve the problem of what to do with the house.

Now the two houses are devoted to the exact purposes for which I hope they will ever continue to be, as they are perfect specimens of old New England homes.

The time will come when there will be pilgrimages to Boston, as there now are to Europe to see these objects of interest. As far as his family were concerned he was as soon think of alienating an own child as selling the property for commercial purposes at any price.

The guests were then invited to visit the John Adams birthplace and partake of tea.

Through Street Cars.

Negotiations between representatives of the Old Colony street railway company and of the Boston Elevated Railway company over the proposed running of through cars from Quincy to the station of the elevated at Dudley street, Boston, have resulted in a disagreement. The meetings of the representatives have not been public and it is not given out what the causes of the disagreement are.

It is said at the office of the Railroad Commissioners that a further effort will be made to reach an settlement, and another conference will be held this week, but the date is not given out.

It is recognized that the people of Quincy have a direct and large interest in procuring terms whereby their cars instead of stopping at the bridge over the street, may be taken to Dudley street and there make connections with the Boston elevated system. The reasonableness of the desire of the people of Quincy seems to be admitted.

It is said at this end of the line that the Mayor of Quincy has done all he could to secure the benefit to the people of his city.

The District Court.

William Drumme and John T. Scallon were fined $5 each, and Patrick Gilman, William Henry and Edward Sullivan $5 each, for drunkenness at Quincy, and were given until next Monday to pay their fines.

George W. French was fined $5 and William Gabbett $5 for drunkenness at Weymouth. Case continued until next Monday to pay their fines.

John Greany was fined $3 for drunkenness at Hallowell and given until next Monday to pay his fine.

Sarah A. Madden pleaded guilty to violation of the liquor law at Quincy, and was fined $75.

Daniel McCarthy was fined $30 and sentenced to three months in the house of correction for violation of the liquor law at Braintree. Appealed.

Robert Regan of Quincy and Theodore Estance of Weymouth were fined $3 each for drunkenness.

George Clay, Jr., was arraigned for disturbing the peace at Weymouth. Case continued until Nov. 1.

Charles W. Huntress was arraigned for assault on Emil Huber at Quincy. He was fined $10.

The continued case of Esther Robinson for violation of the liquor law at Quincy was called and she was fined $30.

Amasa Holcomb was fined $10 for speeding an automobile at the Blue Hills Reservation. David Davis was fined $15 for assault at Quincy.

Measles, Hunting, Smith and Burke were appointed to write the annual report.

The superintendent made a report on children who are so defective mentally to be unable to profit by school work. The matter was referred to the superintendent and Dr. Record for further investigation.

The chairman reported the action of the City Council on the appropriation for evening schools, and it voted to send the following letter and interrogatories to the Board of Education: Paul R. Blackburn, Esq., City Solicitor, Quincy.

Dear Sir: Section 11, Chapter 42 of the Revised Laws of Massachusetts, 1902, provides that:

Through Street Cars.

Negotiations between representatives of the Old Colony street railway company and of the Boston Elevated Railway company over the proposed running of through cars from Quincy to the station of the elevated at Dudley street, Boston, have resulted in a disagreement. The meetings of the representatives have not been public and it is not given out what the causes of the disagreement are.

It is said at the office of the Railroad Commissioners that a further effort will be made to reach an settlement, and another conference will be held this week, but the date is not given out.

It is recognized that the people of Quincy have a direct and large interest in procuring terms whereby their cars instead of stopping at the bridge over the street, may be taken to Dudley street and there make connections with the Boston elevated system. The reasonableness of the desire of the people

The Quincy Patriot.

Sixty-Eighth Year.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1904.

SINGLE COPIES 5 CENTS.

FOR SALE AT
The Patriot Office,
Quincy,
City Square,
H. F. Kirtland,
J. P. O'Brien,
C. F. Carlson,
Miss E. M. Freeman,
Sprague & Holbert,
Shank's Periodical Store,
Thomas Gurney,
Braschfield & Martens,
Tear L. Litchfield,
W. E. Nightingale,
H. H. Dolbe & Co.,
Henry Coram,
Mrs. Lark's Store,
William Clark,
South Terminal Station,
Fred J. Muller,
N. H. Proctor,
J. H. Hunt,
Arthur Dunn,
Quincy,
City Square,
Hancock St.,
Quincy Point,
Wollaston,
Atlantic,
Quincy Adams,
South Quincy,
West Quincy,
Brewer's Corner,
East Milton,
Boston,
Neponset,
Braintree,
East Weymouth,
Hough Neck.

Poetry.

It is You and I.

ALFRED A. WATERHOUSE
A fool there was in the days of old,
And, faith! he wasn't the last on earth
Who hattered his place and his kindred old
For a mess of pottage of dubious worth.
He wasn't the last of his kind, I say,
For ever and aye, as the seons run
And the gray earth, white in its old way,
A sage is a rarity under the sun.

Who is it hatters his soul for naught?
Stand in your place, or low or high—
Who is it falls when to the last he thought?
Join in company: 'Tis you and I.
Who is it stumbles and falls and fails?
Bowing to crows, yet loving the earth,
Who when the Wrong wears a coronet galls?
Tears for confusion: 'Tis I and you.

Whose are the lips that a prayer have framed,
Only in living to give to the day?
Who is the one who is not ashamed,
Knowing the truth, with error to stray?
Who has forgotten his youth's fair dream,
The armies of Levi to meet and defy?
Who has not learned to plan and to scheme?
Alas, for the wreckage! 'Tis you and I.

A fool there was in the days of old,
And, faith! he wasn't the last on earth
Who hattered his place and his kindred old
For a mess of pottage of dubious worth.
For still we are fools, and we better still;
Yet who is it life is life's eyes on high,
And says: "I have fallen, yet rise I will!"
Now God be praised! 'Tis you and I.

Notes and Comments.

—Any citizen who changes his place of residence between now and Tuesday, November 8, must forfeit his right to vote at the polls on that date. The law requires that every voter shall have resided for thirty days a resident of the district in which he would vote.

—The New York, New Haven & Hartford road carried into Boston during the past 12 months 20,948,325 passengers, an increase of 82,613 over the previous year. This beats the number carried by the Boston & Maine road by over 700,000. Heretofore the Boston & Maine has led.

—Those Democrats and Free Traders who would give up our present policy of protecting our own industries and building up our home market, should have their attention called as frequently as possible to the great advance which this country has made under this policy inaugurated and maintained by the Republican party, with the exception of only two years, during the past generation and more. The United States today, with only 7 per cent. of the area, and only 5 per cent. of the population of the world, owns 20 per cent. of the wealth; has 23 per cent. of its gold, 30 per cent. of its railroad mileage and 42 per cent. of its steel production. On the other hand, we have only 3.12 per cent. of the world's debt, and never in time of peace has the Republican party increased our debt, but on the contrary has constantly reduced it; while the record of the Democratic party shows that it has even in time of peace increased our debt and thrown new burdens upon the country to be met by future generations.—Old Colony Memorial.

—One woman who attended the Brockton fair didn't care to pay the customary admission fee, so she went to a bakery, purchased a loaf of bread and then went in free as an exhibitor. To carry out the plan she journeyed to the exhibition hall and placed the bread in the home-baked department. The loaf was accepted and won a prize as the best home-made bread. She paid 10 cents for the loaf and saved 40 there by on her ticket. Add to this the cash prize and there was a nice profit. And yet they say women have no head for business.—Hingham Journal.

—As regards to the political campaign in Massachusetts, there is probably no expectation of electing the Democratic candidate for Governor, and the withdrawal of Congressman Thayer in the Worcester district is likely to give the late Senator Ross a son's walk over and thus reduce by one the Democratic representation in Congress. Unquestionably, there will be a large vote cast. If we may judge by the vigor with which the late Senator Thayer has been conducted, it should be a very large vote. * * * —Boston Courier.

—The recent adoption of coke instead of coal for use on the locomotives on the New York Central line from the Boston and Albany railroad has been hailed with delight by residents of towns and villages along the line.

—The Telegram in a recent issue had the following characteristic drive at the bucket shops: "New York exchanges, as well as the exchange in other cities are uniting to break up the bucket shops. It is a commendable move. The bucket shop, next to the policy game, is the most honest of the crookedest form of gambling that is known. No stock, nor the possibility of obtaining stock, passes to those who play. It is all a scheme from beginning to end to fleece. The winnings are for the most part made by capers, and the innocent investor is speedily stripped of his roll. If the exchanges can stop this form of gambling it will do great good. Practically all the defaulting cashiers and the thieves who rob their employers' tills, give an excuse for their loss the money in a bucket shop. Men have used money intrusted to them for wild and outrageous games. Boys have used their wages, when the wages should have gone home to their wives and children. It was a small loss of speculation, and is apparently offered big returns. Big returns never came. The promoters of the game looked out for that. They were there to make as much money as possible, and they could make the most by sending in all that was paid them by the persons who thought they were investing. The law have not proved sufficient, and now the exchanges take action. They should be able to win, and should be able to put an end to the bucket shops."—Spencer Leader.

—A man in Plymouth was fined $100 last week for having in his possession 10 dead robins ($10 each). A woman in New Bedford was fined $70 on Monday for having in her possession 14 short lobsters ($5 each), but who pays the fine for shooting in Weymouth on Sundays. There was no locality except last Sunday, the shooting extended from "Hockley" to the "Thicket" and Sunday killed game went to Boston Monday morning.—Weymouth Transcript.

—The public schools of Boston have opened this year with the largest registration known in the first school month. It stands close upon 50,000 in the regular schools, which probably means that before the school year closes next June there will be a round 100,000 on the lists. This great army of school children forms the reserve of our citizenship. They are the coming rulers of the city, the state, the nation, the makers of history and the makers of homes. The destiny of the Commonwealth in a few years will be in their hands. It is upon their energy and enterprise that our trade and commerce will depend. It is to their integrity and steadfast principle that we must look for the maintenance of the honorable traditions of our people. An interesting and significant feature of this record is the large increase in the membership of the high schools. Nearly 1200 more than last year, girls and boys, are attending these schools today. That is to say, there are more than ever before engaged in the advanced studies, a goodly number of them fitting for college or entrance into technical schools. It indicates an advance in the general level of popular education.—Boston Courier.

—The lawn mower has been put away for the winter, and it is the rake that is now in use trying to keep the lawn free from leaves.

—The United States Government has decided to establish eighty-two wireless telegraph stations. The start will be made in Maine and the stations will extend to Alaska. There is nothing backword about Uncle Sam.

—As a result of the fire last week, which destroyed the Alden, Walker & Wilde shoe factory in Middleboro, that excellent industry will be lost to the town, as the firm has decided not to rebuild or rent a factory in Middleboro. They will locate in North Weymouth and will remove at once. The Torrey, Curtis & Tirrell factory in that town will be occupied, and the firm will have a finely equipped plant nearly double the size of that burned. The North Weymouth firm has been established nearly half a century, and make a highly grade shoe that retails for $5 and is favorably known to the trade. Alden, Walker & Wilde have purchased their business, and will combine the manufacture of the more expensive shoe with their regular line. They will increase their output to a considerable degree, it is stated.—Hingham Journal.

—The wild ducks have shed their feathers earlier than usual, and there is more than the usual amount of down under their feathers. Hence, expect an early, cold and disagreeable winter, says the weather-wise man.

—The campaign of 1904 will go into history as the tamest on record. Here it is only a little more than a week to election, and there has been absolutely no spectacular demonstration, no firing of the popular heat, even no disturbance of business. Men have gone on with their affairs as if nothing unusual were happening or about to happen. There has been no red fire burned, no torchlight processions, no mass meetings and only a few scattered local rallies.

—How the immigration question in America looks to wise and thoughtful outsiders was told by the Archbishop of Canterbury in his sermon in Trinity church recently. "We, in England," said the Archbishop, "see and know that you in the United States are faced to face with problems bewildering in their greatness and complexity. No nation in the world's history has had to deal with such a gigantic and continuous transfer to its own shores of the peoples of other lands, peoples of diverse creeds and tongues, in different stages of civilization. These have got to be assimilated and combined and nationalized. The process must be worked out speedily if harm and confusion are not to ensue."

Second Andrew Jackson.

Except for the party label, Theodore Roosevelt is an ideal American Democrat of the old-fashioned type. He is a man who is never afraid to take the responsibility. Andrew Jackson himself did not squeal nullification more promptly than the present Executive has settled the great coal strike of his own initiative. The arrogant coal baron would neither retreat from their lofty positions nor accept any compromise. They had "nothing to arbitrate." They were very willing to arbitrate. In a short interview with the strenuous President.

The politicians of Colombia, more numerous than strenuous, haggled over the terms of a canal site at Panama. Panama, by the way, was theirs only by right of conquest, and when its people, seeking no other way of relief from the greedy law makers of the State declared their independence, and there was every prospect of another long and bloody Central American revolution, the modern Andrew Jackson promptly settled the matter, for the good of Panama, with no actual injury to Colombia, and to the lasting welfare of the United States and the civilized world.

His motto is that of David Crockett, "Be sure you are right, then go ahead." He is one who would rather be right than President. Hence he is and will be both. There is not a man North or South, who does not feel the red blood in his veins beat in sympathy with the man who dares to be right, regardless of the consequences.—The Pilot.

Helping Women.

The Massachusetts Woman's Trade Union league is bringing unemployed women and girls from Fall River, and finding them positions in domestic service. Places have already been found for eighty-five girls, and the experiment is proving very successful. The girls send money back to Fall River each week, to relieve the distressing poverty at their homes. The League needs money to meet the expenses of transportation and lodging. Contributions may be sent to Mrs. Mary Morton Kelown, Treasurer, 204 Boylston street, Boston, Mass.

Always Remember the Full Name
Latex Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, or, in 2 Days
on every box, 25c
C. H. Tower

PRESIDENT JOHN ADAMS AND ABIGAIL ADAMS.

John Adams.

John Adams.
Born Oct. 19, 1735.
Married Oct. 25, 1764.
Was delegate to the convention for formation of the State Government, 1779.
Became first Vice President of United States, April 30, 1789.
Elected second President of the United States, March 4, 1797.
Died July 4, 1826.

Abigail Adams.
Born Nov. 11, 1744.
Married Oct. 25, 1764.
Gave birth to a future President, July 11, 1797.
Sailed for London to Court of St. James, June 1784.
Became first Mistress of "White House" at Washington, 1800.
Died Oct. 28, 1818.

Abigail Adams.

The last of October and early November were eventful days for President and Mrs. John Adams of Quincy. Both of their birthday anniversaries came in this period within a month of each other, and about midway between their marriage anniversary, and also the death anniversary of Mrs. Adams.

For over fifty-four years Mr. and Mrs. Adams enjoyed the marriage relation, and were prominent in the affairs of Quincy, of the United States, and while at the White House and the Court of St. James, with the affairs of the world State Government, after the death of both President and Mrs. Adams, one realizes what it meant to this country to have had such a pair of statesmen and stateswomen.

Last Tuesday was the 140th anniversary of the marriage, and the date was well observed by the Quincy Historical society at the birthplaces of the Presidents. The north house on Franklin street which have been preserved as originally. The northerly house in which John Adams was born is now the headquarters of Adams chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, while the southerly house in which Mr. and Mrs. John Adams lived later, and where President John Quincy Adams was born, is the headquarters of the Historical society. In both are many relics and the public may visit the houses at any time.

The following brief sketch of the life of Abigail Adams, is taken from the memoir by her grandson, Charles Francis Adams, which prefaces the published volume of her letters. There were few persons of her day and generation who derived their origin, or imbedded their character, more exclusively from the genuine stock of the Massachusetts Puritan settlers than Abigail Smith.

Her father, the Rev. William Smith, was the settled minister of the Congregational church at Weymouth, for more than forty years, and until his death. Her mother, Elizabeth Quincy, was the granddaughter of the Rev. John Norton, long the pastor of a church of the same denomination in the neighboring town of Hingham, and the nephew of John Norton, well known in the annals of the colony.

Her maternal grandfather, John Quincy, was the grandson of Thomas Shepard, minister of Charlestown, distinguished in his day, and the son of the more distinguished Thomas Shepard of Cambridge, whose name still lives in one of the churches of that town.

Abigail Adams was the second of three daughters. She was born in Weymouth on the 11th of November, 1744, O. S. In her neighborhood there were not many advantages of instruction to be found; even in Boston, the small metropolis, nearest at hand, the list of accomplishments within the reach of females was probably very small.

She did not enjoy an opportunity to acquire even such as there might have been, for the delicate state of her health forbade the idea of sending her away from home to obtain them. In a letter written in 1817, the year before her death, speaking of her own education, she says: "My early education did not partake of the abundant opportunities which the present days offer, and which even our common country schools afford. I never was sent to any school, I was always self-taught. Female education, in the best families, went no further than writing and arithmetic, in some few and rare instances, music and dancing."

The fact that she never went to any school, is a very important one to a proper estimate of her character. At the house of Colonel John Quincy Adams, at Milton, and under the instruction of his wife, her grandmother, she appears to have imbibed most of the lessons which made the deepest impression upon her mind. She was married on the 25th of October, 1764. The ten years immediately following her marriage have been a quiet and very happy life, having her residence at Braintree or B-ston. In June, 1764, she sailed from London in a merchant vessel bound for Boston, to join her husband. From a life of the utmost retirement in a small and quiet country town of New England, she was at once transferred to the busy and bustling scenes of the populous and wealthy cities of Europe. She was the first representative of her sex from the United States at the Court of Great Britain. There was simultaneous with the adoption of the present Constitution. At the time of her husband's election to the Presidency, her health which had never been very firm became decidedly to fail. Her residence in Philadelphia had subjected her to an attack of an intermittent fever from the effects of which she was never afterwards perfectly free.

From the year 1801 down to the day of her death, which happened on the 28th of October, 1818, she remained unintercepted at her home in Quincy. Her old age was not one of grief and weeping, of clouds and darkness. Her cheerfulness continued, with the full possession of her faculties, to the last; and her sunny spirit enlivened the social circle around her, brightened the solitary hours of her husband, and spread the influence of its example over the town where she lived.

The obsequies of Mrs. Adams were attended by a great concourse of people, who voluntarily came to pay this last tribute to her memory. The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Kirkland, then president of Harvard University, which closed with a delicate and affecting testimony of her worth.

Hospital Meeting.

The inclement weather prevented as large an attendance as usual at the meeting in Colonial hall to arrange for the annual Hospital week collections. President William B. Rice presided, and after the records of previous meetings had been read, R. D. Chase the treasurer gave a brief outline of the financial standing of the corporation. The income for the year would be about $10,000. The expenditures have usually been something like $12,000 but they would be a little larger this year. Up to Oct. 1, $9,000 had been expended, and as there was $1500 in unpaid bills he thought the expenditures of the year would amount to about $13,500 so that it would be necessary to raise $3,500 more.

President Rice said the meeting was called to provide the machinery to go through the work this year. It ought to be easier this year, as the names of all those who had contributed last year had been resorted. If $3,500 was collected, the $1,000 raised by the ladies could be used to reduce the indebtedness.

Dr. Gordon thought the custom of collections of the past few years a good one. We have had more patients in a year than last but not so many paying ones.

Upon motion, James F. Burke was elected a chairman of the general committee on collections.

Mr. Burke with Fred B. Rice and N. G. Nix were appointed a committee to retire and bring in a list of chairmen from the several wards.

While they were out Frank E. Parlin superintendent of schools, was called upon. Mr. Parlin said this was the first meeting of the kind he had attended. He regarded the Hospital as one of the best forms of benevolence the city had. One that should appeal to every citizen. As the good work comes more generally known the contributions will be larger and easier to collect. It had his hearty support in thought and effort.

President Rice believed the people would take care of the Hospital. What we need is a duplicate of such work as Mr. Parlin can give us. When the needs are brought home to the people, as he could bring them, we shall get abundant funds. He hoped the endowment fund would increase so that the house-to-house collections would be unnecessary. He believed it better that the money needed come from the general public than from one individual.

Treasurer Chase said we have a right to expect things will eventually run more easily. There seems to be something of an indifference growth. There are important matters in this work that are neglected unless the people are aroused. It is usually overcome by agitation. The every day work of the hospital is not brought before the people. A more frequent and briefer report would be better. It would seem strange if 5,000 votes could not provide $5,000. Possibly some other method than the present might be better.

The committee reported the following as chairmen from the several wards, which was adopted:

Ward One.—E. H. Angier, D. E. Wadsworth, W. M. Packard.
Ward Two.—Joseph L. Whiton, Jr., Eugene R. Stone, George A. Sidelinger.
Ward Three.—George H. Field, Andrew Milne, Henry McGrath, Alexander Clark.

Ward Four.—W. E. Badger, J. C. Bailon, E. J. Sandberg, James H. Elocok.

Ward Five.—Frank E. Parlin, Frank A. Park, Dr. P. Thompson.
Ward Six.—Harry W. Read, Roger H. Wilde, Theodore Parker.
The new Hospital week was left with the general committee.

Public Field Day.

The rapid spread of the gypsy and brown talpids and the serious damage caused by these pests last summer has induced the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, through its Committee on Gardens, to hold a public Field Day for the aid of the citizens of the State. This meeting will be held at Arlington, Mass., Nov. 5th at 2 P. M., and will include a lecture by Professor A. H. Kirkland and a thorough demonstration of the best methods of dealing with these pests. There will be ample opportunity to see the pests as they occur in nature, while expert foresters will show the use of insecticides, spraying operations and other methods of work against these enemies of trees.

If any one wishes to know the habits of these insects and how best to fight them, he cannot spend a few hours more profitably than to attend this meeting. The making and use of the Line-Sulphur Wash for destroying the pine saw scale will also be shown and there will be a large and complete exhibit of spraying and insecticides. Arrangements have been made for the use of the Arlington Town Hall if the day should be stormy. As the meeting is free to all and as Arlington is easily reached both by train or electric cars, a large attendance is expected.

The Magazines.

The November St. Nicholas, No. 1 of Volume XXXII, is notable by virtue of the first chapters of L. Frank Baum's new serial, "Queen Zixi of Ix." Mr. Baum will be remembered as the author of "The Wizard of Oz" and other delightful absurdities, and this new story starts off so fascinatingly that every young reader will welcome the announcement that it is to run all through the year. The story is also notable for its illustrations, many of them in color. Very timely for a Thanksgiving-month issue is Leslie W. Quirk's "A Goal from the Field," another "Baby Elton" story. "Little X," by Winifred Kirkland, is a pretty story of life in a girls' school, with a sugar-coated moral. Bertha E. Bush has written of "A Roman Boy's Birthday." Isabel Gordon Curtis's "The Debut of Dan Webster" is exceedingly clever. The November St. Nicholas brings, too, the first of what promises to be a series of rarely instructive and valuable papers for young readers by the well-known art critic, Charles H. Caffin. The papers will be grouped under the heading, "How to Study Pictures." This month Mr. Caffin will give the two paintings, "The Madonna Enthroned," by Cimabue and Giotto, and the paintings of "The Virgin Enthroned," by Botticelli and Memling, tells of the differences out the likenesses and the differences between the two paintings, and in careful detail advises how to get the most and the best out of pictures. The same plan will be followed in other papers to come, and reproductions of the world's masterpieces will be used to point the moral and adorn the tale. The number seems to promise a full and rich year for that old yet always new favorite, St. Nicholas.

Anecdotes.

Jennie—Herbie, it says here another octogenarian's dead. What an octogenarian?

Herbie—Well, I don't know what that is, but they must be awful sly creatures. You never hear of 'em but they're dying.

Nell—So she's decided to be married on Friday.

Bell—But she says she notices that the papers always have more room to devote to weddings in their Saturday issues.

Throughout my whole life I have tried to be honest.

Don't let that worry you; you are not the first man who has failed of his aim in life.

"Well, Jimmie, how much did you put in the Sunday-school box today?"

"Ten cents," said Jimmie. "It was good to see you. Teacher gave me a card for being the most generous boy in the class, and I swapped it off for a postage stamp worth fifteen cents with Willie Wilkins."

Among the advertisements in a western paper there recently appeared the following:

The gentleman who found a purse with money in it on Bedford street, is requested to forward it to the address of the loser, as he was recognized.

A few days later the reply was inserted:

The recognized gentleman who picked up a purse in Bedford street requests the loser to call at his house.

Household Receipts.

Stuffed Smelts. Chop six large oysters, add one cup of soft bread crumbs, one tablespoonful of melted butter and salt and pepper to taste. Clean the smelts, fill with the mixture, sew the edges, roll in melted butter, then in soft bread crumbs, and bake in a moderate oven ten minutes. Serve with Maitre d'Hotel butter. Cream two tablespoonfuls butter, add juice of half a lemon or lime, and a teaspoonful of chopped parsley.

Delicious Cabbage. Take a medium-sized head of cabbage and cut it the same as for cold salad, and place it in a stewpan, with boiling water enough to cover it, add a teaspoonful of salt and boil half an hour; then drain off the water and add one-half cupful of good vinegar and a tablespoonful of sugar; then set it on the back part of the range, to keep hot until the dinner is served. Just before sending it to the table add half a cupful of rich cream.

Ham Salad. For ham salad, cold-boiled or baked, smoked ham is the best, although unsmoked may be used. Mix together and put into a fine dredger, a small quantity each of celery salt, cayenne and black pepper, white sugar and allspice. Shave the lean of the ham and squeeze lemon juice over the pieces, then lightly dredge them with the above mixture. Shave up some white onions and celery and put them in the salad bowl with a few white lettuce hearts. Add the ham, then pour several spoonfuls of oil over all and a dash of vinegar. Serve quickly.

Snowballs. Pour two cups boiling water on one cup well-washed rice, add one-half teaspoon salt, and cook in a double boiler thirty minutes, or until soft. Wring small pudding cloths (one-third yard square) out of hot water, and lay them over a small bowl (half-pint size). Spread the rice one-third inch thick over the cloth. Put into the center a small apple, pared and cored, or about one-third of a banana. Draw the cloth around till the fruit is covered smoothly with the rice. The shape is uniformly round. Tie tightly and drop them into boiling water. Cook ten minutes for bananas or any canned fruit, and thirty for apples. Remove the cloth, and serve with lemon sauce.

The City Scales.

Editors Quincy Patriot:
I was surprised to find in the records of the City Council meeting last week that the public scales question was still unsettled, and that it was thought desirable to locate them in City Square between the First church and the granite fountain.

I had supposed that the idea had been abandoned on account of the opposition to the location, and that the scales would be located in or near the freight yard on Granite street.

The feelings of a great many residents were outraged when the grand old elm shading the fountain was ruthlessly uprooted to make way for the proposed scales, and a fight was put up to prevent further disfigurement. It does not seem right that one man should have the power to go ahead on his own responsibility to disfigure the city.

There are some Quincy born and old residents of Quincy who still have a care for the beauties of the city and have some rights though City Hall officials do not seem to appreciate the fact. I hope the scales will rise up and once for all settle the public scale matter and have them located in a suitable place.

Quincy Real Estate Sales.

Among the recent transfers of Quincy property is an important sale of a portion of the Dorothy Q. estate near the high school to the State of Massachusetts for the Metropolitan parkway.

Fred B. Rice to Fred B. Rice et al. Sara E. D. Shortie to Elizabeth Shortie. Agnes Messier to Tony Batista.

Walter T. Fuller to Arthur D. McClellan. Wollaston Land Associates to James J. Naughton. James A. Donnelly to Annie M. Kelley. Charles C. Barton et al. to Anna C. Curtis. Charles F. Adams et al. to Joseph Casan et al.

The Magazines.

The November St. Nicholas, No. 1 of Volume XXXII, is notable by virtue of the first chapters of L. Frank Baum's new serial, "Queen Zixi of Ix." Mr. Baum will be remembered as the author of "The Wizard of Oz" and other delightful absurdities, and this new story starts off so fascinatingly that every young reader will welcome the announcement that it is to run all through the year. The story is also notable for its illustrations, many of them in color. Very timely for a Thanksgiving-month issue is Leslie W. Quirk's "A Goal from the Field," another "Baby Elton" story. "Little X," by Winifred Kirkland, is a pretty story of life in a girls' school, with a sugar-coated moral. Bertha E. Bush has written of "A Roman Boy's Birthday." Isabel Gordon Curtis's "The Debut of Dan Webster" is exceedingly clever. The November St. Nicholas brings, too, the first of what promises to be a series of rarely instructive and valuable papers for young readers by the well-known art critic, Charles H. Caffin. The papers will be grouped under the heading, "How to Study Pictures." This month Mr. Caffin will give the two paintings, "The Madonna Enthroned," by Cimabue and Giotto, and the paintings of "The Virgin Enthroned," by Botticelli and Memling, tells of the differences out the likenesses and the differences between the two paintings, and in careful detail advises how to get the most and the best out of pictures. The same plan will be followed in other papers to come, and reproductions of the world's masterpieces will be used to point the moral and adorn the tale. The number seems to promise a full and rich year for that old yet always new favorite, St. Nicholas.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

Castle Square Theatre.
The unprecedented interest shown by the patrons of the Castle Square Theatre in the production of the famous historical play, "When Knighthood was in Flower," has led the management of this popular playhouse to depart from the custom of new productions each week, for the first time this season, and continue this attraction throughout next week. The interest in this play has fully rewarded the large expenditure of time and money given to its production, and many extra people are engaged in the tableaux and groupings incidental to the production.

MAY BE FOUND AT OUR NEW STORE.
SANBORN & DAMON,
1428 Hancock Street
Quincy.

FOR GOVERNOR
WILLIAM L. DOUGLAS.

The Democrats of Massachusetts have nominated William L. Douglas of Brockton for Governor. The people will thus have an opportunity of electing as Governor one of the leading manufacturers of this country: a man of high character and convictions, and one who has built up in Massachusetts one of the most successful business enterprises in the world to the great direct gain of thousands of our people.

As few others, he represents the desire of our manufacturers for extended markets. He would secure for them free raw materials for their industries, and he would fittingly represent, as chief executive, the people as a whole. He stands forth as the best exponent of the great business issue confronting our people—reciprocity with Canada. The Republican position in Canadian reciprocity is not a friendly one. To be sure, at the recent Republican convention a plank in its favor was voted for in the platform at the point of the bayonet, but this was done not through any love of reciprocity on the part of the Republican leaders, but rather from fear that the 60,000 Republicans who demanded such a plank might otherwise vote the Democratic ticket. The Republican leaders love reciprocity as a slave loves the lash of the master. The election once over they will fall back to their natural position of opposition to any and all treaties or laws which in the slightest degree will lower Dingley taxes. If you want a trade treaty with Canada, higher wages, more work and real prosperity, VOTE FOR ALTON B. PARKER FOR PRESIDENT. VOTE FOR WILLIAM L. DOUGLAS FOR GOVERNOR.

Spoons and Forks.
STERLING SILVER.
Substantial Weights. Choice Patterns. Plain or Ornamented.
Prices based upon a low fixed value per ounce.
SMITH PATTERSON COMPANY
Wholesale and Retail Jewellers,
52 Summer St., BOSTON.

Burdett Colleges
BUSINESS AND SHORTHAND
BOSTON
REMOVED TO 18 Boylston St.,
Washington St.
Continental Clothing Building.
More Elegantly Equipped School in New England.
Pat. Actual Business. Same Courses and Methods as at Burdett College. Tuition at Slightly Lower Rate for Teachers.
LYNN
Opp. B. & M. Station.
Planned to accommodate 500 Students. Only Commercial School in N. E. offering it occupies.
Situations for Students. Pupils may begin on and after Sept. 6. Call or Write for Prospectus. No Solicitors nor Canvasers.

ILLS OF CHILDHOOD
Liver, stomach and bowel complaints, blood disorders, feverishness, nervousness, and the irritating and debilitating condition known as "Dr. True's Elixir."
It is a wonderful tonic and builder of flesh and muscle. Makes weakly children strong and robust. For over 25 years used and praised by mothers everywhere. At each of our drug stores.
Write for free. Dr. J. F. True, 100 N. 3rd St., New York, N. Y.

If You Wish to be SURE
of first class work at honest prices, consult us in all branches of Plumbing and Heating.
We are confident of our ability to satisfy, and our well known reputation and 30 years' experience in the business, is sufficient guarantee.
We carry a full line of MAGEE RANGES.
Drop in and we will show you how they are superior to all others.

Kitchen Furnishing Goods, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Brushes, Glazes, Tools, Vegetables and Flower Seeds, Poultry and Chickens, Netting, Screen Wire, Nails, Oil Stoves, Lamps, etc., etc.
MAY BE FOUND AT OUR NEW STORE.
SANBORN & DAMON,
1428 Hancock Street
Quincy.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CHOLERA, DYSENTERY, AND ALL THE BILIOUS AFFECTIONS OF THE DIGESTIVE TRACT.
CONSUMPTION.

C. H. TOWER,
UPHOLSTERER.
CARPETS taken up, Cleaned and Repaired.
FURNITURE Upholstered and Repaired.
HAIR MATTRESSES made over and made to order.
Full line of latest coverings to select from.
Send postal or telephone for estimates.
Telephone, 64-4 Quincy.
Address 182 Howard street, Quincy Point.
August 10.

25,000 New Words
are added in the last edition of Webster's International Dictionary. The Cassette of the World, and the Biographical Dictionary have been completely revised. The International is kept always abreast of the times. It takes constant work, expensive work and worry, but it is the only way to keep the dictionary up to date.
STANDARD AUTHORITY of the English-speaking world. Other dictionaries follow, Webster leads. It is the favorite with Judges, Scholars, Educators, Printers, etc., in this and foreign countries.
A postal card will bring you interesting specimen pages, etc.
G. & C. MERRIAM COMPANY,

The Quincy Patriot.

Sixty-Eighth Year.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1904.

SINGLE COPIES 5 CENTS.

FOR SALE AT
The Patriot Office,
Quincy,
H. F. Kittredge,
City Square,
J. P. O'Brien,
C. P. Carline,
Miss E. M. Freeman,
Sprague & Hobart,
Quincy Post Office,
Thomas & Garvey,
Norfolk Downs,
Branches & Martens,
W. E. Nightingale,
W. H. Doble & Co.,
Henry Green,
Mrs. Lark's Store,
William Clark,
South Terminal Station,
Fred J. Muller,
N. E. Foster,
G. H. Hunt,
Arthur Dunham,
Norfolk Downs,
Quincy Adams,
South Quincy,
West Quincy,
Brewer's Corner,
East Milton,
Boston,
Neponset,
Braintree,
East Weymouth,
Houghs Neck.

Poetry.

It is You and I.

ALFRED J. WATERHOUSE

A fool there was in the days of old,
And, faith! he wasn't the last on earth
Who hatched his place and his fortune sold
For a mess of pottage of dubious worth.
He wasn't the last of his kind, I say,
For ever and aye, as the seasons run
And the gray earth whirles in its old way,
A sage is a rarity under the sun.

Who is it hatches his soul for naught?
Stand in your place, or low or high—
Who is it falls when to stand he thought?
Join in confusion: It's you and I.
Who is it stumbles and falls and fails?
Bowing to error, yet loving the truth?
Who when the Wrong wears a crownet quails?
Tears for confusion: It's I and you.

Whose are the lips that a prayer have framed,
Only in living to give it the way?
Who is the one who is not ashamed,
Knowing the truth, with Error to stray?
Who has forgotten his youth's fair dream,
The armies of Evil to meet and defy?
Who has but learned to plan and to scheme?
Alas, for the wreckage! It's you and I.

A fool there was in the days of old,
And, faith! he wasn't the last on earth
Who hatched his place and his fortune sold
For a mess of pottage of dubious worth.
He wasn't the last of his kind, I say,
For ever and aye, as the seasons run
And the gray earth whirles in its old way,
A sage is a rarity under the sun.

Notes and Comments.

Any citizen who changes his place of residence between now and Tuesday, November 8, must forfeit his right to vote at the polls on that date. The law requires that every voter shall have been for thirty days a resident of the district in which he would vote.

The New York, New Haven & Hartford road carried into Boston during the past twelve months 29,948,325 passengers, an increase of 882,613 over the previous year. This beats the number carried by the Boston & Maine road by over 700,000. Heretofore the Boston & Maine has led.

Those Democrats and Free Traders who would give up our present policy of protecting our own industries and building up our home market, should have their attention called as frequently as possible to the great success which this country has made under this policy inaugurated and maintained by the Republican party, with the exception of only two years, during the past generation and more. The United States today, with only 7 per cent. of the area, and only 2 per cent. of the population of the world, owns 25 per cent. of the wealth; has 23 per cent. of its gold, 30 per cent. of its railroad mileage and 42 per cent. of its steel production. On the other hand, we have only 1-12 per cent. of the world's debt, and never in the past century has the population of this country made under this policy increased our debt, but on the contrary has constantly reduced it; while the record of the Democratic party shows that it has even in time of peace increased our debt and that the new tax demands upon the country to be met by future generations.—Old Colony Memorial.

One woman who attended the Brookline fair didn't care to pay the customer's admission fee, so she went to a bakery, purchased a loaf of bread and then went in free as an exhibitor.
To carry out the plan she journeyed to the exhibition hall and placed the bread in the home-made department. The loaf was accepted and won a prize as the best home-made bread. She paid 10 cents for the loaf and saved 40 thereby on her ticket. Add this to the cash prize and there was a nice profit. And yet they say women have no head for business.—Hingham Journal.

As regards to the political campaign in Massachusetts, there is probably no expectation of electing the Democratic candidate for Governor, and the withdrawal of Congressman Thayer in the Worcester district is likely to give the late Senator Hoar's son a walk-over and thus reduce by one the Democratic representation in Congress. Unquestionably, there will be a large vote cast. If we may judge by the vigor with which the work of registration has been conducted, it should be a very large vote. * * * —Boston Courier.

The recent adoption of coke instead of coal for use on the locomotives on the New York and Albany line has been hailed with delight by residents of towns and villages along the line.

The Telegram in a recent issue had the following characteristic drive at the bucket shops: "New York exchanges, as well as the exchange in other cities are willing to break up the bucket shop. It is a commonplace move. The bucket shop, next to the policy game, is the meanest and the crookedest form of gambling that is known. No stock, nor the possibility of obtaining stock, passes to those who play it. It is a scheme from beginning to end to deceive. The winners are for the most part made by cappers, and the innocent outsider is speedily stripped of his roll. If the exchanges can stop this form of gambling it will do great good. Practically all the defaulting gamblers and thieves who rob their employers' tills, give an excuse that they lost the money in a bucket shop. Men have used money entrusted to them for widows and orphans. Boys have robbed their fathers and mothers. Men have used their wages, when they were in sympathy with the man who does better, regardless of the consequences."
—The Pilot.

A man in Plymouth was fined $100 last week for having in his possession 19 dead robins ($10 each). A woman in New Bedford was fined $70 on Monday for having in her possession 14 short lobsters ($5 each), but who pays the fine for shooting in Weymouth on Sundays. There was no locality exempt last Sunday, the shooting extended from "Hockley" to the "Thicket" and Sunday killed game went to Boston Monday morning.—Weymouth Transcript.

The public schools of Boston have opened this year with the largest registration known in the first school month.
It stands close upon 95,000 in the regular day schools, which probably means that before the school year closes next June there will be a round 100,000 on the lists. This great army of school children forms the reserve of our citizenship. They are the coming rulers of the city, the state, the nation, the makers of history and the makers of homes. The destiny of our people, in the future years will be in their hands. It is upon their energy and enterprise that our trade and commerce will depend. It is to their integrity and steadfast principle that we must look for the maintenance of the honorable traditions of our people. An interesting and significant feature of this record is the large increase in the membership of the high schools.
Nearly 1200 more than last year, girls and boys, are attending these schools today. That is to say, there are more than ever before engaged in the advanced studies, a goodly number of them fitting for college or entrance into technical schools. It indicates an advance in the general level of popular education.—Boston Courier.

The lawn mower has been put away for the winter, and it is the rake that is now in use trying to keep the lawn free from leaves.

The United States Government has decided to establish eighty-two wireless telegraph stations. The start will be made in Maine and the stations will extend to Alaska. There is nothing backward about Uncle Sam.

As a result of the fire last week, which destroyed the Alden, Walker & Wilde shoe factory in Middleboro, that excellent industry will be lost to the town, as the firm has decided not to rebuild or sell a factory in Middleboro.
They will locate in North Weymouth, and will remove at once. The Torrey, Curtis & Tirrell factory in that town will be occupied, and the firm will have a finely equipped plant nearly double the size of that burned. The North Weymouth firm have been established nearly half a century, and make a high grade shoe that retails for $5 and is favorably known to the trade. Alden, Walker & Wilde have purchased their business, and will combine the manufacture of the more expensive shoe with their regular line. They will increase their output to a considerable degree, it is stated.—Hingham Journal.

The wild ducks have shed their feathers earlier than usual, and there is more than the usual amount of down under their feathers. Hence, expect an early, cold and disagreeable winter, says
the weather-wise man.

The campaign of 1904 will go into history as the tamest on record. Here it is only a little more than a week before election, and there has been absolutely no spectacular demonstration, no firing of the popular heart, even no disturbance of business. Men have gone on with their affairs as if nothing unusual were happening or about to happen.
There has been no red fire burned, no torchlight processions, very few mass meetings and only a few scattered local raillies.

How the immigration question in America looks to wise and thoughtful outsiders was told by the Archbishop of Canterbury in his sermon in Trinity church recently. "We, in England," said the Archbishop, "see and know that you in the United States are called to face with problems bewildering in their greatness and complexity. No nation in the world's history has had to deal with such a gigantic and continuous transfer to its own shores of the peoples of other lands, peoples of diverse creeds and tongues, in different stages of civilization. These have got to be assimilated and combined and nationalized. The process must be worked out speedily if harm and confusion are not to ensue."

Second Andrew Jackson.

Except for the party label, Theodore Roosevelt is an ideal American Democrat of the old-fashioned type. He is a man who is never afraid to take the responsibility. Andrew Jackson himself did not seek such a position, but he promptly took the present Executive stipulated the great coal strike, of his own initiative. The arrogant coal barons would neither retreat from their lofty positions nor accept any compromise.
They had "nothing to arbitrate."
They were very willing to arbitrate after a short interview with the strenuous President.

The politicians of Colombia, more sinuous than strenuous, haggled over the terms of a canal site at Panama.
They, by the way, were their only right of conquest, and when its policy seemed no other way of relief from the greedy law makers of the State declared their independence, and there was every prospect of another long and bloody Central American revolution, the modern Andrew Jackson promptly settled the matter, for the good of Panama, with no actual injury to Colombia, and to the lasting welfare of the United States and the civilized world.

His motto is that of David Crockett,
"Be sure you are right, then go ahead." He is one who would always rather be right than President. Hence he is and will be both. There is not a man in North or South, who does not feel the red blood in his veins beat in sympathy with the man who does better, regardless of the consequences.
—The Pilot.

Helping Women.

The Massachusetts Woman's Trade Union league for bringing unemployed women and girls from Fall River, and finding them positions in domestic service. Places have already been found for eighty-five girls, and the experiment is proving very successful. The girls send money back to Fall River each week, to relieve the distressing poverty at their homes. The League needs money to meet the expenses of transportation and lodging. Contributions may be sent to Mrs. Mary Morton Kehew, Treasurer, 264 Boylston street,
Boston, Mass.

Always Remember the Full Name
of the
Cures a Cold in One Day, or Cough in 2 Days E. M. Brown, on every box, 25c

PRESIDENT JOHN ADAMS AND ABIGAIL ADAMS.

John Adams.

John Adams.
Born Oct. 19, 1735.
Married Oct. 25, 1764.
Was delegate at convention for formation of State government, 1779.
Became first Vice President of United States, April 30, 1793.
Elected second President of the United States, March 4, 1797.
Died July 4, 1826.

Abigail Adams.
Born Nov. 11, 1744.
Married Oct. 25, 1764.
Gave birth to a future President,
July 11, 1776.
Sailed for London to Court of St.
James, June 1784.
Became first Mistress of "White House" at Washington, 1800.
Died Oct. 28, 1818.

Abigail Adams.

The last of October and early November were eventful days for President and Mrs. John Adams of Quincy. Both of their birthday anniversaries came in this period within a month of each other, and about midway between their marriage anniversary, and also the death anniversary of Mrs. Adams, 1817.
For over fifty-four years Mr. and Mrs. Adams enjoyed the marriage relation, and were prominent in the affairs of Quincy, of the United States, and while at the White House and the Court of St. James, with the affairs of the world.

When it is remembered that the first raillies was not established in the United States until Oct. 7, 1826 (another October event in Quincy)—after the death of both President and Mrs.
Adams, one realizes what it meant to make frequent trips to New York, Philadelphia and Washington, and to Europe by sailing vessels.

Last Tuesday was the 140th anniversary of the marriage, and the date was well observed by the Quincy Historical Society at the birthplaces of the Presidents, two old houses on Franklin street which have been preserved as originally. The northerly house in which John Adams was born is now the headquarters of Adams chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, while the southerly house in which Mr. and Mrs.
John Adams lived later, and where President John Quincy Adams was born, is the headquarters of the Historical society. In both are many relics and the public may visit the houses at any time.

The following brief sketch of the life of Abigail Adams, is taken from the memoir by her grandson, Charles Francis Adams, which prefaces the published volume of her letters.

There were few persons of her day and generation who derived their origin or imbedded their character, more exclusively from the genuine stock of the Massachusetts Puritan settlers than Abigail Smith.

Her father, the Rev. William Smith, was the settled minister of the Congregational church at Weymouth, for more than forty years, and until his death. Her mother, Elizabeth Quincy, was the granddaughter of the Rev.
John Norton, long the pastor of a church of the same denomination in the neighboring town of Hingham, and the nephew of John Norton, well known in the annals of the colony.

Her maternal grandfather, John Shepard, was the grandson of Thomas Shepard, minister of Charlestown, distinguished in his day, and the son of the more distinguished Thomas Shepard, died by Miss Anne Ryden and Miss
Ellen Nordquist, declamation by C. R.
Wallin and singing by a choir from the confirmation classes.

The sermon was by Rev. Dr. C. A.
Ewald who spoke from these words
"What does it profit a man if he gain
the world, but loses his soul."
Coffee and refreshments were served.

Lutheran Reunion.

A reunion of all the confirmation classes of the Swedish Lutheran church in the neighborhood of Hingham, was held at the church on Granite street, and was largely attended. During the first part of the evening there was a pleasing literary and musical program. This included a dialogue by Miss Catharina Hultin and Miss Josephine Larson, dinet by Miss Anne Ryden and Miss
Ellen Nordquist, declamation by C. R.
Wallin and singing by a choir from the
confirmation classes.

The sermon was by Rev. Dr. C. A.
Ewald who spoke from these words
"What does it profit a man if he gain
the world, but loses his soul."
Coffee and refreshments were served.

reach of females was probably very short.
She did not enjoy an opportunity to acquire even such as there might have been, for the delicate state of her health forbade the idea of sending her away from home to obtain them. In a letter written to her husband, from a life of dread, speaking of her own deficiencies, she says: "My early education did not partake of the abundant opportunities which the present days offer, and which even our common country schools afford. I never was sent to any school, I was always self-taught. Female education, in the best families, went no further than writing and arithmetic, in some few and rare instances, music and dancing."

The fact that she never went to any school, is a very important one to a proper estimate of her character.
At the house of Colonel John Quincy at Mt. Wollaston, and under the instruction of his wife, her grandmother, she appears to have imbibed most of the lessons which made the deepest impression upon her mind.

She was married on the 25th of October, 1764. The two years immediately following appears to have been a quiet and very happy life, having her residence at Braintree or Boston.
Within this period she became the mother of a daughter and three sons.

In June, 1768, she sailed from Boston on a merchant vessel bound for London, to join her husband. From a life of the utmost retirement, in a small and quiet country town of New England, she was at once transferred to the busy and bustling scenes of the populous and wealthy cities of Europe. She was the first representative of her sex in the United States at the Court of Great Britain. The return to the United States was simultaneous with the adoption of the present Constitution. At the time of her husband's election to the Presidency, her health which had never been very firm began decidedly to fail. Her residence in Philadelphia had subjected her to an attack of an intermittent fever from the effects of which she was never afterwards perfectly free.

From the year 1801 down to the day of her death, which happened on the 28th of October, 1818, she remained uninterruptedly at her home in Quincy.
Her old age was not one of grief and repining, of clouds and darkness. Her cheerfulness continued, with the full possession of her faculties, to the last;
and her sunny spirit enlivened the small social circle around her, brightened the solitary hours of her husband, and spread the influence of its example over the town where she lived.

The obsequies of Mrs. Adams were attended by a great concourse of people, who voluntarily came to pay this last tribute to her memory. The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Kirkland, then president of Harvard University, which closed with a delicate and affecting testimony of her worth.

Anecdotes.

Jennie—Herbie, it says here another octogenarian's dead. What's an octo-genarian?
Herbie—Well, I don't know what they are, but they must be awful silly creatures. You never hear of 'em but they're dying.

Nell—So she's decided to be married on Friday, eh? That's awfully unkind.
Bell—But she says she notices that the papers always have more room to devote to weddings in their Saturday issues.

Throughout my whole life I have tried to be honest.
The gentleman who found a purse with money in it on Burford street, is requested to forward it to the address of the loser, as he was recognized.
A few days later the reply was inserted:
The recognized gentleman who picked up the purse on Burford street requests the loser to call at his house.

Public Field Day.

The rapid spread of the gypsy and brown tail moths and the serious damage caused by these pests last summer has induced the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, through its Committee on Gardens, to hold a public Field day for the aid of the citizens of the State.
This meeting will be held at Arlington,
Mass., Nov. 5th at 2 P. M., and will include a lecture by Professor A.
H. Kirkland and a thorough demonstration of the best methods for destroying these pests. There will be ample opportunity to see the pests as they occur in nature, while expert foresters
will show the use of insecticides,
spraying operations and other methods
of work against these enemies of trees.
If any one wishes to learn the habits of these insects and how best to fight
them, he cannot spend a few hours more profitably than to attend this meeting. The making and use of the Lime-Sulphur Wash for destroying the San Jose Scale will also be shown, and there will be a large and complete exhibit of spraying and insecticides.
Arrangements have been made for the use of the Arlington Town Hall if the day should be stormy. As the meeting is held in the afternoon, it is easily reached both by train or electric cars,
a large attendance is expected.

To evade the rule against carrying animals in Pullman cars, a New Jersey woman dressed her pet dog in baby's clothes, tied a well over his head, and escaped detection by the conductor.
The strong family resemblance made detection unlikely.

The careless apple from the United States and Canada is the latest sensation in the fruit markets of England.

Quincy Real Estate Sales.

Among the recent transfers of Quincy
property is an important sale of a portion of the Dorothy Q. estate near
the High school to the State of Massachusetts for the Metropolitan parkway.

Fred B. Rice to Fred B. Rice et al.
Sara E. D. Shortle to Elizabeth Shortle.
Agnes McNeil to Tony Baiton.
Fred C. Tobey to William H. London.
Elias A. Perkins to William C. Moffat, $225.
Harlow H. Rogers to Susan R. Cook.
Walter H. Rogers to George E. Wiley.
George A. Richards to Channing W. Willis.
Walter T. Fuller to Abner L. Baker.
Walter T. Fuller to Arthur D. McCallan.
Wollaston Land Associates to James J.
Naughton.
James A. Donnelly to Annie M. Kelley.
Charles C. Barton et al. to Anna C. Curtis.
Charles F. Adams et al. to Joseph Casan et al.

The City Scales.

Editors Quincy Patriot:
I was surprised to find in the records
of the City Council meeting last week that the public scales question was still unsettled, and that it was thought desirable to locate them in City Square between the First Church and
the granite fountain.
I had supposed that the idea had been abandoned on account of the opposition to the location, and that the scales
would be located in or near the freight
yard on Granite street.
The feelings of a great many residents were outraged when the grand old elm tree shading the fountain was ruthlessly uprooted to make way for the proposed scales, and a fight was put up to prevent further displacement. It does not seem right that one man should have the power to go ahead on his own responsibility to disfigure the city.
There are some Quincy born and old residents of Quincy who still have a care for the beauties of the city and have some rights though City Hall
officials do not seem to appreciate the fact. I hope our people will rise up and once for all settle the public scale matter and have them located in a suitable place.
L.

Household Receipts.

Stuffed Smelts. Chop six large smelts, add one cup of soft breadcrumbs, one tablespoonful of melted butter and salt and pepper to taste.
Clean the smelts, fill with the mixture,
sew the edges, roll in melted butter, then in soft breadcrumbs, and bake in a moderate oven ten minutes. Serve with Maitre d'Hotel butter. Cream two tablespoonfuls butter, add juice of half a lemon or lime, and a teaspoonful of chopped parsley.

Delicious Cabbage. Take a medium-sized head of cabbage and cut it the same as for cold slaw, and place it in a stewpan, with boiling water enough to cover it; add a teaspoonful of salt and boil half an hour; then drain off the water and add one-half cupful of good vinegar and a tablespoonful of sugar; then set it on the back part of the range, to keep hot until the dinner is served. Just before sending it to the table add half a cupful of rich cream.

Ham Salad. For ham salad, cold-boiled or baked, smoked ham is the best, although unsmoked may be used.
Mix together and put into a fine dredger, a small quantity each of celery salt, cayenne and black pepper, white sugar and allspice. Shave the lean of the ham and squeeze lemon juice over the pieces, then lightly dredge them with the above mixture. Shave up some white onions and celery and put them in the salad bowl with a few white lettuce hearts. Add the ham then, pour several spoonfuls of oil over all and a dash of vinegar. Serve quickly.

Snowballs. Pour two cups boiling water into a cup well-washed, add one-half teaspoon salt, and cook in a double boiler thirty minutes, or until soft. Wring small pudding cloths (one-third yard square) out of hot water, and lay them over a small bowl (half-pint size). Spread the one-third inch thick over the cloth. Put into the center a small apple, pared and cored, or about one-third of a banana. Draw the cloth around till the fruit is covered smoothly with the rice and shape uniformly round. Tie the corners and drop them into boiling water. Cook ten minutes for bananas or any canned fruit, and thirty for apples. Remove the cloth, and serve with lemon sauce.

Hospital Meeting.

The inclement weather prevented as large an attendance as usual at the meeting in Colonial hall for the annual Hospital week collections.
President William B. Rice presided, and after the records of previous meetings had been read, R. D. Chase the treasurer gave a brief outline of the financial standing of the corporation.

The income for the year would be about $10,000. The expenditures have usually been something like $12,000 but they would be a little larger this year.
Up to Oct. 1, $9,000 had been expended, and as there was $1500 in unpaid bills he thought the expenditures of the year would amount to about $13,500 so that it would be necessary to raise $3, 500 more.

President Rice said the meeting was called to provide the machinery to go through the work this year. It ought to be easier this year, as the names of all those who had contributed last year had been reserved. If $3,500 had been collected, the $1,000 raised by the ladies could be used to reduce the indebtedness.

Dr. Gordon thought the custom of collections of the past few years a good one. We have had more patients this year than last but not so many paying ones.

Upon motion, James F. Burke was elected a chairman of the general committee on collections.

Mr. Burke with Fred B. Rice and N.
G. Nickerson were appointed a committee to revise and bring in a list of chairmen from the several wards.

While they were out Frank E. Parlin superintendent of schools, was called upon. Mr. Parlin said this was the first meeting of the kind he had attended. He regarded the Hospital as one of the best forms of benevolence the city had. One that should appeal to every citizen. As the good work becomes more generally known the contributions will be larger and easier to collect. It had his hearty support in thought and effort.

President Rice believed the people would take care of the Hospital. What we need is a duplicate of such work as Mr. Parlin can give us. When the needs are brought home to the people, as he could bring them, we shall get abundant funds. He hoped the endowment fund would increase so that the house-to-house collections would be unnecessary. He believed it better that the money needed come from the general public than from one individual.

Treasurer Chase said we have a right to expect things will eventually run more easily. There seems to be something of an indifferent growth. There are important matters in this work that are neglected unless the people are aroused. It is usually overcome by agitation. The energy and the work of the hospital is not brought before the people. A more frequent and briefer report would be better. It would seem strange if 5,000 voters could not provide $5,000. Possibly some other method than the present might be better.

The committee reported the following as chairmen from the several wards,
which was adopted:
Ward One, — E. H. Angier, D. E.
Wadsworth, W. M. Packard.
Ward Two, — Joseph L. Whiton, Jr.,
Eugene H. Stone, George A. Sidelinger.
Ward Three, — George H. Field, Andrew Milne, Henry McGrath, Alexander Clark.
Ward Four, — W. E. Badger, J. C.
Bailou, E. J. Sandberg, James H.
Klocek.
Ward Five, — Frank E. Parlin, Frank
A. Page, Dr. A. P. Thompson.
Ward Six, — Harry W. Read, Roger H.
Wilde, Theodore Parker.
The day of the Hospital week was left with the general committee.

Public Field Day.

The rapid spread of the gypsy and
brown tail moths and the serious damage
caused by these pests last summer has induced the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, through its Committee on Gardens, to hold a public Field day for
the aid of the citizens of the State.
This meeting will be held at Arlington,
Mass., Nov. 5th at 2 P. M., and will include a lecture by Professor A.
H. Kirkland and a thorough demonstration of the best methods for destroying these pests. There will be ample opportunity to see the pests as they occur in nature, while expert foresters
will show the use of insecticides,
spraying operations and other methods
of work against these enemies of trees.
If any one wishes to learn the habits of
these insects and how best to fight
them, he cannot spend a few hours more profitably than to attend this meeting. The making and use of the Lime-Sulphur Wash for destroying the San Jose Scale will also be shown, and
there will be a large and complete
exhibit of spraying and insecticides.
Arrangements have been made for the use of the Arlington Town Hall if the day should be stormy. As the meeting
is held in the afternoon, it is easily
reached both by train or electric cars,
a large attendance is expected.

Quincy Real Estate Sales.

Among the recent transfers of Quincy
property is an important sale of a portion of the Dorothy Q. estate near
the High school to the State of Massachusetts for the Metropolitan parkway.

Fred B. Rice to Fred B. Rice et al.
Sara E. D. Shortle to Elizabeth Shortle.
Agnes McNeil to Tony Baiton.
Fred C. Tobey to William H. London.
Elias A. Perkins to William C. Moffat, $225.
Harlow H. Rogers to Susan R. Cook.
Walter H. Rogers to George E. Wiley.
George A. Richards to Channing W. Willis.
Walter T. Fuller to Abner L. Baker.
Walter T. Fuller to Arthur D. McCallan.
Wollaston Land Associates to James J.
Naughton.
James A. Donnelly to Annie M. Kelley.
Charles C. Barton et al. to Anna C. Curtis.
Charles F. Adams et al. to Joseph Casan et al.

The City Scales.

Editors Quincy Patriot:
I was surprised to find in the records
of the City Council meeting last week
that the public scales question was still unsettled, and that it was thought
desirable to locate them in City Square between the First Church and
the granite fountain.
I had supposed that the idea had been abandoned on account of the opposition
to the location, and that the scales
would be located in or near the freight
yard on Granite street.
The feelings of a great many residents were outraged when the grand old elm tree shading the fountain was ruthlessly uprooted to make way for the proposed scales, and a fight was put up
to prevent further displacement. It does not seem right that one man should have the power to go ahead on his own
responsibility to disfigure the city.
There are some Quincy born and old
residents of Quincy who still have a care for the beauties of the city and
have some rights though City Hall
officials do not seem to appreciate
the fact. I hope our people will rise up and once for all settle the public scale
matter and have them located in a suitable place.
L.

FIVE CENTS PER COPY: $2.50 PER YEAR

Furniture Packed.
Office, 64 Washington Street.
Quincy P. O. address, Lock Box 3.
Telephone Connections.

BADGER BROTHERS,
Granite Dealers and Machinists. Monumental Work of all Descriptions. Celebrated Ashland Emery for sale. West Quincy.

If used when the first symptoms appear you may ward off the attack altogether.

Ask at our four stores only for

Jaynes' Asthma Cure
10 ounces, 35c.      20 ounces, 60c.

It does all we claim or we refund the money

Jaynes' Quality is highest Quality—prices are lowest.
All our goods are sold direct from wholesaler and manufacturer to consumer—we are from 25 to 30 per cent. over cost on every purchase you make at Jaynes' and are guaranteed satisfaction or your money back.

JAYNE & CO.
(CASH-MARK)

80 Washington St., cor. Hanover, 145 Summer St., cor. South 877 Washington St., opp. U.S. 129 Summer St.

BOSTON, MASS.

WE GIVE S. & H. GREEN TRADING STAMPS

147 Summer Street, Boston, Mass.
REGILDING, RESTORING, PASSE PARTOUT.
 Formerly Lincoln Street Art Store.
 Oct. 4

The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Fitch

The youngest one would call out "Muzzer, oh, muzzer," and then the other three on the porch would come in like a chorus, "Mother, hello, mother!" and then they would all

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.
Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE Tablet.
All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure.
E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c.

147 Summer Street, Boston, Mass.
REGILDING, RESTORING, PASSE PARTOUT.
 Formerly Lincoln Street Art Store.
 Oct. 4

The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Fitch

The youngest one would call out "Muzzer, oh, muzzer," and then the other three on the porch would come in like a chorus, "Mother, hello, mother!" and then they would all

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.
Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE Tablet.
All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure.
E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c.

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1904.

Masonic Election.

Rural lodge of Masons is having an era of prosperity since moving into its new lodge rooms in the court house building. The annual communication was held Thursday evening and the report showed 235 members, a net gain of 18 the past year and 26 in two years. The furnishings of the new lodge room cost about $300 but in the general fund, and a good sum in its charity fund.

The following officers were elected: W. M., Joseph P. Prout, S. W., H. L. White, J. W., Charles Sampson, T., Walter L. Jones, S., Fred E. Simmons.

It was voted to have a public installation of the new officers on Nov. 16. The only guests on this date will be the Grand officers and the masters and wardens of this Masonic district.

A committee on entertainment was appointed and it is proposed to have several social gatherings this winter with the ladies as guests.

The lodge also has considerable work ahead, six candidates being elected at the meeting.

The master-elect, Mr. Prout, is a young man and an enthusiastic Mason. He has the cooperation of active officers and the coming year should be a prosperous one for the lodge. H. T. Pierce, the retiring master, entertained the officers of the lodge who have worked with him so faithfully during his three years, at a banquet at Hotel Greenleaf early in the evening. A fine menu was spread, and it was a social occasion.

Governor Bates on "Overtime."

Ever since Governor Bates vetoed the so-called "overtime" bill last June, his action on that measure has been savagely denounced by labor leaders and in resolutions of labor conventions a crime against the toiling masses. Until last Saturday afternoon the governor has been content to let justification rest on his veto message, but judging from his speech before the Republican Editorial Association he has been saving up ammunition for a head-on attack. He showed that the running of textile mills after 6 P. M. is practically confined to cases where time has been lost through breakage of machinery and the enforced shutdown for repairs, or where certain departments now and then have to overrun to supply material needed by the other departments. "I found," says the governor, "that where mills turn a department in the evening it is run with entirely different hands from those that are employed in the day time." Further, not one of the advocates of the bill, most of whom came from Fall River, could name a single case where in the last two years a mill in that city had been run later than seven o'clock, and those that ran after six at all were very few.

The entire amount of evening work in the 188 cotton mills of the state in 1903 was 200 hours, or the equivalent of one mill running one hour and 6 minutes per mill. From the beginning of 1904 down to date, 148 hours represents all the operation after 6 P. M. in these 188 mills, or 40 minutes each—less than 5 minutes per month. These figures do not mean the average daily overrun, but the total amount of overtime during the period named. The larger expense to a manufacturer in running his mills at night acts as a natural restraint on evening work except for the emergency purposes referred to, and the governor found no sufficient reason for closing these avenues of occasional relief to the mill owners when no resulting hardship to labor had been shown in any quarter. Nine successive Legislatures had debated the same measure, and the special commission headed by Carroll D. Wright, on relations between employer and employee, unanimously refused to recommend it, although one of the members was an out-and-out representative of labor.

As the law stands, mills cannot be run between 10 P. M. and 6 A. M., and no employee can be kept at work more than ten hours in any one day, or more than a total of 58 per week. Even the little night work done, therefore, must be made up to the operative in "time off" during the week, in cases of breakage delays, where different help entirely is not employed for the overtime. Until something is done in this time matter it can hardly be kept alive as an industrial issue, much less a political one. Editorial from Boston Transcript, October 17.

City Hospital.

Hospital week this year begins Wednesday, November 9th and lasts until Wednesday, Nov. 16th. This annual house to house collection in aid of the City Hospital will be in charge of Mr. James F. Burke of Ward 4 as general chairman while the other wards are in charge of Mr. Delevante, Ward 1; Mr. Arthur W. Newcomb, Ward 2; Mr. John R. Richards, Ward 3; Mr. F. A. Page, Ward 5. The Ward 6 chairman still to be decided upon.

With a large number of assistant collectors these gentlemen will visit every house in the city during hospital week as they will be paid $2500 to pay its bills this year it is hoped the citizens will greet the collectors with generous contributions. The best evidence of the worthiness of the cause is the evidence of all who have been patients at the hospital.

Prize Chrysanthemums.

James Nicol of Coddington street who is exhibiting at the chrysanthemum show this week in Boston has again been fortunate in securing prizes although he had to compete with a large field. Mr. Nicol had three exhibits and was awarded two first prizes, one for a bunch of six cut flowers, the Mrs. Jerome Jones, a beautiful white chrysanthemum; and the other for twelve distinct colors in six-inch pots. He did not receive a prize for his third exhibit but feels more than satisfied with what he did receive.

Full Vote Wanted.

The railroads of Massachusetts have issued orders to the town and city political committees whereby voters may secure round-trip tickets for one fare. It is required that a voter shall present at the railroad station where the ticket is purchased a certificate from the secretary of the committee, that he is a legal voter at the place of destination. If you know of Quincy voters who are not doing this, please contact G. T. Westland at Republic headquarters the necessary certificates to forward to them.

CITY BRIEFS.

Mrs. Cushing Lane of Goffe street is in New York for a few days.

The Merrymount magazine club has organized for the ensuing year.

Mrs. George W. Turner is spending a few days with relatives in Holliston.

Lewis Elia, clerk in the Quincy post-office, is enjoying an 18 days' vacation.

Miss Esther Walling of Boston was the guest of friends in Quincy over Sunday.

Leo T. Moran has accepted a position as wireman at the Charlestown navy yard.

Invite all your friends to the launching of the battleship New Jersey at Quincy next week Thursday.

Mrs. Kate A. Hayden has been entertaining her sister, Mrs. Smith, of Newmarket, N. H., the past few days.

Mrs. L. C. Hewson of Newcomb place, has been entertaining her mother, Mrs. White, of Haverhill, the past week.

Miss Lizette Gilbert of South Braintree is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Fernald of Edwards street for a few days.

William Davenport of Newark, N. J., is visiting his daughter, Mrs. George W. Turner of Quincy avenue, for a few weeks.

Miss Emma R. McDonald was pleasantly surprised at her home, 31 Bridge street, Oct. 28, by a party of young friends.

H. H. Hill of Upland road has an apple tree which has a second crop of blossoms. An unusual thing for November.

Mrs. George O. Langley of Washington street has gone to Providence, R. I., and will be the guest of her son, George D., for a few weeks.

The November fourteenth meeting of the Alliance of First church will be a cheerful letter meeting which is always an interesting subject.

Have you caught on to the new time-table? That change of one minute in the trains is a little confusing, but there are a few more important changes.

The roof of the Y. M. C. A. building is nearly all shingled, and soon the gymnasium will be closed in. The big chimney is an ornament to the building.

Elwood M. Litchfield who was able to be about Monday after two weeks' confinement, is again confined to his bed with a serious attack of rheumatism.

An inquest was held before Judge Pratt Wednesday on the death of Christian Anahivetz, who was electrocuted at the Quincy Point power station Sept. 13.

Miss Emma D. Conklin, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Marden of Coddington street for several weeks, returned to her home in New Jersey last week.

Mrs. Edwin N. Willett celebrated her 50th birthday at her home on High School avenue, Thursday, Oct. 27th. She was the recipient of many gifts and congratulations.

A largely attended meeting of the retail clerks union was held in this city Sunday, but they absolutely refused to give out any information to any one who did not hold a union card.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Ellis formerly of Granite street, after an absence of four years in Maine, have returned to this city, and will be the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Harry Winslow, for the winter.

Miss Ellen Thompson gives the third of her Tuesday afternoon talks next week at the home of Mrs. George G. Saville, Saville avenue and it promises to be one of the most interesting in the course being on "The Brownings in Italy."

Fishermen report an occasional good catch of smelt, but on the whole this season has been a disappointing one in the Quincy waters. They are illustrated in the markets at 25 cents a pound, but other years they have been plenty at 15 cents.

There was an almost constant tolling of the bells on the fire alarm circuit Sunday afternoon between 1.45 and 3.15. It was the signal of the laying away of two of the ex-city officials, ex-Mayor William A. Hodges and ex-Engineer William C. Seelye.

Assistant Inspector James H. Webb will inspect Post 87, of Braintree, Nov. 11; Post 58, of East Weymouth, Nov. 15, and Post 88, of Quincy, Nov. 17. All comrades of the G. A. R. are cordially invited to be present at these inspections.

The new city league of Quincy started on its twenty-week schedule Wednesday evening at the Granite street hall. The league consists of four teams, the Bimnies, the Skyrokers, the Night Owls, and Ferris Specialists. The Skyrokers took three straight from the Bimnies.

The second annual ball of the Steam Engineers local 79 was held Oct. 28 at Quincy Music hall. The affair was largely attended and a good swell will be netted for the relief fund. Fiske's orchestra gave a promenade concert from 8 to 9 o'clock and also furnished music for the dancing which continued until 4 o'clock in the morning.

Notwithstanding the cold weather and frosts there was a large bouquet of marigolds and other garden flowers in front of the pulpit at First church Sunday morning. They were from the garden of Donald Crane, Whitely road, who with others competed for the prize given this summer by the Home Science association for the best flower beds.

The Swedish Lutheran fair, which closed at Faxon hall Saturday night, was a grand financial success, netting from $200 to $300. The good work of the following women was appreciated. Mrs. Nils Nordquist being presented a sideboard, Mrs. Alex. Nordin a bookcase and desk and Mrs. Victor Johnson a Morris chair. Other awards were made. During the evening there was music by an orchestra and a phonograph.

A reunion of the former pupils of Thayer Academy, Braintree, will be held at Hotel Brunswick, Boston, corner of Boylston and Clarendon streets, on Friday, Nov. 18, 1904, from five to nine o'clock P. M. Reception at seven; collection at six; addresses at seven. Tickets can be procured at the hotel that evening $1.25 for members and $1.50 for non-members. The program will be presented. Secretary Long, Prof. Sewall and Mr. Gardner, of the Board of Trustees, will be present.

"The call of young Japan" was the subject of the service at Bethany Congregational church Sunday evening under the auspices of the Sunday school in aid of foreign missions. Eleven boys and girls in Japanese costume told of Japan and its people, particularly the life and the treatment of children, which was interspersed with music. Dr. C. T. Sherman spoke of the great missionary work which had been done in Japan, saying there were now 40,000 Christians there and 2,000,000 friends of Christianity. He said the Y. M. C. A. was also doing a good work with the Japanese army at the front. A collection was taken for foreign missions.

The slate roof of City Hall is to be repaired.

How do you like the candidates for the caucuses?

Thanksgiving will come early this year—Nov. 24—two weeks from Thursday.

Have you noticed the searchlights that are being used on some of the street cars?

Thursday, Oct. 13, was the lucky October day to traders at the store of George W. Jones.

Miss Floretta Vining is to visit the World's Fair at St. Louis about the middle of the month.

Miss Mamie Doane of Hull, Iowa, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sedgwick of Goffe street.

Workmen are engaged making extensive repairs on the residence of T. L. Sturtevant of Adams street.

The Quincy Cooperative Bank is one of the best places to invest money. A new series opened this week.

Carpenters are at work making alterations in the store in Cornhill block occupied by C. F. Carlson.

The old Page estate on Washington street presents a fine appearance, having just been newly painted.

John P. Bainbridge, formerly with the W. B. Wainbank bank, has accepted a position with the Granite bank.

Sample ballots for the state election have been posted. It will require sixteen crosses to vote the full ticket.

A social for the Junior Christian Endeavor Society of Bethany church will be held in the chapel this afternoon.

Mrs. Parke B. Swift, (Belle French) of Athol, has been visiting her daughter at Radcliffe college, and also relatives in this city.

Rehearsals are going on for the grand cantata of Ruth which the King's Daughters are to give at Bethany church, early in December.

Rev. George A. Strong, formerly rector at Christ church, and now at New York, has been the guest of his parents at hotel Vendome, Boston, for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Faxon of Adams street are receiving congratulations, a little daughter being born to them on Monday. They now have three daughters and a son.

Mrs. George D. Follett entertained a few neighbors and friends, at a lunch, at her home, 109 Putnam street, to meet Mrs. Joseph C. Morse, Jr., on Sep. 28.

H. H. Hill, of the Weeks-Bill pharmacy, wishes to emphatically deny the rumor that he is to occupy a store to be erected in front of the Dr. French estate on Chestnut street.

There will be a subject of interest to labor at the club house Sunday evening when Rev. F. W. Merrick, Ph. D., of Boston, will speak on "The attitude of the Congregational churches toward the labor problem."

Work on the new Y. M. C. A. building is progressing rapidly and Secretary Gay informs us that the gymnasium will be ready for use sometime next month. Many applications for membership are being received.

Tuesday evening will be a lively one at the club house in the Coddington club, Braintree, when the second entertainment in this season's course will be a "pop concert." Election returns will be promptly bulletined.

The Study club of Christ church which did good literary work last winter is to hold a social and dance in the parlors of the Coddington club, Braintree, when the second entertainment in this season's course will be a "pop concert." Election returns will be promptly bulletined.

The Young People's Religious Union of the First church will meet in the ladies' parlors Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Miss Edith Randall will read a paper on "Old Bynns and songs," illustrated by singing. All are cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. J. Francis Hayward and Miss Theodora Hayward and Mr. Julian Hayward were in town this week, making calls on old friends. They came over from Ponkapog in their motor-car. They are contemplating spending the winter in Europe.

The Chromatic club of Boston began its eighteenth season Friday morning by a concert at hotel Tueries, Commonwealth avenue, at which Miss Alice Eldridge, Mrs. Edith Noyes Porter's protegee, was a great favorite. Mrs. Porter is again vice president of the club.

A fair under the auspices of St. Paul's M. E. church was inaugurated Wednesday evening at the church on Fort street. There was a good attendance and the several tables of useful and valuable articles were well patronized. The affair was a success. The proceeds of the fair will be used for the relief fund.

Members of Adams Chapter Daughters of the Revolution are anticipating a very pleasant meeting on Monday when they are to meet at the birthplace of President John Adams for an all day gathering. An old fashioned luncheon will be enjoyed at one o'clock. During the day an old time sewing bee will keep the ladies busy making curtains, rugs, etc. for the house.

Ladies interested in the Quincy Day Nursery are busy at work getting ready for a grand rummage sale which they are to hold the third week in November, hoping thereby to increase the funds for carrying on the good work. The Nursery seems firmly established now, with a competent matron and in a section of the city where it is a benefit to many mothers and children.

At the matinee whist held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. B. Porterfield, eleven tables were in play. A well known young lady of the Center, having the highest score, received the first prize, a pair of blankets. The other successful winners were: Mrs. M. C. King, Mrs. Isabel Davidson, Mrs. Annie Hobart, Mrs. Emma E. Marook and Mrs. James Daw.

Several Quincy friends are anticipating attending the reception which Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goodwin of Huntington road, East Milton, will give on Wednesday evening of next week in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William Palmer Tanner, who were recently married at La Crosse, Wisconsin. Mr. and Mrs. Tanner have been the recipients of several small dinners and parties and their friends regret that they are to leave next week for their home in Los Angeles, California.

Mrs. Stetson's whist party on Thursday afternoon was a great success about fifty ladies attending. No prizes were given and there was no competition for high scores, the idea being more for a social time. Between the games the ladies moved about and enjoyed the fine lunch of fruit, fancy crackers, cake, etc. It was a most delightful affair socially and financially and added a neat sum to the organ fund of the church. Mrs. Stetson also received a generous money contribution to the fund.

The Holland Torpedo Boat Company, of New York, has begun preparations for the removal of their plant from New Suffolk, L. I., to Quincy, near the Fore River Shipbuilding Company's yards, where the hulls of their boats are constructed, according to a Newport dispatch to the Boston American.

C. F. Pettengill has contributed a clock to the Quincy Day Nursery.

The platform has been erected for the christening of the battleship on Thursday next.

Mrs. J. H. B. Palmer of Bow, N. H., is the guest for a few weeks of Mrs. P. P. Burke of Lath street.

William T. Gove & Son are the new undertakers who have opened rooms on Temple street in the Adams building.

Deputy Sheriff Will sell at auction today, at Morrison's Mill in Braintree, thirty tons of soft coal, etc.

Mr. Froehlich will teach the physiology course at Miss Spear's on Mondays and Thursdays at 4.15 P. M., through the year.

Auxiliary No. 8, A. O. H., held a twelve o'clock dancing party at Faxon hall, Thursday evening. About forty couples attended.

Big scores were made at the basket ball game at the Coliseum on Thursday evening, and the Quincys made the big gains, defeating Middlesex A. A. 41 to 28.

SOUTH QUINCY.

J. Emery Greene has moved into the house on Summer street, recently vacated by Mrs. Samuel Crane, who with her daughter, Miss Edith May, have gone to Bloomfield, N. J., where they will reside in the future.

Letter Carrier Copland is confined to his home on Nightingale avenue with a severe cold.

The grounds in front of St. John's church have been regraded.

Rev. Wm. A. Brady of the Calvary Baptist church preached at the Washington Street Congregational church Sunday morning in exchange with the pastor.

The funeral of Mrs. Matilda A. Clark was held Sunday from her late residence, 7 Pleasant street. The services were conducted by Rev. August Swanson. The burial was at Mt. Wollaston.

Mrs. John McLean of Liberty street has gone to Boston and will be the guest of her sister during the winter.

At the Saturday evening whist party in Doble's hall there were fifteen tables. The ones who had the highest scores were: Mrs. Hart, Mrs. Newcomb, Mrs. C. A. Hobart, Mrs. Marr, N. McLeod, George Craig, E. C. Hall and D. McLennan.

The regrading of Liberty street is well along toward completion.

The Jewish Synagogue on School street, formerly St. John's hall, is being reshingled and otherwise repaired.

Mrs. M. A. Lee of Mt. Wollaston, returned to her home this week after a visit of several weeks with her son, Arthur B. Innis of Gay street.

In the civil case of William St. Pierre against Stanley H. Barilcoat, for assault, Judge Avery has found for the plaintiff in the sum of $100. The case was first heard in the criminal side of the court and a verdict given for the defendant.

WEST QUINCY.

Chief Hayden, Inspector McKay and Bradley and Officer Grohman, Johnson, Hinchon and Holloran raided the alleged premises of Louis Bizzozero on Side street, West Quincy, Oct. 28, and seized seven kegs of beer, two half barrels of beer, fifty gallons of wine and a jug of wine and a lot of paraphernalia that usually goes with the liquor.

The alarm from Box 46 at 5.55 P. M., Oct. 28, was for a slight fire in the grocery store of James McDonnell on Copeland street. The fire was caused by a hanging lamp setting fire to the wood work. The damage was slight.

Mrs. Mary White, of West Quincy, celebrated her eighty-seventh birthday on Monday, in a quiet manner. She was the recipient of many gifts, including flowers, fruit and candy, brought to her by her great grandchildren.

She is well preserved, retaining all of her faculties to a remarkable degree. Mrs. White has four children living, Charles D. White of Boston, Mrs. Annie Hayes, Mrs. Margaret McGilvray and Mrs. John McGilvray of West Quincy. She also has twenty-five grandchildren, and eleven great grandchildren.

An enthusiastic meeting of the West Quincy Republicans was held at Farnham's hall Saturday night. The coming municipal election was discussed.

The St. Marys have organized two teams, and would like to arrange games with strong amateurs. Communications for either the first or second team should be sent to L. Penick, 8 Rogers street, West Quincy.

This afternoon the Coplands will play the Centurion Club of South Boston, at West Quincy.

James H. Elcock, the only Democratic candidate for the Legislature, is making a personal appeal to voters of the city, which is certain to be productive of good. Naturally he will poll the full Democratic vote, and he will also get votes from Republican voters.

Add to this personal friends, and he should have a grand total. Mr. Elcock has served in the City Council, with good satisfaction to the voters at large.

A patent was issued this week to George L. Badger.

Wollaston Social.

The first social of the season was enjoyed by the members of the Wollaston Unitarian parish and their friends in the vestry of the church, Wednesday evening.

Supper was served at half-past six to about a hundred and twenty guests. The tables were nicely decorated with fruit, vegetables and flowers, and looked especially pretty and inviting.

The menu included scalloped fish, potatoes and tomatoes, hot rolls and coffee, fancy tarts, fruit and nuts.

After supper all present were invited to take part in a Musical Romance, at the conclusion of which Mr. Spaulding of Belmont street contributed several humorous, dialect songs.

The chairman of the committee of arrangements for the evening was Frank A. Page.

Brotherhood Course.

The program of the Theban Dramatic Company gave promise of considerable fun, and fulfilled all expectations, so that the third entertainment in the Bethany Brotherhood course on Wednesday evening was a success.

The company includes four clever artists: Miss Mary Norton, Miss Abigail Dodge, Miss Mabelle Rose, and Mr. Hugo Kiesling. Seven favors were presented, some by two characters, some by three and some by all. Miss Norton, who appeared in all, was particularly good, but all showed versatility in assuming different characters, and often provoked applause.

New Industry.

The Holland Torpedo Boat Company, of New York, has begun preparations for the removal of their plant from New Suffolk, L. I., to Quincy, near the Fore River Shipbuilding Company's yards, where the hulls of their boats are constructed, according to a Newport dispatch to the Boston American.

WOLLASTON.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Fred Howe, nee Arnold, of Braintree are receiving congratulations. Arnold Boardman Howe was born Wednesday evening Nov. 2d, to Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Howe.

William T. Gove & Son are the new undertakers who have opened rooms on Temple street in the Adams building.

Deputy Sheriff Will sell at auction today, at Morrison's Mill in Braintree, thirty tons of soft coal, etc.

Mr. Froehlich will teach the physiology course at Miss Spear's on Mondays and Thursdays at 4.15 P. M., through the year.

Auxiliary No. 8, A. O. H., held a twelve o'clock dancing party at Faxon hall, Thursday evening. About forty couples attended.

Big scores were made at the basket ball game at the Coliseum on Thursday evening, and the Quincys made the big gains, defeating Middlesex A. A. 41 to 28.

SOUTH QUINCY.

J. Emery Greene has moved into the house on Summer street, recently vacated by Mrs. Samuel Crane, who with her daughter, Miss Edith May, have gone to Bloomfield, N. J., where they will reside in the future.

Letter Carrier Copland is confined to his home on Nightingale avenue with a severe cold.

The grounds in front of St. John's church have been regraded.

Rev. Wm. A. Brady of the Calvary Baptist church preached at the Washington Street Congregational church Sunday morning in exchange with the pastor.

The funeral of Mrs. Matilda A. Clark was held Sunday from her late residence, 7 Pleasant street. The services were conducted by Rev. August Swanson. The burial was at Mt. Wollaston.

Mrs. John McLean of Liberty street has gone to Boston and will be the guest of her sister during the winter.

At the Saturday evening whist party in Doble's hall there were fifteen tables. The ones who had the highest scores were: Mrs. Hart, Mrs. Newcomb, Mrs. C. A. Hobart, Mrs. Marr, N. McLeod, George Craig, E. C. Hall and D. McLennan.

The regrading of Liberty street is well along toward completion.

The Jewish Synagogue on School street, formerly St. John's hall, is being reshingled and otherwise repaired.

Mrs. M. A. Lee of Mt. Wollaston, returned to her home this week after a visit of several weeks with her son, Arthur B. Innis of Gay street.

In the civil case of William St. Pierre against Stanley H. Barilcoat, for assault, Judge Avery has found for the plaintiff in the sum of $100. The case was first heard in the criminal side of the court and a verdict given for the defendant.

WEST QUINCY.

Chief Hayden, Inspector McKay and Bradley and Officer Grohman, Johnson, Hinchon and Holloran raided the alleged premises of Louis Bizzozero on Side street, West Quincy, Oct. 28, and seized seven kegs of beer, two half barrels of beer, fifty gallons of wine and a jug of wine and a lot of paraphernalia that usually goes with the liquor.

The alarm from Box 46 at 5.55 P. M., Oct. 28, was for a slight fire in the grocery store of James McDonnell on Copeland street. The fire was caused by a hanging lamp setting fire to the wood work. The damage was slight.

Mrs. Mary White, of West Quincy, celebrated her eighty-seventh birthday on Monday, in a quiet manner. She was the recipient of many gifts, including flowers, fruit and candy, brought to her by her great grandchildren.

She is well preserved, retaining all of her faculties to a remarkable degree. Mrs. White has four children living, Charles D. White of Boston, Mrs. Annie Hayes, Mrs. Margaret McGilvray and Mrs. John McGilvray of West Quincy. She also has twenty-five grandchildren, and eleven great grandchildren.

An enthusiastic meeting of the West Quincy Republicans was held at Farnham's hall Saturday night. The coming municipal election was discussed.

The St. Marys have organized two teams, and would like to arrange games with strong amateurs. Communications for either the first or second team should be sent to L. Penick, 8 Rogers street, West Quincy.

This afternoon the Coplands will play the Centurion Club of South Boston, at West Quincy.

James H. Elcock, the only Democratic candidate for the Legislature, is making a personal appeal to voters of the city, which is certain to be productive of good. Naturally he will poll the full Democratic vote, and he will also get votes from Republican voters.

Add to this personal friends, and he should have a grand total. Mr. Elcock has served in the City Council, with good satisfaction to the voters at large.

A patent was issued this week to George L. Badger.

Wollaston Social.

The first social of the season was enjoyed by the members of the Wollaston Unitarian parish and their friends in the vestry of the church, Wednesday evening.

Supper was served at half-past six to about a hundred and twenty guests. The tables were nicely decorated with fruit, vegetables and flowers, and looked especially pretty and inviting.

The menu included scalloped fish, potatoes and tomatoes, hot rolls and coffee, fancy tarts, fruit and nuts.

After supper all present were invited to take part in a Musical Romance, at the conclusion of which Mr. Spaulding of Belmont street contributed several humorous, dialect songs.

The chairman of the committee of arrangements for the evening was Frank A. Page.

Brotherhood Course.

The program of the Theban Dramatic Company gave promise of considerable fun, and fulfilled all expectations, so that the third entertainment in the Bethany Brotherhood course on Wednesday evening was a success.

The company includes four clever artists: Miss Mary Norton, Miss Abigail Dodge, Miss Mabelle Rose, and Mr. Hugo Kiesling. Seven favors were presented, some by two characters, some by three and some by all. Miss Norton, who appeared in all, was particularly good, but all showed versatility in assuming different characters, and often provoked applause.

New Industry.

The Quincy Patriot.

Sixty-Eighth Year.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1904.

SINGLE COPIES 5 CENTS.

FOR SALE AT
The Patriot Office,
Quincy,
H. F. Kittredge,
City Square,
J. P. O'Brien,
28 Hancock St.,
C. F. Carlson,
near Quincy Depot,
Miss E. M. Freeman,
Quincy Point,
Simpson & Gilbert,
Wollaston,
Branchfield & Martens,
Norfolk Downs,
Branchfield & Martens,
Norfolk Downs,
E. H. Doherty & Co.,
South Quincy,
Henry Coran,
West Quincy,
Mrs. Lark's Store,
Brewer's Corner,
William Clark,
East Milton,
Fred J. McLean,
Neposent,
N. R. Proctor,
N. H. Hunt,
East Weymouth,
Arthur Dunham,
Hough Neck.

Poetry.

The Last Clover Bloom.

ELIZABETH ARDEN ALLEN.

As down the winding path I went,
Where now no leaf is on the tree,
Where frost has touched the faded grass
And blighted all the greenery,
One solitary clover bloom
Forlorn, yet brave, looked up at me,
A lone, unloved, feeble flower,
And yet it had a bee!

So, through the cold November breeze,
Among the ruffled hedges and meadows,
And all the gathering flocks of birds,
The summer beauty it had known,
And though the poor, pined, cheerless bloom
Was pale, neglected and alone,
Still, spite of all, it must have kept
Some honey of its own.

Courage, faint heart! Though wild and dark, Alone and cold, the world may be
Though summer friends and flowers are fled
And winter frosts on land and sea,
Keep those few strength and sweetness still
So and hence, wandering hither,
Like this lone flower, find some help
May find some help in thee.

Notes and Comments.

The sale of hogs from Brockton city farm this year netted $5,711. How much did the hogs from the Quincy farm bring?

A new electric street railway is to be constructed. It will be thirty miles long and go from Newton Highlands to Pawtucket, R. I., connecting at the latter point with an already built line to Providence, and running on the Boston & Worcester tracks from the Highlands into Boston. From Providence to Boston via this route is about forty-five miles, and it is expected to cover the distance in two hours and fifteen minutes, which is running time between Boston and Worcester. Much of the route will be over private land and the estimated cost is $5,000,000. The management of the present Boston & Worcester line and Boston and Providence will be in close sympathy if not partly identical, and it is becoming clear that large plans of street railway exploitation occupy the minds of New England capitalists.—Mansfield News.

Gov. Bates' explanation of his reasons for his veto of the so-called "Overtime Bill," ought to satisfy any reasonable minded man, either Democrat or Republican.

Trouble over the race problem is by no means confined to the South. A military post in New Jersey is considerably stirred up over the marriage of a white soldier stationed there and a colored woman. The matter has been reported to the war department, and it is understood that the man's discharge has been recommended "for the good of the service." The man's record as a soldier is excellent, and as the laws of New Jersey do not prohibit such marriages he claims to have the right of marrying whom he pleases, and that his discharge for that reason would be an act of rank injustice.—Milford Gazette.

If Mr. Douglas would only state in the event of his election, Douglas should have immediately been reduced to $2.50 per pair, it might mix things up some.—Hyde Park Times.

The campaign has been warming up a little lately, but it is hard to realize that the election will be held next Tuesday. All the indications now point to the election of President Roosevelt and Governor Bates by an overwhelming vote.

What kind of a man is Mr. William H. Sears of Plymouth who predicts that we shall have another hard winter similar to that of last year? Has he an appetite, a digestion and a conscience and does he sleep at nights? Well, the poor prophet of evil is not to blame but his job must be a mighty unpleasant one.—Medford Leader.

All the indications now are that President Roosevelt is going to be elected by the largest majority counted in the electoral college since the Civil war.—Somerville Journal.

Agualinda has evidently come to a realization of the fact that American ways are not so bad, after all, and that they are really endeavoring to bring about a better state of affairs in the Philippines. As proof of this he is now asking that there be established there an agricultural loan bank under the supervision of the United States, for which purpose the latter country shall loan $10 millions in gold, and authorize a credit capital of $10 millions, the prime purpose being to loan money to agriculturists at 4 percent on approved security. He hopes such assistance would greatly help the agricultural districts, and hence the whole island.

That with this plan or some other of the same description the tears of the people can be dried—a people on whom the Government looks as a child in need, dependent upon the loving protection of its mother, and confiding in the noble and praiseworthy intentions which the North American people have already shown since their arrival on these shores.—Old Colony Memorial.

It has been decided by the Connecticut supreme court that associations of business men may keep blacklists of delinquent debtors for their confidential use, where the claims are undisputed. There is nothing libelous or otherwise unlawful or improper in such a practice, it is held. The decision is considered important, and regarded with much satisfaction by the officers of the national association of credit men.—Milford Gazette.

Registration closed in Braintree with 1464 votes, a record breaker. There are 506 in the South Braintree precinct, 401 in the Braintree precinct and 571 in the East Braintree precinct.

Hyde Park by the new registration has 2461 votes and Dedham 1070.

—Massachusetts has never been so near to any administration in half a century as it is to that of Theodore Roosevelt. Two Massachusetts men have been in his cabinet, our senior senator and our lieutenant-governor are close personal friends. He received his university education in the state and his eldest son is fitting for a Massachusetts university in a Massachusetts preparatory school.

—Thousands upon thousands of barrels of apples will decay on the ground this year because it will not pay the growers to gather them. Notwithstanding this fact, however, the families who will have as many apples as they can use during the coming winter will be in the minority. The apple is the best winter fruit grown, the best to eat raw and by far the best to use in cooking. An apple crop the size of the present one is of rare occurrence and it is a great pity that the whole of this year's crop cannot be harvested and marketed. Many growers are willing to give their apples away, but the coopers and transportation companies to date, have expressed no such willingness.—Weymouth Gazette.

—The Democratic party has no hope of electing a Governor of Massachusetts this year, but it would like to reduce the majority as a prelude to a great battle in the off year of 1905.

—The crown prince of Sweden is not only a keen motorist, but he is a first-rate mechanical engineer. King Oscar's eldest son and heir is, perhaps, the most serious-minded of the future sovereigns; he led a studious youth and, although the prince, is married to a first cousin of the German emperor.

—Ring rule has long been one of the greatest hindrances to Philadelphia prosperity, but it has been a hindrance which many other communities would be glad to possess. This is the five-cent telephone ring. The controlling company has greatly increased the zone of its low-rate service, and finds it profitable. If this can be done in Philadelphia, why not in greater Boston and other large centers of population.—Milford Gazette.

—During the month of September thirty-two new national banks were chartered, with an aggregate capital of $1,500,000.

—Voters this year will find an opportunity on the official ballot to make a choice from more than 90 names for Presidential Electors. There are six candidates for the Presidency whose nominations have been filed in Massachusetts, namely Roosevelt, Parker, Swallow, Watson, Debs and Corraigan. Every voter has the chance to select between the Republican, Democratic, Prohibition, Populist, Socialist and Labor candidates.

—The convention and churches have done but little toward making the divorce nuisance unpopular. The preachers on Sunday have pitched in as reinforcements to the fighting line and most of them have made humor and laughter out of the wicked public. The Watchman had an article last week from the pen of the Rev. William Ashmore, D. D., on "The Protestant Episcopal Convention," which is attracting much attention. "No one," he says, "can object to any Christian people standing up for the faith of their fathers." This is certainly true, but I am reminded of the old Scotch woman who was troubled about the heterodoxy of the parish, and she came to the conclusion that there were only two orthodox people in the parish, "Donald and me, and I have me doat about Donald."—Whitman Times.

—We are fast assimilating the men who came to our shores from foreign lands. The court of Judge Avery in Quincy is a small factor in the matter and yet counts on local matters. At a single session last week 49 became full fledged American citizens, with all the rights and privileges of the same, and 30 others took out primary papers.—Weymouth Transcript.

—The season of freak bets on the presidential election has begun. A Parker man in Brooklyn, in case of Parker's defeat, will roll a peanut across the Brooklyn bridge. But that will be nothing compared with the amusement which his opponent will offer should Roosevelt be beaten. He has agreed to shave only one side of his face for one month. Another quip about bets is that of a Democrat of Harlem, who agrees in case of Parker's defeat to walk barefoot on his hands and knees from 42d to 34th street on Broadway, with his opponent seated on his back. The Roosevelt man has promised to sing once a week with the Salvation Army for a period of one year in case his candidate should be defeated.

—It costs good money to maintain an efficient navy like our own, even in times of peace. In the last year's expense account the one item of coal cost $2,519,920.

—Judge Sweetser at the hearing after the Melrose dynamite accident well said: "The calamity might have been avoided if it had not been for the unhappy economy common to most suburban cities and towns of extinguishing street lights on moonlight nights irrespective of conditions in particular localities."

—Haverhill will have an armory worth $40,000. Haverhill must have money in stocks just at this time. Talk of sending that sum of money for an armory or anything else in Brockton just at this time would cause an outbreak of something like anarchy.—Brockton Enterprise.

—New Drunk Rule.

The frequency of drunks on the steam train has resulted in an interview between Mayor Bryant and Capt. Taylor. The result of this interview is the promulgating of new rules in regard to drunks. This rule is that when a train reaches Quincy the conductor shall turn his head of drunks over to the officer who meets every outward train. Therefore if a drunk got by the gate-man at the South Terminal he stood a good chance of getting off scot free. The result was that it frequently happened that one of these fellows made a nuisance of himself on the train. As long as he paid his fare, and no passenger made a kick, nothing was said. Now, however, a drunk is lucky, if when the train reaches Quincy, he is not taken off by the railroad men and handed over to an officer.

—Registration closed in Braintree with 1464 votes, a record breaker. There are 506 in the South Braintree precinct, 401 in the Braintree precinct and 571 in the East Braintree precinct.

—Hyde Park by the new registration has 2461 votes and Dedham 1070.

—Prejudice is like seeing things through a mist, and lots of people carry their own mist around with them to look at things through.—Milford Philosopher.

Founder's Day.

There was a large attendance on Monday at the annual Founder's day games of the Adams Academy Athletic Association. The several events went off with a snap, but not as good time in some of the events was made as last year. In the quarter mile run for the challenge cup Hoxie won in 1 minute, 10 seconds, beating Sullivan's record of last year by 2 1/2 seconds.

In the one mile run for the challenge cup, Hoxie won again this year, his time being 7 minutes, 53 1/2 seconds. This is the third consecutive year that Hoxie has won and he now owns the cup. His time this year was not as good as a year ago, when he ran the course in 6 minutes. His time two years ago was also 6 minutes.

The obstacle race was very interesting, the contestants being obliged to finish with a lighted candle. In the tug of war the final heat was between the first and third classes. These two teams were well matched as to weight. The first class pulled the scales at 665 and the third class at 671.

After the pull it was given over to the first class had won by two inches. It appeared however that they had changed one of their men. It was then given to the third class.

Before the games commenced a telegram was received from John O. Hall, Jr., one of the former sub-masters at the Academy, stating that he would give a silk pennant to the one winning the largest number of events.

This pennant was awarded to Hoxie who won four of the events, no other contestant winning more than one.

The events resulted as follows: 70 yards dash, won by Harkins; time, 8 1/2 seconds.

Running broad jump, won by Moran; distance, 16 feet.

220 yards dash, won by Hoxie; time, 2 1/2 seconds.

Football kick, won by Hoxie; distance, 120 feet, 2 inches.

Quarter mile run—challenge cup, won by Hoxie; time, 1 minute, 10 seconds.

Obstacle race, won by Colman; time, 3 minutes, 20 seconds.

One mile run for challenge cup, won by Hoxie; time, 7 minutes, 53 1/2 seconds.

Sack race, won by Picard; time, 26 1/2 seconds.

Three-legged race, won by Blake and Thomas; time, 11 1/2 seconds.

Relay race for class championship, won by First class; time, 3 minutes, 15 1/2 seconds.

Bicycle race, won by R. C. Blake; time, 14 minutes, 50 seconds.

Potato race, won by Colman; time, 38 seconds.

Basket ball game, won by Second team; score, 11 to 5. Goals by Harkins, 4, Finn, Gallagher, and Hoxie; goal from foul, Gallagher and Hoxie.

Tug of war for class championship. Between Third and Fourth classes, won by Third; distance, 2 feet, 6 inches.

Between First and Second classes, won by First; distance, 15 feet.

Between First and Third classes, won by Third; distance, 2 inches.

Alumni Dinner.

The annual dinner of the Adams Academy Alumni Association was held Saturday evening in the United States hotel. When the business meeting was called to order by Perry Lawton, the president, there were about 20 present, representing classes from 1870 down to some of the most recent graduates.

On motion of Charles C. Lane the following officers were elected: Dr. Jeffrey R. Brackett, president. Hon. T. M. Osborne, A. R. Wendell, J. O. Hall, Jr., F. H. Curtis and A. C. Sprague, vice presidents. J. D. Kent, Jr., secretary and treasurer.

The gathering at the banquet tables was one of the jolliest ever assembled at the alumni dinner. From the first toast to Dr. William Everett, down to the last words of the closing speaker there were the strongest evidence of affection for the school and teachers, and the best of fellowship among the boys.

The school's regard for Dr. Everett was shown in the presentation to him of an autograph album containing messages from the graduates, representing every section of the United States. The presentation was made by A. R. Wendell who suggested the gift and who carried out the idea with complete success.

Mr. Wendell's words of appreciation of what Dr. Everett has been to the school in the past 26 years found echo in the hearts of all. The doctor was deeply affected.

Similar expressions of regard for John O. Hall, Jr., who has become master of the Millbury High school, was made by the boys who attended the academy during Mr. Hall's connection therewith, from 1892 to 1904. The gift was a silver loving cup inscribed "To John O. Hall, Jr., from the Adams Academy boys, 1892 to 1904." The presentation was made by George B. Gavin, who spoke for all when he said, that if he possessed a wealth of words he would not be able to express the regard of the boys for Mr. Hall.

Mr. Brackett, the new president, spoke in happy vein of his deep interest in the school and Quincy, and promised to do all in his power to make the next reunion, at which he will preside, as successful as the one which had just honored him.

When William T. Campbell was called on for a few words he was greeted with the Adams cheer that could be heard for blocks around. Mr. Campbell was one of the first teachers at the school, remaining there for fifteen years, until he went to an Boston Latin school. He told in an address that he had thought and feeling, his satisfaction to be again with the boys of other days, and brought home to them many illustrations of that Dr. Everett had done for them.

The memory of "Billy" Tyler and others who have passed on was touched in silence.

Married Life of the Adams.

Mrs. W. T. Babcock of this city wrote interestingly in the Transcript of Wednesday of the marriage anniversary of President and Mrs. John Adams celebrated in Quincy on Tuesday. The Patriot reproduces the article. It may well be a cause of lament that so many valuable hours must be given—able argument and conscientious effort made—compelled forth by the present lax condition of thought in regard to marriage and divorce. And those with old-fashioned ideas about married life, its obligations, privileges and compensations, will solemnly and joyfully welcome the anniversary day of the wedding of the man and woman so closely identified with the historical and public life of New England—and yet whose brightest star in their crown is the way they lived together as husband and wife.

Tuesday, Oct. 25, 1774, was the wedding day of John and Abigail Adams. It is a long story from then to now—and it is a story thought to bring the day and it means to our remembrance just at this time—"lest we forget." Forget that after all a perfect marriage is the rarest, happiest, holiest friendship this world can know.

The French word "casualte" also describes the happy marriage. There is still another word, an American word, common to account for it. It means much after all, and fits the amiable, cheerful duality of "the daily round, the common task" of ordinary married life—the word "chums."

Loving friends, faithful comrades were John and Abigail Adams. The modern world cannot be used in connection with the familiar dignity of their intercourse—that word belongs more to the freedom and latitude of modern life. May be, after all, if it were possible to restore to some degree the reserve and formalities of those early days, marriage and the home would be happier and more stable.

Perhaps what is really needed is a loftier conception by young men and women of the desirability of marriage. To John Adams was given this high ideal, even as a young man.

And what of her? What did the girl, Abigail, see when she stood where the "brook and river meet"? Her own? The young people began in earnest, "Taint heart never won," and the man found he had need of all his courage, for Parson Smith proved a father with a mind of his own, which shared the distrust of the times in regard to law as a profession. It was too early for young Adams to have proved what he believed, and according to his diary, meant to prove that the study and practice of law does not destroy the obligations of morality and religion.

If he persisted in visiting the daughter, Abigail, he would do it with little or no encouragement from the father, and when he rode over to Weymouth from Braintree, his nag must be tied to an iron tree, for there was no shelter for the lawyer's horse in the parson's barn.

Surely there is no better safeguard for a young man's morals and ambitions than the love of a pure high minded young woman. John Adams future wife was safe in the hands of Abigail Smith. As for her, she showed the same grit and spirit amid the noise and trial of that small but vital domestic battle that she did when her heart ached and spirit was tried with the distress of the Revolution and contest of nations.

And as peace came to their country, so at last on October day, Parson Smith raised his hands in blessing upon the union of John and Abigail. She put her hand in the hand of her husband, and together they walked that autumn after noon the few miles that lay between her old home and the new one where began the happy married life of half a century.

All those years were, as John Adams prophesied they would be, trials of the nation's "faith, patience and perseverance." Through this farmhouse door, over whose threshold many none irreverent be allowed to pass, Abigail Adams and her John Quincy, a lad of seven, went to his bride, and watch the smoke of the battle and listen to the roar of cannon until head and heart ached together. Later in this room alone, the lonely woman began her nightly vigil, while the "cannon continued firing and my heart beat pace with them all night." "The rattling of windows, and the jar of the house and the continued roar of twenty-four pounders" were all agony to the watcher.

The absent husband writes while longing for his wife, his children, his home: "The sadness of me is I have the characters and temper, the principles and views of fifty gentlemen, total strangers, to study, and the trade, policy and whole interest of a dozen provinces to learn. I have multitudes of pamphlets, newspapers and private letters to read." He was torn with anxiety for his little ones and the wife of his heart; "yet he was buoyed up by the hope of a noble, great future for his country and a free constitution."

It is of these days the wedding anniversary held Oct. 25, 1904, in the old farmhouse will speak most eloquently. But after all it can tell but half the story. The twenty-fifth celebration of this happy marriage was amid far different scenes. Peace had been declared, independence obtained—and at St. James' Court Abigail Adams had taken her place as the wife of our first minister to England. Well might the re-united couple, amid the paraphernalia of glittering royalty, and with honor of place and position pray the prayer of Agur for humility and moderation "Lest we be full and deny Thee." To but few of us are given such variety and vicissitude of life.

He Retracted and Paid.

Herbert Wardwell of Wollaston was in the Hingham court Oct. 28, charged with going in an auto Sunday at the rate of 18 miles an hour. He pleaded not guilty, conducted his own case, and told the court that his machine was not capable of going more than 10 miles an hour. Officer Grehan told the court that he timed Mr. Wardwell over the measured course twice and his time was at the rate of 18 and 15 miles an hour. Mr. Wardwell was fined $10. He told the court that he would pay the fine, but the verdict was an unjust one. He was immediately given opportunity to retract what he had said to the court. He did, and paid his fine.

The armored cruiser Pennsylvania will also have her official trial off Cape Ann this month—Nov. 21.

Household Receipts.

Lemon Sauce. Mix one cup sugar, three heaping teaspoons cornstarch, and two cups boiling water. Cook ten minutes, stirring constantly. Add grated rind and juice of one lemon and one tablespoon butter.

Steamed Oysters. Put steamer over a pot of boiling water; when very hot, put oysters which have been thoroughly drained into the steamer. Steam twenty minutes until done, but not tough. Place oysters in a hot covered dish, pour melted butter and parsley, well chopped, over the oysters. Serve at once.

Beefsteak Rolls. Prepare a good dressing, such as you like for a turkey or a duck; take a round steak, pound it, spread the dressing over it, sprinkle in a little salt and pepper, lap over the ends, roll the steak up tightly, and tie closely. Spread two great spoonfuls of butter over the steak after rolling it up, then wash with a well beaten egg. Put water in the bake pan, lay in the steak so as not to touch the water, and bake as you would a duck. A half hour in a brisk oven will be enough. Make a brown gravy, and send to the table hot.

Baked Bananas. Place on a buttered platter six bananas, peeled and cut in half lengthwise. Baste with this dressing. One level tablespoonful of butter, two heaped teaspoonfuls of sugar, and the juice of a lemon. Cook in double boiler. Use half this dressing and bake fifteen minutes, then use the remainder and bake fifteen minutes longer. Serve either hot or cold.—American Kitchen Magazine.

Horse Radish Sauce. Chill one cup of thick cream and beat it until stiff enough to hold its shape. Add half a teaspoonful salt, half a saltspoon pepper, and three teaspoonfuls prepared horse radish. If fresh grated horse radish be used, add two tablespoonfuls vinegar and one teaspoonful sugar to the radish. Keep this in a cold place, as it should be stiff and thick when used. If served on the dish with hot meat, put it in a shallow sauce dish and cover the dish with the garnish of water cress.

Podge. Two cups of granulated sugar, half a cup of milk, a piece of butter a little larger than an egg, a little salt, and seven teaspoonfuls of Baker's cocoa. Boil twelve minutes. Add three teaspoonfuls of vanilla, and stir for three minutes. Remove from the fire. Pour, caramel thickness, into buttered tins. When partially cold, mark off in squares.

Frais Won Loving Cup.

The third night of the evening of the Wollaston Yacht Club fair proved to be the largest gathering of the three evenings. The entire club rooms, up and down, were crowded to their utmost capacity and even standing room was at a premium. About 9 o'clock the articles that were up on chances commenced to be drawn and everyone was interested to see who were the winners.

The contest for the silver loving cup that was open to members of all yacht clubs for the most popular member was open until 11 P. M. The contestants were: Dr. Merrill, Robert Fraser, Ernest Hendrie, A. Robbins. Mr. Fraser was awarded the cup as he received the largest number of votes.

Toward the last of the evening the few things left on the tables not sold were auctioned off to the highest bidder, many things going at a sacrifice. The fair proved to be the most successful that the club has run for years and a good sum will be realized when all returns are made.

Billings Family.

The Billings Family Association, which held its first gathering in Quincy twenty years ago, held its annual meeting on Saturday at the Westminster, Boston, a large number being in attendance.

Mr. Lucy Billings Newton of Atlantic, one of the oldest members of the association present, recalled with pride the fact that she was born and brought up in the house that was built by Roger Billings, one of the four brothers who were among the earliest of New England settlers. Roger Billings settled in Quincy in 1635, and he was buried in the old grave-yard opposite the First church.

G. A. Billings was re-elected president, and all the old board of officers were also re-elected.

Anecdotes.

The superintendent of a city Sunday school was making an appeal for a collection for a Shute-in society for the said:

"Can any boy or girl tell me of any shut-in person mentioned in the Bible? Ah, I see several hands raised. That is good. This little boy right in front of me may tell me. Speak up good and loud so that all will hear you, Johnnie."

"Jonah!" shrieked Johnnie.—Harper's Bazar.

"Is this the cracked wheat, Jane?"

"I dun know, mum. I ain't looked at it or teched it; and if it's cracked, it was cracked afore I come here."

Brush—"Who is that solemn-looking individual?"

Penn—"That's Graves. He writes patent medicine ads. A clever chap he is, too. He can describe a disease so that the healthiest man alive will think he has got it."

One night a small boy was sitting anxiously over a paper of figures, when his mother came along and said: "Johnnie, do you find your arithmetic very hard?"

"Yes, indeed, I do," was the reply. "It was so awful hard that I prayed God to help me, but he's made three mistakes already."

Sunday School Teacher—"What do you learn from the story of Samson?"

Tommy (mournfully smoothing his ragged locks)—"That it doesn't pay to have women folks cut a feller's hair."

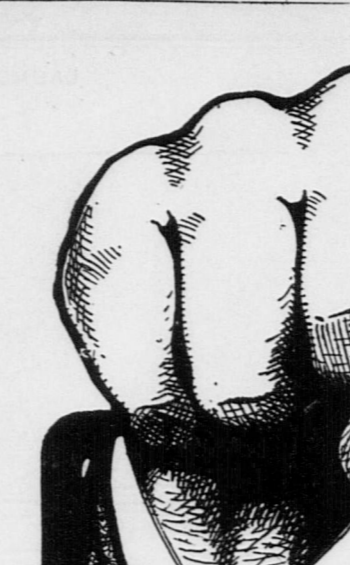

"O Mr. McGaffey, I have just seen your wife for the first time since your marriage; but I had supposed she was a taller woman. She seems shorter than when I saw her last."

"Certainly," said the poet, solemnly. "She has married and settled down."

DO YOU COUGH DON'T DELAY TAKE KEMPS BALSAM THE BEST COUGH CURE

It cures Croup, Whooping Cough, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, and all other ailments of the Throat and Lungs. A certain cure for Consumption in first stage. Beware of cheap imitations. Get the genuine. You will get the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by all druggists. Large bottles 50 cents.

The cruiser Des Moines has arrived at Southampton.

and every other thinking man in Massachusetts, whether Republican, Democrat or Socialist, should place the welfare of the State above that of Party, and

VOTE FOR

William L. Douglas

FOR GOVERNOR

He is a successful business man, and, if elected, will administer the affairs of State in a business-like manner.

He is not hampered by any deals or promises that would affect the discharge of his full duty to the people.

He will treat every measure that comes before him strictly on its merits.

He is a champion of Reciprocity, and believes in greater prosperity for Massachusetts industries.

He is a friend of the laboring man.

He is a typical American citizen.

BECAUSE

King's Daughters.

A union meeting of the different circles of King's Daughters was held with Unity circle at Bethany chapel Saturday afternoon and evening.

The opening exercises were by the president, Miss Emma Savill, followed by prayer by Rev. E. N. Hardy, who also extended a welcome. There were reports from the different circles. Mrs. Henry Threlkeld contributed two pleasing solos accompanied by Mrs. Hunt.

Mrs. Helen M. Dean, clerk of the King's Daughters and Sons Home at Pondville, spoke at length of the Home and the successful work being done.

During the year ending Oct. 1, the Treasurer of the Pond Home, Mrs. Albert A. Brackett of East Milton, received $2,200 and paid out $1,573.48. The receipts included $300 from admissions, $150 by bequest, $400 for four life memberships, $263.07 from interest and $1,056.13 raised by circles of the King's Daughters, trustees and friends. All bills have been promptly paid.

The funds of the home now amount to $5,258.48 of which $1,821.84 is an endowment fund. In regard to the work may be permanently maintained the corporation believe an endowment fund of at least $20,000 should be raised.

The following officers were elected: President, Miss Emma Savill. Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Ryder.

During the social hour lunch was served by Unity circle.

At the evening service Mrs. Frank Moore sang a beautiful solo, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Sampson.

Mrs. Dr. Brackett of Boston spoke interestingly relative to the school for crippled and deformed children in Boston—its work and its needs.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

Castle Square Theatre.

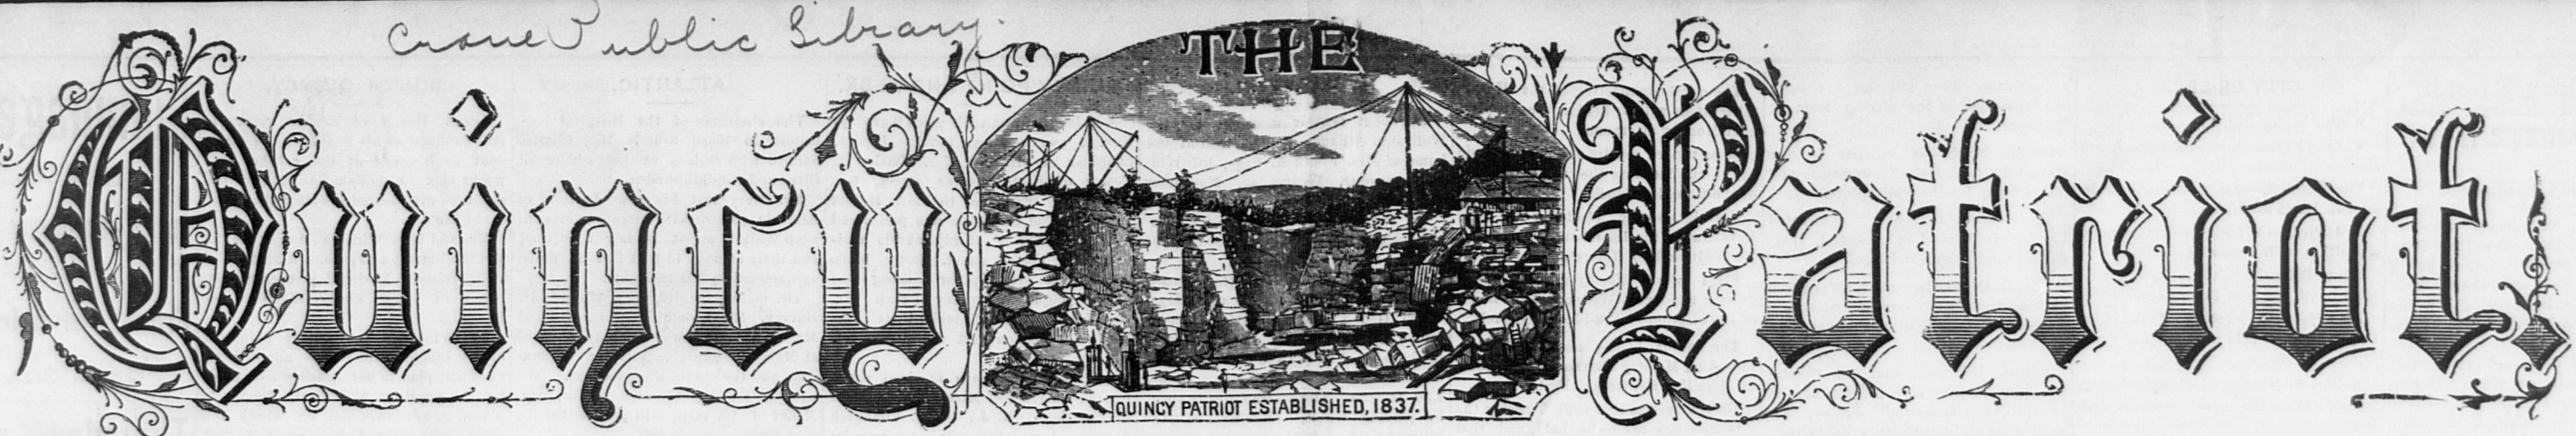

A pleasing announcement is made by the management of the Castle Square Theatre in Quincy in 1905, and he was buried in the old grave-yard opposite the First church.

G. A. Billings was re-elected president, and all the old board of officers were also re-elected.

Anecdotes.

The superintendent of a city Sunday school was making an appeal for a collection for a Shute-in society for the said:

"Can any boy or girl tell me of any shut-in person mentioned in the Bible? Ah, I see several hands raised. That is good. This little boy right in front of me may tell me. Speak up good and loud so that all will hear you, Johnnie."

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1904.

VOL. 68, NO. 46.

FIVE CENTS PER COPY; $2.50 PER YEAR.

The Quincy Patriot,
Established in 1837.
PUBLISHED SATURDAY MORNING BY
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON,
OFFICE, No. 124 HANCOCK STREET.
Subscription Price, $2.50 per Year.
A reduction of fifty cents will be made when paid in advance.
Quincy Daily Ledger,
The ONLY DAILY in the ONLY CITY in Norfolk
County. Established in 1889.
Subscription Price, $6.00 per Year.
A reduction of $1 will be made when paid
in advance.
ALSO PUBLISHERS OF THE
Brantree Observer
A Weekly Established in 1878

H. T. WHITMAN,
Civil Engineer
—AND—
SURVEYOR.
ADAMS BUILDING, - QUINCY
Boston Office, 85 Devonshire street
Hours, 12 to 2 P. M.
N. B. Plans of nearly all the Real Estate
in the City of Quincy can be found at my office. Telephone connections.
May 28. 11

JOHN W. MCANARNEY,
COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW,
ROOM 1, DUBIN & McRELL'S BLOCK,
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.

DR. C. T. SHERMAN
DENTIST.
Hancock Building, over W. G. Shaw's store,
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY.
Office Hours, 9 to 12, 1 to 5.
Residence, Greenleaf street.

DR. FENIMORE S. ANDREWS,
DENTIST.
67 Franklin St., Cor. Water St.
PINEL BLOCK, QUINCY ADAMS.
OFFICE HOURS, - 9 to 12; 2 to 5.
Telephone number, 146-2. 11

J. E. KENILEY & CO.,
PLUMBERS.
All orders promptly attended to at reasonable prices. Satisfaction guaranteed.
NO. 9 TEMPLE STREET, QUINCY.
Jan. 6. 11

W. E. BROWN,
UNDERTAKER.
Office and residence, corner of Canal and Mechanic streets.
Quincy, Feb. 6. 11

DAVID BROWN,
HORSE SHOEING.
Carriage Shop and General Jobbing, ARLINGTON STREET, - WOLLASTON.
Nov. 9. 11

WILLIAM PARKER & SON,
Carpenters and Builders.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
JOBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
HANCOCK COURT, - QUINCY, MASS.

IRA LITCHFIELD,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
PEARL STREET,
SOUTH QUINCY.

JULIUS JOHNSON,
Carpenter, & Contractor
—AND—
BUILDER.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
NO. 64 CENTRE ST., QUINCY, MASS.
June 19. 11

C. H. TOWER,
UPHOLSTERER.

CARPETS taken up, Cleaned and Repaired
FURNITURE Upholstered and Repaired.
HAIR MATTRESSES made over and
made to order.
Full line of latest coverings to select from.
Send postal or telephone for estimates.
Telephone, 64-4 Quincy.
Address 182 Howard street, Quincy Point.
August 20. 11

ABBOTT & MILLER'S
BOUGHS NECK.
QUINCY AND BOSTON EXPRESS.
G. M. MILLER, General Manager.

Furniture Packed.
Office, 64 Washington Street.
Quincy P. O. address, Lock Box 3.
Telephone Connections.

ETNA INSURANCE CO.,
HARTFORD, CONN.
Incorporated 1819. Charter Perpetua
Losses Paid in 85 Years, $36,328,139.96
JANUARY 1, 1904
Cash Capital, $4,000,000.00
Reserve for Re-insurance (Fire) 4,251,503.00
Reserve for Unpaid Losses (Fire) 508,483.24
Reserve for Other Claims, 262,118.60
Net Surplus, 6,066,737.11
Total Assets, 10,102,885.15
John Hardwick & Co.,
45 Granite street,
Agents for Quincy.

Norfolk Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
DEDHAM, MASS.
STATEMENT, JANUARY 1, 1904
Amount at Risk, $24,164,534.84
Cash Assets, 946,230.13
Total Liabilities, including
re-insurance, 187,897.32
Amount of Cash Surplus, $456,332.81
Contingent Assets, 962,733.61
Total Available Assets, 962,733.61
Dividends are now being paid on five-year
policies, 70 per cent; on three-year policies, 50 per cent; on one and two-year policies, 25 per
cent.
J. WHITE BELCHER, Pres. and Treas.
JAMES J. NOYES, Secretary
DIRECTORS: J. White Belcher, Randolph
Howard Colburn, Dedham; Tyler Thayer
Norwood; A. H. Endicott, Dedham; Samuel
Gannett, Milton; Stephen M. Weld, Dedham.
Thomas B. Draper, Canton; William
Lincoln, Brookline; James Hewins, Medford.
GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent for Quincy.

Dedham Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
DEDHAM, MASS.
STATEMENT, JANUARY 1, 1904
Amount at Risk, $6,915,941.25
Cash Assets, 101,016.68
Total Liabilities (including
re-insurance), 59,210.86
Amount of Cash Surplus, $101,795.22
Contingent Assets, 109,425.25
Total Available Assets, 211,220.47
Dividends are now being paid on five-year
policies, 70 per cent; on three-year policies, 50 per cent; on one and two-year policies, 25 per cent.
J. WHITE BELCHER, President.
HOWARD COLBURN, Treasurer.
JAMES J. NOYES, Secretary.
DIRECTORS:—Howard Colburn, Dedham; Don
Glasco, Hill, Dedham; J. White Belcher,
Randolph; A. B. Endicott, Dedham; P. R.
Mansfield, Dedham; Frederick D. Ely, Dedham; Alfred Hewins, Dedham; Samuel Gannett, Milton; Charles M. Faunce, Boston.
GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent for Quincy.

QUINCY
Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
INCORPORATED IN 1851.
COMMENCED BUSINESS IN 1902
CHAS. A. HOWLAND, President.
WILLIAM H. FAY, Secretary.
C. A. HOWLAND, Jr., Sec. Sec.
CASH FUND January 1, 1904.
SURPLUS over Re-insurance, $705,963.30
LOSSES paid the past year, $456,776.74
DIVIDENDS PAID the past year, $42,201.94
GAIN IN SURPLUS the past year, $66,032.42
GAIN IN CASH FUND the past year, $12,983.04
AND EVERY LOSS PAID IN FULL.
AMOUNT AT RISK, $32,586,226.06
TOTAL LIABILITIES, $250,186.50
Dividends Paid on Every Expiring Policy:
60 per cent on 5 years, 40 per cent on 3 years
and 20 per cent on all others.
Quincy, Mass., 1904.

DORCHESTER
Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
BOSTON, MASS.
INCORPORATED 1855.
FORTY-NINTH ANNUAL STATEMENT
JANUARY 1, 1904.
Amount at Risk, $94,112,920.00
Cash Assets, 1,000,000.00
Total Liabilities, 1,042,040.00
Total Assets, 1,042,040.00
Cash Surplus, 461,467.31
Total Surplus, 1,503,507.31
Gain in Surplus in 1903 - 1,208.49
Gain in Assets in 1903 - 2,204.06
Dividends paid in 1903 - 60,266.68
Receipts in 1903 - 216,827.26
Disbursements in 1903 - 167,657.68
This Company now pays the following Divi-
dends:
On Five-year Policies - 60 per cent
On Three-year Policies - 50 per cent
On One-year Policies - 25 per cent
All losses promptly adjusted.
THOS. F. TEMPLE,
President and Treasurer
W. D. CURTIS, Secretary.
Directors: - J. H. Bartlett, Clarence Burgh,
W. D. Curtis, Charles T. Gallagher, Seth
W. L. Latham, Fred. Thomas, F. Temple,
James H. Upham, Sarel J. Willis.
Home Office, Neponset, Boston, Mass.

INSURANCE AGENCY.
ESTABLISHED in Quincy in the year
1849 by
W. PORTER.
Insurance effected in reliable and safe
Stock and Mutual Offices
By W. PORTER & CO.,
At No. 82 Water street, Boston.
Residence, Hancock street, Quincy.

Granite Firms.
FULLER, FOLEY & CO.,
Granite Manufacturers and Dealers. Works
opposite West Quay Depot.
MILNE & CHALMERS,
Monumental and Cemetery Work of every
description. Works near Quincy Adams Depot.
P. O. Address, Quincy, Mass. Branch Office,
24 West Main St., North Adams.
MERRY MOUNT GRANITE CO.
Incorporated 1881. Manufacturers and Dealers
in Monumental and Cemetery Work. Works near Quincy Adams Station, So. Quincy.

McGRATH BROS.,
Large stock of Finished Monuments and Tablets kept constantly on hand. Works at Quincy
Adams Station. Established 1864.

CAREY BROTHERS,
Dealers and manufacturers of Polished and Hammered Monuments, Curbing and Head-
stones. Willard street, West Quincy.

LONG & SAUNDERS,
Fine Monumental Work from American and Foreign Granite and Marble. Latest designs.
Superior workmanship. Works, South Quincy.
S. W. South, Boston, Mass.

BADGER BROTHERS,
Granite Dealers and Machinists. Monumental Work of all Descriptions. Celebrated Ashland Quarry for sale. West Quincy.

Thanksgiving Furniture
It's time to think of Thanksgiving, and to think of making your dining room cosy and cheerful. You can own the proper furniture, draperies and rugs at surprisingly low prices if you take advantage of our SPECIAL THANKSGIVING OFFER. The very newest dining room rugs in reds, greens and browns—with draperies to match if you wish.
A good complete Dining Room Set, including Sideboard, Extension Table, and set of Chairs as low as $25.00, and from this price up. Cash or on easy payments.
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
New England's Lowest Priced Furniture Store.
Hancock Street, Quincy.
We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

The National Granite Bank
OF QUINCY, MASS.
THEOPHILUS KING, Pres't.
RUPERT F. CLAFIN, Cash'r.
1836-1865-1904
Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.
$20 Boston Box for $5.
A Safe Deposit for Your Valuables,
Bonds, Deeds, Insurance Papers, etc.
NEW VAULT, FINE BOOTHS. COMPLETE RETIREMENT.
PROMPT AND COURTEOUS ATTENTION.
Call and Exam'ne.
Oct. 1. 11

Are You Saving Our
CASH SALE CHECKS?
IT PAYS.
The Amount of Profit We Shared with Customers having
CASH SALE CHECKS
Dated April 20th was $42 69
Dated May 10th was $43 42
Dated June 23d was $45 60
Dated July 11th was $60 46
Dated August 18th was $49 14
Dated September 16th was $60 23
Dated October 13th was $73 70
LOOK OUT AND GET YOUR SHARE.
Watch Our Windows Dec. 1st to 7th for November Date.
GEORGE W. JONES,
Adams Building, - QUINCY.

Plumbing, Heating and Gas Fitting.
The most despised drudgery of housekeeping is the care of the several fires and the sweeping up of the ashes and dust they produce. Unless, of course, you own a Hot-Water or Steam System
—only one fire then needed and no dust or ashes in the living rooms.
But during the previous winter a change came over the spirit of her dreams. George Hastings came to Glenville, and from her first acquaintance with him her life brightened. He was only a merchant's clerk, but capable and energetic, and a favorite
with his employer.
When Annie met him first she only saw a rather small and uninteresting appearing young man, who conversed agreeably. When she saw him for the second time she thought he had fine eyes, and before the evening was over
she confessed that his smile was beautiful. Then as their acquaintance progressed she found their tastes were very similar in many things.
After this she often called upon her evenings, and read along to her while she was busy with her sewing.
Stammering little attentions followed,
rendered in a tender, delicate way, and
for a time she was supremely happy.
George was slowly but surely approaching a declaration—was certain of this—and as she thought it over in her mind, doubts began to creep in where contentment had reigned.
She loved him so well, she could have died for him, and without him life would be utterly desolate. But he was very poor, with only a small sum as yet laid aside for a rainy day. Would her life, after all her tender dreams, be
Do not delay too long. Did not your experience last winter with the Old Hot Air Furnace teach you it was time to change. Compare the Cost of the Fuel saved in time to come, not the First Cost of the Heating Job. Speaking of Plumbing, that's our stronghold. Try us and
be convinced.
W. A. BRADFORD,
Tel. 111-3 Savings Bank Building, City Square. Open Monday and Saturday Evenings.
-Sept. 12. 11

Next to Washing
Dishes
IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Ranges
Do not delay too long. Did not your experience last winter with the Old Hot Air Furnace teach you it was time to change. Compare the Cost of the Fuel saved in time to come, not the First Cost of the Heating Job. Speaking of Plumbing, that's our stronghold. Try us and
be convinced.
W. A. BRADFORD,
Tel. 111-3 Savings Bank Building, City Square. Open Monday and Saturday Evenings.
-Sept. 12. 11

Poetry.
Visions of Thanksgiving.
WILLIAM J. LAMPTON
Now doth the turkey see in dreams
The vision of a day
That makes his beak to peck a-past
And turns his feathers gray
The smell of celery gives him pain,
And though his eyes are wet
With tears of coming sorrow, he Tries hard to forget.
A little cranberry is to him
The crimson badge of fate
That he must wear when he is called Into his future state.
An oyster makes him shut his eyes
To miss the sight of it;
And when he sees the Great Great Scot!
He almost has a fit.
He thinks 't is all the people who
Will come to his requiem,
And wonders how it's going to feel
To be inside a drum.
Ah, guileless duffer, you are up Against Thanksgiving Day!
You've got to stare yourself to death
Or die the other way.

Miscellany.
CLOUDS.
The whole scene was drear and desolate,
And a pale face pressed against the window pane looked out upon it with sorrowful eyes, seeing in the gloom of the landscape and shadowy skies the symbol of her future life.
The face itself was not remarkable;
there was no special beauty of outline,
no dazzling complexion, no soft-clouded way hair. It was white and slender, and would have been spiritless only for the restless eyes and blood-red lips.
The forehead was broad and thought-impressed, with brown hair brushed back and closely braided from the face which happiness might have beautified, but which was now undeniably plain,
and tinged with the cold, gray hue which prevailed earth, air and sky.
Annie Raymond stood for an hour looking persistently out, not on the dreary landscape alone, but into her drearier future. Since her mother's death, which occurred during her childhood, she had experienced no bitter trials, but little, trifling troubles had made her daily life unlovely and unpleasant.
The family was large and in very moderate circumstances, and, like all poor people of the present day, struggling to make one dollar show for two,
and so appear richer than they really are.
Jane, the eldest sister, took charge of the house and reared the younger children with a rod of iron. The two girls who came next were both married and struggling with large families and poverty. A brother next younger had left home and was seeking his fortune—a hopeless task. Then came Annie, age twenty-one, and then the youngest, still at home. The father was a grave hard-working man, who usually dozed away
the time he spent at home.
Annie's life had been monotonous enough thus far. There was housework in the mornings, and in the afternoons the sisters sewed for a furnishing store in the village, barely earning a sufficient sum to clothe them in the plainest apparel.
But they were sprightly, intelligent girls, and were received in the society of the village upon an equal footing with those who were better supplied with this world's goods.
There had been a time when Annie sought in the dreams of the future, but her life was too monotonous, so sinking in incident, these were soon dispelled. Her older sisters furnished striking examples of what her own life would be.
Should she choose a life of blessedness and become a cross, unhappy old maid like Jane? or follow in the footsteps of Annie and Sue, and be a sickly, task-burdened wife, with scarcely an hour's peace and quiet?
Neither picture looked inviting to a young girl who had a passionate longing for luxurious and beautiful things of this life. So she grew graver as the days went by, and the more homely tasks day after day, and Jane's reproving voice grew more and more harshly upon her sensitive ear, until it seemed as if she must cry out like a hurt child under the pain of her life burden, and she was only dumb for very shame.
Her older sisters seemed happy in a certain degree, and was her life harder to bear than theirs?
"They never think," she said, "I do;
so much the worse for me; but I cannot make them understand how terrible a life like theirs seems to me. It is so utterly devoid of beauty and even comfort."
But during the previous winter a change came over the spirit of her dreams. George Hastings came to Glenville, and from her first acquaintance with him her life brightened. He was only a merchant's clerk, but capable and energetic, and a favorite
with his employer.
When Annie met him first she only
saw a rather small and uninteresting
appearing young man, who conversed agreeably. When she saw him for the second time she thought he had fine
eyes, and before the evening was over
she confessed that his smile was beautiful. Then as their acquaintance progressed she found their tastes were
very similar in many things.
After this she often called upon her
evenings, and read along to her while
she was busy with her sewing.
Stammering little attentions followed,
rendered in a tender, delicate way, and
for a time she was supremely happy.
George was slowly but surely approaching a declaration—was certain
of this—and as she thought it over in
her mind, doubts began to creep in
where contentment had reigned.
She loved him so well, she could have died for him, and without him life
would be utterly desolate. But he was very poor, with only a small sum as yet laid aside for a rainy day. Would her life, after all her tender dreams, be different from Sue's or Sarah's, if she married him?
Jane, seeing to understand Annie's dilemma, lectured long and eloquently
on the subject of marriage.
George Hastings was a fine young man, she told Annie, would make his mark in the world yet, if he wasn't such a fool as to marry and burden himself with a wife. A wife was a fearful drag to any man. Single life for either man or woman, was the only true and noble life to lead, and any woman who married because she was tired of taking care of herself, was a moral coward.
So, pondering upon Jane's words
until she was nearly demented, Annie stood looking out upon the clouded skies in the chill November afternoon,
and thinking desolately of the clouds
hovering over her sky life.
"Will it always be so?" she asked herself bitterly, as she turned away.
"Oh, I am so tired of the clouds of sorrow. Will the sunshine of joy never come?"
At this moment one of her younger sisters came in with a letter for Annie.
In some surprise—for it bore a city
postmark—she opened it.
With the early heat of summer a lady had come to board at Glenville, in search of country fare and country
breezes, for she was a confirmed invalid.
She took lodgings across the way from
Mr. Raymond's, and seemed to fancy
Annie from the first. She now wrote asking Annie to come and live with her, as nurse and companion and offering a sum which seemed princely to Annie's eyes.
She decided at once to go, for she longed for a glimpse of the world without, but she would wait until she saw George in the evening, for his opinion
might influence her in some degree.
So, when he came, she hastened to impart the news.
"Don't go, Annie," he urged. "You know—you must have known for a long time—that I love you dearly. I've only waited to tell you because I had not a suitable home to offer you as yet. But I'm saving for that purpose every day,
dear, and when we can see each other
usually mild Annie.
"I'm a little longer. Stay, and promise me that you will be my wife just as soon
as I can provide for you properly."
"George," she said, "you know I love you, but I am too much of a coward to bind myself to be a life-long pleasure, like my sister, Sarah, for instance."
"Sarah was sickly before she married,
I believe," he answered quietly,
though his manner betrayed some surprise at such an outburst from the
usually mild Annie.
"Yes," reluctantly.
"And peevish and fretful, too."
"Yes," responded Annie, slowly.
"You are neither."
Annie burst into tears.
"She was unhappy," she said, "and
so am I."
George was puzzled. He used his powers of persuasion to the utmost,
but she was inexorable. She would not consent to an engagement, and she would go to the city as a companion to
Mrs. Read's, as she called with her obstinacy, but thinking it best to give her her own way, since he could not well do otherwise, he bade her good-by.
Annie sobbed herself to sleep that night, and two days after—for there was slight preparation needed—she set
out for the city.
For a time she was delighted with her situation. Mrs. Read was very captivating in her manner, and treated Annie almost like a sister. Annie had intended to save her earnings, but under Mrs. Read's advice, she found herself unable to resist them in the purchase of better clothing than she
had ever worn before.
By and by her situation became less pleasant. Mrs. Read was very capricious, and sometimes hard to please. Another trial dawned upon her when she found that the servants were neglected, and her mistress was a neglected, unloved wife,
and though she had everything that wealth could procure, she was very unhappy, as much as either Sue or Sarah.
"Oh, dear!" Annie sobbed to herself
one day, when her patience was severely tried, "everyone has more or less trouble, and after all, poverty isn't the hardest thing in the world to bear. If I were at home now I could marry
George and be contented with the inevitable outfit of six silver spoons and
two feather beds, and feel much happier
than either of my sisters."
However, she determined to remain
as long as she could bear with Mrs.
Read's unhappy temper and the unpleasantness of the family life, serving, thinking she would at least save her money and have something to begin life
with if she ever did marry, which seemed very doubtful to her now.
Spring came on, and as the weather
grew warmer Annie began to have fearful headaches, a new thing for her. She grew tired of the senseless lookings
of brick and brown stone and longed
for the pleasant woods near her home,
with their fresh, green leaves and early flowers. She felt if she could only have Jane to sell her it would do her good. She grew homesick for the very house she had despised. Mrs. Read complained that she was growing helpless, and Annie knew it was very true.
One morning she woke feeling too ill
to rise. Mrs. Read's bell rang repeatedly, but Annie was too ill to heed
it and lay dimly conscious of what was passing around her. She knew they were holding a consultation over her,
and afterward that they were removing her to some other place, she was far too
sick to care where.
After a few days of burning fever her senses returned, and she found herself in the hospital, with everything new and strange about her. As soon as she was able to sit up, she procured writing
materials of her nurse, and wrote home.
By this time, Mrs. Read had roused
Annie to write also, and, thoroughly alarmed, Jane set out to find her, so compelled by George Hastings.
George met Annie quietly, but Jane scolded and cried over her, until Annie felt that her sister really cared more for her than she had ever known. They took her home, a shadow of her former self, but more contented in mind than
she had been in many before.
But it was not until she was quite as well as ever, and had fallen readily indifferent from Sue's or Sarah's, if she married him?

Jane, seeing to understand Annie's
dilemma, lectured long and eloquently
on the subject of marriage.
George Hastings was a fine young man, she told Annie, would make his mark in the world yet, if he wasn't
such a fool as to marry and burden
himself with a wife. A wife was a fearful drag to any man. Single life
for either man or woman, was the only true and noble life to lead, and any woman who married because she was tired of taking care of herself, was a
moral coward.
So, pondering upon Jane's words
until she was nearly demented, Annie
stood looking out upon the clouded
skies in the chill November afternoon,
and thinking desolately of the clouds
hovering over her sky life.
"Will it always be so?" she asked
herself bitterly, as she turned away.
"Oh, I am so tired of the clouds of sorrow. Will the sunshine of joy never come?"
At this moment one of her younger sisters came in with a letter for Annie.
In some surprise—for it bore a city
postmark—she opened it.
With the early heat of summer a lady
had come to board at Glenville, in search of country fare and country
breezes, for she was a confirmed invalid.
She took lodgings across the way from
Mr. Raymond's, and seemed to fancy
Annie from the first. She now wrote asking Annie to come and live with
her, as nurse and companion and offering a sum which seemed princely to Annie's eyes.
She decided at once to go, for she longed for a glimpse of the world without, but she would wait until she saw George in the evening, for his opinion
might influence her in some degree.
So, when he came, she hastened to
impart the news.
"Don't go, Annie," he urged. "You know—you must have known for a long time—that I love you dearly. I've only waited to tell you because I had not a suitable home to offer you as yet. But
I'm saving for that purpose every day,
dear, and when we can see each other
usually mild Annie.
"I'm a little longer. Stay, and promise me
that you will be my wife just as soon
as I can provide for you properly."
"George," she said, "you know I love you, but I am too much of a coward to bind myself to be a life-long pleasure, like my sister, Sarah, for instance."
"Sarah was sickly before she married,
I believe," he answered quietly,
though his manner betrayed some surprise at such an outburst from the
usually mild Annie.
"Yes," reluctantly.
"And peevish and fretful, too."
"Yes," responded Annie, slowly.
"You are neither."
Annie burst into tears.
"She was unhappy," she said, "and
so am I."
George was puzzled. He used his powers of persuasion to the utmost,
but she was inexorable. She would not consent to an engagement, and she would go to the city as a companion to
Mrs. Read's, as she called with her obstinacy, but thinking it best to give her her own way, since he could not
well do otherwise, he bade her good-by.
Annie sobbed herself to sleep that
night, and two days after—for there
was slight preparation needed—she set
out for the city.
For a time she was delighted with her situation. Mrs. Read was very captivating in her manner, and treated Annie almost like a sister. Annie had intended to save her earnings, but under Mrs. Read's advice, she found herself unable to resist them in the purchase of better clothing than she
had ever worn before.
By and by her situation became less pleasant. Mrs. Read was very capricious, and sometimes hard to please. Another trial dawned upon her when she found that the servants were neglected, and her mistress was a neglected, unloved wife,
and though she had everything that wealth could procure, she was very unhappy, as much as either Sue or Sarah.
"Oh, dear!" Annie sobbed to herself
one day, when her patience was severely tried, "everyone has more or less trouble, and after all, poverty isn't the hardest thing in the world to bear. If
I were at home now I could marry
George and be contented with the inevitable outfit of six silver spoons and
two feather beds, and feel much happier
than either of my sisters."
However, she determined to remain
as long as she could bear with Mrs.
Read's unhappy temper and the unpleasantness of the family life, serving, thinking she would at least save her
money and have something to begin life
with if she ever did marry, which seemed very doubtful to her now.
Spring came on, and as the weather
grew warmer Annie began to have fearful headaches, a new thing for her. She grew tired of the senseless lookings
of brick and brown stone and longed
for the pleasant woods near her home,
with their fresh, green leaves and early flowers. She felt if she could only have Jane to sell her it would do her good. She grew homesick for the very house she had despised. Mrs. Read complained that she was growing helpless, and Annie knew it was very true.
One morning she woke feeling too ill
to rise. Mrs. Read's bell rang repeatedly, but Annie was too ill to heed
it and lay dimly conscious of what was passing around her. She knew they were holding a consultation over her,
and afterward that they were removing
her to some other place, she was far too
sick to care where.
After a few days of burning fever her
senses returned, and she found herself
in the hospital, with everything new
and strange about her. As soon as she was able to sit up, she procured writing
materials of her nurse, and wrote home.
By this time, Mrs. Read had roused
Annie to write also, and, thoroughly
alarmed, Jane set out to find her, so compelled by George Hastings.
George met Annie quietly, but Jane scolded and cried over her, until Annie
felt that her sister really cared more
for her than she had ever known. They took her home, a shadow of her former self, but more contented in mind than
she had been in many before.
But it was not until she was quite as well as ever, and had fallen readily into the old routine of daily labor, that George spoke again of love. He came to see her the same afternoon, and brought her red roses in the way of flowers and books; and one evening, when they were sitting in the dusk and gloom of the twilight, with the cloudy November skies frowning without, George said:

"Do you think, Annie, you could marry a poor man, after all?"
"Oh, George!" deprecatingly.
"And do you think you are brave enough to bind yourself to be a lifelong slave like your sister Sarah?"
"Not to a husband I did not love, and who cared for me?"
"That would be a fearful bondage for me, or for any other woman."
"But I love you and you love me."
"Don't you think that makes a great difference?"
"All the difference in the world," George.
"Then do you not think you could make up your mind to marry me?"
"I think I could if you asked me."
"Oh!" with a laugh, and that was all.
Not a word was spoken by either for some time, but he took her hand and drew her silently to his side. At last he spoke:
"Confess, Annie," he said, "that you are disappointed. I am not the hero you expected as a husband, am I?"
"No," she answered, "but you are a true, noble-hearted man, and that is better. I forgot in all my senseless day-dreams and plans for the future that I was only a woman, and a very foolish one at that. You have excellent judgment and sense, but you are just my age, and not so wise. I am afraid of you. I know you have faults, but so have I; and if you will have patience with mine, I can bear yours without a word."
"We shall have trials, too, dear,"
he said, "but we shall both endure them, and that will make them somewhat easier to bear. The lesson of the past year has not harmed you, Annie;
you will be more contented all your life
for it."
"It may have done me good, George;
but I don't think that I'm one whit better than I was a year ago. I have the same faults still."
"Neither am I better than I was then, Annie; but I think we understand each other more fully, and I love you, faults and all, as I never loved another man before. At Christmas time they were married. And the fiery in which Annie had indulged the winter before, with slight remodeling, served a good purpose as a wedding trousseau. Her father came forward with the spoons and feather-beds, and she was resolved, self-wonderfully, saying it was a pleasure to help Annie, she was so grateful for everything.
The little sum which Annie had saved from her earnings, helped to furnish the pretty little cottage which George's increased salary enabled him to rent, and though everything about it was very plain, it was neat and tasteful and homelike, George and Annie were happier in it than many a pair, who have all the money in the world,
could ever dream of being.
And busy with her daily work, which love lightened, Annie forgot to mourn over clouded skies.

She Knew the Town.
Judge Nathan Goff of West Virginia, had a sister famous all through the state for her remarkable brilliancy of mind and broad culture. Miss Goff possessed that rare quality of being able to appreciate a joke at her own expense.
The family home of the Goffs is in Clarksburg, a straggling city in the mountains of West Virginia, not especially noted for anything except its mildly beautiful streets in winter.
Miss Goff is a frequent visitor to New York, and on one occasion she attended a reception at the house of a prominent bishop, given in honor of a clergyman who had recently accepted a charge in New York City. It fell to Miss Goff's lot to entertain another equally prominent bishop whose diocese is one of the New England states, and who gave enthusiastic in talking about the guest of honor. He dilated at length on his learning and oratory and closed his remarks by saying: "I am glad to meet you here, Miss Goff, for you are the most remarkable thing about our friend is that he comes from a miserable little mudhole in West Virginia. Let me see. It is called—"
"It is some place with a 'burg,'" the bishop finally added.
"Oh, yes," said Miss Goff; "Clarkburg. I live in that mudhole."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Schemes.
"Give some people something for nothing and you've got them," said a well known real estate dealer the other day. He went on to state that he never had any trouble in renting houses as long as he succeeded in thinking up something-for-nothing schemes.
"My most successful plan to rent a house has been to place in the cellar about half a ton of coal," he said.
"People who wish to rent come along and after I have stated the price of the best points of the house I escort them to the cellar. They spy the coal and to their inquiry I simply let them believe their own suggestion and the previous tenants let the coal behind.
Now, as I have said, so anxious are most people to secure something for nothing that the left-over coal game very seldom fails to take. Who loses?
Why, nobody; the coal man who has supplied the sample, has put in his best, and when I tell him the house is rented he immediately appears with his price list and with the recommendation that he served the previous tenants he does business often enough to Battleship Launched.

The battleship New Jersey was successfully launched at the Fore River Shipyard Thursday noon. It lacked but a few minutes of noon when the hundreds of workmen, that lined each side of the monster barge, to drive home the wedges and knock out the shores.

The banks of the river and in fact every vantage point was black with people, while gathered within the enclosure of the yard were hundreds of guests and thousands of workmen.

The large launching stand at the bow of the vessel was gaily decorated with flags and bunting, while a long stream of flags of the international code fluttered in the breeze across the deck.

From the bow of the boat there was suspended a rope of red, white and blue, from the end of which hung the bottle of champagne with which the vessel was to be christened.

Across the stern of the vessel there was a broad bulkhead designed to serve as a check when she entered the water.

At 10 minutes past noon a rasping sound was heard. This was the saw cutting away the final block that kept the vessel from sliding down the ways.

At exactly 12:14 she began to move, slowly at first, but gradually gathering headway.

She slid gracefully down the ways into the water, the big chains and hawsers rippling everything that came in their way.

As she entered the water a mighty wave was sent rolling toward the Weymouth shore. Waiting tugs steamed alongside to tow her into the wharf.

Hardly had the vessel started when Mrs. William B. Kinney smashed the bottle of champagne on her bow and in a clear voice said, "I christen thee New Jersey."

A mighty cheer went up from thousands of throats and the whistles at the works sounded their shrill notes, as did also the naval and other tugs in the river.

Above all this came the strains of the Star Spangled Banner from the band of the battleship Missouri, which had come down from the Charlestown Navy Yard on the naval tug, and had been stationed near the launching stand.

The launch was most successful in every way. Not a thing happened to mar the event and it was a happy party that made its way from the launching stand to the mould loft where a lunch was served.

The New Jersey party and State guests came from Boston on a special train of three cars. The train left Boston at 10:30 and at 11:15 came to a stop in front of the machine shop in the yard.

Almost the first to step from the train was Gov. Murphy of New Jersey, and his daughter, Mrs. Kinney, also Gov. Bates. President Bowles greeted the party, and taking Mrs. Kinney upon his arm escorted her to the launching stand.

As the distinguished guests stepped from the train a score or more of photographers turned their cameras upon them, and the click, click of the shutter, told that they had been caught.

Mrs. Kinney carried a handsome bunch of roses. These were presented to her by Mrs. Marion A. MacBride of the New England Women's Press Association, whose officers came on the special train.

She also carried a handsome bouquet of pinks, orchids, violets and ferns. Mrs. Kinney was dressed entirely in black and Gov. Murphy also wore a mourning weed on his silk hat.

Mrs. Kinney is a young woman of small figure, with the brunoise type and very pretty.

Quincy Charitable Society.

The annual meeting of the members of this society was held on Monday, November 7, when the following named persons were elected officers for the ensuing year.

President.—Rev. Edward Norton. Vice President.—Rev. E. C. Butler. Secretary.—Mrs. Charles A. Spear. Treasurer.—Mrs. E. W. Henry Bass.

Directors.—Mrs. Lucy A. Mitchell, Mrs. Fred L. Jones, Mrs. William A. McCormack, Mrs. E. G. Pratt, Mrs. Abbie F. Fenno, Mrs. M. Gertrude Sampson.

The following report of the treasurer, Mrs. E. W. H. Bass, was read and accepted:

Nov. 2, 1903, bal. in Quincy Savings Bank $420.52

Nov. 7, 1904, accrued interest 11.05

Donations 100.00

Members' fees 30.70

By disbursements 822.40

Nov. 7, 1904, bal. in Savings Bank 107.53

Nov. 7, 1904, bal. in Savings Bank 822.40

Only Two Parties.

Returns of the vote for President from every city in Massachusetts and from all but 29 of the 320 towns in the state show an enormous shrinkage in the votes polled by all the minor political parties, and the indications are that for the first time since the 3-2 party vote in 1896, no party will be able to get a legal party in this state in the coming year.

The Socialist party, which has been a legal party since 1901, and which two years ago polled 33,629 votes, or nearly 10 percent of the entire state vote, polled but 12,834 votes for its candidate, Charles L. Faneuil, in a total state vote of 443,068, or only about 2.9 percent.—Boston Globe.

Dynamite Carters Discharged.

Judge Adams finds that confessions of the part of the accused parties are not sufficient to warrant a conviction of those charged with violating the city ordinances by carting through Boston streets that dynamite which blew up a trolley car, killed nine persons and injured more than two score in Melrose, Sept. 21.

—Latest moves on the international checkerboard of diplomacy indicate that Japan is ready for peace and has already made official representations to Russia looking to this end. There is a definite impression in London that the initiative will come from President Roosevelt. Lord Lansdowne is confident that whatever the United States may do in the matter Great Britain will cooperate, even in the event of France not participating.

—Judge Emmons announces that he will serve out his term of five years on the Board of Police Commissioners in Boston, no matter who sits in the governor's chair, and that he has not the slightest intention of resigning.

—James O'Brien of Charlestown, 103 years old, voted in Boston on Tuesday last.

—Wednesday last was the thirty-second anniversary of the big fire in Boston.

CITY BRIEFS.

Winter begins Dec. 22. The days are now less than ten hours long.

The Socialists have nominated Gustave B. Bates for Mayor.

E. J. Pincus of Hingham has accepted a position with Frank Randall.

Elmer Pale and family have moved from South street to Beverly road.

An adjourned meeting of the City Council will be held next Monday evening.

Shirley F. Nutting of Chestnut street is confined to the house with a sore foot.

Thanksgiving and the City election will not come as near together this year as usual.

The annual fair of the Woman's guild of Christ church will be held early in December.

The street railway is putting in a supply of salt and sand for use when snow comes.

A large force of workmen are laying sewer pipes on Upland road as far as Adams street.

The gas company is replacing the old one-inch pipe on Linden place with a two-inch one.

Officer James W. Murray, who has been sick for some weeks, is able to receive visitors.

The public installation of the officers of Rural lodge will take place Tuesday evening, Nov. 22.

Camp Boyd, L. S. W. V., will be inspected this month by Assistant Inspector General Fred L. Hood.

Miss Mollie Cable of Forest Hills has been the guest of Miss Elizabeth Walcott Farnum of Newcomb street.

Miss Mae Langley is in Providence, R. I., the guest of her brother, George D. Langley, for a few days.

There was a slight fire on the Granite street bridge Tuesday evening about 8 o'clock, the sleepers being ignited.

Mrs. Stephen Pennington of Whitwell street has gone to New York to visit her daughter, Mrs. James B. Pollock.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Spomer of Beverly road have returned from a three weeks' visit to Chicago and St. Louis fair.

Edgemoor has been set in front of the residence of John T. Hunt and the new house next to him, on Bigelow street.

George F. Hall of Nashua, N. H., has accepted a position at the National Granite bank. He comes well recommended.

Dr. C. R. Martin, the dentist, has rented the rooms over Johnson Bros. store and will occupy the same as soon as finished.

George H. Wilson had displayed on his store Wednesday the original flag that was presented to the Cleveland battalion in 1884.

The joint caucuses to select candidates for the City election will be held next Tuesday, and will bring out an unusually big vote.

Ferdinand Muer, sculptor, of Togus, Maine, has been renewing old acquaintance in this city the past week, after an absence of several years.

C. H. Brooks has severed his connection with the livery and boarding stable on Washington street. The new firm is now Johnson & Brown.

The total vote of Quincy Tuesday was 4405 out of a registered vote of 5124. The vote cast shows an increase of 500 over the November election last year.

The crowds that throng City Square Saturday nights is a forcible reminder that the city is growing, and that many people from out of town come here to do their trading.

As a prelude to the morning service at Bethany church on Sunday, Mrs. Jennie Hocking Hunt, the organist, played a difficult selection from "Parsifal" with great success.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Faxon of Adams street are receiving the condolences of their friends, the little daughter born to them last week, passing away early Saturday morning.

The body of Augustus Johnson who died in Boston Friday was brought to Quincy Monday for burial at Mt. Wollaston cemetery. He was a brother of Julius Johnson the contractor and builder.

The street railway is putting its trolley over City Square in condition for winter. A number of new poles are also being erected to replace poles that have rotted at the base and become weakened.

Rev. W. W. Dorman, formerly pastor of the United Presbyterian church of this city, has resigned his pastorate at the Winthrop Congregational church, Holbrook, to become pastor of the Pilgrim church at Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Morse of Goffe street have issued invitations to a reception to be given at their home on Friday evening November eighteenth from seven until eleven, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Morse, Jr., nee Spear.

Quincy High was unable to score Nov. 4 in its foot ball game with Thayer Academy at Braintree. The home team was heavier and stronger, and rolled up 10 points against the visitors—three touchdowns from which one goal was kicked.

Miss Mary E. Fletcher, for several years connected with the National Day Nursery, has resigned to accept a position as private secretary to an old friend, a Somerville lady who has recently lost her husband. She will be retained not only by depositors at the bank, but in Bethany church and socially.

The Criterion Cafe has moved to No. 3 Granite street, where better facilities than ever have been secured to wait upon the wants of its numerous patrons. Arrangements have been made so that those who wish simply a lunch can be accommodated. No pains will be spared to make this restaurant up to date in every respect.

"The Helpers" class at First Church Sunday school, gave a candy sale on Saturday afternoon at the home of their teacher Mrs. Emory L. Crane, Whittey road, to raise money for the Quincy Day Nursery and realized about twenty dollars. In the class are: Chester Bennett, Willis Garey, Abbott Johnson, Allen Miller, Osborne Rogers, Samuel Sears and Edward Lincoln Stewart.

The Servia club, which is composed of the ladies who accompanied the Ancients on their trip to London, met Nov. 4 and decided to hold a series of whist parties at the homes of members and the annual reunion in January. (Continued from page 1)

Auctioneer Crane will sell the cows and farm stock of the Studley farm at Braintree, Nov. 21.

George Bruff has enlisted in the United States Army for four years, and leaves today for the Philippines.

The Democrats have nominated Patrick W. Driscoll and Robert J. Teasdale as Councilmen at Large.

Rev. E. C. Butler of First church exchanges on Sunday morning with Rev. Frederick R. Griffin, of All Souls church, Braintree.

Mrs. and Mrs. John Emerson Arnold, who were married last August, are at home to their friends on Friday, November the eighteenth, on Arnold street, Braintree.

The Rev. Edwin N. Hardy of Bethany church was one of the speakers at the Boston Ministers' meeting Monday morning giving a report of the National Council at Des Moines, Iowa.

The Entre Nous whist club met with Mrs. M. C. King of Chestnut street Wednesday afternoon. Souvenirs were awarded to Mrs. Wm. A. Henley of Quincy and Mrs. C. A. Stetson of Medford. Refreshments were served.

Workmen are busily engaged in removing the dirt from under Johnson Brothers' market. There has never been a cellar under the building and Mr. Johnson says he must have one to meet the demands of his business.

Mrs. A. F. Schenckelberger of Goffe street is hostess for the meeting of the Friday club on November eighteenth, and Mrs. George G. Saville has the literary program in charge, the subjects being Mrs. Elizabeth Gaskell and the life of Charlotte Bronte and Cranford.

Mrs. Florence N. Locke is getting settled in her new home opposite Hotel Greenleaf, in the rooms she is now very pleasantly situated to receive her friends and patrons and to better accommodate her increasing business.

Quite the largest reception of the season will be the one which Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Morse are giving on Friday evening of next week at their home on Goffe street, for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Morse, Jr., who were recently married. They will receive from seven until eleven o'clock.

The handsomest residence of Joseph L. Walton, Jr., of Quincy Point, being built on Whitney road, is nearly completed. The foundation for the residence of Mr. Thompson is also laid on the opposite side of the street. This residential section of Quincy is growing rapidly.

The Wednesday evening club whist parties which have been enjoyed for several seasons are to be resumed next week when they will be entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Stetson, School street, on Tuesday evening instead of Wednesday evening, owing to other engagements.

Mrs. Frank S. Davis of Elm street opens her house on Tuesday afternoon for the fourth talk in the series being given by Miss Ellen Thompson. The subject of the talk will be Walter Savage Landor. The fifth and last talk will be on the twenty-second at the home of Mrs. E. C. Butler.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Jones of Malden gave a dinner on Thursday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Stetson of this city. Covers were laid for two and the table was beautifully decorated with orchids. It was in the nature of a reunion of friends who have a summer home at Harwich on the Cape.

The regular meeting of the Hospital Association will be held Thursday, November 17th, at 2:30 P. M., at the home of Mrs. G. S. Keyes, 15 Allyn street. This meeting is held one week earlier because of Thanksgiving and being the last before the annual meeting a good attendance is particularly desired.

Rev. E. C. Butler gave a paper on the Vandalia Movement, before the North Middlesex conference on Oct. 29. The Christian Register in speaking of it says "He with sympathetic insight and brilliant wit disclosed its philosophic and spiritual contribution to mankind. It was a fine plea for tolerance."

Mrs. William Porter, treasurer of Adams Chapter Daughters of the Revolution, has the sympathy of members of the chapter, her husband passing away on Saturday. Mr. Porter was a well-known musician, belonging to several musical clubs and bands. Members of Adams chapter attended the funeral on Wednesday.

The Quincy Branch Alliance will meet Monday, November 14, at three o'clock in the parlors of First church, City square. This will be a cheerful letter meeting and Miss Bertha Langmaid of Boston, secretary of the Alliance, will exchange information with the branch. All women are cordially invited to attend these meetings.

The New England Woman's Press association is to have a Hungarian afternoon at hotel Vendome, Boston, next Wednesday when Miss Edith Lenwood Winn will give a recital at three o'clock on Hungarian Music. Miss Winn is particularly good and there is quite a demand for admission cards which may be obtained of Miss A. L. Prescott Quincy or Mrs. F. H. Bishop Wollaston.

A grand reunion of former pupils of Thayer Academy is to be held Friday evening November eighteenth at Hotel Brunswick, Boston, from five to nine o'clock. Following the reception, supper will be served at six o'clock with addresses by Rev. E. C. Butler, Rev. E. C. Palmer French will preside. Secretary John D. Long, Prof. Sewell and other guests have accepted invitations to be present.

The dates for the holding of a rummage sale for the benefit of the Quincy Day Nursery are Nov. 17 and 18, and the place is the store of Frank Fessenden Crane, Chestnut street. It is hoped the people of Quincy will be liberal in the donation of articles for the sale as the cause is a most worthy one. A committee will be at the store Wednesday Nov. 16 from 9 to 1 o'clock to receive articles.

Don't forget the rummage sale next week Thursday and Friday at the store of Frank F. Crane, Chestnut street. There may be some things there you will wish to buy. If you do not care to buy do not fail to contribute some articles to the sale as it is for the benefit of the Quincy Day Nursery, a most worthy cause. Do not forget in donating, that things you have no use for may be very useful to others.

The reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goodwin of Huntington road, East Milton, on Wednesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William Palmer Tanner was a very pretty affair. Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin and Mr. and Mrs. Tanner received the guests informally. In the dining room Miss Jeanette Tanner and Miss Pearl Elliott presided over a daintily appointed table. Mr. and Mrs. Tanner left this week for Los Angeles, California, their future home.

The quarterly meeting of the Hospital trustees will be held at the Hospital next Monday afternoon.

Some needed repairs are being made to the chimneys on the northerly side of the Greenleaf block.

Norfolk county elected but one Democrat to the Legislature, Frederick W. Whitcomb of Holbrook.

Flags were displayed on several private residences Wednesday in honor of the election of President Roosevelt.

The Junior Friday club was entertained on Monday afternoon at the home of Miss Fay Hitchcock, Foster street.

Do you realize that next Tuesday the city caucuses are to be held, and that the municipal election is near at hand?

There will be a meeting of the Fraternity society with Mrs. E. C. Butler, on Wednesday, Nov. 16, at two o'clock.

A portion of Bigelow street has been dug up many times of late for water and sewer connections is being resurfaced.

The Registrars of Voters met in the Council chamber at City Hall Thursday night and added twenty names to the voting lists.

Miss Minnie Hardwick is arranging for music to be given at her home for the benefit of the organ fund of First church.

The body of William Day, formerly of Quincy, who died in Lynn, was brought to Quincy Thursday for burial at Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

Tuesday was the 61st State election at which James T. Pennington has been a voter of Quincy. N. B. Farnum voted for the 50th consecutive time.

Letters have been received from Mrs. Edwin W. Baxter written at Seville, Spain, where she and her daughters spent a week on their way to Italy.

The term of Charles H. Porter of this city as Civil Service Commissioner will expire while Hon. William L. Douglas is Governor of Massachusetts.

City Solicitor Paul B. Blackmer, who has been very busy for some weeks in the trial of court cases, left Wednesday for Maine for a rest of a week or more.

William Gillis, aged 30 years, employed at the Fore River Shipyard, attempted suicide Wednesday at the house of Patrick Joyce 32 Summer street where he boarded.

A number of the old trees surrounding the Dorothy G. house are being cut down so that a better view of the house is had from Hancock street. The improvement is quite marked.

Edward, Jr., the two-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Miller of Bigelow street, entertained about a dozen little friends and their mamma on Friday afternoon, on his anniversary.

It is a little singular that two roommates should have met untimely deaths on election days. Carroll Daly, at the power station this year, and his roommate of a year ago on the railroad at the Quincy depot.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Kincaid accompanied the Cocolato club of Braintree on its visitation to Colonial club of Dorchester on Wednesday evening. There were about one hundred in the party.

Commissioner Knowlton has caused notices to be posted about the reservoir of the Quincy Water department in Braintree, prohibiting fishing and giving notice that persons violating the notice will be prosecuted.

The regular annual inspection of John A. Boyd Camp, L. S. W. V., will be held on Tuesday evening, Nov. 15. Assistant Inspector General Wood of Boston will be the inspecting officer. A full attendance is desired.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. John T. Whitcher of Adams street for the wedding of his sister Miss Sarah Whitcher and Mr. Arthur Bates Holden, of Quincy, November the twenty-eighth at half past twelve at the First Congregational church.

Good progress is being made building the wall on Sea street side of the Mt. Wollaston cemetery. The work was started at the end adjoining the John Quincy Adams estate. It is now complete on that side almost to the entrance.

A conveyance chartered by Mr. Fred Tupper conveyed about twenty-five of the friends of Mr. William P. Tanner to East Milton Wednesday evening to attend the reception given to him and his bride by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goodwin of Huntington road.

Friday's temperature of 38 degrees at noon was another record breaking cold day for the fall of 1904. It was the lowest noon temperature since April 10. Not until Nov. 20 last day did we have as cold a day, but on Nov. 29 the temperature was down to 23.

Mrs. Mary A. Livermore on an address to the Daughters of Massachusetts on Thursday, placed Abigail Adams, the wife of President John Quincy Adams, and mother of President John Quincy Adams, second to Mary Warren among women to stir the country. She also named Mrs. Draper of Dedham, and Deborah Gannett.

One of the late October weddings was that of Mr. Charles Laforet Stetson and Miss Martha Louise Bosworth, both of Melrose. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Everett S. Swan of Quincy, who was herself a bride last year. Mr. Swan was one of the ushers.

The fifty-eighth annual convention of the Norfolk County Teachers' Association was held Nov. 4 in the Rogers building, Institute of Technology. There was a very large attendance at all the sessions and the program was carried out as arranged by President T. B. Pollard.

A concert will be the next attraction in the Brotherhood entertainment. The pocketbook containing the money was in a hand bag which had been left in the dressing room. Shortly after, William Reynolds of Gloucester place, reported that some one had stolen $12 of his hard earned money.

Inspector Bradley was detailed on the case, and up to the present time he has recovered $35 of the money. The balance has probably been expended.

The money was taken by boys is a pretty well known, although the money was not in possession of the boy when recovered. From information received Inspector Bradley visited Summer Park where under a rock he found $35 of the stolen money.

Odd Fellows Bowl. In a special match at the Granite street alleys Thursday evening the team of John Hancock Lodge out bowled the Mt. Wollaston team two games out of three. John Hancock won the first game quite easily, but the Mt. Wollaston boys got them coming on the last string and won, rolling a big single of 457. Ferris of Mt Wollaston was the man of the night. Moorhead of the same team got high single of 104. Waite and McLeod did the best work for John Hancock.

Charles N. Richards came home from Washington to Rhode, and he improved the time to see old acquaintances. He said he was taught how to vote in the Police station and he voted there. Mr. Richards is keeper of stationery of the United States Senate. He and his wife, with two children, have recently returned from a trip to the State of Washington and Alaska, being away nearly three months.

WOLLASTON.

The next regular meeting of the Wollaston Alliance will be held at the home of Mrs. Frank A. Page, 107 Winthrop avenue, Wednesday, November sixteenth at half past two.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Cladon, of Wollaston are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son.

Kenneth Lewis, of Farrington street, home from New York for a few days. Mrs. Geo. Farrer delightedly entertained the Sunlight club of Winthrop Highlands, of which she is a popular member, Wednesday afternoon, from 1:30 to 5:30. The afternoon was spent in playing whist, dancing in the billiard room, selections on the graphophone and piano solos. Refreshments were served.

Miss Almina Simmons of South Central avenue, Wollaston, visited friends at the Point on Sunday.

George E. Wardwell of this city has been appointed an assistant inspector general of the United States Customs, at the Custom House in New York. The hours now are from 7 to 12 and 12:30 to 4:30.

A heavy dray of the R. S. Brine Transportation Co. of Boston, drawn by twelve horses, conveyed two large pieces of machinery, weighing twenty-eight tons, to the Quincy station, from the South Quincy station to the street railway power plant at Quincy Point Monday morning.

The many friends of Miss Clara L. Gustafson of this city will be sorry to hear that she met with a painful accident a week ago by falling and severely injuring her ankle, breaking some of the ligaments and causing a hemorrhage of the ankle to set in. Dr. Bushnell of Quincy Point is attending her at her home on Union street.

Marcus Wright is having the lawn at his house graded.

The Daniel Butler estate on Washington street, occupied by the Kittredge family, has been recently painted and is much improved in appearance.

H. W. Merrill of East Howard street left Saturday morning for Casco, Maine, where he will make a brief visit.

Miss Eva Pettis of Marshfield was in Quincy Tuesday and called on a few old friends.

George S. T. Whiting of Quincy avenue voted in Ward Two for the sixteenth time for President, and for the fourteenth different president. He first voted for Van Buren 1836.

H. B. Sells entertained his father from Woburn on Wednesday.

Miss Kate Starbuck of South Street is entertaining Mr. James Masters of Brooklyn, New York.

The funeral of Carroll Daly, the man killed at the power station at Quincy Point, was held Thursday at nine o'clock at St. John's church.

W. F. Crosby was making a brief visit with relatives in this city. They came up from Cotuit to attend the fair, being held at the Perkins' Institute for the blind.

Robert Horton of East Howard street who was threatened with rheumatic fever, is improving.

On Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock a quiet wedding took place at the Rev. W. A. Brady's residence, 179 Franklin street, when Miss Ruby M., daughter of Mrs. M. E. Caldwell, was united in marriage to Mr. Samuel R. Alward of New Brunswick, Maine. Mr. and Mrs. Alward will make their home with the bride's parents, at present at 500 Washington street.

Rev. E. N. Hardy and Rev. L. H. Austin will exchange pulpits Sunday morning.

The Ladies Aid society of the Washington Street Congregational church gave another one of its interesting suppers to the vestry Thursday evening. The supper tables were laden with all the good things and the ladies served a large number of people. An entertainment followed the supper. The reader of the evening was Mr. Byron of Tufts college. His selections brought forth hearty applause.

For Monday, Nov. 7, Mrs. C. G. Page sang several solos, accompanied by James Melville on the violin. Mrs. A. C. Sells was pianist. The Misses Newcomb of North Weymouth also pleased the audience with several duets on the piano. Several students from Tufts were present.

An enthusiastic meeting in favor of the coming city election, was held Thursday evening in the Yule house on Washington street. Several of those present who did not feel capable of making fine speeches, rendered solos, and sang songs.

Flower, Mary McEue, Margaret McCue and Jennie McLaughlin.

Old Ladies.—Elizabeth Spargo, Jennie Bonfield, Michael Farrer, Mary Farrer and Mary Crosta.

Variety.—Flora Fessati, Mary Crosta, Henrietta Attioni and Minnie

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.
On and after Oct. 30, 1904, trains will run as follows:
(Subject to change without notice.)
TO BOSTON		FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Leave	Stop
Quincy.	at Boston.	Boston.	at Quincy.
* 6 14 a	6 42	* 5 50 a	6 19 p
* 7 26 a	6 53	* 6 27 a	6 54 p
* 8 43 a	7 13	* 6 57 a	7 19 p
* 9 13 a	7 33	* 7 27 a	7 49 p
* 9 26 a	7 45	* 8 27 a	8 49 p
* 9 55 a	8 15	* 8 55 a	9 51 p
* 10 14 a	8 35	* 10 27 a	10 49 p

ce	9 13 abc	9 33	1 27 cba	1 49 r
ce	10 10 Exp.	10 17	1 57 cba	2 19 r
ce	11 13 abc	10 33	2 27 cba	2 39 r
ce	12 19 abcdef	11 37	2 45 Exp.	3 02
ce	13 15 abc	12 13	3 27 cba	3 49 r
ce	14 13 abc	1 33	4 27 cba	4 19 r
ce	15 13 abc	2 33	4 10 edcba	5 16 r
ce	16 13 abc	2 33	5 15 a	5 34 r
ce	17 13 abc	4 33	5 15 a	6 19 r
ce	18 13 abc	4 33	5 27 cba	5 49 r
ce	19 13 abc	5 15	6 45 cba	6 05 r
ce	20 13 abc	5 15	6 45 cba	6 19 r
ce	21 29 abcdefghij	6 33	6 57 cba	6 19 r
ce	22 13 abc	6 33	6 15 da	6 36 r
ce	23 13 abc	7 33	7 27 cba	7 49 r
ce	24 13 abc	7 33	7 27 cba	7 49 r
ce	25 13 abc	8 33	8 24 fdcba	7 49 r
ce	26 13 abc	9 33	8 24 fdcba	8 33 r
ce	27 13 abc	9 33	8 24 fdcba	8 33 r
ce	28 13 abc	11 32	10 27 ghfedcba	10 37 r
ce	29 13 abc	11 32	10 50 ghfedcba	11 19 r

SUNDAYS
r	7 43 abc	8 03	6 24 ihgdcba 6 52 r
h	8 43 abc	9 02	7 03 ihgdcba 6 52 r
ish	9 03 abc	9 02	11 16 ihgfedcbahc 45 r
h	9 33 a	9 01	12 28 ch 12 49 r
r	11 16 abedghil 11 44	9 28	2 16 ihgfedcbahc 45 r
ffer-	9 33 abcdehfgil 11 44	4 28 ch 4 49 r	3 45 r
h	9 13 abcdehfgil 9 28	5 28 ch 5 49 r	6 49 r
har-	9 13 abcdehfgil 9 28	6 28 ch 6 49 r	7 49 r
h	9 03 abcdehfgil 8 36	8 24 ihgfedcbahc 8 35 r	9 00 r
alter	9 15 abc 8 36	8 43 ihgdcba 9 00 r	9 00 r
		10 28 ch 10 49 r

* The letters in the same line as the figures stand for different stations and indicate the trains stop as follows:

a	Wollaston,	f	Harrison Square.
b	Norfolk Downs,	g	Sevin Hill.
c	Atlantic Avenue,	h	Clinton Avenue.
d	Neponset,	i	South Boston.

T.	WEST QUINCY FOR BOSTON (Stopping at East Milton).—6:16 6:46 7:16 8:01 8:31 9:01 9:16
then	10:16 A. M. 12:16 1:16 2:16 3:16 4:16 5:16 6:16
	7:16 A. M. 11:16 P. M. SUNDAY.—7:46 8:46 9:46
I. S.	BOSTON FOR WEST QUINCY (Stopping at East Milton).—6:16 7:16 8:16 10:16 A. M. 12:16
late	1:16 2:16 3:16 4:16 5:16 6:16 7:16
	8:16 1:16 P. M. SUNDAY.—8:46 A. M. 12:16
	4:16 5:16 6:16 10:16 P. M.
A.	MONTCLAIR FOR BOSTON.—6:21 7:31 8:31
9.21	10:21 A. M. 12:21 1:21 2:21 3:21 4:21
	5:21 6:21 7:21 9:21 11:31 P. M. SUNDAY.—7:31
rec-	8:31 1:16 P. M. SUNDAY.—8:16 9:16 10:16
	A. M. 12:15 1:16 2:16 3:16 4:16 5:16 6:16
	7:16 1:16 P. M. SUNDAY.—8:16 A. M.
	12:16 4:16 5:16 10:16 P. M.
M.

DIVISION 1.

TIME TABLE.

In effect Sept. 7th, 1904.

(Subject to change without notice.)

QUINCY TO NEPONSET.

Via Hancock Street.—5.40 6.05 6.10 6.40 6.55
 A. M. and every 10 25 40 and 55 minutes past the hour until 4.55 P. M., then every 10 and 40 minutes past the hour until 8.30 P. M.
 Via Norfolk Street.—5.30 6.00 6.10, and every 30 minutes past the hour until 8.30 P. M., then 9.40 and 10.10 P. M.

Via Wollaston.—6.05 7.05 A. M., then every 5 and 35 minutes past the hour until 11.35 P. M.

NEPONSET TO QUINCY.

Via Hancock Street.—6.05 6.15 6.40 6.55 7.10

every 15 30 and 45 minutes past the hour until 5.15 P. M., then on the even hour and half hour until 9.30 P. M., then 10.30 P. M., then 11.30 P. M., then 12.00 P. M., then 1.30 P. M., then 2.30 P. M., then 3.30 P. M., then 4.30 P. M., then 5.30 P. M., then on the even hour and half hour until 11 P. M., then 11.30 P. M., then 12.00 P. M., then 1.30 P. M., then 2.30 P. M., then 3.30 P. M., then 4.30 P. M., then 5.30 P. M., then on the even hour and half hour until 12 o'clock midnight.

Cars leaving on the even hour and half hour run through to Brockton and Weymouth Landing.

Cars leaving at 15 and 45 minutes past the hour run through to East Milton.

QUINCY TO NORTH WEYMOUTH.

5.45 6.05 6.20 6.50 7.00 A. M., then every 10 and 50 minutes past the hour until 11.20 P. M., Wednesdays and Saturdays 11.30 P. M., then 12.00 P. M., then 1.30 P. M., then 2.30 P. M., then 3.30 P. M., then 4.30 P. M., then 5.30 P. M., then on the even hour and half hour until 12 o'clock midnight.

6.20 6.00 7.55 7.20 7.50 A. M., then every 20 and 50 minutes past the hour until 11.50 P. M., Wednesday and Saturdays 12.50 P. M.

QUINCY TO BRAINTREE.

6.20 A. M. and every 20 and 50 minutes past the hour until 10.50 P. M.

QUINCY TO EAST MILTON.

5.40 A. M. and every 5 and 35 minutes past the hour until 10.35 P. M., then 10.50 P. M.

EAST MILTON TO QUINCY.

6.10 A. M. then on the even hour and half hour until 11.30 P. M. Cars from East Milton run through to Neponset from 7 A. M. to 4.30 P. M.

QUINCY TO WEYMOUTH LANDING.

5.20 5.55 6.30 6.55 A. M., then every 5 and

QUINCY AND HOUGHES NECK.

Leave QUINCY—Week Days—5.25, 5.50 A. M., then 20 and 30 minutes past each hour until including 10.50 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M. Sundays—5.58 A. M., then the same as week days.

Returning, leave HOUGHES NECK—Week Days—5.45 A. M., then 15 and 45 minutes past each hour until and including 11.15 P. M. Sundays—7.15 A. M., then the same as week days.

J. T. CO-NEWAY, Assistant Supt.
THOMAS GAMMON, Division Supt.

---

MASSACHUSETTS
RAILROAD

TEACHES BUSINESS

Teaches business as business is conducted in every day business life, and teaches it so thoroughly that its pupils are not in competition with graduates of ordinary business college. The demand for its graduates far exceeds the supply. Any young man or woman of ordinary general intelligence who will follow its courses faithfully may be sure of a successful business career.

WE GUARANTEE IT.

Our rates are reasonable and it costs no more to attend this College than to study in less progressive institutions. Catalogue gives full information and is free upon application.

STUDENTS MAY ENTER ANY TIME.

MASSACHUSETTS COLLEGE OF COMMERCE
30 Huntington Avenue, Boston, Mass.
*"Not the oldest; not the largest;
just the best."*

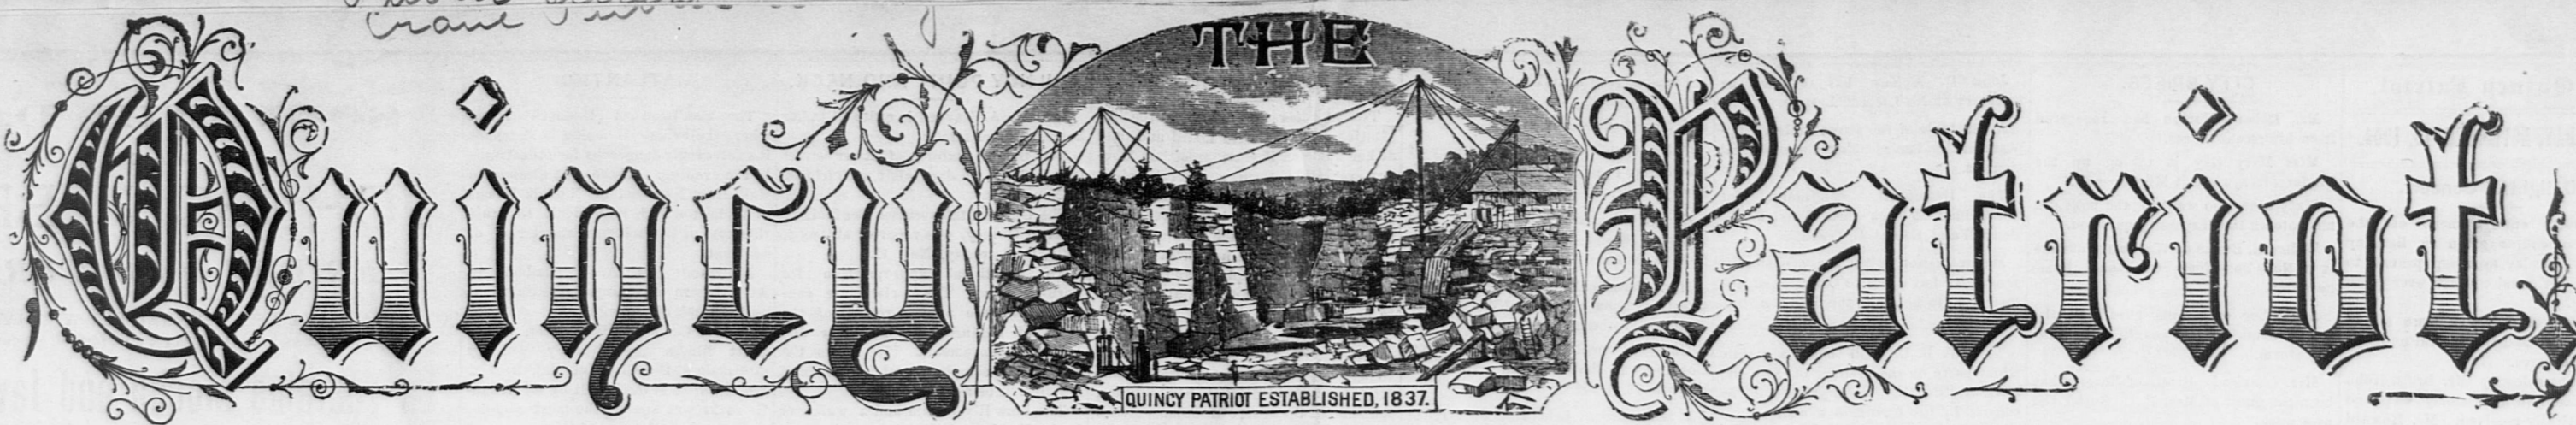

---

Chrysanthemums,
Belmont and Boston Farms

AT
WILLIAM PATTERSON'S
Hillside Conservatories,
92 South Central Ave., Wollastor.
Telephone or Mail Orders receive Prompt Attention.
Telephone 183-4.

CONSUMPTION

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1904.

VOL. 68, NO. 47.

FIVE CENTS PER COPY; $2.50 PER YEAR.

The Quincy Patriot,
Established in 1837.
PUBLISHED SATURDAY MORNING BY
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON,
OFFICE, No. 142 HANCOCK STREET.

Subscription Price, $2.50 per Year.
A reduction of fifty cents will be made
when paid one year in advance.

Quincy Daily Ledger.
The ONLY DAILY in the ONLY CITY in Norfolk
County. Established in 1885.
Subscription Price, $6.00 per Year.
A reduction of $1 will be made when paid
one year in advance.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF THE
Brainfree Observer
A Weekly Established in 1878

H. T. WHITMAN,
Civil Engineer

SURVEYOR.

ADAMS BUILDING, - QUINCY

Boston Office, - 85 Devonshire street

Hours, 12 to 2 P. M.

N. B. Plans of nearly all the Real Estate
in the City of Quincy can be found at my office. Telephone connection.

May 28. 11

JOHN W. MCANARNEY.

COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW,

ROOM 1, DUBIN & KERRILL'S BLOCK,

HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.

DR. C. T. SHERMAN

DENTIST.

Hancock Building, over W. G. Shaw's store.

CITY SQUARE, QUINCY.

Office Hours, 9 to 12, 1 to 5.

Residence, Greenleaf street.

Aug. 16. 11

DR. FENIMORE S. ANDREWS,

DENTIST.

67 Franklin St., Cor. Water St.

PINEL BLOCK, QUINCY ADAMS.

OFFICE HOURS, - 9 to 12; 2 to 5.

Telephone number, 146-2.

Aug. 16. 11

J. E. KENLEY & CO.,

PLUMBERS.

All orders promptly attended to at reasonable prices. Satisfaction guaranteed.

NO. 9 TEMPLE STREET, QUINCY.

Jan. 6. 11

W. E. BROWN,

UNDERTAKER.

Office and residence, corner of Canal and Mechanic streets.

Quincy, Feb. 6. 11

DAVID BROWN,

HORSE SHOEING,

Carriage Work and General Jobbing.

WASHINGTON STREET, - WOLLASTON.

Nov. 9. 11

WILLIAM PARKER & SON,

Carpenters and Builders.

Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.

JOBBER PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.

HANCOCK COURT, - QUINCY, MASS.

IRA LITCHFIELD,

CARPENTER AND BUILDER.

PEARL STREET,

SOUTH QUINCY.

JULIUS JOHNSON,

Carpenter, * Contractor

Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.

JOBBER PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.

NO. 64 CENTRE ST., QUINCY, MASS.

Telephone, 69-2 11

C. H. TOWER,

UPHOLSTERER.

CARPETS taken up, Cleaned and Repaired

FURNITURE Upholstered and Repaired.

HAIR MATTRESSES made over and
made to order.

Full line of latest coverings to select from.

Send postal or telephone for estimates.

Telephone, 64-4 Quincy.

Address 182 Howard street, Quincy Point.

August 20. 11

ABBOTT & MILLER'S

QUINCY AND BOSTON EXPRESS.

G. M. MILLER, General Manager.

Office, 64 Washington Street.

Quincy P. O. address, Lock Box 3.

Telephone Connections.

ATNA INSURANCE CO.,

HARTFORD, CONN.

Incorporated 1817. Charter Perpetual.

Losses Paid in 55 Years, $96,328,139.96

JANUARY 1, 1904.

Cash Capital, $4,000,000.00

Reserve for Re-insurance (Fire) 4,281,503.00

Reserve for Unpaid Losses (Fire) 1,064,493.24

Reserve for Other Claims, 232,128.60

Net Surplus, 6,066,737.11

Total Assets, 15,100,838.15

John Hardwick & Co.,

45 Granite street,

Agents for Quincy.

Incorporated 1825.

Norfolk Mutual Fire Ins. Co.

DEDHAM, MASS.

STATEMENT, JANUARY 1, 1904.

Amount at Risk, $24,184,554.84

Contingent Assets, 340,025.48

Total Liabilities, including re-insurance, 187,897.32

Amount of Cash Surplus, $456,332.81

Contingent Assets, 100,428.43

Total Available Assets, 557,761.24

Dividends are now being paid on five-year
policies, 70 per cent; on three-year policies, 50 per cent; on one and two-year policies, 25 per cent.

J. WHITE BELCHER, Pres. and Treas.

JAMES Y. NOYES, Secretary

DIRECTORS: J. White Belcher, Randolph
Howard Colburn, Dedham; Tyler Bayne
Sturtevant, A. B. Endicott, Dedham; James
Gannett, Milton; Stephen M. Weld, Dedham
Thomas B. Draper, Canton; William E.
Lincoln, Brookline; James Hewitt, Medford.

GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent for Quincy.

Incorporated 1837.

Dedham Mutual Fire Ins. Co.

DEDHAM, MASS.

STATEMENT, JANUARY 1, 1904.

Amount at Risk, $6,610,941.25

Contingent Assets, 161,916.08

Total Liabilities, including re-insurance, 50,210.86

Amount of Cash Surplus, $101,735.22

Contingent Assets, 100,428.43

Total Available Assets, 202,163.65

Dividends are now being paid on five-year
policies, 70 per cent; on three-year policies, 50 per cent; on one and two-year policies, 25 per cent.

J. WHITE BELCHER, President.

HOWARD COLBURN, Treasurer.

JAMES Y. NOYES, Secretary.

DIRECTORS: Howard Colburn, Dedham;
Dedham; J. White Belcher, Dedham;
Randolph; A. B. Endicott, Dedham; J. B.
Mansfield, Dedham; Frederick D. Ely, Ded-
ham; Alfred Hewitt, Dedham; Samuel Gannett, Milton; Charles M. Francis, Boston.

GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent for Quincy.

QUINCY

Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

INCORPORATED IN 1831.

COMMENCED BUSINESS IN 1832

CHAS. A. HOWLAND, President.

WILLIAM H. FAY, Secretary.

C. A. HOWLAND, Jr., Asst. Sec.

JANUARY 1, 1904.

CASH FUND January 1, 1904, $705,963.30

SURPLUS over Re-insurance, $455,776.74

LOSSES paid the past year, $42,201.94

DIVIDENDS PAID the past year, $66,032.42

GAIN IN SURPLUS the past year, $12,983.04

GAIN IN CASH FUND the past year, $2,297.34

AMOUNT AT RISK, $32,586,226.06

TOTAL LIABILITIES, $250,186.56

Dividends Paid on Every Expired Policy, 60 per cent on 5 years, 40 per cent on 3 years
and 20 per cent on all others.

Quincy, Mass., 1894.

DORCHESTER

Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

Boston, Mass.

INCORPORATED 1833.

FORTY-NINTH ANNUAL STATEMENT

JANUARY 1, 1904.

Amount at Risk - $34,112,920.00

Cash Assets - 47,338.43

Deposits - 2,000.00

Available Assets - 1,042,048.57

Liabilities - 3,000.00

Surplus - 1,041,048.57

Gain in Surplus in 1903 - 1,380.00

Gain in Assets in 1903 - 22,306.41

Losses paid in 1903 - 60,306.40

Dividends in 1903 - 216,638.74

Re-insurance in 1903 - 187,657.63

This Company now pays the following dividends:

Five-year Policies - 60 per cent

On three-year Policies - 40 per cent

On one-year Policies - 20 per cent

All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

THOS. F. TEMPLE,

President and Treasurer

W. D. C. CURTIS, Secretary

DIRECTORS: J. B. L. Bartlett, Clarence Burgh, W. D. C. Curtis, Charles W. Gallagher, Seth
Mann, Ed. Lapan, Pratt, Thomas F. Temple,
James H. Wells, Sarah J. Willis.

Home Office, Neponset, Boston, Mass.

INSURANCE AGENCY.

ESTABLISHED in Quincy in the year
1849 by

W. PORTER.

Insurance effected in reliable and safe
Stock and Mutual offices.

By W. PORTER & CO.,

At No. 32 Water street, Boston.

Residence, Hancock street, Quincy.

POSTS! POSTS! POSTS!

FOR

Fences, Trellises and Hen Coops,

All Lengths and sizes.

ALSO

HARD AND SOFT WOOD, PINE SLABS

Best Pines, Spruce, Larch and Birch.

THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,

Residence 70 Copeland Street,

WEST QUINCY.

Quincy, April 9. 11

RD CHASE

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

MASS

QUINCY

CORRECT PIANO TUNING AND

REPAIRING.

FRANK A. LOCKE

Tuner in Quincy 25 7

Recommendations from manufacturers

of pianos, teachers,

colleges and the musical

profession.

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1904.

WEEKLY	Sun	Mon	Tue	Wed	Thurs	Fri	Sat
ALMANAC	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40
Sunday	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40
Monday	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40
Tuesday	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40
Wednesday	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40
Thursday	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40
Friday	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40
Saturday	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40	11.40

This Week's Temperature.

The noon temperature of the week taken at Pettengill's jewelry store, is compared below with that of last week and the same day of month for three years:

Week	1903	1904	1905
Sunday	41	40	49
Monday	41	45	44
Tuesday	40	47	44
Wednesday	40	42	45
Thursday	40	42	45
Friday	42	43	46
Saturday	42	43	46

Notes and Comments.

Taunton has erected a monument to a signer of the Declaration of Independence. It is a monument to John Hancock, who was born on the site of Adams Academy. It is claimed for Robert Treat Paine that he is the only signer born in the bounds of the "old colony."

Those Republicans who voted for John W. McAnaney, as well as those who voted for James Thompson for Mayor, appear to be satisfied with the result of the caucuses. We have heard several who did not vote for the successful candidate express themselves, and there seems to be a desire to give Candidate Thompson united and hearty support. People are satisfied that he would be a Mayor of the whole people, and not a representative of any clique or ward; and that he would expect his department officials to drop politics and attend strictly to business. A reform is necessary, and people are now convinced that it can be accomplished by Mr. Thompson if elected Mayor.

Mr. McAnaney has called upon Mr. Thompson and offered his congratulations, assuring him that under no circumstances would he become an independent candidate, but would support Mr. Thompson heartily.

The Patriot commends its readers the letter of ex-Mayor Hall published last week. It is to be hoped that the suggestions worthy of adoption by the gentleman, as well as a bright future. We will not make the best of our opportunities, however, if we continue as in recent years.

Why Help is Needed.

The question is often asked, Why is it necessary for the Hospital to ask the public for funds every year? The answer is, because so many patients cannot afford to pay for their care.

No one is ever refused admission to the Hospital on account of poverty. Before patients are discharged they are asked to pay the regular charge. Some cannot pay the whole cost of their care, some can pay only a small part of it; but the failure to pay anything on the part of a large number of cases causes a constantly increasing deficit which must be made up by the public.

When the income from the invested funds of the contributions of the city increase from $30,000 to $50,000 annually the necessity for the house to house collection will probably cease, much to the joy of the large number of collectors who are so generous in giving their time and labor to the cause.

MASSACHUSETTS COLLEGE OF COMMERCE

Teaches business as a business. Its courses are practical and its instruction is given by experienced business men. It is a place where the student can learn the art of doing business. It is a place where the student can learn the art of doing business. It is a place where the student can learn the art of doing business.

Students may enter any time. Evening classes commence Oct. 30. MASSACHUSETTS COLLEGE OF COMMERCE, 80 Huntington Avenue, Boston, Mass.

If You Wish to be SURE of first class work at lowest prices, consult us in all branches of Plumbing and Heating.

We carry a full line of MAGEE RANGES. Drop in and we will show you how they are superior to all others.

Kitchen Furnishing Goods, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Brushes, Garden Tools, Vegetables and Flower Seeds, Poultry and Chickens, Netting, Screen Wire, Nails, Oil Stoves, Lamps, etc., etc.

MAY BE FOUND AT OUR NEW STORE. SANBORN & DAMON, 1428 Hancock Street Quincy.

BANKRUPTCY NOTICES. In the District Court of the United States for the District of Massachusetts. In Bankruptcy. No. 9376.

Notice is hereby given that on the 17th day of October, A. D. 1904, the said Edward A. Sullivan was duly adjudicated bankrupt, and that the 24th day of December, A. D. 1904, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the creditors may attend, prove their claims, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

EMERY B. GIBBS, Referee in Bankruptcy. Nov. 22, 1904.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT. SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1904.

WEEKLY ALMANAC. Sunday, Nov. 19, 1904. Monday, Nov. 20, 1904. Tuesday, Nov. 21, 1904. Wednesday, Nov. 22, 1904. Thursday, Nov. 23, 1904. Friday, Nov. 24, 1904. Saturday, Nov. 25, 1904.

Notes and Comments. Taunton has erected a monument to a signer of the Declaration of Independence. It is a monument to John Hancock, who was born on the site of Adams Academy. It is claimed for Robert Treat Paine that he is the only signer born in the bounds of the "old colony."

Those Republicans who voted for John W. McAnaney, as well as those who voted for James Thompson for Mayor, appear to be satisfied with the result of the caucuses. We have heard several who did not vote for the successful candidate express themselves, and there seems to be a desire to give Candidate Thompson united and hearty support. People are satisfied that he would be a Mayor of the whole people, and not a representative of any clique or ward; and that he would expect his department officials to drop politics and attend strictly to business. A reform is necessary, and people are now convinced that it can be accomplished by Mr. Thompson if elected Mayor.

Mr. McAnaney has called upon Mr. Thompson and offered his congratulations, assuring him that under no circumstances would he become an independent candidate, but would support Mr. Thompson heartily.

The Patriot commends its readers the letter of ex-Mayor Hall published last week. It is to be hoped that the suggestions worthy of adoption by the gentleman, as well as a bright future. We will not make the best of our opportunities, however, if we continue as in recent years.

Why Help is Needed. The question is often asked, Why is it necessary for the Hospital to ask the public for funds every year? The answer is, because so many patients cannot afford to pay for their care.

No one is ever refused admission to the Hospital on account of poverty. Before patients are discharged they are asked to pay the regular charge. Some cannot pay the whole cost of their care, some can pay only a small part of it; but the failure to pay anything on the part of a large number of cases causes a constantly increasing deficit which must be made up by the public.

When the income from the invested funds of the contributions of the city increase from $30,000 to $50,000 annually the necessity for the house to house collection will probably cease, much to the joy of the large number of collectors who are so generous in giving their time and labor to the cause.

NOMINATIONS MADE FOR CITY ELECTION.

Republican Vote.

FOR MAYOR.	Ward One	Ward Two	Ward Three	Ward Four	Ward Five	Ward Six	Total
*Thompson, 307	114	296	182	292	100	124	1294
McAnaney, 232	239	236	154	150	197	127	1237
Blanks, 5	4	9	3	4	5	30

FOR COUNCILMEN-AT-LARGE.

	Ward One	Ward Two	Ward Three	Ward Four	Ward Five	Ward Six	Total
*Bass, 437	199	305	172	318	157	158	1588
*Chase, 340	167	262	162	371	163	145	1465
*Crane, 389	190	263	172	337	166	167	1617
*Diack, 308	137	386	196	184	103	1314
*Gassett, 308	148	214	136	316	255	1377
*Loud, 323	153	260	219	261	137	1353
Blanks, 715	719	1029	638	488	529	4118

FOR SCHOOL COMMITTEE-AT-LARGE.

	Ward One	Ward Two	Ward Three	Ward Four	Ward Five	Ward Six	Total
*Hunting, 62	30	44	52	108	8	304
*Nominated.

Democratic Vote.

FOR MAYOR.	Ward One	Ward Two	Ward Three	Ward Four	Ward Five	Ward Six	Total
*Fallon, 34	34	66	191	5	12	342
*Wilson, 36	34	44	38	13	28	192
Blanks, 3	21	3	8	1	1	37

FOR COUNCILMEN-AT-LARGE.

	Ward One	Ward Two	Ward Three	Ward Four	Ward Five	Ward Six	Total
*Driscoll, 40	44	85	142	13	33	357
*Teasdale, 38	37	62	140	13	33	323
Blanks, 0	1	7	0	2	2	12

FOR SCHOOL COMMITTEE-AT-LARGE.

	Ward One	Ward Two	Ward Three	Ward Four	Ward Five	Ward Six	Total
*Bulger, 38	40	74	152	11	29	344
*Nominated.

Socialist Vote.

FOR MAYOR.	Ward One	Ward Two	Ward Three	Ward Four	Ward Five	Ward Six	Total
*Bates, 8	4	8	1	7	6	34
Blanks, 1	0	0	0	0	1	2

FOR SCHOOL COMMITTEE-AT-LARGE.

	Ward One	Ward Two	Ward Three	Ward Four	Ward Five	Ward Six	Total
*Emily T. Turner, 7	4	7	1	7	7	33
*Nominated.

Joint Caucuses.

The Republican candidate for Mayor at the City election of Tuesday, Dec. 6, will be James Thompson of Ward Three, who defeated John W. McAnaney of Ward Two by 57 majority.

The vote was: Thompson, 1294; McAnaney, 1237; Blanks, 5.

At the same time the Democrats nominated Peter T. Fallon of Ward Four as their candidate. He received a majority of 150 over George H. Wilson of Ward One.

The vote was: Fallon, 342; Wilson, 192; Blanks, 3.

Gustave B. Bates had a walkover for the Socialist nomination for Mayor, receiving 34 of the 36 votes cast by that party.

The Republican ticket for Councilmen-at-large contained six names, one from each ward, with five more from Ward Three. The total number registered as Democrats was 571, which was 769 less than for Democratic electors for President, and the Socialist vote was 170 less than for Socialist electors.

The vote in detail by wards is given below, and a summary of the vote for candidates at large appears at the head of this column.

The vote for Democratic candidates for the Council was as follows:

	Ward One	Ward Two	Ward Three	Ward Four	Ward Five	Ward Six	Total
*Fallon, 34	34	66	191	5	12	342
*Wilson, 36	34	44	38	13	28	192
Blanks, 3	21	3	8	1	1	37

The vote for Socialist candidates for the Council was as follows:

	Ward One	Ward Two	Ward Three	Ward Four	Ward Five	Ward Six	Total
*Bates, 8	4	8	1	7	6	34
Blanks, 1	0	0	0	0	1	2

The vote for Republican candidates for the Council was as follows:

	Ward One	Ward Two	Ward Three	Ward Four	Ward Five	Ward Six	Total
*Thompson, 307	114	296	182	292	100	124	1294
McAnaney, 232	239	236	154	150	197	127	1237
Blanks, 5	4	9	3	4	5	30

The vote for Democratic candidates for the Council was as follows:

	Ward One	Ward Two	Ward Three	Ward Four	Ward Five	Ward Six	Total
*Fallon, 34	34	66	191	5	12	342
*Wilson, 36	34	44	38	13	28	192
Blanks, 3	21	3	8	1	1	37

The vote for Socialist candidates for the Council was as follows:

	Ward One	Ward Two	Ward Three	Ward Four	Ward Five	Ward Six	Total
*Bates, 8	4	8	1	7	6	34
Blanks, 1	0	0	0	0	1	2

The vote for Republican candidates for the Council was as follows:

	Ward One	Ward Two	Ward Three	Ward Four	Ward Five	Ward Six	Total
*Thompson, 307	114	296	182	292	100	124	1294
McAnaney, 232	239	236	154	150	197	127	1237
Blanks, 5	4	9	3	4	5	30

The vote for Democratic candidates for the Council was as follows:

	Ward One	Ward Two	Ward Three	Ward Four	Ward Five	Ward Six	Total
*Fallon, 34	34	66	191	5	12	342
*Wilson, 36	34	44	38	13	28	192
Blanks, 3	21	3	8	1	1	37

The vote for Socialist candidates for the Council was as follows:

Emile Bianchi and Jeremiah Curtis, Jr.

The Socialist elected: John Flynn, Daniel F. Shea, Augustus Johnson and Thomas Ring.

Wollaston did not throw as large a vote at its caucus as last year. The reason for this was that outside of ward Councilmen there was no contest. The total vote of the ward was 481 of which 455 were Republican, 19 Democratic and 7 Socialists.

The ward gave Thompson a majority of 133, which was much smaller than expected. It also gave Wilson a majority of 8.

There were five candidates for Ward Councilmen on the Republican ticket. Polk was high man while Hull was defeated for the third man by Chamberlain by 8 votes.

The vote for Republican candidates for Ward Councilmen was as follows:

	Ward One	Ward Two	Ward Three	Ward Four	Ward Five	Ward Six	Total
*Fred C. Chamberlain, 280
Wendell B. Hull, 281
*Walter F. Nichols, 290
*Herbert J. Polk, 296

The other Ward Councilmen nominated were: Democratic—Clifton Jones, Socialist—Clarence H. Barston, Elmer E. Gray, and A. Hale Kingsley.

Through an error in the Democratic nomination papers for Ward Councilmen the list was thrown out.

The Republican Councilmen elected were: William M. Chase, Herbert J. Follett, Walter S. Pinkham, Richard R. Freeman, Herbert J. Garney, Robert H. Fraser, Edward J. Patterson, Albert W. Fay, and Charles A. MacFarland.

The Socialist Ward Councilmen elected were: Clarence H. Barston, Elmer E. Gray, Henry H. Holmes, A. Hale Kingsley, Josiah R. Howe.

Atlantic gave McAnaney a majority of 97 which was rather more than was expected. The total vote of the ward was 342, of which 237 were Republicans, 40 Democrats and 6 Socialists. The ward also gave Wilson a majority of 16.

The only contest in the ward was on the election of candidate for Mayor.

The Democrats had one man on the ticket, Daniel McAnaney, who was nominated. The Councilmen nominated by the Republicans are: Arthur C. Beal, Herbert D. Gearwar and George F. Sawyer.

The Councilmen nominated by the Democrats are Bartholomew A. McLane and J. J. Ahearn.

The Socialist nominations are: Charles J. Axberg and Jeremiah W. Donovan.

The Republican Ward Councilmen elected are: Daniel McAnaney, Roger H. Wilde, Ralph W. Hobbs, Herbert D. Gearwar, Arthur C. Beal, George F. Sawyer, J. J. Ahearn, Louis F. R. Langelier and Walter L. Winlock.

The Democratic Ward Councilmen elected are: Martin W. Cuniff, Bernard Cullen, Charles A. Duggan, George A. Hayes, Lawrence Curtis, Bartholomew A. McLane, Robert J. Clifford and Peter J. Colligan.

The Socialist Ward Councilmen elected are: Charles J. Axberg, Jeremiah W. Donovan, Pontus Holm, John V. Leonard and A. Lincoln Turner.

Sunday School Convention.

A very largely attended convention of the Massachusetts Sunday School Association for the East Norfolk district was held on Tuesday at the M. E. church at Wollaston, being attended by Milton, Braintree, Randolph, Hingham, Weymouth, Hingham and Cohasset.

Three sessions were held, morning, afternoon and evening, and an interesting program was presented. The evening meeting was particularly enjoyable as it included a talk by J. A. Bowler of Saxtonville on "The house on the rock, and the house on the sand," and an address by Miss Margaret Slattery, a teacher of the Normal school at Fitchburg. It was the first time Miss Slattery has been heard in this district and was an unusual opportunity for Quincy people to hear her able and entertaining discussion of Sunday school work in general.

Wollaston Unitarian Club.

The Wollaston Unitarian club had a treat Tuesday evening when they entertained the Rev. A. H. Hudson of Brockton as a guest, and heard his lecture on "The struggle against slavery." It was one of the most largely attended meetings of the club, at which Hon. Eugene H. Sprague, the president, presided.

The program was presented. The evening meeting was particularly enjoyable as it included a talk by J. A. Bowler of Saxtonville on "The house on the rock, and the house on the sand," and an address by Miss Margaret Slattery, a teacher of the Normal school at Fitchburg. It was the first time Miss Slattery has been heard in this district and was an unusual opportunity for Quincy people to hear her able and entertaining discussion of Sunday school work in general.

McKay-Kincaide.

Mr. John D. McKay, one of Quincy's young lawyers, and Miss Martin C. Kincaide, were united in marriage Tuesday afternoon. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's brother, Henry L. Kincaide on Whitney road, in the presence of a few of the immediate family friends, Rev. E. C. Butler officiating.

The ceremony was followed by which Mr. and Mrs. McKay left for a two weeks' trip to Montreal.

The bride is a graduate of Radcliffe college and was a teacher in the Horace Mann school of Boston.

She gave a well known writer of the Boston Herald a most interesting and valuable collection of material for his new book on the history of the city of Quincy.

On the return from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. McKay will reside on Merrymont road.

Could Not Identify Him.

There was quite a little excitement West Quincy on Wednesday, over the capture of a man who was thought to have been chasing women. There have been a number of complaints of late.

The police have been on the lookout for the fellow. Wednesday evening Special Officer Malone was on duty in a suspicious manner on State street, and decided to interview him.

As the officer approached the man ran into the woods. Officer Malone gave chase and captured the fellow who was sent to police headquarters.

Dedication.

A red letter day in the second century of Rural Lodge, A. F. and A. M., was the dedication on Wednesday evening of the new Masonic apartments in the Court House in City Square, by the Most Worshipful Elias Seal, Grand Master of Masons of Massachusetts, assisted by the Grand officers, a delegation of seventeen being present.

The only other guests were the officers of Masonic bodies in the 24th Ward District, and the attendance was limited to the members of the lodge. The apartments, however, were well filled, and considerable interest was shown in the impressive ceremonies, which included music by the Albion Quartette.

The apartments were completed and occupied about a year ago, but it was the desire to dedicate them free from debt, hence the delay. They were described at length at the time of the opening. In brief there is a commodious and richly furnished lounge, a large reception room finished in hard wood, a large dining room with a well equipped kitchen adjoining, a small hall, coat room, toilet room, etc., etc.

The program was as follows: Invocation by the Albion Quartette. Prayer by the Grand Master, W. Rev. Charles A. Skinner, D.D.

Address of the Chairman of the Building Committee. Address to the Grand Master, W. Rev. Herbert F. Pierce, Master of Rural Lodge.

Reply by the M. W. Grand Master. Examination of the Building by the Grand Officers.

Ceremonial Dedication to Freemasonry. Ceremonial Dedication to Universal Benevolence. Invocation by the Grand Chaplain.

Proclamation by the Grand Marshal, W. Frank W. Mead. Address by the M. W. Grand Master. Dedication hymn, words and music by Bro. W. H. Gerrish, by the Albion Quartette.

Benediction. Banquet.

The ceremony was very impressive being presided over by credit to the fraternity and the Grand officers. The members of the Albion Quartette who added greatly to the interest of the service were: Thomas E. Johnson, James C. Bartlett, George H. Runcle and David. There were choice bouquets at the station of the worshipful master, the wardens, the secretary and the treasurer.

The Grand officers included: M. W. Elias Seal, Grand Master. M. W. Henry G. Fay, as Deputy Grand

THE QUINCY PATRIOT

QUINCY PATRIOT ESTABLISHED 1837.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1904.

VOL. 68, NO. 48.

FIVE CENTS PER COPY; $2.50 PER YEAR.

The Quincy Patriot,
Established in 1837.
PUBLISHED SATURDAY MORNING BY
W. W. PRESCOTT & SON,
OFFICE NO. 142 HANCOCK STREET.

Subscription Price, $2.50 per Year.
A portion of fifty cents will be made
in advance.
Quincy Daily Ledger,
For ONLY 10 CENTS in the ONLY CITY in Norfolk
County. Established in 1889.
Subscription Price, $6.00 per Year.
A portion of $1 will be made when paid
in advance.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF THE
Quincy Observer
A Weekly Published in 1878

H. T. WITMAN,
Civil Engineer

SURVEYOR.
ADAMS BUILDING - QUINCY
Boston Office, 87 South Street.
Hours, 12 to 2 p.m.
N. B. Plans of nearly all the Real Estate
in the City of Quincy can be found at my office. Telephone connection.
May 28.

JOHN W. McARNEY,
COUNCILLOR-AT-LAW,
ROOM 1, DUNN & MERRILL BLOCK,
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.

DR. C. T. SHERMAN
DENTIST.
Hancock Building, over W. G. Ship store,
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY, MASS.
Office Hours, 8 to 12, 1 to 5.

DR. FENIMORE S. ANDRES,
DENTIST.
67 Franklin St., Cor. Water.
PINEL BLOCK, QUINCY, MASS.
Office Hours, 9 to 12, 2 to 5.
Telephone number, 146-2.

J. E. KENILEY & CO.
PLUMBERS.
All orders promptly attended to at reasonable prices. Satisfaction guaranteed.
NO. 9 TEMPLE STREET, QUINCY.
Jan 6.

W. E. BROWN,
UNDERTAKER.
Office and residence, corner of Canal and Mechanic streets.
Quincy, Feb. 6.

DAVID BROWN,
HORSE SHOEING.
Carriage Work and General Jobbing.
WASHINGTON STREET - WOLLASTON,
Nov. 9.

WILLIAM PARKER & SON,
Carpenters and Builders.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
JOBBER PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
HANCOCK COURT, QUINCY, MASS.

IRA LITCHFIELD,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
PEARL STREET,
SOUTH QUINCY.

JULIUS JOHNSON,
Carpenter, Contractor

BUILDER.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
NO. 64 CENTRE ST., QUINCY, MASS.
Telephone, 69-2.

C. H. TOWER,
UPHOLSTERER.

CARPETS taken up, Cleaned and Repaired.
FURNITURE Upholstered and Repaired.
HAIR MATTRESSES made over and
made to order.

Full line of latest coverings to select from.
Send postal or telephone for estimates.
Telephone, 64-4 Quincy.

Address 162 Howard street, Quincy Point.
August 20.

ABBOTT & MILLER'S
HOUGHES NECK,
QUINCY AND BOSTON EXPRESS.

G. M. MILLER, General Manager.
Furniture Packed.
Office, 64 Washington Street.
Quincy P. O. address, Lock Box 3.
Telephone Connections.

Incorporated 1835.
Norfolk Mutual Fire Ins. Co.

DEDHAM, MASS.
STATEMENT, JANUARY 1, 1904.
Amount at Risk, $2,184,554.84
Cash Assets, $46,230.13
Total Assets, including
re-insurance, 187,897.32
Amount of Cash Surplus, $468,332.81
Contingent Assets, $46,230.13
Total Available Assets, $921,763.01
Dividends are now being paid on five-year
policies, 70 per cent.; on three-year policies, 50 per cent.; on one and two-year policies, 25 per
cent.
J. WHITE BELCHER, Pres. and Treas.
JAMES Y. NOYES, Secretary.
Directors: J. White Belcher, Randolph
Howard Colburn, Jonathan Tyler Thayer
Newcomb, A. B. Endicott, Dedham; Samuel
Gannett, Dedham; Stephen M. Webb, Dedham;
Thomas H. Draper, Canton; William H. H.
Lincoln, Brookline; James Hewins, Medford.
GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent for Quincy.

Incorporated 1837.
Dedham Mutual Fire Ins. Co.

DEDHAM, MASS.
STATEMENT, JANUARY 1, 1904.
Amount at Risk, $6,915,941.25
Cash Assets, $1,016,036.05
Total Assets, including
re-insurance, 59,220.86
Amount of Cash Surplus, $101,796.22
Contingent Assets, $1,016,036.05
Total Available Assets, $1,117,832.27
Dividends are now being paid on five-year
policies, 70 per cent.; on three-year policies, 50 per cent.; on one and two-year policies, 25 per cent.
J. WHITE BELCHER, President.
HOWARD COLBURN, Treasurer.
JAMES Y. NOYES, Secretary.
Directors: Howard Colburn, Dedham; Dan
Gleason, Dedham; J. White Belcher, Dedham;
Randolph A. B. Endicott, Dedham; P. H.
Mansfield, Dedham; Frederick D. Ely, Dedham; Alfred Hewins, Dedham; Samuel Gannett,
Milton; Charles M. France, Boston.
GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent for Quincy.

QUINCY
Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

INCORPORATED IN 1851.
COMMENCED BUSINESS IN 1852.
CHAS. A. HOWLAND, President.
WILLIAM H. FAY, Secretary.
C. A. HOWLAND, Jr., Asst. Sec.
JANUARY 1, 1904.
SURPLUS over Re-insurance, $705,963.30
LOSSES paid the past year, $455,776.74
DIVIDENDS paid the past year, $42,201.94
GAIN IN SURPLUS the past year, $66,032.42
GAIN IN CASH FUND the past year, $12,983.04
AND EVERY LOSS PAID IN FULL.
MOUNT AT RISK, $32,586,296.06
TOTAL LIABILITIES, $250,186.56
Dividends Paid on Every Expiring Policy:
per cent. on 5 years, 60 per cent. on 3 years,
30 per cent. on all others.
Quincy, Mass., 1904.

DORCHESTER
Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

Boston, Mass.
INCORPORATED 1855.
FOURTH ANNUAL STATEMENT
JANUARY 1, 1904.
Amount at Risk, $34,120,000.00
Cash Assets, $2,380,443.42
Total Assets, including
re-insurance, 1,400,040.27
Amount of Cash Surplus, $1,380,443.42
Contingent Assets, $2,380,443.42
Total Available Assets, $3,760,886.84
Dividends in 1903, $2,704.06
Dividends in 1902, $2,704.06
Dividends in 1901, $2,704.06
Dividends in 1900, $2,704.06
This Company now pays the following Divi-
dends:
On Five-Year Policies - 60 per cent.
On Three-Year Policies - 40 per cent.
On One-Year Policies - 25 per cent.
All losses promptly adjusted and paid.
THOS. F. TEMPLE,
President and Treasurer.
W. D. C. QUINCY, Secretary.
Directors: W. D. C. Quincy, Charles F. Gallagher, Seth
M. H. Pratt, Thomas F. Temple, James H. Upham, Samuel J. Willis.
Home Office, Neponset, Boston, Mass.

ETNA INSURANCE CO.,
HARTFORD, CONN.

Incorporated 1819. Charter Perpetua.
Losses Paid in 1903, $96,328,139.96

JANUARY 1, 1904.
Cash Capital, $4,000,000.00
Reserve for Re-insurance (Fire), $2,281,000.00
Reserve for Other Risks (Fire), $2,281,000.00
Net Surplus, $606,737.11
Total Assets, $15,150,888.13

John Hardwick & Co.,
45 Grand street,
Agents for Quincy.

INSURANCE AGENCY.

ESTABLISHED in Quincy in the year
1845 by
W. F. PORTER.
Insurance coverage is reliable and safe.
Stock and Mutual Offices.
By W. F. PORTER, AGENT.
At No. 82 Water street, Boston.
Residence, Hancock street, Quincy.

Granite Firms.

RADGEE BROTHERS,
Granite, Marble and Miscellaneous. Monumental Work of all Descriptions. Colored Ashland Emery for sale. West Quincy.

FULLER, FOLEY & CO.,
Granite, Marble and Miscellaneous. Works
opposite West Quincy Depot.

MILNE & CHALMERS,
Monumental and Cemetery Work at every descriptions. Works near Quincy Adams Depot.
P. O. Address, Quincy, Mass. Branch Office
44 West Main St., North Adams.

MERRY MOUNT GRANITE CO.
Incorporated 1881. Manufacturers and Dealers
in Monumental and Cemetery Work. Works near Quincy Adams station, St. Quincy.

McGRATH BROS.,
Large stock of Finished Monuments and Tablets constantly on hand. Works at Quincy
Adams Station. Established 1864.

CAREY BROTHERS,
Dealers and manufacturers of Polished and Hammered Monuments, Curbing and Head-
stones. Willard street, West Quincy.

LONG & SAUNDERS,
Fine Monumental Work. Monuments and Gravestones. Granite and Marble. Latest designs.
See our workmanship. Works, South Quincy.
Bunch, Stoughton, Mass.

FURNACE COLD.

People who live in furnace-heated houses may have noticed the prevalence of supposed colds, coughs and throat ailments immediately after the furnace has been started in the fall. As a matter of fact, experts declare that these epidemics are largely caused by the dust and germs which gather in the registers and hot-air pipes during the summer and are blown into the air of the house when the furnace is started. In addition to the ordinary dust, which is certain to settle in such places during the summer months, there is also danger that it may become impregnated with poisonous vapors from the cellar, which may be released by the current of hot air rising from the cellar.
In view of the large number of houses which are heated by furnaces, the question of properly cleaning the pipes has an important influence on the health.—Healthy Home.

CAUTION.

The above article is from a reliable source, and we do not believe the danger from this cause is over estimated.
It has been stated before by different authorities that a large per cent. of the throat and lung trouble in the winter months, in the northern states, was caused by the hot, dry, dusty air from the hot-furnace and registers. To avoid this danger use the more modern method of HOT WATER, or STEAM HEAT, properly installed by

W. A. BRADFORD,

Plumbing, Heating and Gas Fitting.

Telephone 111 3. Bank Building, Quincy, Mass.

Open Monday and Saturday Evenings.

Oct. 27.

Come to Us for a Pair.

GEORGE W. JONES,

Adams Building, - QUINCY.

BOSTON PRICES!

COAL

DELIVERED IN QUINCY.

GEO. E. FROST.

Telephone 128-3 Dorchester. P. O. Address Neponset.

Ostermoor

Felt Mattresses.

If you have never slept on a felt mattress,
you have much pleasure
yet in store for yourself.

Felt Mattresses are growing more popular everyday, and if you own one once, you will never after buy the other kind.

About midnight the loud clanging of the town bell awoke Edna and brought her to her window. "What is it? A fire?" called Mrs. Windom, sleepily.
"Can you see anything, Edna?"

"Yes, people are running down Beaver street, and the sky is very red. I am afraid it is a big one."

"You don't suppose it is the mill?"
exclaimed Mrs. Windom, looking out.
"It is in that direction."

Edna made no reply. Her face was pressed to the glass, but she drew back suddenly and began to dress herself.

"I'll get Mr. Pierson and run down and see," she said, excitedly. The light grew brighter every moment.

She thrust her arms into the sleeves of her sack and ran off, her heart heavy with apprehension. "If it is the mill, what will become of us?" she cried to herself, as she went down the steps.

"Talco's mill is going up," cried a girl passing. "They say there's no saving it."

Edna gasped, then hastened on with the group to which her informant belonged. There was great confusion in the street. Fire engines crowded continually, and vehicles of all kinds were dashed in and out, regardless of life and limb. An excited throng occupied the sidewalks, some grave, some jesting recklessly on the impending ruin of their prospects.

Edna pressed on. She was a strong, yearly who might be well and strong if when they had taken cold they had used Kemp's Balsam. It is a wonderful medicine for coughs, colds, asthma and all throat troubles, even if they are serious and long standing. The safe way is to have Kemp's Balsam always in the house. It cures when other remedies fail. All druggists sell it.
See and Sample bottles free. Address
Kemp's Balsam, Le Roy, N. Y.

Full assortment to choose from.
$9.50 to $15.00.
Cash or Credit.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.

New England's Lowest Priced Furniture Store,
Hancock Street, Quincy.

We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evening.

NOTICE.

To My Friends and Public generally:

Having associated myself with Mr. W. G. Shaw, in his new store in City Square, would be pleased to see you and show you a nice and large line of HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS. Having had a long experience and with the Grand Assortment of Goods at my command, I feel confident of pleasing you.

Thankful for past favors and hoping for a continuance of the same.
I am very truly yours,

C. E. WOODBURY.

Quincy, March 1st, 1901.

Have Your Job Printing at the Patriot Office.

Poetry.

Oh, Pumpkin Pie!

Oh, pumpkin pie!
I hear thee sing thy face!
A hundred fancies may I trace!
I see the glint of summer sun,
And twilight, when the day is done;
The sober peace of musing hours
Who in the meadow grasses grows;
The radiant glory of the morn;
That sweeps across the nodding corn.
A thousand happy fancies start
When thou art smiling near my heart!

Oh, pumpkin pie!
I hear thee brood
That whispers in the maple trees,
I see the swaying fields of wheat,
And hear the birds sing, clear and sweet;
And low across the land at night
I catch that balmy of the night;
The chime of the cricket's song in gloom,
And summer comes again to me!
Oh, pumpkin pie! That dost thou taste
Thou'rt just our glaucous o'er the past!

Oh, pumpkin pie!
While by thy breast
These gladdest summer fancies rest,
The golden sunshine and the dew
Have paid thy tribute through and through;
The song the lark trilled in the air
While by thy form is echoed there;
And all these things of joy to me
Were caught and firmly held by thee.
Oh, pumpkin! Thanks for all thou dost!
I welcome thee into my heart!

—Baltimore American.

Miscellaneous.

FIRE IN TALCOTT'S MILL.

"How's Jamie tonight, mother?"
"A little better, I think. He is sleeping now. That is why I delayed supper, fearing to wake him. Here's a clean roller, Edna. Don't use that one."

Edna Windom, washing her hands at the kitchen sink, took, absent-mindedly, the clean roller towel that her mother handed her.

"Jamie has talked continually about you today, dear," added Mrs. Windom, who had caught the unhappy look on her daughter's face.

Edna's eyes filled with tears. She opened a door that was partially ajar, and entered a little room beyond. On the bed lay her little brother, His quick, panting breaths and the frown of pain on his thin white face testified that his was not the sleep that should belong to childhood. Edna's tears came again as she saw that his frail fingers clutched closely a little top, made of a match and a button, that she had contrived for his amusement the evening before.

The faint sound she made sobbing caused Jamie's eyes to open suddenly.
"What did you say, mother?" he asked,
"When I've made you comfortable, you shall see," replied Edna raising him with hands that were roughened by work in the mill, yet of touch gentle and strong. When she had settled him back on the pillows she ran out of the room and soon reappeared, dangling a bunch of purple grapes by the stem.

"Maisy Roberts brought a basketful to the mill this morning, and gave all the girls in our room some," said she.
"Taste one, dear—it is full of cool juice."

But Jamie demurred, preferring to look at them longer before spilling the perfect cluster, and Edna went into the kitchen again.

"The trip is done just right," said Mrs. Windom, looking up. "If you give the men you have sent for, I can know how to open the safe, too. If you will only let me go I will have the bonds here in five minutes. Please do."

"Impossible!" said Mr. Talcott, impatiently. "It's a dangerous job, not fit for a girl. Tell us just where you put the keys. Wayne or I can find it,
quick, now!"

Edna felt that everything depended on persistence. "Mr. Talcott," she urged, "I can get the key quicker than any of the men you have sent for. I know how to open the safe, too. If you will only let me go I will have the
bonds here in five minutes. Please do."

"Call the chief!" shouted Mr. Tal-
cott, impatiently.

Edna grasped his arm. "Don't ask
any one else to go," begged she. "I can put my hand on those keys in the dark and—and I need that money you offered dreadfully. Let me go! Oh, let me go!"

"Impossible!" said Mr. Talcott, im-
patiently. "It's a dangerous job, not
fit for a girl. Tell us just where you put the keys. Wayne or I can find it,
quick, now!"

Edna felt that everything depended
on persistence. "Mr. Talcott," she urged, "I can get the key quicker than any of the men you have sent for. I know how to open the safe, too. If you will only let me go I will have the
bonds here in five minutes. Please do."

"Call the chief!" shouted Mr. Tal-
cott, impatiently.

Edna grasped his arm. "Don't ask
any one else to go," begged she. "I can
put my hand on those keys in the dark
and—and I need that money you offered dreadfully. Let me go! Oh, let
me go!"

"Impossible!" said Mr. Talcott, im-
patiently. "It's a dangerous job, not
fit for a girl. Tell us just where you put the keys. Wayne or I can find it,
quick, now!"

Edna felt that everything depended
on persistence. "Mr. Talcott," she urged, "I can get the key quicker than any of the men you have sent for. I know how to open the safe, too. If you will only let me go I will have the
bonds here in five minutes. Please do."

"Call the chief!" shouted Mr. Tal-
cott, impatiently.

Edna grasped his arm. "Don't ask
any one else to go," begged she. "I can
put my hand on those keys in the dark
and—and I need that money you offered dreadfully. Let me go! Oh, let
me go!"

"Impossible!" said Mr. Talcott, im-
patiently. "It's a dangerous job, not
fit for a girl. Tell us just where you put the keys. Wayne or I can find it,
quick, now!"

Edna felt that everything depended
on persistence. "Mr. Talcott," she urged, "I can get the key quicker than any of the men you have sent for. I know how to open the safe, too. If you will only let me go I will have the
bonds here in five minutes. Please do."

"Call the chief!" shouted Mr. Tal-
cott, impatiently.

Edna grasped his arm. "Don't ask
any one else to go," begged she. "I can
put my hand on those keys in the dark
and—and I need that money you offered dreadfully. Let me go! Oh, let
me go!"

"Impossible!" said Mr. Talcott, im-
patiently. "It's a dangerous job, not
fit for a girl. Tell us just where you put the keys. Wayne or I can find it,
quick, now!"

Edna felt that everything depended
on persistence. "Mr. Talcott," she urged, "I can get the key quicker than any of the men you have sent for. I know how to open the safe, too. If you will only let me go I will have the
bonds here in five minutes. Please do."

"Call the chief!" shouted Mr. Tal-
cott, impatiently.

Edna grasped his arm. "Don't ask
any one else to go," begged she. "I can
put my hand on those keys in the dark
and—and I need that money you offered dreadfully. Let me go! Oh, let
me go!"

"Impossible!" said Mr. Talcott, im-
patiently. "It's a dangerous job, not
fit for a girl. Tell us just where you put the keys. Wayne or I can find it,
quick, now!"

Edna felt that everything depended
on persistence. "Mr. Talcott," she urged, "I can get the key quicker than any of the men you have sent for. I know how to open the safe, too. If you will only let me go I will have the
bonds here in five minutes. Please do."

"Call the chief!" shouted Mr. Tal-
cott, impatiently.

Edna grasped his arm. "Don't ask
any one else to go," begged she. "I can
put my hand on those keys in the dark
and—and I need that money you offered dreadfully. Let me go! Oh, let
me go!"

"Impossible!" said Mr. Talcott, im-
patiently. "It's a dangerous job, not
fit for a girl. Tell us just where you put the keys. Wayne or I can find it,
quick, now!"

Edna felt that everything depended
on persistence. "Mr. Talcott," she urged, "I can get the key quicker than any of the men you have sent for. I know how to open the safe, too. If you will only let me go I will have the
bonds here in five minutes. Please do."

"Call the chief!" shouted Mr. Tal-
cott, impatiently.

Edna grasped his arm. "Don't ask
any one else to go," begged she. "I can
put my hand on those keys in the dark
and—and I need that money you offered dreadfully. Let me go! Oh, let
me go!"

"Impossible!" said Mr. Talcott, im-
patiently. "It's a dangerous job, not
fit for a girl. Tell us just where you put the keys. Wayne or I can find it,
quick, now!"

Edna felt that everything depended
on persistence. "Mr. Talcott," she urged, "I can get the key quicker than any of the men you have sent for. I know how to open the safe, too. If you will only let me go I will have the
bonds here in five minutes. Please do."

"Call the chief!" shouted Mr. Tal-
cott, impatiently.

Edna grasped his arm. "Don't ask
any one else to go," begged she. "I can
put my hand on those keys in the dark
and—and I need that money you offered dreadfully. Let me go! Oh, let
me go!"

"Impossible!" said Mr. Talcott, im-
patiently. "It's a dangerous job, not
fit for a girl. Tell us just where you put the keys. Wayne or I can find it,
quick, now!"

Edna felt that everything depended
on persistence. "Mr. Talcott," she urged, "I can get the key quicker than any of the men you have sent for. I know how to open the safe, too. If you will only let me go I will have the
bonds here in five minutes. Please do."

"Call the chief!" shouted Mr. Tal-
cott, impatiently.

Edna grasped his arm. "Don't ask
any one else to go," begged she. "I can
put my hand on those keys in the dark
and—and I need that money you offered dreadfully. Let me go! Oh, let
me go!"

"Impossible!" said Mr. Talcott, im-
patiently. "It's a dangerous job, not
fit for a girl. Tell us just where you put the keys. Wayne or I can find it,
quick, now!"

Edna felt that everything depended
on persistence. "Mr. Talcott," she urged, "I can get the key quicker than any of the men you have sent for. I know how to open the safe, too. If you will only let me go I will have the
bonds here in five minutes. Please do."

"Call the chief!" shouted Mr. Tal-
cott, impatiently.

Edna grasped his arm. "Don't ask
any one else to go," begged she. "I can
put my hand on those keys in the dark
and—and I need that money you offered dreadfully. Let me go! Oh, let
me go!"

"Impossible!" said Mr. Talcott, im-
patiently. "It's a dangerous job, not
fit for a girl. Tell us just where you put the keys. Wayne or I can find it,
quick, now!"

Edna felt that everything depended
on persistence. "Mr. Talcott," she urged, "I can get the key quicker than any of the men you have sent for. I know how to open the safe, too. If you will only let me go I will have the bonds here in five minutes. Please do."

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1904.

Thanksgiving in Quincy.

Thanksgiving services were held in several churches of the city Thursday, including the First church, Bethany Congregational church, the United Presbyterian church, and at Christ church.

At the Wollaston Baptist church at 5 P. M. there were union services.

In Quincy, however, it was a day of family gathering, and the weather being inclement many people remained indoors.

The King's Daughters sent flowers to the Quincy City Hospital to cheer the patients. Those able to enjoy Thanksgiving dinner were served with one. The number of patients is smaller than for some time.

Thanksgiving was enjoyed at the National Sailors' Home in the usual manner. The old sailors were given an old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinner at noon which included turkey, vegetables and all the fixings.

Mr. Wilson, keeper at the Quincy House, saw that the unfortunate at that institution had a jolly Thanksgiving. Only the necessary work was performed, and everybody had a holiday. At noon the family marched to the big dining room, where a bountiful Thanksgiving dinner was served.

Capt. Jones of the Sailors' Home, who at Germantown gave the old sailors at his institution an old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinner, Turkey, vegetables, pumpkin pie and other appetizing things were on the menu. After dinner pipes were lighted and many a sea yarn was spun.

Ballots Thrown Out.

Under the present law the returns of the votes cast at the Joint Caucuses, for officers other than Ward Committee, are canvassed by the Board of Registrars, a non-partisan board. At the canvass of the votes Monday it was decided that the returns of the election officers were defective in several cases.

The law particularly states that after every candidate's name, his residence, street and number, shall be given. In the case of the names on the returns prepared by the City Clerk, the provision of the law was complied with, but in the case of names of candidates not printed on the ballot, the returns failed to give any street or number, and in several cases gave only the last name.

The Registrars were compelled to treat all candidates exactly alike and therefore felt obliged to throw out all names which did not appear to be in strict compliance with the law. The only case in which any number of voters will be inconvenienced is that of Nathaniel S. Huntington, who is a candidate for nomination as School Committee at-large. Owing to his absence from the city at the time nomination papers were being circulated, he was not able to sign his papers in person, and therefore his friends were compelled to use "stickers" on the ballot. While perhaps some of the voters may feel that the address correctly printed, the Registrars felt that they had no right to go behind the returns of the election officers and assume that the ballots were anything except what they were reported to be in the returns.

Installation and Presentation.

Miss Margaret Thompson assisted by Miss Edw. W. Wollaston and Miss Edw. W. Wollaston, installed the officers of the Quincy City Hospital, at the Quincy City Hospital, at 10 A. M. on Monday.

Miss Eliza Sheahan, state vice president, presented the retiring president, Mrs. John M. O'Brien, a gold watch and chain, in a half of the society.

The rare treat of the evening was the singing of Killarney by Miss Agnes Kelley of Bedford, who well merited the enthusiasm which followed.

A banquet was served by Whittemore & General.

The following officers were installed, Miss B. T. Crowley, president; Miss Katherine Barry, recording secretary; Miss Alice O'Brien, financial secretary; Mrs. John M. O'Brien, treasurer; Mrs. J. Byron, Miss Mary Dunne, Miss Mary Butler, Miss Mary Murphy, committee.

Thanksgiving Concert.

There was a large attendance at the concert at the Swedish Lutheran church Thanksgiving night. The program was an interesting one and was greatly enjoyed. It consisted of an address of welcome by the pastor, Rev. John A. Bernhard; selections by the church orchestra; choruses by the church choir; duet by Mrs. Selma V. Johnson and Miss Mary Witting; readings by Miss Rita Nelson; solo by Mrs. Selma V. Johnson; song by the ladies' quartette composed of Miss Edith Olson, Miss Olga Olson, Miss Anna Hayden, and Miss Mary Witting; and a trio by Mrs. Johnson, Miss Witting and Mr. Fritz Swanson. Refreshments were served after the concert.

Submarine Safe.

A dispatch from Tokyo reports the arrival in Yokohama on Wednesday of five new submarine boats for the Japanese navy.

These are probably the submarines built in Quincy, which were shipped secretly in October. They will take some weeks to get these warlike vessels ready for sea, but they will probably be heard from soon.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt and daughter Alice left Washington Thanksgiving night by a special train for a visit to the St. Louis exposition. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Robinson, Secretary and Mrs. Loeb, Surgeon-General Rixey of the navy, M. C. Lattin of the executive office, and representatives of press associations.

They are expected to arrive at the fair on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. Returning at midnight on Sunday, for Washington.

Morgan hall, at Williamstown the largest and costliest dormitory on the Williams college campus, was badly damaged on Thanksgiving day by fire, loss being estimated at $40,000.

The center of the building, which is of rectangular shape, was completely gutted. The building was erected in 1882, through the generosity of Ex-Governor Morgan of New York at a cost of $82,400.

Thanksgiving news from London is that the people are suffering severely with the cold. Although only twenty-five degrees below freezing point in some districts, it was the lowest ever recorded there.

During a few instances wayfarers have been discovered frozen to death in the snow, which is quite deep.

The Amiable Clerk of the Mexican Herald reports: "I know a lot of pills walking around town that aren't even sugar coated."

CITY BRIEFS.

The grounds about the Dorothy Q. house have been greatly improved.

Mrs. W. F. Sidelinger is at the Quincy Hospital for an operation.

On Nov. 25, in 1852, memorial services were held in Quincy for Daniel Webster.

Daniel B. Snow has returned from a three weeks' visit at his old home at Augusta, Me.

The Quincy Chapter, order of the Eastern Star, will hold a fair soon in the Greenleaf hall.

Mrs. F. W. Swain of Gay street is confined to the house with a mild attack of diphtheria.

The boys enjoyed their first skating on Saturday, but the ice was thin and it was dangerous sport.

The laundry wagon drivers and laundry workers in Quincy are to be organized into a labor union.

Councilman Thompson has remodelled one of his houses on Union street, making it an attractive cottage.

Mrs. Effie L. Rhines left Saturday for Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, where she will be the guest of friends for a week.

Miss Florence Newcomb returned from New Hampshire to spend Thanksgiving with her parents on Newcomb street.

J. F. Sheppard & Sons have moved into their new office on Granite street, which is a great improvement over their old office.

Miss Julia E. Underwood of Washington street is spending the Thanksgiving vacation with her sister and family at West Lynn.

The annual meeting and sing of the Old Stoughton musical society will be held this day at Braintree Town hall, Sunday, Dec. 25.

Mrs. Samuel Edwards of Washington street has gone to Roxbury where she will be the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Ida Hall, for two weeks.

Miss Anna Agler of Newcomb street, who has been in the hospital at the Quincy City Hospital last week, is reported as comfortable as can be expected.

Miss Emily Streiff of Quincy avenue sailed last week on the S. S. Saxonia for Sweden, where she will be the guest of relatives and friends for a year.

Both the Masonic dedications came in November. The hall in the Greenleaf block on Nov. 23, 1876, and the apartments in the Hancock building Nov. 16, 1901.

Edward Hayden formerly with the New York & Boston Express company left this week for Sherbrooke, Canada, to accept a position on the Canadian Pacific Railroad.

Miss Madge D. Ballou has returned from a short visit at Hyannis, where she was royally entertained by friends. A Thanksgiving dinner was given in her honor last week Friday evening.

The Junior Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. held their regular monthly meeting with the Misses Lehman, 27 Greenleaf street, on Friday afternoon, when officers were elected for the coming term.

The alarm from Box 171 at 6.05 P. M. Sunday, was for a slight fire in a house on Baxter place occupied by an Italian family and was caused by a lamp exploding. There was but little damage.

Col. T. W. Higginson, Prof. C. E. Norton and Edward Robinson can appreciate what sort of memorial the Quincy City Hospital has in charge of the Adams, J. Q. Adams and John Hancock, because they themselves will surely be similarly honored by coming generation.—Boston Advertiser.

Mr. O. Funcke, formerly of Quincy, was tendered a large surprise party at his home on Brent street, Barre, Vt., Friday evening, Nov. 18. He was presented with a handsome dress and case by his friends. The evening was passed with games and music. Refreshments were served. All left wishing Mr. Funcke a pleasant journey abroad. He leaves the third of December.

A pleasing musicale was held at Christ church parish house Monday evening under the auspices of the Maestri club. The program was in charge of the choir and was greatly enjoyed. It included violin solos by Mr. McBride, vocal solos by Mrs. Frank Moore, E. Bullock and Mr. Wheeler, piano solos by Miss Hanson, and readings by Rev. William E. Gardner.

The special committee appointed by the City Council to secure better service on the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R., met on Monday afternoon for the adjournment of the Council, and organized with E. R. Stone as chairman. On the committee are Councilmen Adams, Hardwick, McFarland and Gassett, representing four wards. Special work was assigned to each member.

The beautiful home of Miss Elsie Bessie of Hancock street was opened Nov. 18 for a reading for the benefit of the Norfolk County King's Daughters' Home. Miss Russell read from Hiawatha, and her interpretation was excellent as it always is. Miss Fanny Ellsworth delighted all by her singing and was particularly fine in "O, Happy Day," by Goetze. Mrs. James Ellsworth accompanied her with great skill upon the piano.

There was a very large attendance at the First church chapel Sunday afternoon at the harvest concert by the Sunday school. The concert was given under the direction of Charles H. Johnson, and consisted of recitations by the children, general exercises by the school, and instrumental music by some of the children. The school voted to donate $5 from its penny collections to the City Hospital. The chapel was prettily decorated with fruit and vegetables of all kinds which were distributed among the poor people of the city.

The Friday club met with Mrs. A. F. Schenkelberger, Goffe street, last week. A large number were present, and the afternoon was delightful. The subjects were Mrs. Gaskell and her life of Charlotte Bronte. A scene from Cranford was acted. The characters were represented by Mrs. Schenkelberger, Mrs. Morton, Mrs. Gurney, Mrs. Wadsworth, Mrs. Marsh, Miss Randall, Mrs. Alden and Mrs. Hayward. They were dressed in true Cranford costumes and looked and acted the parts with great success. Chocolate and cake were served by the hostess.

Those who remember the delightful autumnal recital given last spring in aid of the organ fund of First church, by Miss Gordon Walker, will be pleased to know that Miss Annie Prescott, who arranged the afternoon, is planning for another entertainment of the same kind. This time it will be a Hungarian affair, when Miss Edith Lyndon Winn of Boston in peasant costume will sing Hungarian folk songs and play on the violin, assisted at the piano by Miss Gorman. Miss Winn has spent several years abroad. She has a charming personality which attracts every one to her.

Beautiful moonlight Thanksgiving night.

Mrs. Mary A. Jackson of Cincinnati, Ohio, is stopping at The Greenleaf.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Blackmar of Elm street have returned from Augusta, Maine.

C. F. Carlson expects to open his new restaurant in the Paxon block next Monday.

Mr. H. H. Schulze and family of New Bedford News are located at hotel Greenleaf.

Captain B. H. Hawes and wife of Wellfleet have taken apartments at hotel Greenleaf.

Miss Alice E. Townsend of the City Treasurer's office at City Hall is at her home in Vermont.

Mrs. Herbert A. Haskins of North Adams is visiting Mrs. D. W. Morrison of Summer street.

Mrs. William A. Hodges is spending Thanksgiving with her daughter, Mrs. Hunt, in Hartford, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. George S. Troupe of Cranich street are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son.

Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Chaffin spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Corlies of Adams street.

Mrs. H. G. Johnson and children of Woodward avenue, have returned from a month's visit at Truro, N. S.

Rev. H. S. Huntington of Milton will preach at Bethany church Sunday evening in exchange with the pastor.

Rev. Charles Fleischner of the Temple Adath Israel, of Boston, will preach at the Unitarian church, Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. John Donald Mackay, nee Kincaide, receive their friends after December first at their home on Merry-mount road.

The next regular meeting of the School Committee will be held in their room Tuesday evening, November 29, at eight o'clock.

Rev. Charles Fleischner of the Temple Adath Israel, of Boston, will preach at the Unitarian church, Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. John Donald Mackay, nee Kincaide, receive their friends after December first at their home on Merry-mount road.

The chimney on the Greenleaf block which has not been in use for several years, and which had become dangerous, are being taken down.

The annual inspection of Paul Revere Woman's Relief Corps was held Tuesday. The inspecting officer was Mrs. Mary E. Knowles of Somerville, past national chaplain.

Papers were filed with City Clerk Keith Wednesday nominating Nathaniel S. Huntington as School Committee at large for three years as a Republican Citizens' candidate.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Tanser, nee Servis, are on their way to California where they will be at home to their friends after December first at the Angelus hotel, Los Angeles.

The third progressive whist party at the Cochate club, Braintree, will be held next Wednesday evening, the thirtieth, and the last one of the series about the middle of December.

Ninety turkeys purchased with the income of the Johnson fund and the contribution by Mayor Bryant were distributed by the Poor department Wednesday among deserving families of the city.

The skyrockets defeated the Bimblees three straight games on Tuesday evening. McConary was high man for the former, and Esson for the latter. The scores were: 405 to 385, 399 to 397 and 422 to 391.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Greene Ogden (Patty Faxon) who were married early in September and are now living at Washington, D. C., are at home to their friends after December 1st at 1324 Nineteenth street.

Paul Revere W. R. C. held a whist party in G. A. R. hall Tuesday evening at which twelve tables were in play. The successful winners were: Miss Annie Holart, with a score of 44, Mrs. J. Darrah, Mr. J. Durrah and F. E. Hayden.

The next meeting of Camp Boyd on Dec. 5 will be an important one as it is the date for the annual inspection and also the date for the nomination of officers for 1905. It will be held on Monday evening because of the City election.

At G. A. R. hall on Wednesday evening the Ladies Aid Society held a whist party at which there were eleven tables. The highest score being 48 Mrs. J. W. Pierce received a table. Mrs. Frank Stoddard, and H. E. Clark were also fortunate ones.

Mrs. George F. Spooner of Revere road entertained the Entre Nous whist club Tuesday afternoon. The highest scores were obtained by Mrs. S. F. Nutting of Quincy and Mrs. A. H. Hall of Atlantic, and they were awarded souveniers. Lunch was served.

Wednesday evening, December the second is the date set for the grand production of the cantata of Ruth which is to be given in Bethany church by the King's Daughters. Mrs. Harriet R. Morgan, Miss Sarah Belle Huff, Mr. Edward E. Bullock and Mr. Charles Delmont are the soloists.

In the wedding of Miss Sarah Wilber and Mr. Arthur Bates Holden is to be a solemnized Monday noon at half-past twelve in the old First church. Following the ceremony a small informal reception for the immediate family and intimate friends will be held at the home of the bride, Adams street.

The Friday club is to meet next week with Mrs. Edith Randall of Wilbur street, and Mrs. Frederic Allison Tupling as chairman. The afternoon's program which will be on the works of Charlotte Bronte. This will be the first entertainment of any number of guests by Miss Randall since moving into her cozy little home.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Copeland Morse, Jr., nee Spear, who were married in the early fall, will receive their friends after December first at their home, 18 Mount Vernon road. They were given a reception last week Friday evening at the home of Mr. Morse's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Morse, Goffe street, which was the largest and most delightful affair of the season.

Mrs. Henry L. Kincaide of Whitney road who is to open her house Thursday afternoon, December first, for a large whist party in aid of the organ fund, has had many subscribers. These parties are very enjoyable, sociability rather than cards being the attraction for prizes are not given or efforts made on large scores. Mrs. Kincaide has planned for about twenty tables.

Adams Chapter Daughters of the Revolution are to have an all day sewing bee for their December meeting at the birthplace of President John Adams. They are to be braid and sew rugs for the floor of the house. Any one having pieces of flannel or cloth to donate, will confer a favor by leaving them at the house with Mrs. Smith, the caretaker, before the meeting on Monday December fifth.

The next rehearsal for the cantata of Ruth will be on Thursday evening, Dec. 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. McKay returned Thursday evening from their wedding trip.

There will be a meeting of the Fragment Society in the Unitarian chapel on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mr. William Putnam Thompson, of the firm of Nowland & Thompson, spent Thanksgiving in Portland, Maine.

Rabbi Fleischer of Boston is to preach at First church, Sunday morning at half-past ten, taking for his subject, "Peace." A sermon on "Peace" he preached recently at Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Lane Bigelow, nee Rice, who have recently moved into their beautiful new house at Brookline, had a housewarming party on Thanksgiving, entertaining some forty guests.

Mrs. James H. Slade has been enjoying a trip to the World's Fair. Going out she visited her daughter, Mrs. Skinner, at Chicago and returning stopped over at New York with her brother, Mr. John Thayer.

Mrs. Jesse L. Litchfield of Brook street, Wollaston, entertained the Junior Friday club on Monday afternoon. There was a full attendance and it was a very enjoyable meeting.

Seldom, if ever before, has Coliseum hall had such a crowd as that which assembled there Thanksgiving day, the occasion being the third grand dance given by the Neponset Oating club of Neponset.

Mr. Charles Delmont, who is to be one of the soloists at the cantata of Ruth, is a stranger to Quincy audiences, but comes highly endorsed. Carl Zerrhan, the well known musician says he has a beautiful voice and sings with exquisite taste.

First Church Sunday school has been preparing an entertainment which is to be given in the chapel on Friday evening December second. Judging from the number of the young people are going to give their friends a most entertaining evening.

A meeting of the Quincy Branch Alliance will be held Monday November 28th, at three o'clock in the parlor of First church. The subject for the afternoon is "Brahmanism and Buddhism," and will be in charge of Mrs. Mary Thayer Slade.

The Quincy basketball team was no match on Thanksgiving night for the All Collegians who came from Williston academy to play at Hancock hall. The score was 20 to 8 in favor of the visitors. Twenty minute halves were played.

About 25 of the ladies who attended the W. R. C. inspection on Tuesday accepted an invitation to the Englishman Coast to visit the Central station about 7 P. M. They saw the horses rush to their places and were surprised at the quick hitched made. They also were pleased with their inspection of the station.

On Wednesday, Galen V. Bowditch, who makes daily rounds between Quincy and Boston newspaper offices with the regularity of clockwork, and the vigor of a person half his years, reached the 67th milestone in his life's journey. His contribution for the Quincy council has imparted the touch of youth to him. He doesn't look any older than he did ten years ago.

A meeting of the Quincy Branch Alliance will be held Monday November 28th, at three o'clock in the parlor of First church. The subject for the afternoon is "Brahmanism and Buddhism," and will be in charge of Mrs. Mary Thayer Slade.

The Quincy basketball team was no match on Thanksgiving night for the All Collegians who came from Williston academy to play at Hancock hall. The score was 20 to 8 in favor of the visitors. Twenty minute halves were played.

About 25 of the ladies who attended the W. R. C. inspection on Tuesday accepted an invitation to the Englishman Coast to visit the Central station about 7 P. M. They saw the horses rush to their places and were surprised at the quick hitched made. They also were pleased with their inspection of the station.

On Wednesday, Galen V. Bowditch, who makes daily rounds between Quincy and Boston newspaper offices with the regularity of clockwork, and the vigor of a person half his years, reached the 67th milestone in his life's journey. His contribution for the Quincy council has imparted the touch of youth to him. He doesn't look any older than he did ten years ago.

A meeting of the Quincy Branch Alliance will be held Monday November 28th, at three o'clock in the parlor of First church. The subject for the afternoon is "Brahmanism and Buddhism," and will be in charge of Mrs. Mary Thayer Slade.

The Quincy basketball team was no match on Thanksgiving night for the All Collegians who came from Williston academy to play at Hancock hall. The score was 20 to 8 in favor of the visitors. Twenty minute halves were played.

About 25 of the ladies who attended the W. R. C. inspection on Tuesday accepted an invitation to the Englishman Coast to visit the Central station about 7 P. M. They saw the horses rush to their places and were surprised at the quick hitched made. They also were pleased with their inspection of the station.

On Wednesday, Galen V. Bowditch, who makes daily rounds between Quincy and Boston newspaper offices with the regularity of clockwork, and the vigor of a person half his years, reached the 67th milestone in his life's journey. His contribution for the Quincy council has imparted the touch of youth to him. He doesn't look any older than he did ten years ago.

A meeting of the Quincy Branch Alliance will be held Monday November 28th, at three o'clock in the parlor of First church. The subject for the afternoon is "Brahmanism and Buddhism," and will be in charge of Mrs. Mary Thayer Slade.

The Quincy basketball team was no match on Thanksgiving night for the All Collegians who came from Williston academy to play at Hancock hall. The score was 20 to 8 in favor of the visitors. Twenty minute halves were played.

About 25 of the ladies who attended the W. R. C. inspection on Tuesday accepted an invitation to the Englishman Coast to visit the Central station about 7 P. M. They saw the horses rush to their places and were surprised at the quick hitched made. They also were pleased with their inspection of the station.

On Wednesday, Galen V. Bowditch, who makes daily rounds between Quincy and Boston newspaper offices with the regularity of clockwork, and the vigor of a person half his years, reached the 67th milestone in his life's journey. His contribution for the Quincy council has imparted the touch of youth to him. He doesn't look any older than he did ten years ago.

A meeting of the Quincy Branch Alliance will be held Monday November 28th, at three o'clock in the parlor of First church. The subject for the afternoon is "Brahmanism and Buddhism," and will be in charge of Mrs. Mary Thayer Slade.

The Quincy basketball team was no match on Thanksgiving night for the All Collegians who came from Williston academy to play at Hancock hall. The score was 20 to 8 in favor of the visitors. Twenty minute halves were played.

About 25 of the ladies who attended the W. R. C. inspection on Tuesday accepted an invitation to the Englishman Coast to visit the Central station about 7 P. M. They saw the horses rush to their places and were surprised at the quick hitched made. They also were pleased with their inspection of the station.

On Wednesday, Galen V. Bowditch, who makes daily rounds between Quincy and Boston newspaper offices with the regularity of clockwork, and the vigor of a person half his years, reached the 67th milestone in his life's journey. His contribution for the Quincy council has imparted the touch of youth to him. He doesn't look any older than he did ten years ago.

A meeting of the Quincy Branch Alliance will be held Monday November 28th, at three o'clock in the parlor of First church. The subject for the afternoon is "Brahmanism and Buddhism," and will be in charge of Mrs. Mary Thayer Slade.

The Quincy basketball team was no match on Thanksgiving night for the All Collegians who came from Williston academy to play at Hancock hall. The score was 20 to 8 in favor of the visitors. Twenty minute halves were played.

About 25 of the ladies who attended the W. R. C. inspection on Tuesday accepted an invitation to the Englishman Coast to visit the Central station about 7 P. M. They saw the horses rush to their places and were surprised at the quick hitched made. They also were pleased with their inspection of the station.

On Wednesday, Galen V. Bowditch, who makes daily rounds between Quincy and Boston newspaper offices with the regularity of clockwork, and the vigor of a person half his years, reached the 67th milestone in his life's journey. His contribution for the Quincy council has imparted the touch of youth to him. He doesn't look any older than he did ten years ago.

A meeting of the Quincy Branch Alliance will be held Monday November 28th, at three o'clock in the parlor of First church. The subject for the afternoon is "Brahmanism and Buddhism," and will be in charge of Mrs. Mary Thayer Slade.

The Quincy basketball team was no match on Thanksgiving night for the All Collegians who came from Williston academy to play at Hancock hall. The score was 20 to 8 in favor of the visitors. Twenty minute halves were played.

About 25 of the ladies who attended the W. R. C. inspection on Tuesday accepted an invitation to the Englishman Coast to visit the Central station about 7 P. M. They saw the horses rush to their places and were surprised at the quick hitched made. They also were pleased with their inspection of the station.

On Wednesday, Galen V. Bowditch, who makes daily rounds between Quincy and Boston newspaper offices with the regularity of clockwork, and the vigor of a person half his years, reached the 67th milestone in his life's journey. His contribution for the Quincy council has imparted the touch of youth to him. He doesn't look any older than he did ten years ago.

WOLLASTON.

Among the guests at dinner at the Quincy House, Boston, Thanksgiving day were Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Fay and family, Mrs. Florence N. Loring, Mr. Lawrence F. Loring, Mr. George H. York and son, Miss Ethel M. Tracy and Mr. Charles H. Taylor of Wollaston.

The Wollaston Alliance will hold an all day sewing meeting in the church vestry, Wednesday, Nov. 30, in preparation for the fair to be held. There will be a box lunch at noon. At three o'clock, Rev. George F. Pratt of Christ church, Dorchester, will speak upon "The new social ideal and the church."

A beautiful alma box given by Mrs. Jane S. Osborne in memory of her son, John Howard Osborne, has been placed in the St. Christopher's church.

The second meeting of the Ladies' Musical club was held Monday evening with Mrs. C. W. Wollaston as guest. A number being present. Miss Rosabelle C. Temple of Boston, who directs the ladies will give at each meeting a short talk on the composers studied by the club. Miss Temple will also talk on her travels abroad in the musical world, which were very instructive and well as pleasing. All ladies who are interested are cordially invited to join. The next meeting will be held on Monday evening November 28, at eight o'clock with Mrs. Keyes, Water-avenue, Wollaston.

The Little Wollaston club of Wollaston has recently given seventy-five dollars to the City Hospital.

There will be a recital at the Quincy Mansion School, Wednesday evening, November thirtieth, given by Miss Grace Wagner, pianist, and Miss Harriet Rogers, soprano.

The Wollaston city club held its third meeting for this season on Friday evening. Lieut. R. M. Watt, U. S. N., spoke upon the "Building of our New Navy," and Mr. Chas. E. Locke, S. B. of Massachusetts Institute of Technology used the stereoscope to illustrate his talk upon "Modern Mining."

Mr. and Mrs. William Patterson of South Central avenue observed their silver wedding anniversary on Friday evening.

Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 the Wollaston W. T. U. met with Mrs. Amos D. Albree, 30 Prospect avenue. Miss Glavin of the Wollaston school, is at Methuen, Mass.

Dr. Streeter and wife and son spent Thanksgiving in Providence, R. I. Mr. Walter Berry of Warren avenue, is entertaining relatives from Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Richards and family of Wollaston are visiting in North East. Miss Gleason of Portland, Me., is visiting Mrs. Abel Brown of Safford street.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Follett and children went to Rockland to spend Thanksgiving. Mr. and Mrs. Neff and daughter of Marion street are in Lynn for a few days.

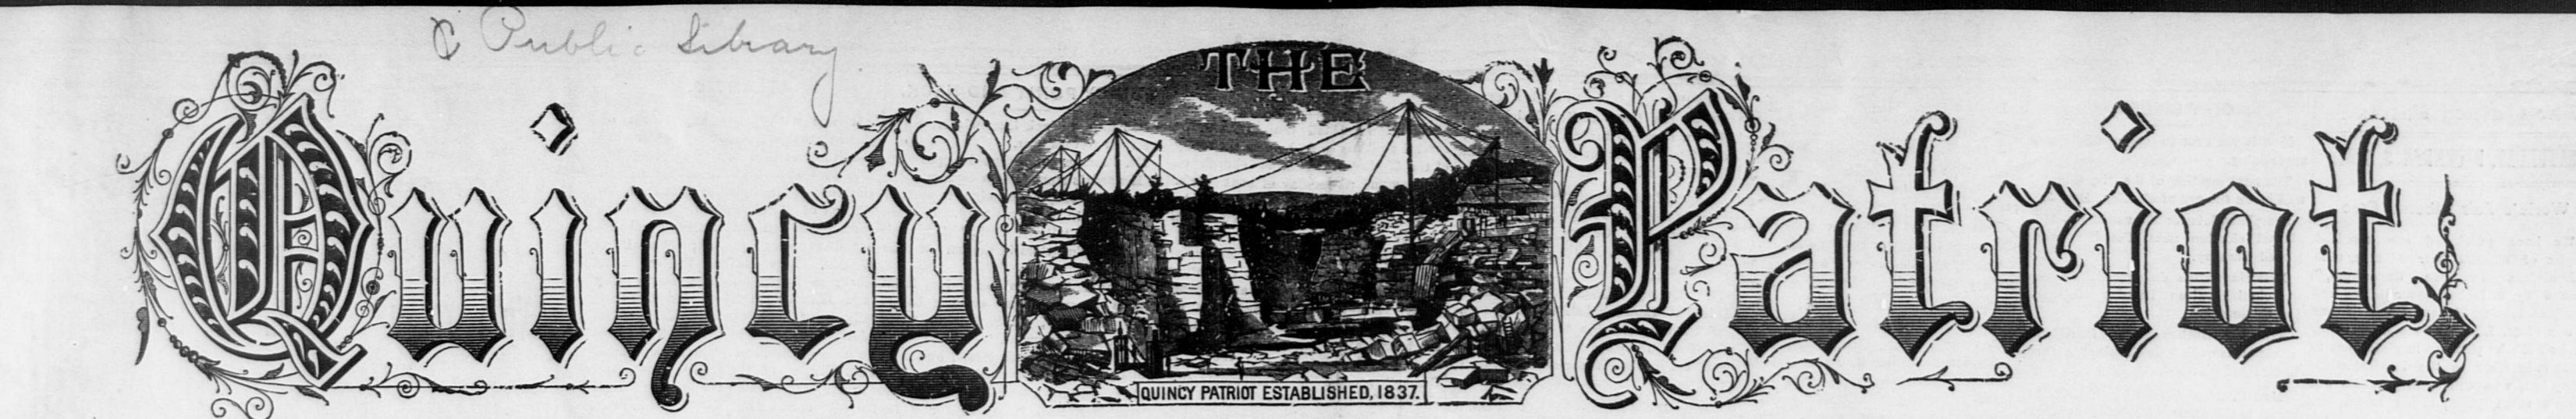

Dr. and Mrs. Horace Mann Willard entertained a large number of guests Thanksgiving day.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Finch spent Thanksgiving at Attleboro, with Mr. Finch's brother.

Mrs. Horace Richmond of Wollaston

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1904.

VOL. 68, NO. 49.

FIVE CENTS PER COPY; $2.50 PER YEAR.

The Quincy Patriot,
Established in 1837.
PUBLISHED SATURDAY MORNING BY
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON,
OFFICE, No. 142 HANCOCK STREET.

Subscription Price, $2.50 per Year.
A reduction of fifty cents will be made
when paid one year in advance.

Quincy Daily Ledger,
For ONLY DAILY in the ONLY CITY in Norfolk
County. Established in 1889.
Subscription Price, $6.00 per Year.
A reduction of $1 will be made when paid
one year in advance.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF THE
Braintree Observer
A Weekly Established in 1878.

H. T. WHITMAN,
Civil Engineer
—AND—
SURVEYOR.
ADAMS BUILDING, - QUINCY
Boston Office, 85 Devonshire street
Hours, 12 to 2 P. M.

N. B. Plans of nearly all the Real Estate
in the City of Quincy can be found at my office. Telephone connection.
May 28.

DR. FENIMORE S. ANDREWS,
DENTIST.
67 Franklin St., Cor. Water St.,
PINE BLOCK, QUINCY ADAMS.
Office Hours, 9 to 12; 2 to 5.
Telephone number, 146-2.

DR. C. T. SHERMAN,
DENTIST.
Hancock Building, over W. G. Shaw's store,
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY.
Office Hours, 8 to 12, 1 to 5.
Residence, Greenleaf street.

J. E. KENILEY & CO.,
PLUMBERS.
All orders promptly attended to at reasonable prices. Satisfaction guaranteed.
NO. 9 TEMPLE STREET, QUINCY.
Jan. 6.

W. E. BROWN,
UNDERTAKER.
Office and residence, corner of Canal and Mechanic streets.
Quincy, Feb. 6.

DAVID BROWN,
HORSE SHOEING,
Carriage Work and General Jobbing.
WILKINSON STREET, - WOLLASTON.
Nov. 9.

WILLIAM PARKER & SON,
Carpenters and Builders.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
JOHNSON PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
HANCOCK COURT, - QUINCY, MASS.

IRA LITCHFIELD,
CARPENTER and BUILDER.
PEARL STREET,
SOUTH QUINCY.

JULIUS JOHNSON,
Carpenter, & Contractor
—AND—
BUILDER.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
JOHNSON PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
NO. 64 CENTRE ST., QUINCY, MASS.
Telephone, 69-2

JOHN W. McNARNEY,
COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW,
ROOM 1, DUNN & MERRILL'S BLOCK,
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.

C. H. TOWER,
UPHOLSTERER.
CARPETS taken up, Cleaned and Repaired
FURNITURE Upholstered and Repaired.
HAIR MATTRESSES made over and
made to order.
Full line of latest coverings to select from.
Send postal or telephone for estimates.
Telephone, 64-4 Quincy.

ABBOTT & MILLER'S
BOUGHS NECK.
QUINCY AND BOSTON EXPRESS.
G. M. MILLER, General Manager.

Furniture Packed.
Office, 64 Washington Street.
Quincy P. O. address, Lock Box 3.
Telephone Connections.

Incorporated 1837.
Dedham Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
DEDHAM, MASS.
STATEMENT JANUARY 1, 1904.
Amount at Risk, $5,915,941.25
Cash Assets, 161,046.00
Total Liabilities, including re-insurance, 29,202.80
Amount of Cash Surplus, $5,885,738.45
Contingent Assets, 106,428.43
Total Available Assets, 5,992,166.88
Dividends are now being paid on five-year policies, 70 per cent.; on three-year policies, 60 per cent.; on one and two-year policies, 25 per cent.

J. WHITE BELCHER, President.
HOWARD COLBURN, Treasurer.
JAMES Y. NOYES, Secretary.
Directors:—Howard Colburn, Dedham; Don Gleason Hill, Dedham; J. White Belcher, Randolph; A. B. Endicott, Dedham; P. R. Mansfield, Dedham; Frederick D. Ely, Dedham; Alvin C. Hewitt, Dedham; James G. Goss, Milton; Charles M. Faunce, Boston.
GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent for Quincy.

QUINCY Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
INCORPORATED IN 1881. COMMENCED BUSINESS IN 1902.
CHAS. A. HOWLAND, President.
WILLIAM H. FAY, Secretary.
C. A. HOWLAND, Jr., Asst. Sec.
CASH FUND January 1, 1904, $705,963.30
SURPLUS over Re-insurance, $455,776.74
LOSSES paid the past year, $42,201.94
DIVIDENDS PAID the past year, $66,032.42
GAIN IN SURPLUS the past year, $12,983.04
GAIN IN CASH FUND the past year, 20,297.34
AND EVERY LOSS PAID IN FULL.

AMOUNT AT RISK, $32,586,226.01
TOTAL LIABILITIES, $250,156.50
Dividends Paid on Every Expiring Policy: 60 per cent. on 5 years, 40 per cent. on 3 years and 20 per cent. on all others.
Quincy, Mass., 1904.

DORCHESTER Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
BOSTON, MASS.
INCORPORATED 1855.
FORTY-NINTH ANNUAL STATEMENT JANUARY 1, 1904.
Amount at Risk, $42,120,200.00
Cash Assets, $3,720,200.00
Total Liabilities, including re-insurance, 1,040,000.00
Amount of Cash Surplus, 310,288.83
Contingent Assets, 161,046.00
Total Available Assets, 471,334.83
Dividends paid in 1903, 1,389.25
Losses paid in 1903, 69,265.48
Dividends paid in 1902, 12,704.06
Losses paid in 1902, 69,265.48
Dividends paid in 1901, 216,632.76
Losses paid in 1901, 157,067.65
This Company now pays the following Dividends:—
On five-year Policies, 60 per cent.
On three-year Policies, 40 per cent.
On one-year Policies, 25 per cent.
All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

THOS. F. TEMPLE, President and Treasurer.
W. D. C. CURTIS, Secretary.
Directors:—J. B. L. Bartlett, Clarence Burgh, W. D. C. Curtis, Charles J. Gallagher, Rich. Mann, 25, Lahan, Pratt, Thomas F. Temple, James H. Upham, Samuel J. Wille.
Home Office, Neponset, Boston, Mass.

ETNA Insurance Co.,
HARTFORD, CONN.
Incorporated 1819. Charter Perpetua.
Losses Paid in 85 Years, $6,928,139.96
JANUARY 1, 1904.
Cash Capital, $4,000,000.00
Reserve for Re-insurance (Fire), $50,488.24
Reserve for Unpaid Losses (Fire), $24,128.00
Net Surplus, 6,909,727.21
Total Assets, 10,550,888.15

John Hardwick & Co.,
45 Granite street,
Agents for Quincy.
Incorporated 1825.
Norfolk Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
DEDHAM, MASS.
STATEMENT, JANUARY 1, 1904.
Amount at Risk, $24,184,524.84
Cash Assets, 540,238.13
Total Liabilities, including re-insurance, 157,897.22
Amount of Cash Surplus, $24,576,865.75
Contingent Assets, 992,735.61
Total Available Assets, 25,569,601.36
Dividends are now being paid on five-year policies, 70 per cent.; on three-year policies, 60 per cent.; on one and two-year policies, 25 per cent.

J. WHITE BELCHER, Pres. and Treas.
JAMES Y. NOYES, Secretary.
Directors:—J. White Belcher, Randolph; Howard Colburn, Dedham; Tyler Thayer, Randolph; A. B. Endicott, Dedham; P. R. Mansfield, Dedham; Frederick D. Ely, Dedham; Alvin C. Hewitt, Dedham; James G. Goss, Milton; Charles M. Faunce, Boston.
GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent for Quincy.

INSURANCE AGENCY.
ESTABLISHED in Quincy in the year 1840 by
W. PORTER.
Insurance effected in reliable and safe Stock and Mutual offices.
By W. PORTER & CO.,
At No. 82 Water Street, Boston.
Residence, Hancock street, Quincy.

Granite Firms.
FULLER, FOLEY & CO.,
Granite Manufacturers and Dealers. Works opposite West Quincy Depot.
MILNE & CHALMERS,
Monumental and Cemetery Work, every description. Works near Quincy Adams Depot. P. O. Address, Quincy, Mass. Branch Office 4 West Main St., North Adams.
MERRY MOUNT GRANITE CO.
Incorporated 1881. Manufacturers and Dealers in Monumental and Cemetery Work. Works near Quincy Adams station, So. Quincy.

McGRATH BROS.,
Large stock of Finished Monuments and Tablets constantly on hand. Works at Quincy Adams Station. Established 1864.
CAREY BROTHERS,
Dealers and manufacturers of Polished and Hammered Monuments, Curbing and Headstones. Willard street, West Quincy.
LONG & SAUNDERS,
Fine Monumental Work from American and Foreign Granite and Marble. Latest designs. Superior workmanship. Works, South Quincy. B-nach, Stoughton, Mass.

RADGER BROTHERS,
Granite Dealers and Machinists. Monumental Work of all Descriptions. Colored and Ashland Quarry all work. West Quincy.

Great Sale Of Couches.
Couches.
We have bought at a sacrifice the entire stock of one of New England's most famous couch makers, who has been forced to give up business.
The stock consists of 125 couches of various grades. They are newly made and are covered in the most up-to-date velours, in plain reds, greens, or attractive figured goods.
These couches we are offering at from 25 to 50 per cent. under regular retail prices, and at these prices will be quickly sold.
Regular $7.00 Couches for $3.95.
Regular 10.00 " " 6.50.
Regular 12.00 " " 7.98.
Regular 15.00 " " 10.50.
Regular 20.00 " " 13.98.
Cash or Credit. Green or Legal Stamps.
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
New England's Lowest Priced Furniture Store,
Hancock Street, Quincy.
We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

The National Granite Bank
OF QUINCY, MASS.
1836-1865-1904
RUPERT F. CLAFIN, Cashier.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.
$20 Boston Box for $5.
A Safe Deposit for Your Valuables,
Bonds, Deeds, Insurance Papers, etc.
NEW VAULT, FINE BOOTHS. COMPLETE RETIREMENT.
PROMPT AND COURTEOUS ATTENTION.
Call and Examine.
Oct. 1.

NOTICE.
To my Friends and Public generally:
Having associated myself with Mr. W. G. Shaw, in his new store in City Square, would be pleased to see you and show you a nice and large line of HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS. Having had a long experience and with the Grand Assortment of Goods at my command, I feel confident of pleasing you.
Thankful for past favors and hoping for a continuance of the same.
I am very truly yours,
C. E. WOODBURY.
Quincy, March 1st, 1901.

FURNACE COLD.
People who live in furnace-heated houses may have noticed the prevalence of supposed colds, coughs and throat ailments immediately after the furnace has been started in the fall. As a matter of fact, experts declare that these epidemics are largely caused by the dust and germs which gather in the registers and hot-air pipes during the summer and are blown into the air of the house when the furnace is started. In addition to the ordinary dust, which is certain to settle in such places during the summer months, there is also danger that it may become impregnated with poisonous vapors from the cellar, which may be released by the current of hot air rising from the cellar. In view of the large number of houses which are heated by furnaces, the question of properly cleaning the pipes has an important influence on the health.—Healthy Home.

CAUTION.
The above article is from a reliable source, and we do not believe the danger from this cause is over estimated.
It has been stated by different authorities that a large percent of the throat and lung trouble in the winter months, in the northern states, was caused by the hot, dusty air from the hot-air furnace and registers. To avoid this danger use the modern method of HOT WATER, or STEAM HEAT, properly installed by

W. A. BRADFORD,
Plumbing, Heating and Gas Fitting.
Telephone 111-3. Bank Building, Quincy, Mass.
Open Monday and Saturday Evenings.
Oct. 27.

BOSTON PRICES!
COAL
DELIVERED IN QUINCY.
GEO. E. FROST.
Telephone 128-3 Dorchester. P. O. Address Neponset.

A FEW POINTERS.
The recent statistics of the number of deaths show that the large majority die with consumption. This disease may come with an apparently harmless cough, that can be cured quickly by Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs, which is guaranteed to cure and relieve all cases, chronic, acute and old. Sold by druggists. Sample mailed free. Address Kemp's Balsam, Le Roy, N. Y.

Poetry.
"Somewhere."
Somewhere the roses are brave and red;
And apple blossoms are sweet, and spread
A wistful perfume that scents the day
And clings to the lips that smile away.
When night comes slowly and hides them away,
A wondrous fragrance the blossoms bear—
And wouldn't you like to be there?
Somewhere the meadows are stretching green,
As clear as jewels, and soft and clean,
With dandelions in spangled show
And bending branches that cast a shade
Where moonbeams glimmer and gleam and fade,
And will-o'-the-wisps in the distance dance.
Somewhere the fireflies flash and flare—
And wouldn't you like to be there?
Somewhere—You know it; O, who but holds
A memory that his heart holds—
A memory of the leaving trees
And soothing song of the honeybees
And all of the day-dreams of the day—
Somewhere you lived it all—somewhere—
And wouldn't you like to be there?

Miscellany.
GRANDPA'S MEDAL.
"What is this, grandpa?" asked Kent.
He had picked up from the floor a large silver medal that baby sister had been biting with her toothless gums.
"That? Why, it's the medal that the United States government gave me in 1851—before your mother was born," answers grandpa, as he studied the inscription absently.
"Did the government give you that?" cries Kent, surprised that his grandfather had been on such familiar terms with the government of the United States.
"Why, what for?"
"So I never told you that story, did I," says grandpa with some pride in his voice.
"That was for helping to rescue the crew of the brig Zilica, bound for the Bay of Fundy, and shipwrecked off this coast. And it astonished me to this day to remember that we did not every one of us lose our lives trying to save them."
"Oh, tell it! tell it! Please tell it!" urged Kent, now fired with interest to learn about the real adventure of his own grandpa.
"That happened in the days before the United States life-saving service was organized. The branch of the marine service was not established until the year 1871. Some time before you leave the cape I will take you to the back shore to visit the life-saving station and show you some of the wonderful appliances they have nowadays for saving life—lifeboats, life buoys, petticoat breeches, motors for throwing the lines red fire to burn and all the numerous traps besides. I think you will find these more interesting than the story, my boy."
"But the story, grandpa; the story. Tell that now," insisted Kent, impatient for grandpa to begin.
"How many men were there with you when you rescued the sailors?"
"Let me think! There was Steve, my brother; Jesse Freeman, Robert Judson—Well—I think there were six of us all told."
"And did they all have medals like this?"
"Yes, every one of us."
"Do tell the story, grandpa."
"Well it was about dark when we took the last one of the brig," says grandpa, beginning at the end of the narrative.
"Poor fellows, they had lashed themselves to the rigging, where they had remained all day, hungry and wet and chilled to the bone. They couldn't have stood it much longer—sight a-coming on and the vessel fast going pieces."
"Half the men in Wallfort had been up to the back shore that day to see the wreck and the men. They would just go and look at the gruesome sight for a little while and then turn about and go home."
"Why did you wait all day before you tried to get them off?"
"Because the wind was blowing a terrific hurricane all day, my boy. The sea was raging like fury, seething with foam and dashing over the wreck every moment. The breakers were booming and crashing on the beach, and nobody wanted to brave their fury. The most experienced of them thought it was foolhardy to risk their lives with the certainty of being drowned or dashed to death by the waves."
"It was the first day of December, and a smothering snowstorm raged all day! My, how the wind blew that day!"
"We'll try and get along with anything they had. Hatch happens to have, then," says Jesse. "It won't be so far as the village."
"I was out of town in the morning and did not hear of the disaster to the Zilica until I came home about three in the afternoon," went on grandpa, now fairly back at the opening of his story and beginning to stir with awakened memories.
"Have you heard the news?" your grandpa asked, as I came into the house.
"There's a ship ashore up the back side. Eight men, they say, lashed to the rigging, and no hope of saving them."
"Thunder!" said I, and rushed out again into the gale and started to walk up to the beach."
"How far?" asked Kent.
"Three or four miles. I was young then, and didn't mind a little walk as I do now. I ran half the way I guess. As I went along I overtook three other men acquaintances of mine. One of them called: 'Hullo Ben! haven't seen you before, where have you been?'
"Been to Provincetown, I answered. 'Just heard about the wreck.'"
"We've been up once before. But it's no use trying to do anything. Go again, because we'd like to know if the poor fellows are still holding on. It is an awful sight, though!"

"I thought so, too, a little later, when we ran down to the beach."
There was the vessel, driven beam on against the sands close on shore, and the big boiling seas breaking around her and over the poor fellows in the rigging. Almost crazed with suffering and fright, they kept calling to the people on the shore and groaning desperately. They soon sighted us newcomers, and fairly yelled, hoping we had come to help them: 'Save us! save us! We are freezing to death, freezing to death!'"
Their despairing words shrieked out above the booming breakers and seemed to fill the air. The wind had abated a good deal by this time and it had stopped snowing. The sea was still terrible in its violence, thundering and booming and lashing the shore with foaming wrath. Nevertheless, it seemed to me that we ought to attempt something, risky as it might be.
We men looked at each other with questioning faces, for none of us at the moment could see just what could possibly be done.
"Poor fellows!" said Tom. 'Just hear them call to us. They're got to drown here before our eyes. I've got to do something without a boat in this sea, even if we had one, and there isn't a boat likely within three miles of here.'"
"We couldn't get a boat here in time anyway," remarked another.
"She'll break up all to pieces in an hour," said a third.
"Help! Help!" wailed the voices of the imperiled men.
"Good thunder!" said I. 'I can't stand here and wait and see 'em die like rats—can you, Jesse?'"
"I shall never have any peace of mind again as long as I live if we do," answered Jesse.
"Boys," said I, 'let's go down to the town and get a boat, and see what we can do.'"
At that all turned as one man toward the village, Jess waving his 'sou'wester' as he reached the sand dune, while we all shouted back:
"Hold on, hold on, for your lives!"
"On the way, half running now with the impulse that had seized us in common, we made plans how we would operate for the rescue. We agreed on one thing, that Jess should be captain of the enterprise, as he had experience with boats rather more than the others of the party.
"When we reached Hatch's house we found that he had nothing better than a leaky old dory.
"However, we were not to be discouraged now at anything. Our blood was up and every man of us stood ready to risk his own life to save the poor wretches on the brig, whose cries seemed to be still ringing in our ears.
"She'll leak like a sieve," said Jess, critically examining the boat, while the others of us busied themselves with the dory, and Jess, who was a farmer, said: "Get a couple more bailers, and we'll try her, anyhow."
"We hauled out the lumbering old boat, and lifted her into the cart, and soon were on the way back, the sleek dory in our face, and freezing on our boards. The storm seemed to be rising again, and we felt that the enterprise was desperate.
"On the way we were joined by two other men, who volunteered to assist in the undertaking.
"We reached the beach at last, though it seemed doubtful if the old horse would hold out to draw the cart to the end of the journey.
"We saw that the ship had lowered down to the water's edge and jumped in. It was more or less perilous launching a dory in such a sea, but by watching for a smooth moment we succeeded. The current ran strong against us, and the heavy, northeast wind blew us down the shore. But we had made allowance for this in part by launching some distance north of the wreck. Then with faces and muscles tense, four of us bent to our oars, while the other two were kept bailing the leaky craft.
"The men on the wreck were silent now, watching our desperate efforts, while we were tossed like seaweed up and down on the roaring waves. Twice we were borne past by the treacherous undertow and swept a quarter of a mile down the shore before we could recover ground, and twice we stemmed the tide and wind and struggled back to our course.
"Fetch her 'round this time," commanded Jess, 'or her's lost!'"
"Our strength was well-nigh spent.
"Tis no use!" cried Steve.
"We'll be swamped if we get a broadside," said some one else.
"They say," the fortune favors the brave, and I think it may be so, for suddenly our old dory seemed to careen and almost capsize, and, righting itself in spite of the waves, swept down straight toward the vessel. The men on board, watching us as their last hope of life, began to cheer heartily at this, and in a moment more our boat was in the lee of the great hull and close under her bows.
The sailors began to clamber down from the rigging, watching the seas, and holding on all the time lest they should be swept away while reaching the boat.
"Jess shouted his orders to them as they came in sight, leaning over the rail. By his directions they found and caught a coil of rope, one end of which with some difficulty was made fast to the jib-boom, where it would have a good height above the water.
"Now, four of you crawl out and lower yourselves on the rope. Boat won't hold more than four at once," Jess shouted.
"Those boys didn't have to be told twice what to do like some boys I know," said grandpa, looking meaningly at Kent.
"But, grandpa, do tell how you got back to the shore."
"Well, the men carried the coil of rope over into the boat, leaving the end fast to the jib-boom, and we rowed away, allowing the coil to unroll as we went. This proved of great service to us in making the second trip after the other four men who were still left up on the wreck."

"We landed the half-frozen creatures on the beach, and charged them to keep moving that they might not sink down and freeze in their exhaustion before we returned. Now they were on terra firma they seemed completely unnerved.
"Rowing back, partly held to our course by the rope that we had made fast on shore, we soon reached the wreck the second time. The other four men were soon in the dory, and with a little cheer at our success we set out again for the shore.
"But I cheered a little too soon, for my part. For when we were about half way in, I stepped into a coil of rope that was lying in the bottom of the dory and that had somehow become twisted with the line by which we were helping to guide her, which the sailors had brought aboard. I was thrown from my balance, and the next instant found myself in the icy billows.
"Hoi-overboard—hah him!" somebody called out.
"Robert Jordan, at the risk of going over himself and of upsetting the whole boatload of us, reached over before I could be swept off and 'nabbed' me, indeed, as I struggled in the icy water. I was pulled in without upsetting the boat, which was a miracle almost, as the wave overtook me, and I saw, like a yeasty tumult of billows. They pulled me over the rail, dripping with brine, with very little ceremony.
"Got a 'sousing that time, didn't ye, Ben?" asked Steve, glad enough that it was no worse. 'Give him the oar or he will freeze.'"
"Were you much scared?" asked Jess.
"Breathless I had been listening with keenest interest to ascertain if grandpa really got drowned, forgetting that he was at that moment telling the story."
"Not so much as your grandpa was an hour or two after, when I told her about it, sitting by a hot fire in dry clothes, sipping hot ginger tea," answered grandpa.
"And what did you do with the shipwrecked men, grandpa?"
"An organization for the relief of seamen, called the Humane Society took charge of them and gave them new clothes. They were then sent home by land. They lost everything they had, though, on the brig."
"And what became of the brig? Did it really go to pieces?"
"Well, I guess she did. And we were none too soon making up our minds to attempt the rescue, either. It wasn't fifteen minutes after we left her before the ship settled against the sands and parted in the middle. Then the sea soon did the rest. The masts toppled over, and the rigging to which the men had been clinging went dragging over into the sea."
"Oh, let's put the medal away and keep it, then, grandpa," says Kent, quite seriously. "Don't let me give it to baby to play with any more. It might get lost."
"All right. We will put it away. The time may come when you, my boy, will want to take it out and show it to your grandchildren and tell them the story I have told you—of how grandpa Newton helped to save the crew of the brig Zilica."—New York Ledger.

Pedagogues and Parents.
The book on education written by Mrs. Ella Calista Wilson, wife of the Rev. D. M. Wilson, a former pastor of First Church, is unusually attractive in its appearance. The title of the book is "Pedagogues and Parents," and the nature of its contents is equally hinted at in the five tiny cherubs on the cover who are almost buried beneath the great open books which they are clutching with hands and feet.
In the introduction the author writes, "This little book is intended as a comment on education and the present educational situation, from the point of view of a parent, and is, as they say in the colleges, primarily for parents, but open to pedagogues and others." Although, as thus intimated, the really illuminating ideas of the leading educators are interpreted in popular language, and to all a parent's sympathy and the feeling of unity will be much more than this. It is full of original and inspiring thought, the result of a life-time of loving and earnest study of children and the ways to stimulate their highest unfolding. And all is written in a style so clear and direct, and so it is full of witty allusions and humorous incidents from real life, as to carry the reader on from chapter to chapter with unflagging interest. The chapters in their very headings awaken curiosity. In all there are fourteen of them. Among those that catch the eye are: "New Education in New England," "Points of View," "Big Things," "Natural Method," "Arithmetic," "Child Morality," and "The Children Themselves."
There is much about Quincy in the book, particularly in the chapter on "The New Education in New England." To our city, and not to Boston, which proved impossible to its opportunity, is accorded the honor of having become the centre of that educational awakening. Col. Parker and his teachers, the enthusiasm and the lively ferment of that day, are described with a sympathetic touch and the gain of it all is clearly registered in the minds of the education of children, and argues parents to qualify themselves to take an intelligent interest in the work of the schools. "If our children come out to our discredit, it is the parents, and not the long-forgotten teachers, who are held responsible. 'Is this your son, my Lord?' was 'this your pupil?'" She also protests against the obliteration of the individuality of the child by the rigid system of uniformity which has got itself entrenched in our public schools. "All children mature more rapidly in some things than in others. The schools should be flexibly adapted to that fact, that every child may have individual benefit from it. It is cruel and most disheartening to deprive a child of the glory of his own particular talents because nature has not bestowed all the others on him in equal brilliancy."

Her chapters on "Points of View," and "Individuality," are revelations of the marvels of child nature, and deeply impress one with the sanctity of the child's own distinctive personality. One might infer that the chapter on "Arithmetic" would be a dry and technical treatise on what Mrs. Wilson calls that "fascinating subject," but it is one of the most humorous chapters she has written, cleverly showing how in the ordinary teaching of it there is a wonderful illustration of the "generation of artificial stupidity." In all her chapters she goes to the very heart of her subject, and emphasizes the principles which in their application should improve our schools. In this she seems at times radical, even revolutionary, but she claims that she is only carrying out their logical and natural results, the eternal principles of soul development which education agrees to train but hesitates to fully apply. The book stimulates thought and discussion, and is a new departure in this, at least, that educational problems are considered from a parental point of view and for parents. The publishers are Henry Holt & Co., of New York.

Letter from the Capital.
Washington, Nov. 26, 1904.
In turning off business and "doing things," President Taft certainly a hustler. During the last week in his duties he has been busy with the evidence of strenuousness he has accepted with thanks the bronze statue of Frederick the Great from Germany and three carloads of wild animals from Abyssinia, made three carefully prepared and effective speeches; collated and coordinated information from his Cabinet, and moulded the last half of his message into shape and read the proof of the whole of it, received half a dozen foreign ministers, talked with forty Senators and Congressmen, pardoned seven convicts, ridden ten miles and walked fourteen, offsetting the exercise by cutting heavy Thanksgiving dinner, with a 24-pound turkey in the middle of it, said another fervent good-bye to Parson Wagner, shaken hands with a thousand strangers, appointed several hundred to office, and dismissed half a dozen. When it is remembered that besides attending to these duties he has had to make the usual routine business and swept the desks of the White House of all accumulated correspondence, the American people will see that their not very obsequious servant in the White House is a person of industrious habits.
For two weeks statesmen have been arriving from different parts of the country, and in two or three days a majority of the members will be on hand with Uncle Joseph in the vanguard. Though the last session of the 58th Congress will not open for a week, there is unusual activity on the part of Senators and Representatives already on the ground, and there are so many matters of consequence to dispose of before March 4 that there is less inclination than usual to jump the Christmas cycle and reassemble only after the midwinter holidays. If the mania for work manifested by those already on the ground is shared by those yet to come, it is possible that that sop to the indolent will be entirely withheld and that Cannon will keep the old gavel flying without interruption in the determination to "do things." If the two weeks of Christmas holidays should be wasted as usual, there will be only seventy working days left between December 5 and noon of March 4. Appropriation bills must be passed, whatever the economical frenzy may be, aggregating nearly or quite $700,000,000. They will probably be enacted with considerable promptness on the ground that the American people have affirmed that they like large expenditures, and the federal treasury will have a little heart for bill-busting and dilatory tactics. With a majority of 116 in the House, the Republican party can do as it pleases, especially as it will have a much larger majority in the next House, where there will be only 104 Democrats, 108 of whom will come from the old "Solid South."

Congressmen exhibit abnormal excitement about the shape which the "pork" bills will take—the bills for rivers and harbors and public buildings—these measures being notoriously not in the public interest, but in the interest of the constituents of individual members. Chairman Hemenway has called a meeting of the appropriations committee for next Tuesday, at which the pensions bill will probably be finished ready to report to the House.
The committees on the Swayne case, the Smoot case, the Panama canal strip, and other interesting bills will take their time. The first named is now in session here and is rather disinclined to impeach Judge Swayne for his conceded irregularities. Smoot will probably not be molested.
Senators and members are hotly discussing the expediency of an extra session to revise the tariff. Both parties concede that something should be done, but the problem has not yet arrived at an equation, and its elements are in such a chaotic state that it seems likely at the present moment that the serious consideration of it will be postponed another year.
Members of Congress are always warmly averse to remaining here during the hot summer, and that fact may be more influential than the interests of the country. In the 59th Congress of 386 members the Republicans will have 232 votes, considerably more than twice as many as the entire Democratic membership. And they will have the support of the Senate even if they should pass a big ship subsidy bill.

The President's message will not recommend an extra session of Congress or discuss in any detail whatever the merits of the tariff question. It will contain a pretty stiff statement concerning the trusts and what supervision and regulation of them is practicable. It will reiterate the President's opinion that a very strong navy is necessary for us if we are going to keep the peace and the Philippine Islands, it being understood that he warmly indorses the pet project of Secretary Morton to appropriate $500,000 for new ships, though he will probably not state the definite figures.

The message will tell what has been done during the year, the fact that Panama is getting ready to begin work on the Canal by making specific contracts. Of course little has been done up to the present time except ciphering and drawing angular diagrams by Chief Engineer Wallace. The Philippines will come in for at least one share of executive suggestion. It is understood that the President has become convinced by Secretary Taft that a lower tariff and free shipping laws are required for the prosperity of our insular people in spite of the fact that at the last session Taft was set down on very hard by the House colonial committee. The stakehold bill will come to the front again early, the President sanctioning the measure creating two new states out of the four territories. All of these are kicking most violently for they have more than eight statesmen who want to be Senators.
The Merchant Marine Joint Committee is holding a session in the Capitol on the ship subsidy bill. Little progress is made towards a conclusion, prominent merchants appearing and declaring that our people ought to leave trans-Atlantic shipping wholly in the hands of Europeans, who can do it twice as cheap as we can in ship building and in wages and who are therefore the natural porters of the sea. We have a hundred industries that pay better.

A Mild Winter.
Mr. Thomas C. Dennis of West Springfield predicts that we shall have a mild winter. He is not a weather fanatic and does not base his calculations on the breast bone of the goose or the appearance of the proverbial woodchuck on Candlemas day, but goes to the fountain head and reads the astronomical atmospheric conditions.
"An explanation," he says may be necessary as to what is meant by a mild and open winter. He says that snow comes and goes rapidly in open winters. A big fall of snow might occur in January and be practically all gone inside of a few days. We may expect the average fall of snow for an open winter, but are likely to have more rain than snow.
On the whole the approaching winter will be like that of two cold and stormy years ago. We are however, almost certain to have some big snowstorms.
On Nov. 20, Mr. Dennis took the weather record from the U. S. armory as to the direction of the wind at 1 a. m. and 2 p. m. From these records in these records he made his predictions for 1904 and 1905.
"Taking my calculations from the sun the indications are that there will be no more storms until Nov. 30, but the remainder of the month will be clear and cold. The moon changed Tuesday Nov. 22, and Nov. 30 will be a cold storm. There will be a light snow on Dec. 2. This being forecasted by conjunction of the moon and certain planets. Snowfalls are scheduled for Dec. 8 and 10. A snowstorm accompanied by high winds will descend on us Dec. 10.
"Clear and cold weather is predicted for the remainder of December until the last day, when the conjunction of the moon, and Mars, Mercury and the sun will again make trouble and give us rising temperature and snow flurries.
The rules which prophet Dennis here-with gives are simple and direct, have never failed in his case and may be available by a tyro.
"If there is a halo around the sun at 10 a. m. the indications are that the wind will be in the northeast, with a cold rain or snow the next day. The storm's severity may be determined to a great degree by the depth of the halo.
"If you see a long narrow streak of clouds on the northwest under it and not other clouds visible anywhere, the indications are that the wind will be in the southeast with rising temperature and rain within 48 hours.
"Calculations for the winter may be based upon Nov. 20, and for the summer on the prevailing weather in the month of March. The amount of snow that falls in March governs our summers. Twenty or more inches of snow will result in a hot summer. Anything over that has no effect.
"We have had a warm summer, due to the fact that we had a good quantity of snow in March. In March, 1903, we did not have any snow, and every one remembers what a cold summer followed. This has been a splendid summer for farmers, and they have raised corn tomatoes and cucumbers in abundance.
"The snow that falls after March 1, contains more magnets than all the snow that falls for the rest of the year. It is commonly called "poor man's manure," and fertilizes the ground to a great degree."

"I wish today, in the very brief remarks that I have to make, dwell upon this thought—the thought that ought to be in the mind of every man and woman here—the thought that while in this country we need who have honestly and fearlessly executed, and while we cannot afford to tolerate anything but the highest standard in the public service of the government, yet that in the last analysis the future of the country must depend upon the quality of the individual home, of the individual man or woman in that home. The future of this country depends upon the way

Now for the Holiday Season.

Here we are again near the end of our Thirty-fourth year's efforts, in letter shape than ever to supply Holiday Gifts that are useful.

Handkerchiefs, Neckwear
Collars, Cuffs, Night Shirts
Fancy Suspenders
Fancy Arm Bands
Dress Gloves, Working Gloves
Mufflers
Collar and Cuff Buttons
Umbrellas, Hosiery
Underwear

SAVE OUR CASH SALE CHECKS. THEY ARE VALUABLE.
COME TO US FOR LOW PRICES AND HIGH QUALITY.
OPEN EVERY EVENING THE WEEK BEFORE CHRISTMAS.

Think it Over.

By our Cash Sale Check Profit Sharing system, we give every customer the opportunity of receiving their money back for all purchases made on one day each month. You buy your Holiday Gifts of us with the chance of getting your money all back the first of the following month.

Think it Over.

HEADQUARTERS FOR ALL KINDS OF Rubbers - Arctics - Rubber Boots Adams Building, GEORGE W. JONES Quincy, Mass.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives, of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, in General Court assembled.

The undersigned petitioners, citizens of Massachusetts, respectfully represent that they desire legislation, for which they hereby ask, authorizing the New England Railroad Company to locate and construct a branch or extension of its road from a point in the Town of Needham, at or near Needham Station, to a point on the Boston & Providence Railroad, near the West End Station in the City of Boston, upon such route and in such manner as may be fixed and approved by the Board of Railroad Commissioners.

(Signed) WILLIAM W. O'LEARY, GEORGE W. JONES, ROBERT S. MINOT, C. H. W. PIERCE, GEORGE H. W. PIERCE, JOHN F. WILLIAMS, GEORGE E. DUFFY, A. E. HULLARD, EDWARD F. FARMER, M. D., JOHN F. MOORE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
(Seal of the Office of the Secretary, Commonwealth) Boston, Nov. 17, 1904.
I direct the publication of the foregoing petition in the Boston Journal, Needham Chronicle and Quincy Patriot.

WILLIAM M. OLIN, Secretary.
Nov. 26.

LAND AT AUCTION.

By order of the Trustees of the Hingham, Weymouth and Quincy Bridges, will be sold at Public Auction on SATURDAY, DECEMBER 10th, 1904.
At 10 o'clock in the forenoon, on the premises, near the Toll House at the Hingham Bridge, so called, on Weymouth River about one and one-half acres of land. Terms, twenty-five per cent. of purchase money at time and place of sale, balance on delivery of deed.
M. E. HAWES, Auctioneer.
Nov. 12.

FALL NECKWEAR.

7c, 15c, 25c, 30c and 50c.
SHIRT WAIST SETS.
Ladies' Union Suits. Ladies' and Children's Undergarments.
CITY Employment Office.
MRS. C. J. MILLER.
1383 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Quincy, Oct. 22.

OSTEOPATHY.

F. A. DENNETTE, D. O.,
1292 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Chronic and Nervous Diseases cured without medicine.
Consultation free and invited Monday, Wednesday and Friday.
Nov. 12.

Quincy Savings Bank.

New Savings Bank Building.
President, EDWIN W. MARSH.
Vice-President, JOHN C. A. FIELD.
Treasurer and Secretary, CLARENCE BURGIN.
Board of Investment, EDWIN W. MARSH, JOHN C. A. FIELD, HENRY M. FAY, ROBERT F. CLAPIN.
BANK HOURS: From 9:30 to 12 A. M. and 2 to 4 P. M. Will close on Saturdays at 12 M.
Deposits placed on interest on the first Tuesday of January, April, July and October.
CONNECTED BY TELEPHONE.
Quincy, April 30, 1904.

W. G. CHUBBUCK,

Furniture and Piano Mover.
IN OR OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Pack and Store.
Carpeting taken up, cleaned and re-laid.
JOBBER.
Orders left at Nickerson's Candy Kitchen in Music Hall Block; or at W. T. Arnold's Brevette Room, 100, Foster Street, Quincy, Mass., August 20.

CORRECT PIANO TUNING AND REPAIRING.

FRANK A. LOCKE.
Tuner in Quincy 25 years.
Recommendations from manufacturers, churches, teachers, colleges and all social professions.
Pianos selected for personal use and for sale.
$25 to $75 saved.
Offices—Quincy—Lincoln's Store and Cart. Telephone 100. Boston—Brasch's & Marten's Store.
Boston Office, 54 Bromfield St., Telephone at office and residence.

If You Wish to be SURE

of first class work at lowest prices, consult us in all branches of Plumbing and Heating.

We are confident of our ability to satisfy, and our well known reputation and 30 years' experience in the business, is sufficient guarantee.

We carry a full line of
MAGEE RANGES.

Kitchen Furnishing Goods, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Brushes, Garden Tools, Vegetable and Flower Seeds, Poultry and Chicken Netting, Screen Wire, Nails, Oil Stoves, Lamps, etc., etc.

MAY BE FOUND AT OUR
NEW STORE.

SANBORN & DAMON,
1428 Hancock Street, Quincy.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—Hot Water Heater. Inquire at Ledger office.
Nov. 26. p-1w-16

THE NATIONAL GRANITE BANK.

THE Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the National Granite Bank of Quincy, Mass., will be held on TUESDAY, January 10, 1905, at 3:30 o'clock P. M., for the election of Directors and the transaction of any other business that may legally come before them.

R. F. CLAPIN, Cashier.
Quincy, Dec. 3. 6w

National Mount Wollaston Bank.

THE Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of the National Mount Wollaston Bank of Quincy, will be held at their Banking Rooms, on TUESDAY, January 3, 1905, at 3:30 o'clock P. M., for the election of Directors and the transaction of any other business that may legally come before them.

HORACE F. SPEAR, Cashier.
Quincy, Dec. 3. 5w

THE LADIES' ALLIANCE.

On Tuesday afternoon and evening, Dec. 6, and Wednesday evening, Dec. 7.

On Tuesday the ladies take charge, and will sell useful and fancy articles, suitable for Xmas gifts.

On Wednesday, the gentlemen of the parish will present a genuine Quincy Store, with all its features.

Season tickets are for sale by the ladies for 10 cents. Single Admission 10 cents.

Doors open at 7 o'clock on Tuesday, and 8 o'clock on Wednesday.
Dec. 3 1w

Massachusetts Highway Commission.

THE Massachusetts Highway Commission will hold a public hearing for Norfolk County, for the open discussion of questions relating to the public roads, in accordance with Chapter 47 of the Revised Laws, in the Court House at Dedham on TUESDAY, December 20, 1904, at 11 A. M.

By order of the Massachusetts Highway Commission.
A. B. FLETCHER, Secretary.
Boston, Nov. 29, 1904. Dec. 3 1w

CITY ELECTION.

City Clerk's Office, Nov. 22, 1904.
In accordance with the provisions of Chapter 11 of the Revised Laws, notice is hereby given that meetings of the citizens of Quincy, qualified to vote in city affairs will be held on TUESDAY, December 6, 1904, in the following places, namely:

- Ward 1, Precinct 1, Council Chamber, City Hall.
- Ward 1, Precinct 2, Council Chamber, City Hall.
- Ward 2, Precinct 1, Hose House, Land Street.
- Ward 2, Precinct 2, White's Building, Union Street and Newcomb Place.
- Ward 3, Precinct 1, Dobie's Hall, Franklin Street.
- Ward 3, Precinct 2, Police Building, School Street.
- Ward 4, Precinct 1, St. Mary's Hall, Willard Street.
- Ward 4, Precinct 2, Hose House, Cope Land Street.
- Ward 5, Hose House, Busb Street.
- Ward 6, Precinct 1, Music Hall, Newbury Avenue.
- Ward 6, Precinct 2, Poland's Building, Billings Road.

The polls will be opened at 6 o'clock in the morning and will be closed at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and all such citizens who, in several precincts in which they are entitled to vote, have not so done, are hereby notified to do so before the closing of the polls. One member of the School Committee for Ward One, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Ten, one member of the School Committee for Ward Eleven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Twelve, one member of the School Committee for Ward Thirteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Fourteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Fifteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Sixteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Seventeen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Eighteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Nineteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Twenty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Twenty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Twenty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Twenty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Twenty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Twenty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Twenty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Twenty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Twenty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Twenty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Thirty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Thirty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Thirty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Thirty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Thirty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Thirty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Thirty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Thirty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Thirty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Thirty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Forty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Forty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Forty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Forty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Forty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Forty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Forty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Forty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Forty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Forty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Fifty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Fifty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Fifty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Fifty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Fifty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Fifty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Fifty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Fifty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Fifty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Fifty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Sixty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Sixty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Sixty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Sixty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Sixty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Sixty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Sixty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Sixty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Sixty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Sixty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Seventy, one member of the School Committee for Ward Seventy-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Seventy-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Seventy-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Seventy-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Seventy-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Seventy-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Seventy-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Seventy-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Seventy-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Eighty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Eighty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Eighty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Eighty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Eighty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Eighty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Eighty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Eighty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Eighty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Eighty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Ninety, one member of the School Committee for Ward Ninety-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Ninety-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Ninety-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Ninety-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Ninety-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Ninety-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Ninety-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Ninety-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Ninety-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and one, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and two, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and three, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and four, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and five, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and six, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and ten, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and eleven, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and twelve, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and thirteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and fourteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and fifteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and sixteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and seventeen, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and eighteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and nineteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and twenty, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and twenty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and twenty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and twenty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and twenty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and twenty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and twenty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and twenty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and twenty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and twenty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and thirty, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and thirty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and thirty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and thirty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and thirty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and thirty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and thirty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and thirty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and thirty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and thirty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and forty, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and forty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and forty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and forty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and forty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and forty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and forty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and forty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and forty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and forty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and fifty, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and fifty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and fifty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and fifty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and fifty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and fifty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and fifty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and fifty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and fifty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and fifty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and sixty, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and sixty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and sixty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and sixty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and sixty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and sixty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and sixty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and sixty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and sixty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and sixty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and seventy, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and seventy-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and seventy-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and seventy-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and seventy-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and seventy-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and seventy-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and seventy-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and seventy-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and seventy-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and eighty, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and eighty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and eighty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and eighty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and eighty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and eighty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and eighty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and eighty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and eighty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and eighty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and ninety, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and ninety-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and ninety-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and ninety-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and ninety-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and ninety-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and ninety-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and ninety-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and ninety-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward One hundred and ninety-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and ten, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and eleven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and twelve, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and thirteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and fourteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and fifteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and sixteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and seventeen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and eighteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and nineteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and twenty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and twenty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and twenty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and twenty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and twenty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and twenty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and twenty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and twenty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and twenty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and twenty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and thirty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and thirty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and thirty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and thirty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and thirty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and thirty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and thirty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and thirty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and thirty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and thirty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and forty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and forty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and forty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and forty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and forty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and forty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and forty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and forty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and forty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and forty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and fifty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and fifty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and fifty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and fifty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and fifty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and fifty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and fifty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and fifty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and fifty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and fifty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and sixty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and sixty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and sixty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and sixty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and sixty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and sixty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and sixty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and sixty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and sixty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and sixty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and seventy, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and seventy-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and seventy-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and seventy-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and seventy-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and seventy-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and seventy-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and seventy-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and seventy-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and seventy-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and eighty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and eighty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and eighty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and eighty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and eighty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and eighty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and eighty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and eighty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and eighty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and eighty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and ninety, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and ninety-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and ninety-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and ninety-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and ninety-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and ninety-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and ninety-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and ninety-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and ninety-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Two hundred and ninety-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and ten, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and eleven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and twelve, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and thirteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and fourteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and fifteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and sixteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and seventeen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and eighteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and nineteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and twenty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and twenty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and twenty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and twenty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and twenty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and twenty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and twenty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and twenty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and twenty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and twenty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and thirty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and thirty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and thirty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and thirty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and thirty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and thirty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and thirty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and thirty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and thirty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and thirty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and forty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and forty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and forty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and forty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and forty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and forty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and forty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and forty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and forty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and forty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and fifty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and fifty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and fifty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and fifty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and fifty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and fifty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and fifty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and fifty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and fifty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and fifty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and sixty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and sixty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and sixty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and sixty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and sixty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and sixty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and sixty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and sixty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and sixty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and sixty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and seventy, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and seventy-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and seventy-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and seventy-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and seventy-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and seventy-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and seventy-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and seventy-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and seventy-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and seventy-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and eighty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and eighty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and eighty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and eighty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and eighty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and eighty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and eighty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and eighty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and eighty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and eighty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and ninety, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and ninety-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and ninety-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and ninety-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and ninety-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and ninety-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and ninety-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and ninety-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and ninety-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Three hundred and ninety-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and ten, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and eleven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and twelve, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and thirteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and fourteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and fifteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and sixteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and seventeen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and eighteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and nineteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and twenty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and twenty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and twenty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and twenty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and twenty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and twenty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and twenty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and twenty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and twenty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and twenty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and thirty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and thirty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and thirty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and thirty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and thirty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and thirty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and thirty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and thirty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and thirty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and thirty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and forty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and forty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and forty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and forty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and forty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and forty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and forty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and forty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and forty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and forty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and fifty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and fifty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and fifty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and fifty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and fifty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and fifty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and fifty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and fifty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and fifty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and fifty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and sixty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and sixty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and sixty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and sixty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and sixty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and sixty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and sixty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and sixty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and sixty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and sixty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and seventy, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and seventy-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and seventy-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and seventy-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and seventy-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and seventy-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and seventy-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and seventy-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and seventy-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and seventy-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and eighty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and eighty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and eighty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and eighty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and eighty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and eighty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and eighty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and eighty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and eighty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and eighty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and ninety, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and ninety-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and ninety-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and ninety-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and ninety-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and ninety-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and ninety-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and ninety-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and ninety-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Four hundred and ninety-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and ten, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and eleven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and twelve, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and thirteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and fourteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and fifteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and sixteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and seventeen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and eighteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and nineteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and twenty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and twenty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and twenty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and twenty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and twenty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and twenty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and twenty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and twenty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and twenty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and twenty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and thirty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and thirty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and thirty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and thirty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and thirty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and thirty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and thirty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and thirty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and thirty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and thirty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and forty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and forty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and forty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and forty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and forty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and forty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and forty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and forty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and forty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and forty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and fifty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and fifty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and fifty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and fifty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and fifty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and fifty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and fifty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and fifty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and fifty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and fifty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and sixty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and sixty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and sixty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and sixty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and sixty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and sixty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and sixty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and sixty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and sixty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and sixty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and seventy, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and seventy-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and seventy-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and seventy-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and seventy-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and seventy-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and seventy-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and seventy-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and seventy-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and seventy-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and eighty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and eighty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and eighty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and eighty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and eighty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and eighty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and eighty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and eighty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and eighty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and eighty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and ninety, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and ninety-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and ninety-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and ninety-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and ninety-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and ninety-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and ninety-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and ninety-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and ninety-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Five hundred and ninety-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and ten, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and eleven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and twelve, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and thirteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and fourteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and fifteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and sixteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and seventeen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and eighteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and nineteen, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and twenty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and twenty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and twenty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and twenty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and twenty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and twenty-five, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and twenty-six, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and twenty-seven, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and twenty-eight, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and twenty-nine, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and thirty, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and thirty-one, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and thirty-two, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and thirty-three, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and thirty-four, one member of the School Committee for Ward Six hundred and thirty-five, one member of the School Committee for

Quincy

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1904.

VOL. 68, NO. 50.

FIVE CENTS PER COPY; $2.50 PER YEAR.

The Quincy Patriot,
Established in 1837.
PUBLISHED SATURDAY MORNING BY
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON,
OFFICE, No. 142 HANCOCK STREET.
Subscription Price, $2.50 per Year.
A reduction of fifty cents will be made when paid one year in advance.
Quincy Daily Ledger,
The ONLY DAILY in the ONLY CITY in Norfolk County. Established in 1889.
Subscription Price, $6.00 per Year.
A reduction of $1 will be made when paid one year in advance.
ALSO PUBLISHERS OF THE
Brainster Observer
A Weekly Established in 1878

H. T. WHITMAN,
Civil Engineer
—AND—
SURVEYOR.
ADAMS BUILDING, - QUINCY
Boston Office, 85 Devonshire street
Hours, 12 to 2 P. M.
N. B. Plans of nearly all the Real Estate in the City of Quincy can be found at my office. Telephone connection.
May 28. 11

DR. FENIMORE S. ANDREWS,
DENTIST.
67 Franklin St., Cor. Water St.,
PINE BLOCK, QUINCY ADAMS.
Office Hours, 9 to 12; 2 to 5.
Aug. 16. 11

DR. C. T. SHERMAN
DENTIST.
Hancock Building, over W. G. Shaw's store,
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY.
Office Hours, 8 to 12; 2 to 5.
Residence, Greenleaf street.

J. E. KENILEY & CO.,
PLUMBERS.
All orders promptly attended to at reasonable prices. Satisfaction guaranteed.
NO. 9 TEMPLE STREET, QUINCY.
Jan 6. 11

W. E. BROWN,
UNDERTAKER.
Office and residence, corner of Canal and Mechanic streets.
Quincy, Feb. 6. 11

DAVID BROWN,
HORSE SHOEING,
Carriage Work and General Jobbing.
WASHINGTON STREET - WOLLASTON,
Nov. 9. 11

WILLIAM PARKER & SON,
Carpenters and Builders.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
JOBBER PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
HANCOCK COURT, - QUINCY, MASS.

IRA LITCHFIELD,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
PEARL STREET,
SOUTH QUINCY.

JULIUS JOHNSON,
Carpenter, & Contractor
—AND—
BUILDER.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
NO. 64 CENTRE ST., QUINCY, MASS.
June 19. 11

JOHN W. MCANARNEY,
COUNCILOR-AT-LAW,
ROOM 1, DUBIN & MERRILL'S BLOCK,
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.

C. H. TOWER,
UPHOLSTERER.
CARPETS taken up, Cleaned and Repaired
FURNITURE Upholstered and Repaired.
HAIR MATTRESSES made over and made to order.
Full line of latest coverings to select from.
Send postal or telephone for estimates.
Telephone, 64-4 Quincy.
Address 182 Howard street, Quincy Point.
August 20. 11

ABBOTT & MILLER'S
HOUGHES NECK.
QUINCY AND BOSTON EXPRESS.
G. M. MILLER, General Manager.

Furniture Packed.
Office, 64 Washington Street.
Quincy P. O. address, Lock Box 3.
Telephone Connections.

Incorporated 1837.
Dedham Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
DEDHAM, MASS.
STATEMENT JANUARY 1, 1904.
Amount at Risk, $6,910,941.25
Cash Assets, 161,946.06
Total Liabilities (including re-insurance), 69,202.50
Amount of Cash Surplus, $101,746.22
Contingent Assets, 106,628.42
Total Available Assets, 208,374.64
Dividends are now being paid on five-year policies, 70 per cent.; on three-year policies, 50 per cent.; on one and two-year policies, 25 per cent.
J. WHITE BELCHER, President.
HOWARD COLBURN, Treasurer.
JAMES Y. NOYES, Secretary.
DIRECTORS: J. White Belcher, Dedham; Don Gleason, Dedham; J. White Belcher, Randolph; A. B. Endicott, Dedham; P. R. Mansfield, Dedham; Frederick D. Ely, Dedham; Alfred Lewis, Dedham; Samuel Gannett, Milton; Charles M. Faunce, Boston
GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent for Quincy.

QUINCY
Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
INCORPORATED IN 1851.
COMMENCED BUSINESS IN 1852
CHAS. A. HOWLAND, President.
WILLIAM H. FAX, Secretary.
C. A. HOWLAND, Jr., Asst. Sec.
CASH FUND January 1, 1904, $705,963.30
SURPLUS over Re-insurance, $455,776.74
LOSSES paid the past year, $42,201.94
DIVIDENDS PAID the past year, $66,032.42
GAIN IN SURPLUS the past year, $12,983.04
GAIN IN CASH FUND the past year, 20,297.34
AND EVERY LOSS PAID IN FULL.
AMOUNT AT RISK, $32,586,226.06
TOTAL LIABILITIES, $250,180.56
Dividends Paid on Every Expiring Policy: 60 per cent. on 5 years, 40 per cent. on 3 years and 20 per cent. on all others.
Quincy, Mass., 1904.

DORCHESTER
Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
INCORPORATED 1855.
FOURTY-NINTH ANNUAL STATEMENT
JANUARY 1, 1904.
Amount at Risk, $34,712,920.00
Cash Assets, 472,391.14
Deposits, 560,484.12
Available Assets, 1,042,875.27
Total Liabilities, 1,042,875.27
Cash Surplus, 161,440.31
Total Assets in 1903, 1,204,315.58
Gain in Assets in 1903, 22,968.44
Losses paid in 1903, 22,794.06
Dividends paid in 1903, 60,406.48
Compulsory Reserve, 187,057.63
This Company now pays the following dividends:
On five-year Policies - 60 per cent.
On three-year Policies - 40 per cent.
On one-year Policies - 20 per cent.
All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

THOS. F. TEMPLE,
President and Treasurer
W. D. CURTIS, Secretary
Directors: J. B. L. Bartlett, Clarence Burgh, W. D. Curtis, Charles T. Gallagher, Samuel Gannett, John H. Thayer, George H. Temple, James H. Upham, Samuel J. Willis.
Home Office, Neponset, Boston, Mass.

ETNA INSURANCE CO.,
HARTFORD, CONN.
Incorporated 1819. Charter Perpetua
Losses Paid in 85 Years, $96,228,139.96
JANUARY 1, 1904.
Cash Capital, $4,000,000.00
Reserve for Re-insurance (Fire), $21,303.00
Reserve for Unpaid Losses (Fire), 295,488.24
Reserve for Unpaid Losses (Marine), 118,600.00
Net Surplus, 6,060,737.11
Total Assets, 15,150,888.15

John Hardwick & Co.,
45 Granite street,
Agents for Quincy.

Incorporated 1825.
Norfolk Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
DEDHAM, MASS.
STATEMENT, JANUARY 1, 1904.
Amount at Risk, $24,184,654.84
Cash Assets, 646,230.13
Total Liabilities, including re-insurance, 187,897.32
Amount of Cash Surplus, $468,332.81
Contingent Assets, 246,223.48
Total Available Assets, 922,746.51
Dividends are now being paid on five-year policies, 70 per cent.; on three-year policies, 50 per cent.; on one and two-year policies, 25 per cent.
J. WHITE BELCHER, Pres. and Secy.
JAMES Y. NOYES, Secretary
DIRECTORS: J. White Belcher, Randolph; Howard Colburn, Dedham; Tyler Thayer, Norwood; A. B. Endicott, Dedham; Samuel Gannett, Milton; Stephen M. Wolf, Dedham; Thomas B. Draper, Canton; William E. Lincoln, Brookline; James Hewitt, Medford; George H. Field, Agent for Quincy.

INSURANCE AGENCY.
ESTABLISHED in Quincy in the year 1849 by
W. PORTER.
Insurance effected in reliable and safe Stock and Mutual offices.
By W. PORTER & CO.,
At No. 82 Water street, Boston.
Residence, Hancock street, Quincy.

Granite Firms.
FULLER, FOLEY & CO.,
Granite Manufacturers and Dealers. Works opposite West Quincy Depot.

MILNE & CHALMERS,
Monumental and Cemetery Work of every description. Works near Quincy Adams Depot. P. O. Address, Quincy, Mass. Branch Office 24 St. Main St., North Adams.

MERRY MOUNT GRANITE CO.
Incorporated 1881. Manufacturers and Dealers in Monumental and Cemetery Work. Works near Quincy Adams station, So. Quincy.

MCGRATH BROS.,
Large stock of Finished Monuments and Tablets constantly on hand. Works at Quincy Adams Station. Established 1864.

CAREY BROTHERS,
Dealers and manufacturers of Polished and Hammered Monuments, Carving and Headstones. Willard street, West Quincy.

LONG & SAUNDERS,
Fine Monumental Work from American and Foreign Granite and Marble. Latest designs. Superior workmanship. Works, South Quincy, 9 South Street, Boston.

RADDER BROTHERS,
Granite Dealers and Machinists. Monumental Work of all Descriptions. Celebrated Ashland Emory for sale. West Quincy.

Furniture For Christmas.

Nothing you can give your family for Christmas will bring more gladness than a new piece of Furniture.
Furniture giving for Christmas is growing more and more popular every year.
A Handsome Couch, Morris Chair, Fancy Rocker, Parlor Set, Table, Desk, Book Case, Lamp, Side Board, Glenwood Range, new Carpet or Rug. A gift like this will bring gladness to every member of your family on Christmas day.
The weekly payment plan make such presents as these a reality not a dream.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
New England's Lowest Priced Furniture Store.
Hancock Street, Quincy.
We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

FURNACE COLD.

People who live in furnace-heated houses may have noticed the prevalence of supposed colds, coughs and throat ailments immediately after the furnace has been started in the fall. As a matter of fact, experts declare that these epidemics are largely caused by the dust and germs which gather in the registers and hot-air pipes during the summer and are blown into the air of the house when the furnace is started. In addition to the ordinary dust, which is certain to settle in such places during the summer months, there is also danger that it may become impregnated with poisonous vapors from the cellar, which may be released by the current of hot air rising from the cellar. In view of the large number of houses which are heated by furnaces, the question of properly cleaning the pipes has an important influence on the health.—Healthy Home.

The above article is from a reliable source, and we do not believe the danger from this cause is over estimated.

It has been stated before by different authorities that a large per cent. of the throat and lung trouble in the winter months, in the northern states, was caused by the hot, dry, dusty air from the hot-air furnace and registers. To avoid this danger use the more modern method of HOT WATER, or STEAM HEAT, properly installed by

W. A. BRADFORD,
Plumbing, Heating and Gas Fitting.
Telephone 111-3. Bank Building, Quincy, Mass.
Open Monday and Saturday Evenings. 11

BOSTON PRICES!
COAL
DELIVERED IN QUINCY.
GEO. E. FROST.
Telephone 128-3 Dorchester. P. O. Address Neponset.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of
J. C. Watson.

"I don't exactly know how it began, but ever since we've been married I'm not but been queer about one thing, whenever he has wanted me to do a thing, he always begins by begging me to do just the opposite, as if I was the contrarianist thing that ever lived. When I found that out I naturally riled me up, same as it would everybody. Cousin Sophie, you know if Cousin Lizzie wanted you to stay at home from preachin' you'd hate to have him try to make you by beginnin' to go, now wouldn't you?"

"Yes, honey, I would."
"Well, and whenever my will goes one way and his goes another, which I must admit, is pretty often, he gets up and says, 'I was warned of this, and I wouldn't believe it, but I see it's true!' He won't tell me what he was warned about or who warned him, and I can't find out. I can't ask other people, can I?"

"Six rocking-chairs began to rock very rapidly, and Aunt Dony raveled out half her knitting without knowing it. Mary Lou laid down her head and looked attentively at little Lizzie Lee, as if to learn some of the mysteries of this wonderful married state, which Sara alone was aware that she contemplated entering."

"I can't bear to ask any questions of people who don't love 'Miss Mo', because it looks like I didn't treat him as he ought to be treated. That's why I came to you, because you are his kin and you love him—you couldn't help it—and if I went home, Sis' Kate and all would tell me that if I had taken Nelson Ames or Totten King, or some of the other boys who waited on me, this thing wouldn't have happened."

The entire relationship stopped breathing at that, and Lizzie Lee could not find out.

Just Saturday morning it all came to an end. I hope I didn't do wrong. I wouldn't hurt him for the whole world. I—I've always cared too much for him."

The relatives began to exchange un-

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of
J. C. Watson.

NOTICE.
To my Friends and Public generally:
Having associated myself with Mr. W. G. Shaw, in his new store in City Square, would be pleased to see you and show you a nice and large line of HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS. Having had a long experience and with the Great Assortment of Goods at my command, I feel confident of pleasing you.
Thankful for past favors and hoping for a continuance of the same.
I am very truly yours,
C. E. WOODBURY.
Quincy, March 1st, 1904.

Poetry.

The Rollicking Masquerade.
CORA LATHAM HAZARD.

The whole wide earth is a frolic with mirth
Is the time when day and night hide
Where life's the host, and none better can bust
"The lights and the music fade
And voices sing while the 'thimes are a-ring.
Who would say that the world is gray?
There's sweet delight in the oriole's flight
For the rollicking masquers gay
And strains we will all surely know
Is the time when day and night hide
And a and wrong are but words of a song
And the serpent's vine trails descend Life prefer this, and off to 'Miss Ah! But biding his time is he
And though he will be biding in him
And that nothing is really
We must beware of our host deobair
Before close the masquerade
He'll doff his masque a bit and certainly ask
That the flesh to be once he paid.

Miscellaneous.
LIZZIE LEE'S SEPARATION.

"It all comes of so much merryming," said Aunt Dony Tuggle, pulling her spectacles down from the crown of her head, where they had been blinking in the firelight, to set the heel in the gray sock she was knitting. "Some folks just seem possessed to marry."

"And then they ain't satisfied—not a half of them," supplemented Aunt Mary Battle, looking around pugnaciously, as if daring anybody to prove the contrary.

At these discouraging statements Cousin Mary Lou, the only one in the assemblage who contemplated a further outrage in that direction, shook her head at the strange cousin Sara, and laid a slim forefinger on her lip.

"Still in this case, I shouldn't say that marryin' was to blame," ventured Aunt Emmeline Tully, timidly. "Plenty of folks marry and live peaceable."

"I should say that the trouble was with Lizzie Lee herself," burst out Aunt Mary Battle, wrathfully. "If she couldn't marry into the best family in the State, and be so 'round of daisy to bring trouble, she'd better have staid out of it. That's what I say. But she always was a headstrong, contrary little minx."

The six rocking-chairs came to a standstill as if by common consent. The shocked silence made itself felt, even upon Aunt Mary.

"I don't think," said cousin Sophie Moore, gently, but with increasing color, "that I ever heard any one in our family called such a name before."

"I believe in calling a spade a spade," snapped Aunt Mary, "and she was a little shrewl, just because it happens to belong to one of us, specially when it is a spade, and not entirely free from garden mould either!" She was surprised and hurt to find the family dissenting from her. "Besides," she added, significantly, "Lizzie Lee was a Murchison, and we all know what the Murchisons are."

The Murchisons' before the war never amounted to much, still there was a Judge Murchison way back on her father's side, and—it wouldn't have made any difference what we said, because Cuthbert would have her, and nobody would do him but Lizzie Lee. Our sayin' she was powerful contrary didn't bother him any."

"He must have been and he got her!" Aunt Dony, being large and contented as herself, laughed largely and comfortably.

"He took her over the heads of half the county, too," added Aunt Emmeline, with dainty, faded pride.

But now, burst forth Aunt Mary Battle, "Just she ups and says that she can't live with Cuthbert, and she won't live with him, and she's left him. That's what she's done. She's left him. And he a Mo'!"

"You didn't hear any reason given for her leavin' the 'sist' Mary?" "No, it came on me like a clap of thunder, right in church. Miz. Hawey wrote it on her hymn-book, just 'I've a message from the Lord, hallelujah,' and it gave me such a turn that when we stood up it came mighty near singin'!" "Did you know that Lizzie Lee had left her husband?" Those words just danced before my eyes."

"Well, I never believe it was Cuthbert's fault," sighed Aunt Emmeline. A little noise on the side porch made Cousin Sophie say, "I reckon that's Amos now."

But when the door opened it opened to admit, not Amos, but the subject of all this discussion, Lizzie Lee Moore. Cousin Sophie was the first to recover herself and to remember that a guest stood on her door-step waiting to be welcomed. From the time that Lizzie Lee's hand in hers and felt it tremble, the best in the house was at the disposal, for as long as she chose to remain, of the girl who had left her husband—one of their family, too—and she a Murchison!

"You are all mighty kind," said Lizzie Lee from the depths of Aunt Mary Battle's rocking-chair, where she had been forcibly placed by that remorseful lady while she went to take it out on Amos about the back-log. The December sun streamed in warmly, but the holy bushes tapped their prickly leaves against the window-panes in sharp remembrance as if to say, "There are two sides to this question."

"Mightily kind," reiterated Cuthbert Moore's wife. "I didn't expect it hardly."

The big plantation bell, which hung poised like a great black bird of prey from the top of a dead tree back of the house, began to clang forth its summons for the field hands, and Cousin Little Moore, Sophie's husband, drummed thither by news from the swarming coloreds about the place that "Miss Lizzie Lee done come to dinner," came in, and greeted his guest with evident concern.

It was plain to be seen that he did not know which way the tide of condemnation flowed, and that he was not going to commit himself.

The silence was beginning to be a little awkward when he suddenly burst out with a subject which he felt to be safe.

"Cousin Sara, I'm sorry to say that I don't know where day and night hide Cousin Sara said she was dyin' to hear a colored preacher, Miss Lizzie Lee, and I wanted her to hear Israel. You know old Israel Potts, the grandfather of all these black apes around here. The three children crucified around the fire, seeing themselves glanced at, ducked their heads and dived behind chairs, whence they were all wapped out again by thimbles on their woolly heads."

"You know, wife, what a great interpreter of the Scriptures Israel is. He studies about it all the time, and he does get some of the most over-did meanings from old texts you ever did hear. But they won't let him preach any mo'. I'm surprised to hear it, but they won't. I'm sorry about that, too, for I did want Cousin Sara to hear him."

"Why not, Cousin Lizzie?" He was looking into the fire and smiling to himself, evidently having forgotten about everything but old Israel.

"Well, he and his wife, that Sallie, quarrel all the time, and now they're separated. Say they never will live together again, and the scandal—"

Cousin Sophie brought her foot down on his just here, and then he realized.

"What's the matter with your fire, wife? Why don't you keep these heavy loads back at you? You, Lizzie, you, Anna! Get out of here and bring some wood. Amos, you were sent for that back-log three days ago. I'll have you shot at sundown. You hear me? You've got about three hours to live. Get off that cat's tail, and—"

"Can't you find any other place to put those big feet of yours except plumb on the cat's tail? Here, wife! hold taddy till this black piece of awkwardness gets the fire made. Not there, Amos. Why think men are queer that way?"

"Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee leaned back in her chair, and little lines appeared around her mouth, as if with some slight start. "Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee leaned back in her chair, and little lines appeared around her mouth, as if with some slight start. "Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee leaned back in her chair, and little lines appeared around her mouth, as if with some slight start. "Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee leaned back in her chair, and little lines appeared around her mouth, as if with some slight start. "Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee leaned back in her chair, and little lines appeared around her mouth, as if with some slight start. "Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee leaned back in her chair, and little lines appeared around her mouth, as if with some slight start. "Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee leaned back in her chair, and little lines appeared around her mouth, as if with some slight start. "Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee leaned back in her chair, and little lines appeared around her mouth, as if with some slight start. "Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee leaned back in her chair, and little lines appeared around her mouth, as if with some slight start. "Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee leaned back in her chair, and little lines appeared around her mouth, as if with some slight start. "Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee leaned back in her chair, and little lines appeared around her mouth, as if with some slight start. "Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee done come to dinner," came in, and greeted his guest with evident concern.

It was plain to be seen that he did not know which way the tide of condemnation flowed, and that he was not going to commit himself.

The silence was beginning to be a little awkward when he suddenly burst out with a subject which he felt to be safe.

"Cousin Sara, I'm sorry to say that I don't know where day and night hide Cousin Sara said she was dyin' to hear a colored preacher, Miss Lizzie Lee, and I wanted her to hear Israel. You know old Israel Potts, the grandfather of all these black apes around here. The three children crucified around the fire, seeing themselves glanced at, ducked their heads and dived behind chairs, whence they were all wapped out again by thimbles on their woolly heads."

"You know, wife, what a great interpreter of the Scriptures Israel is. He studies about it all the time, and he does get some of the most over-did meanings from old texts you ever did hear. But they won't let him preach any mo'. I'm surprised to hear it, but they won't. I'm sorry about that, too, for I did want Cousin Sara to hear him."

"Why not, Cousin Lizzie?" He was looking into the fire and smiling to himself, evidently having forgotten about everything but old Israel.

"Well, he and his wife, that Sallie, quarrel all the time, and now they're separated. Say they never will live together again, and the scandal—"

Cousin Sophie brought her foot down on his just here, and then he realized.

"What's the matter with your fire, wife? Why don't you keep these heavy loads back at you? You, Lizzie, you, Anna! Get out of here and bring some wood. Amos, you were sent for that back-log three days ago. I'll have you shot at sundown. You hear me? You've got about three hours to live. Get off that cat's tail, and—"

"Can't you find any other place to put those big feet of yours except plumb on the cat's tail? Here, wife! hold taddy till this black piece of awkwardness gets the fire made. Not there, Amos. Why think men are queer that way?"

"Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee leaned back in her chair, and little lines appeared around her mouth, as if with some slight start. "Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee leaned back in her chair, and little lines appeared around her mouth, as if with some slight start. "Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee leaned back in her chair, and little lines appeared around her mouth, as if with some slight start. "Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee leaned back in her chair, and little lines appeared around her mouth, as if with some slight start. "Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee leaned back in her chair, and little lines appeared around her mouth, as if with some slight start. "Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee leaned back in her chair, and little lines appeared around her mouth, as if with some slight start. "Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee leaned back in her chair, and little lines appeared around her mouth, as if with some slight start. "Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee leaned back in her chair, and little lines appeared around her mouth, as if with some slight start. "Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee leaned back in her chair, and little lines appeared around her mouth, as if with some slight start. "Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee leaned back in her chair, and little lines appeared around her mouth, as if with some slight start. "Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee leaned back in her chair, and little lines appeared around her mouth, as if with some slight start. "Howdy, Sallie," he said, "I'll never come back. 'No,' he said, 'never come back.' Never come back!" He said that to me. Just think of it!"

Lizzie Lee done come to dinner," came in, and greeted his guest with evident concern.

It was plain to be seen that he did not know which way the tide of condemnation flowed, and that he was not going to commit himself.

The silence was beginning to be a little awkward when he suddenly burst out with a subject which he felt to be safe.

"Cousin Sara, I'm sorry to say that I don't know where day and night hide Cousin Sara said she was dyin' to hear a colored preacher, Miss Lizzie Lee, and I wanted her to hear Israel. You know old Israel Potts, the grandfather of all these black apes around here. The three children crucified around the fire, seeing themselves glanced at, ducked their heads and dived behind chairs, whence they were all wapped out again by thimbles on their woolly heads."

"You know, wife, what a great interpreter of the Scriptures Israel is. He studies about it all the time, and he does get some of the most over-did meanings from old texts you ever did hear. But they won't let him preach any mo'. I'm surprised to hear it, but they won't. I'm sorry about that, too, for I did want Cousin Sara to hear him."

An Active Campaign.

The request of the Citizens No-Licence League for information regarding liquor selling published in the Daily Ledger of Wednesday did not escape notice.

Much has been said during the past few days about the large amount of liquor used during the municipal campaign, and the increasing number of drunks seen upon the streets. This has served to stimulate a little new life into the Citizens No-Licence League, which has determined to make warfare upon violators of the liquor law.

The league, with the aid of the police and all-law-abiding citizens, are determined to bring before the courts and punish all offenders.

There is no question but that there are places in Quincy where liquor is sold. There is also no question but that there are law-abiding citizens who know of these places, but for fear of being brought into the matter they have kept the knowledge to themselves.

It is however to these people that the No-Licence League look to for aid. They ask publicly that all citizens who know or suspect that any persons are engaged in the liquor traffic to report the matter to them. The League proposes to treat such information as confidential, and with the aid of the police to thoroughly investigate all reports thus received.

The carrying out of this scheme will have good results. It will greatly aid in the enforcement of the liquor laws, which have almost been a farce of late, and at the same time secure law and order.

58th Congress.

The second session of the 58th congress convened on Monday. The Senate was in session but a few minutes, and adjourned as a mark of respect to the late Senator Quay and Mr. Tamm. The House devoted its time to calling the roll and swearing in the new members elected to fill vacancies.

On Tuesday two hours was spent in listening to the President's message; a very lengthy and able document, published in most of the daily papers, and very creditably spoken of by the press generally.

Friday was pension day and more than 1000 private pension bills were ready for the House to consider. Early adjournments were the order during the week, in order to give time to shape the session's business.

Hundreds of signatures thronged the galleries and crowded into the galleries to witness the formal proceedings.

The display of flowers on the desks of members were as gorgeous as ever; and the city awakes from the lethargy which has characterized Washington since early in the spring.

Quincy a Beneficiary.

The City of Quincy is a beneficiary in the will of Charles E. French, the retired drug merchant, who recently died on Commonwealth avenue, Boston. He leaves the City of Quincy $3000, in trust, for care of the old burial ground in City Square, where remains of his ancestor, the Rev. John Hancock, repose.

A similar bequest is made to the town of Braintree, $3,000 in trust for care of burial ground where remains of his French ancestors repose.

The public bequests of Mr. French amount to the munificent sum of $200,000, of which $80,000 goes to the city of Boston, to promote good scholarship in the public schools and take care of colonial burying grounds, Old State House and the largest trees on Common.

The Massachusetts General Hospital will benefit $10,000, and smaller sums will go to 32 charitable, benevolent, historical and worthy institutions.

Battleship Castings.

A New Haven dispatch reports that a 90,000 pound ingot intended for the shafting of the battleship Vermont building at Quincy, Mass., was cast there on Tuesday, at the Quincy Foundry Company. The ingot is 50 inches in diameter and 13 feet long. To cast it the product of two 25-ton furnaces was required, and it took 35 minutes for the molten liquid to flow into the moulds.

Twelve other ingots of similar size are to be melted out by this company for the shafting of the battleships New Hampshire and Rhode Island.

Post Office Building.

The House committee on public building and grounds will hold its first meeting today, says a Washington dispatch of Friday, when it is expected a decision will be reached as to whether or not an omnibus public buildings bill will be reported this session.

Representative McNary will be on hand to present the claims of Quincy for a public building. He will ask for approximately $125,000, which, he says, will construct an adequate building. The government already owns a site in Quincy, so that expense will not be necessary.

The Vermont Legislature has refused to commute the sentence of Mrs. Mary M. Rogers, who murdered her husband, to imprisonment for life, and it is not expected that Governor Bell will interpose the executive authority. The vote in the House of Representatives, standing 177 to 91 against mercy, is characteristically indicative of public sentiment. If the woman is hanged, as now seems inevitable, we shall look to see a reaction of public sentiment, for the execution of the death penalty upon a woman is unquestionably revolting.

The Patriot would be a most acceptable Christmas gift to send to out of town friend, especially to one who formerly lived here, as they would enjoy Quincy news each week. Subscribe now.

Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick, who was arrested in borrowing hundreds of thousands of dollars, has been arrested, and being unable to secure $15,000 bail has been taken to the toms in New York.

The New Bedford Advertiser which was published for the past five years by E. B. Thordike has been sold to Messrs. Williams & Brewster. Mr. Thordike, who resides at Medford, will continue to publish the Medford Leader.

There are two or three inches of this snow on the ground in Quincy and vicinity but not enough for sleighing. The weather is quite cool and the snow hangs on.

Gov. elect Douglas has decided on thirteen men to serve on his staff, with Gen. Miles as chief and Charles W. Bartlett as Judge Advocate.

CITY BRIEFS.

The slate roof of City Hall is being repaired.

Mrs. F. A. Perkins is quite ill at her home on Cherry avenue.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Cadly Loud of Wilbur street last week.

Probate court for Norfolk county will be held in Quincy next Wednesday.

Miss V. P. Briggs of Boston is visiting Mrs. B. D. Southard at hotel Greenleaf.

Miss Grace M. Isaac was an over Sunday guest of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Hall, Jr., of Millbury.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Hawley, of Worcester, have taken apartments at the Greenleaf.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Copeland are staying at The Greenleaf while their house is being renovated.

Mrs. John Lavers has returned from Philadelphia, having been called there by the sudden death of a sister.

Rev. E. C. Butler gave a paper before the Woman's Alliance of the Second church, Salem, on Friday.

The public schools will close Wednesday, Dec. 21, for the Christmas holidays, not to reopen until January.

Patterson the Wollaston florist is preparing to furnish your Christmas greens also bouquets of violets, pinks, etc.

Snow which fell Monday evening still remains on the ground and on the house tops, very little having melted.

The Hospital Trustees desire to acknowledge the receipt of a contribution of ten dollars from Post 88, G. A. R.

This has been a week of church fairs with more to follow next week; all desirous of sharing in the Christmas trade.

The Quincy foot ball team defeated the Lawrence team, association rivals, at Lawrence on Saturday by a score of 2 to 0.

Henry T. Brown, Jr., has moved with his family from Quincy avenue to the W. M. French house on Washington street.

The parties that assembled Tuesday night in various places, to celebrate a Democratic victory, dispersed without celebrating.

Inauguration day of the new city government will come early in January this year—Monday, the 24—only three weeks from Monday.

The Maestri club is to hold a social in the Parish house on Tuesday evening the thirteenth; the third in its course of entertainments.

Mrs. Ibrahim Morrison of Marshfield Hills is a guest for several weeks of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Burgen of Goffe street.

The December meeting of the Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. is to be held on the nineteenth at the home of Mrs. John D. Buckingham, Goffe street.

Although many invitations have been sent out for the lecture advertised in another column, the public who have not received a card are also welcome.

The old elm tree which has stood for so many years near the corner of Johnson Bros. market on the old Dr. French estate has been cut down to make room for improvements.

A pop concert is announced for the second entertainment in the First Church Social club course. It is to be held on Friday evening December the sixteenth at Faxon hall.

Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Butler attended the reception at Dorchester on Tuesday evening given to Rev. Eugene Shippen by his parishioners on the tenth anniversary of his settlement there.

The School Committee ask for proposals for coal. Because of the small appropriation for schools for 1904 it was impossible to contract in the summer for a winter's supply.

The rooms in the Adams building to be occupied by the Granite Manufacturers' Association are much more convenient and better lighted than their present rooms, besides being larger.

Mrs. George W. Morton of Spear street is the hostess next week of the Friday club, entertaining on the afternoon of the fourteenth. The subject for discussion is "Cardinal Newman," and Mrs. John F. Welch is chairman for the evening.

Mrs. T. L. Sturtevant is inviting her friends to subscribe to a whist and readings at her home on Adams street on Thursday afternoon, December the fifteenth from half-past two to five, for the benefit of the organ fund. The readings are to be by Miss Adams of Framingham.

Two years ago Friday, Dec. 9, 1902 being the coldest day Quincy has experienced for twenty years. At sunrise the mercury registered from 6 to 16 below; at noon it stood at 2 above, and 4 was the maximum for the 24 hours. Only one other day that month, however, was the noon temperature below 20.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Alliance will be held in the chapel of the Unitarian church on Monday, Dec. 12, at 2 P. M. It will be in charge of Mrs. E. C. Butler. The exercises will be appropriate for Christmas and include music and the reading of a Christmas carol by Rev. John Snyder of Wellesley.

The Luce law was the principal subject of discussion Friday, Dec. 2, at the Provincial Club. Daniel McLeann of the Board of Registrars gave an instructive talk on the workings of the act, and the evils it was supposed to correct. Dr. R. McLeann will give a talk at the next meeting, to be followed by other public men, on popular subjects.

The ladies bowling committee of the Cochato club, Braintree, has issued invitations to a dancing party for Friday evening, December the sixteenth, from eight until eleven o'clock. Mrs. George E. Williams and Mrs. Luther O. Crocker of Braintree, and Mrs. John A. Barbour of Wollaston are to patronize the affair and the dance will be in charge of Mr. C. Frederick Howe of Braintree.

Clothwomen all over the State will sympathize with Mrs. Mary Russell Chapman in the loss of her only daughter, Mrs. Boynton, whose funeral took place at 2 Binney street, Boston, on Sunday. The service was conducted by Rev. Marshall C. May, and was rendered by the Webster quartette. There was a large attendance and many magnificent floral tributes. Women's organizations were largely represented.

There was a very large attendance Sunday afternoon at the No-Licence rally at the Swedish Congregational church. There was singing by the Swedish Baptist and Congregational church choirs, and music by the Swedish Lutheran orchestra. The addresses, which were in the Swedish language, were by Rev. John A. Bernhard, Rev. S. L. Carlander, Rev. H. E. Whyman, Rev. Alfred E. Lindberg and Rev. John Bjork.

SOUTH QUINCY.

There was a good attendance at the No-Licence meeting in Doble's hall, Sunday afternoon, and the audience was full of enthusiasm. Alfred Bishop presided and the meeting opened with piano solo by Edward Hayden, and prayer by George Forsyth. The meeting lasted about an hour and closed with the singing of America by the audience.

The speeches, which were all brief, were by Alexander Falconer, John G. Roberts, John F. Miller, Henry McGrath, John C. Murray, George Forsyth, John Richards, Robert Allen, Alexander Clark and Rev. N. J. Sproul. The speakers not only urged all present to vote against license on Tuesday, but also to get their neighbors to vote "No," and in this way to win the majority for No-Licence be increased, but the silent vote would also be diminished.

W. W. Mitchell, who has been in New York all summer, has returned to Quincy.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith of Penn street, South Quincy, have moved to Maine, where Mr. Smith will engage in the granite business.

Dr. W. J. McCausland has moved from 108 to 100 Franklin street.

At the Saturday evening whist party in Doble's hall fifteen tables were in play, the highest score being fifty-two. The souveniers were carried off by Mrs. Esmon, Mr. Gleason, Mr. W. Prout, Mrs. Pratt, Mrs. Cottrell, Mr. Craig, Miss Nicol, Mr. Marshall, Mrs. J. Wood and Mr. A. McDonald.

Mrs. James Bission, a well known resident of South Quincy, died at his home, 108 Franklin street, on Thursday morning, aged 67 years. Mr. Bission was a stone worker by trade, but did not follow it of late. His health had been good up to Sunday when he sustained a shock which resulted in his death. He leaves a widow, five daughters and three sons, two sons being engaged in the granite business.

The funeral of Mr. James Bission will be held from his late residence Sunday afternoon.

A number of Chester A. Birnie's schoolmates gathered at his home in South Quincy on Tuesday evening. They surprised him by the gift of a silver pair of slippers and then proceeded to heartily enjoy themselves. Games were played and refreshments served. Those present were: Flora Deacon, Lillie Deacon, Beatrice Moodie, Helen Kenn, Gladys Moorehouse, Annie Cummings, Helen Cummings, Minnie Miller, Irene Williams, Flora Thompson, Everett Howie, Henry Moorehouse, Harold Gillis, Bertram Gillis, Norman Souter, William Spargo, Theodore Turner, William Michael, Kenneth Haskell, Russell Kenn.

Police to Shoot for Prizes.

Within a few days the members of the Quincy Police force are to demonstrate their skill as marksmen. As an incentive Mayor Bryant has offered three prizes, namely—$15, $10 and $5. Some months ago Mayor Bryant ordered an inspection of the equipment of the permanent policemen. This inspection brought out the fact that the officers owned their own equipment and that no carried revolvers of the same calibre and make. A trial of their skill as marksmen developed the fact that some of them could hardly hit a barn door at ten paces.

Mayor Bryant immediately gave orders to have all the patrolmen furnished with new revolvers, and a few weeks later each officer had placed in his hands a Colt repeater of the latest pattern. The Mayor also announced at that time that he would offer prizes for the best shot. Since that time the patrolmen have put in more or less practice with the result that all of the members of the department are now fairly good shots.

Thursday night Mayor Bryant informed Chief Hayden that he would award prizes of $15, $10 and $5 to the three officers who should make the best scores.

Chief Hayden says that the shooting match will take place some afternoon next week and that each officer will fire eighteen shots.

Pine Tree Association.

At a meeting of the Pine Tree State Association held in G. A. R. hall Tuesday evening, officers for the coming year were elected as follows:

President, Mrs. Sadie G. Mitchell. Vice President, Mrs. Mabel G. Yeaton. Secretary and Treasurer, Samuel P. Thompson. Executive Committee, George A. Wardwell, Mrs. N. A. Savage and Mrs. D. B. Snow.

A definite program for the winter will be at once arranged by the officers, and an attempt will be made to increase the number being up to the association. Any native of Maine is eligible for membership, and all who may be interested are requested to confer with the secretary.

Christmas Presents.

Walter M. Hatch & Co., 43 and 45 Summer street, Boston, would call particular attention to their unusual offerings this year for Christmas. They can serve you better than ever before. Their stock is unusually full of useful and artistic things in China, such as cups and saucers, bouillon bowls, salad and chocolate sets, biscuit jars, Chinese Medallion, Asiatic blue, and other thoroughly Asiatic things, make a wonderfully satisfactory line to select from.

Their store is only a few minutes' walk from the South Station and our readers will do well to drop in and examine their beautiful and immense stock first; as we know they will be pleased to see you, and will give you good bargains.

Handsome Presents.

If our readers are looking for rich and nice presents to give their friends they cannot do better than call at C. F. Pettengill's. He has an unusually large stock of nice silver ware, which he warrants. If you purchase you will be sure of giving your friends presents that they will appreciate.

The state society of the Daughters of the Revolution is to observe Boston Tea Party day on Friday evening, December the sixteenth, by a reception and musical at hotel Vendome, Boston. It will also be a gathering of the night and a pleasant meeting is anticipated.

Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Brown on every box 25c

WOLLASTON.

On Tuesday at 2.30 o'clock the W. C. T. Union will be held with Mrs. Higgins, Lincoln avenue, Wollaston.

The Ladies Musical Club will meet with Mrs. Carolyn Luard, 292 Fayette street, Monday evening, December 12, at eight o'clock.

The next regular meeting of the Wollaston Ladies' Alliance will be held in the Unitarian vestry, Wednesday afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock. After a business meeting Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney will give her talk upon "Eve." The program for the afternoon is in charge of Mrs. E. J. Cummings.

Mrs. Florence W. Loring of Willow street is recovering from an acute attack of gastritis.

Mr. and Mrs. William O. Wellington (Barbara Jackson) who were married on October nineteenth are receiving their friends after December twelfth, at their pretty home on Prospect avenue, Wollaston.

The Gleaners' Circle of King's Daughters will meet with Mrs. Whitman, Grand View avenue, Monday Dec. 19, at 8 o'clock. The subject of the evening will be "The question of permanently disbanding."

Last Saturday evening, a few friends gathered informally at the home of Rev. and Mrs. E. D. Webber, to offer their congratulations and best wishes, on the occasion of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Webber's daughter, Miss Mary Louise, to Arthur Parker, who has resigned his position with the Fore River Shipbuilding Company.

Mrs. Leon H. Austin is now well on the road to recovery. She is able to see a few of her friends each day.

There will be a vesper service at the Unitarian vestry, Wednesday evening, December 14, at 8 o'clock. Church Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. There will be special music by the choir under the direction of T. B. Pollard.

Miss May Tower of East Howard street spent Thursday with friends in Saugus.

Mr. Sturtevant of Washington street left on Friday for a brief visit to his home in Halifax.

Arthur Sampson was moved to the Quincy hospital Thursday and operated upon for appendicitis.

Herbert B. Sells and family have moved from Gray street to Edwards street; they will occupy the house vacated by Dr. Henderson.

The Weymouths bowled at Quincy Point and in a roll-off won two out of three. The local team started in with one of the best strings ever rolled on the alleys, a total of 445 and led the Wollaston team by 100 runs at the end of the first game. The Wollaston team, however, was not discouraged, and both teams bowled 433. On the roll-off Weymouth won. Quincy Point weakened on the third and it went easily to the visitors. Lyons of the home team was high man on singles, while Pelerau of Weymouth led on totals.

DOWNES AND PARK.

There was a large attendance at the No-Licence meeting at the Park and Downes church. The devotional services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Megathlin. Rev. W. B. Barr spoke on the horrors of the saloon and intemperance, illustrating his talk with the stereopticon. Deleware King spoke a few words in regard to the temperance cause, and the lack of money for carrying it on, and a collection was taken. The music consisted of hymns by the congregation.

The Wollaston Park Scientific club, numbering among its members about twelve boys, is an excellent example for some of the young men of the neighborhood. The club meets once a week, has its regular officers and dues, and devotes its time to questions of the day and educational literary works. Papers are read, and the boys take a modest sum from the treasury every now and then for a trip or a theatre party. The club has been organized for about two years.

The pupils of Prof. Thurber's dancing class will give a social dance in Putnam hall, Norfolk Downs, next Monday evening, Dec. 12.

MILTON.

An entertainment entitled Humpty Dumpty was given in Ellsworth hall Friday afternoon. The admission was seven cents and a potato.

A pleasing entertainment under the auspices of the Thursday Evening club was given at Ellsworth hall Thursday evening last. The program consisted of selections by the Columbian orchestra, songs by Miss Edith Ward, C. Harvey Brown, Miss Isabelle Marshall, Percy Brown and Miss Ella A. Griggs; clog dancing by Signor Alard; readings by J. Dow; and duets by Messrs. Brown and Misses Marshall and Griggs. The accompanists were Miss Josephine M. Irish and Miss Elizabeth Briggs.

The funeral of John Kerwin, a conductor on the Old Colony street railway was held Wednesday. The railway employees sent a large floral piece.

A business trip to New York.

The ladies of the Baptist church will hold a fair at the church next week.

Samuel B. Robertson of Pittsburgh, Pa., formerly of East Milton is in town on a visit.

The East Milton whist club met with George Ellsworth on Tuesday evening. Prizes for the best scores were awarded.

Mrs. C. F. Thompson, Mrs. George Burns, George Robbie and William Doherty.

A largely attended supper, entertainment and sale was held at the East Milton Congregational church on Wednesday evening.

George E. Tucker of Milton received awards at the Brockton dog show this week for cocker spaniels in classes 96 and 97.

The police have a strange disappearance case to unravel regarding Miss Lilla Seaver Kneese, a Massachusetts school teacher, says a dispatch to the Herald from Bath, Me. Miss Kneese left the home of relatives Thursday afternoon and has not been seen since.

Mrs. Sarah Griffin.

Mrs. Sarah Griffin, widow of George W. Griffin, whose death occurred on Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Calvin Fletcher, 73 Garfield street, was born at St. Johns, N. B., in 1827. She came to Wollaston when thirty years of age, and assisted in the depot railroad ticket in the old and new stations.

She was also for a long time a faithful servant in the family of Josiah Quincy, and was married from the farm, March 20, 1861, by the Rev. Mr. Barrows. She was blessed with five children, but only two, a son and daughter, and four grandchildren, survive her.

For the past fifteen years she has made her home with her daughter, when not attending to the sick in her capacity as nurse, and will be greatly missed in the home, as well as by many friends and acquaintances, for she was one who endeavored herself to all with whom she became associated.

She was a charter member of the first Baptist church in Wollaston, and after services at the house Friday, will be buried from the church at Wollaston.

QUINCY POINT AND NECK.

There will be a supper at the Quincy Point church next Wednesday evening, to be followed by a talk on the World's Fair held at St. Louis, by Frank F. Prescott, the city editor of the Daily Ledger.

E. Boyd Smith, the artist, was the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Smith, of Washington court, for a few days this week.

There was a good attendance Saturday night at the No-Licence meeting at the Washington Street Congregational church. Arthur W. Newcomb presided and there was singing by the congregation, Miss Sara M. Kelley presiding at the organ. The meeting opened with devotional exercises led by Rev. W. B. Barr after which Mr. Barr gave an interesting talk on temperance illustrated with the stereopticon.

Mrs. Samuel Oxford has been confined to her home on River street the past week, by sickness.

Lieut. F. B. Upham of the Navy department has been ordered to Quincy for duty as inspector of ordinance at the Washington Shipbuilding Company.

An addition has been built on to the rear of Walter Peter's store, corner of Chubbuck and Washington streets.

Lewis Soule has moved from East Howard to North street.

Mr. Brown and family have moved from Gray street to Edwards street. Arthur Parker has resigned his position with the Fore River Shipbuilding Company.

Mrs. Leon H. Austin is now well on the road to recovery. She is able to see a few of her friends each day.

There will be a vesper service at the Unitarian vestry, Wednesday evening, December 14, at 8 o'clock. Church Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. There will be special music by the choir under the direction of T. B. Pollard.

Miss May Tower of East Howard street spent Thursday with friends in Saugus.

Mr. Sturtevant of Washington street left on Friday for a brief visit to his home in Halifax.

Arthur Sampson was moved to the Quincy hospital Thursday and operated upon for appendicitis.

Herbert B. Sells and family have moved from Gray street to Edwards street; they will occupy the house vacated by Dr. Henderson.

The Weymouths bowled at Quincy Point and in a roll-off won two out of three. The local team started in with one of the best strings ever rolled on the alleys, a total of 445 and led the Wollaston team by 100 runs at the end of the first game. The Wollaston team, however, was not discouraged, and both teams bowled 433. On the roll-off Weymouth won. Quincy Point weakened on the third and it went easily to the visitors. Lyons of the home team was high man on singles, while Pelerau of Weymouth led on totals.

WEST QUINCY.

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Manx of West Quincy entertained at their home, on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Dice of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Howard of Brockton; Mr. W. F. Kirby of Boston; Miss Annie Kelly and Miss Alice Murphy helped to entertain the guests.

The West Quincy No-Licence rally was held Sunday evening at St. Mary's hall. It was very largely attended.

Thomas Shortle, president of the St. Mary's C. T. A. society, presided, and the addresses were by Rev. F. E. Fitch of St. Mary's church and Rev. John Flemming of Dedham. Between the addresses there was a piano solo by John Mahan and recitations by Miss Gertrude A. Boyd.

A large number enjoyed the fine skating on Weston's pond off Adams street on Sunday.

The St. Marys defeated the Lakeside at basket ball Saturday night by a score of 17 to 5, and the St. Mary Juniors, defeated the Everetts by a score of 54 to 9.

The contractor for the West Quincy section of the boulevard has commenced filling for the sub-surface from Crescent street across private land toward Cross street.

The usual election night false fire alarm from West Quincy did not sound Tuesday night. Everybody was so busy that they forgot to go to the alarm.

The main sewer that is being built on Copeland street will only be complete as far as Furnace avenue. Work will then be suspended until next spring.

In their double bereavement this week Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Fletcher have the sympathy of many good friends. The death of Mrs. Fletcher's mother on Tuesday was followed this morning by the death of Mr. Fletcher's father, Mr. James B. Fletcher. The latter has been a poor health for some time. He was a stone cutter by trade, and in his 68th year. He leaves a widow, two sons and two daughters. Funeral services will be held from his late residence on Garfield street on Monday.

Hight-Hall.

At Atlantic on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Arline J. Hall, 54 Walker street, was solemnized a pretty wedding, the happy pair being Miss Susie May Hall and Mr. George W. Hight, Jr., all of Atlantic.

Simply marked all the arrangements, only the immediate families and a few friends being present at the ceremony, which was performed at four o'clock by Rev. J. G. Miller of the Memorial church. The bride wore her traveling suit and carried a large bouquet of bride roses. She was attended by two little flower girls, Miss Florence Wiley of Atlantic and Miss Louise O'Brien of Abington. They wore white muslin dresses and their bouquets were daybreak pinks.

Mrs. Thomas Ramseyer of Jamaica Plain was best man. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Charles A. Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Hight will receive their friends after February first at 54 Walker street, Atlantic.

Seaman-Baker.

An interesting wedding took place Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Anna M. Seaman, 105 Elmwood avenue, Wollaston, her daughter Winnifred Elizabeth, being united in marriage to Mr. Clifton Howard Baker. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Frank W. Pratt of the Wollaston Unitarian church. The couple were unattended. The bride was gown in white Swiss and carried a bouquet of bride roses. Only the immediate families of the contracting parties were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker, after a brief trip, will reside at 105 Elmwood avenue and will be at home to their friends after March the first.

K. of C. Officers.

Quincy Council, Knights of Columbus, elected these officers at their meeting Tuesday evening:

Grand Knight, Peter J. Cahill. Deputy Grand Knight, T. J. Carey. Treasurer, M. T. Sullivan. Financial Secretary, Joseph Keating. Recording Secretary, Robert Williams. Advocate, Robert McDonnell. Inside Guard, Martin Cuniff. Outside Guard, Thomas Shea. Trustee for three years, William Moran.

Delegates to State Convention, Peter J. Cahill and William T. Shea. Alternates, M. T. Sullivan and J. W. McAnarney.

K. and L. of H. Officers.

At the regular meeting of Maple lodge, K. and L. of H., 313, held in Wilson's hall Wednesday evening, a goodly number were in attendance and visitors were entertained from Waverly lodge of Charlestown. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Protector, Bertha M. McLeod. Vice Protector, Agnes Fletcher. Secretary, Mary A. H. Crane. Financial Secretary, M. Lizzie Farnall.

Treasurer, Charles Crane. Chaplain, A. Cora Curtis. Guide, Albert H. Taber. Guardian, H. W. Campbell. Sentinel, Francis Baxter. Past Protector, Emma E. Marnock. Pianist, Effie L. Rhines. Trustees, Mary A. Fox, Quincy Tirrell and Walter H. Cobb.

Knights of Honor.

Wollaston Lodge No. 926 Knights of Honor elected at its regular meeting last Monday night, the following officers for 1905:

P. D., W. J. Wellington. B., J. W. Lovett. V. D., A. M. Burkman. A. D., G. S. Stermeister. R., C. Thatchter Baker. F. R., W. J. Battison. G., J. H. Fenety. C., M. A. Jamison. T., E. J. Cummings. Gu., Joseph Coupal. S., Cephas Dewar. Trustees, Chas. W. Johnson, A. A. Lincoln, Jr., Geo. D. Woodbury.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—Yorkshire Terrier Puppies, three months old, very fine, and prize winning stock. Also at Stud, Edgfield, master, G. H. JACQUES, 35 Main street, Quincy, Dec. 10.

John H. Dinegar, Auctioneer. Office, Room 7, Durgin & Merrill Block.

Will be sold at public auction at Room 7, Durgin & Merrill Block, Quincy, Mass., on MONDAY, JANUARY 9, 1905, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Two 1st Mortgage $1,000. 4 per cent GOLD BONDS.

OF THE CENTRAL VERMONT RAILROAD CO., DUE 1920. PER ORDER.

Dec. 10.

WALTER M. HATCH & CO.

ARE OFFERING

A. A. VANTINE & CO.'S

Entire Sample Line of Over

Five Thousand Pieces

No two alike

OF RARE, UNIQUE, DAINTY

Japanese Objects of Art

And Articles of Utility in

CLOISONNE	SATSUMA	IVORY
BRONZE	BRONZE	CHINA

AT HALF PRICE

Vases
Koross
Bell Buckles
Trinkets and Pin Trays
Tea Jars
Candle Holders
Incense Jars
Napkin Rings, etc.

Beautifully Decorated

China

25c to $50

With plenty to choose from at

$1, $2, $3, $4, $5

And upwards.

It is a physical impossibility for us, with our limited space of five floors, to hold and display this wonderful collection at regular prices.

WE MUST SELL IT AT ONCE

No other store offers such values. No other store offers such a varied stock of goods from the land of the Mikado. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity to pick up your

CHRISTMAS GIFTS AT HALF PRICE

WALTER M. HATCH & CO.,

45 Summer St.

Boston, Dec. 10.

First Church of Christ, Scientist

BRAINTREE, MASS.

— INVITES YOU TO A —

FREE LECTURE

— ON —

"Christian Science"

— BY —

MR. BLISS KNAPP, of Boston, Mass.

Member of Christian Science Board of Lectureship of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, Mass.

TOWN HALL

SOUTH BRAINTREE,

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 13, 1904

AT 8 O'CLOCK, P. M.

Quincy, Dec. 10, 1904.

Here's a Cordial Invitation

to all of every nation to make investigation of our accumulation of

CHRISTMAS GIFTS FOR ALL.

If you want them for the baby, for the boy or girl, a lady, just the prettiest, and neatest, just the loveliest and sweetest, just the style and just the cheapest, do not fail to come and call at

Miss C. S. Hubbard's,

1363 Hancock St., City Square Quincy.

The National Granite Bank

OF QUINCY, MASS.

THORPHILUS KING, Pres't.
RUFERT F. CLAPLIN, Cash'r.

1836-1865-1904

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

$20 Boston Box for $5

A Safe Deposit for Your Valuables,
Bonds, Deeds, Insurance Papers, etc.

NEW VAULT, FINE BOOTHS. COMPLETE RETIREMENT

PROMPT AND COURTEOUS ATTENTION.

Call and Exam'ne.

Oct. 1.

CORRECT PIANO TUNING AND REPAIRING.

FRANK A. LOCKE
Tuner in Quincy 25 y

Recommendations from manufacturers, dealers, teachers, colleges and the musical profession. Pianos selected for per use about to buy at $25 to $75 saved.

JOHN H. DINEGAR, Auctioneer. Office, Room 7, Durgin & Merrill Block.

Will be sold at public auction at Room 7, Durgin & Merrill Block, Quincy, Mass., on MONDAY, JANUARY 9, 1905, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Two 1st Mortgage $1,000. 4 per cent GOLD BONDS.

OF THE CENTRAL VERMONT RAILROAD CO., DUE 1920. PER ORDER.

Dec. 10.

OSTEOPATHY.

F. A. DENNETTE, D. O.
1592 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Chronic and Nervous Diseases cured without medicine.
Consultation free and invited Monday, Wednesday and Friday.
Nov. 12.

POSTS! POSTS! POSTS!

FENCES, TRELLISES and Iron Coops,
All Lengths and sizes.

HARD and SOFT WOOD, PINE SLABS
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
Residence 70 Copeland Street,
Quincy, April 9.

HOLIDAY GOODS.

We invite our friends and customers to call and examine our stock of goods for CHRISTMAS. It is larger and better than ever offered you. We know it will please you.

Call and Examine:

Watches, Chains, Hand Painted China, Japanese Ware, Rings, Charms, Pocket Books, Pen Knives, Thimbles, Cuff Buttons, English Souvenir China, Stick Pins, Bracelets, Toast Plaques, Locketts, Martha Washington Plate, Fountain Pens, Watch Fobs, etc. Shaving S ts.

C. F. PETTENGILL,

1891 Hancock Street, Quincy, Dec. 10.

Here's a Cordial Invitation

CHRISTMAS GIFTS FOR ALL.

If you want them for the baby, for the boy or girl, a lady, just the prettiest, and neatest, just the loveliest and sweetest, just the style and just the cheapest, do not fail to come and call at

Miss C. S. Hubbard's,
1363 Hancock St., City Square Quincy.

The National Granite Bank

OF QUINCY, MASS.

THEOPHILUS KING, Pres.,
RUFERT F. CLAFIN, Cash.

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.

$20 Boston Box for $5.

A Safe Deposit for Your Valuables,
Bonds, Deeds, Insurance Papers, etc.

NEW VAULT, FINE BOOTHS. COMPLETE RETIREMENT.

PROMPT AND COURTEOUS ATTENTION.

Call and Examine.
Oct. 1.

Protects Against Wintry Blasts

Protect yourself against winter weather. Colds catch fast. A deep-seated cough is dangerous. Don't take chances with it.

Jaynes' Balm of Tar

will treat on a light or heavy cold—drive it out of you at once. Cures coughs, colds, bronchitis, hoarseness, sore throat and all affections of the throat and lungs. The greatest lung remedy ever discovered.

Read a Few of Many Testimonials:

"I have used Jaynes' Balm of Tar in my family for three years. It makes short work of coughs and colds—Elliott Street, N. East, near Carlton St., Somerville, Mass."

"We have all been cured of severe coughs by taking one 10-cent bottle of Jaynes' Balm of Tar. It is the best remedy of its kind that I know of—Mrs. C. R. Smith, 46 Parkman St., Dorchester, Mass."

"For the sake of any person in need of a remedy to relieve the annoyance of a catarrh of the throat, I will say that I can truly recommend Jaynes' Balm of Tar as the very best remedy I have ever used—Addison Lane, N. Myrtle St., Melrose, Mass."

We guarantee a cure. If a 50-cent bottle of Jaynes' Balm of Tar does not do all we say, bring back the empty bottle and get your money.

JAYNES & CO.
25-33 N. Myrtle St., Boston, Mass.
WE GIVE S. D. H. GREEN TRADING STAMPS

Granite Firms.
FULLER, FOLEY & CO.,
Granite Manufacturers and Dealers. Works opposite West Quincy Depot.

MILNE & CHAMBERS,
Monumental and Cemetery Work. Every day. Works near Quincy Adams Depot. P. O. Address, Quincy, Mass. Branch Office at West Main St., North Adams.

MERRY MOTEL GRANITE CO.
Incorporated 1881. Manufacturers and Dealers in Monumental and Cemetery Work. Works near Quincy Adams Station, St. Quincy.

MCGRATH BROS.,
Large stock of Finished Monuments and Tablets constantly on hand. Works at Quincy Adams Station. Established 1884.

CAREY BROTHERS,
Dealers and manufacturers of Polished and Hammered Monuments, Curbing and Headstones. Willard Street, West Quincy.

LONG & SAUNDERS,
Fine Monumental Work from American and Foreign Granite and Marble. Latest designs. Superior workmanship. Works, South Quincy. South, Boston, Mass.

RADGER BROTHERS,
Gravestone and Monumental Work. Monuments of all Descriptions. Celebrated Italian Marble for sale. West Quincy.

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1904.

WEEKLY Full Moon
ALMA'S Bliss Full Moon
Saturday, Dec. 17, 7:48 a.m. 6:45 7:15 1:41 a.m.
Sunday, " 10:48 a.m. 7:45 8:00 2:40 p.m.
Monday, " 10:48 a.m. 8:30 8:45 3:30 p.m.
Tuesday, " 9:30 a.m. 8:15 8:30 4:40 p.m.
Wednesday, " 9:30 a.m. 9:00 9:15 5:40 p.m.
Thursday, " 9:30 a.m. 10:00 10:15 6:40 p.m.
Friday, " 9:30 a.m. 10:15 10:30 7:40 p.m.
Full Moon, Dec. 22, 1:01 p.m.

This Week's Temperature.

The noon temperature of the week taken at Pettengill's jewelry store, is compared below with the average for the week and the same day of month for three years:

Day	Last	In	In	In
Week	Week	1903	1904	1897
Sunday	14	5	37	33
Monday	20	30	37	47
Tuesday	27	35	54	47
Wednesday	27	37	30	19
Thursday	27	34	30	20
Friday	31	30	21	22
Saturday	18	28	20	40

Notes and Comments.

After a squabble extending over two years as to where the new city schools should be located, the Granite street site was proposed and in less than five minutes the order was passed to be ordained.

The Quincy Young Men's Association will have one of the best Christmas presents. The new building will be ready for occupation next week. It should be a joyful Christmas, and we believe it will be.

With so many amendments to city salaries as proposed, the City Council should stop and consider the matter wisely to make so many increases in one year. It should be remembered that the amount is limited by law which the city may expend for current expenses.

It is a very noticeable fact that when any of the Mayor's departments exceed their appropriation, they have little difficulty in getting an extra appropriation or transfer, but it is different with the School Committee. It is a hard and fast rule for them—must not exceed your appropriation.

Mayor-elect James Thompson is usually regarded as a young man, yet at 56 there are only five older than he have been elected mayors of Massachusetts cities this year. The oldest is 59, Mayor Borden of Weymouth, and the others 67, 63 and 61. The youngest is 27 years, Mayor Casey of Lowell.

Archbishop Ryan, in his Thanksgiving sermon in Philadelphia, said: "This great, glorious, and brave country has for its Chief Executive a fearless young chief who does his duty without fear or favor to both Church and State. More we do not ask and more we could not expect." So say we all of us!

The city has received from water rates for the eleven months of 1904 the handsome sum of $96,200.44. The expenditures have been: Maintenance account $9,360.01; maturing water debt, $31,500.00; interest on water debt, $27,200.00; Metropolitan water assessment, $31,084.24; a total of $109,204.25. It looks as if the water department would soon be self supporting.

Quincy is not the only city where the joint caucus act will continue in force, although it was the only city which voted not to revoke the acceptance of the act. The following cities, which adopted the act last year, will continue under it, not having submitted the revocation to vote this year: Cambridge, Somerville, Newton, Waltham, Medford, Chelsea, Lowell, Gloucester, and Lawrence.

Eight of the sixteen cities voted for license Tuesday while eight opposed. In all cases the majorities were decisive. But in which group of cities would you prefer to own property or reside?

NO LICENSE. LICENSE.
Somerville Lowell
Newton Fall River
Malden Holyoke
Everett Chicopee
Medford Worcester
Melrose Chelsea
Beverly Newburyport
Salem Woburn

Suppose the city should charge the C. C. Johnson fund five per cent. per year in trustees. The gift provides the income shall be used at Thanksgiving time for the purchase of turkeys for worthy Quincy people, but the income is less than five per cent., so that the city would get all the income. It might be argued that it is worth $75 per year to manage a trust fund of $2,000. The City Council is on the right track and should vote on the payment of salaries to city officials from the Woodward fund and all other funds.

Congratulations to Bro. Vittum of the Beverly Times for the success of his fearless efforts for good government in his city. His ringing editorial for Candidate Wallis on the eve of election resulted in his triumphant election as mayor by a majority of 720 votes. The "Big Four" combination of the aldermen was also broken. Beverly should have a larger board of aldermen; then it would not be so easy for a combination. With a board of only five aldermen, it is easy for four to rule. Combinations are the curse of legislative bodies and result in bad government and extravagance.

The romantic Mrs. Chadwick came to the press just in time to head off the tragedy and sin of Dan Patterson, which was being played out with unsavory details. Laugh and the world laughs with you, and Mrs. Chadwick is now having her innings? How long she must have been laughing over her sleeve at the scheme she devised for getting other people's money without committing any indecent offense. Only she knows and she declines to take the public into her confidence. Silence with her is golden—so golden that it is expected she must have settled some two or three millions of dollars upon her husband, who is doing Europe, and her deplorable home that he stands by his wife! What a life with fashionable gowns, automobiles, costly entertainments and all the rest of the outside show of wealth and respectability, she out of a wide swath in her Cleveland circle of society. It was very fine while it lasted. She danced, but others paid the bill. There was a haughty air about her. There was a haughty air about her. There was a haughty air about her.

We carry a full line of MAGEE RANGES.
Drop in and we will show you how they are superior to all others.

Kitchen Furnishing Goods, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Brushes, Garden Tools, Vegetable and Flower Seeds, Poultry and Chicken Netting, Screen Wire, Nails, Oil Stoves, Lamps, etc., etc.

MAY BE FOUND AT OUR NEW STORE.

SANBORN & DAMON,
1428 Hancock Street Quincy.

Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days.

E. H. Linn
on every bottle 25c

Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium Ready.

Next week Tuesday is set for entering the new Y. M. C. A. building. Some record breaking work is being done by all the contractors in finishing the gymnasium, dressing room and baths so this part of the equipment may be used at the earliest moment.

Though the main building cannot be completed for two months yet, several departments of work can and will be pushed in the gymnasium end of the building.

The building is so arranged that the public can enter by the east side entrance, passing through the physical director's office, which will be used as the main office temporarily.

The training gallery is sufficient in size, well lighted and heated to allow portions of it to be used for social purposes and a reading room.

Current magazines and daily papers will be on file and a piano placed in a convenient position for use in Sunday sessions and gymnasium work.

Applications are being received for membership in the Y. M. C. A. The work in the gymnasium is progressing satisfactorily. By Tuesday night it will be sufficiently advanced for inspection.

Membership tickets should be secured at once. They will be dated to January 1, 1905, so gaining the balance of the month.

Classes will be held as soon as members can be enrolled, measurements taken and suits procured.

A provisional schedule of class work has been arranged by Physical Director Bugbee, comprising classes for all ages and condition of men.

Business men, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 4.30 to 5.30.

Evening classes for young men, Tuesdays and Thursdays, from 8 to 9.

Working boys, Mondays and Wednesdays from 7.30 to 8.30.

Intermediates, Mondays and Wednesdays from 3.30 to 4.30.

Juniors, Wednesdays 4.30 to 5.30 and Saturday mornings from 10 to 11.30.

Basket ball and bowling teams will be formed and attention given to each.

The public is asked to call at the building and see the equipment and the character of work done.

Prosperous Church.

A most successful bazaar was held at the First Presbyterian church last week Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, afternoons and evenings. The work was taken up on a large scale and surpassed anything ever held before by this church. Although undertaken and conducted by the Ladies' Aid Society, the other organizations, members and friends of the church took an active interest in the work. The lecture room was most beautifully and tastefully decorated, and the different tables; ice cream, groceries, children's, fancy work, home made cake and preserves, children's garments, toys, etc., and the candy counter, arranged in an artistic and attractive manner; were all well equipped with willing and busy attendants.

On both Tuesday and Wednesday evenings the ladies served supper. The church friends of the churches, Mr. Henry H. Faxon visited the bazaar on Wednesday evening and delighted all by his usual generosity. Great encouragement was given to all who had participated when it was found that the proceeds netted seven hundred and fifty dollars.

Altogether this church has had a very active and progressive year. Since the coming of Mr. Sprout many new lines of work have been taken up and the presence and activity of the goodly number of young people in all departments of the church promises well for the future.

Since March first there have been one hundred and thirty new members received into the church. The Christian Endeavor society which has greatly increased in attendance and membership recently purchased a piano. The Ladies' Aid society has renewed and replaced a handsome new pulpit set in the church. The membership of the Sunday school and Bible classes has grown to three hundred and fifty, and the attendance at church is from two hundred and fifty to two hundred and seventy.

The pastor, Rev. Mr. Sprout, some ten months ago organized a children's prayer meeting, and the half hour spent in Bible study under his able direction is both profitable to and enjoyed by the children who usually number from fifty to one hundred.

A short time ago the congregation voted to remodel and build to the mass which is being successfully carried on at a cost of $3,400, and the new building will be ready for occupancy by January 1.

Altogether the congregation in the past six months have raised $2,400 for improvements over and above paying regular expenses.

Great credit is due the pastor, Rev. Mr. Sprout, and the congregation is showing their appreciation of his persistent and untiring efforts by the increased attendance and activity. Both congregation and pastor are to be congratulated.

Fire in Sagamore Block.

One of the stores in the Sagamore block on Sagamore street at Atlantic was badly damaged by fire Thursday afternoon. When S. A. Needleman, the tailor, was lighting up about 4.30 he accidentally allowed one of the gas lamps to drop, and the flames spread so rapidly that he could not single handed extinguish them.

Box 63 was pulled. When the Atlantic hose wagon arrived a hot fire was in progress and it had burst out through the front shop window. One stream soon extinguished the blaze. A little fire worked its way through the pool room in the corner store, but the Post Office adjoining on the other side escaped. The smoke got into a small blind attic and worked into all the stores, coming out along the front of the building and at both ends.

The Wollaston and Central fire station apparatus made good time, and were on hand had their services been required. There was a little delay in opening the hydrant and it was with difficulty that it could be closed after the fire. The street nearby was flooded.

Mr. Needleman's loss was $400, and was covered by an insurance of $500. Mr. Geelke of the pool room lost $100, and the block owner by N. G. Nickerson is damaged $600.

Rebekah Election.

At the regular meeting of G. L. Gill Rebekah lodge, held last evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

N. G., Mrs. Melissa McCormick.
V. G., Mrs. Adelle Dewhurst.
Secretary, Miss Georgeanna M. Thayer.
Financial Secretary, Miss M. Jennie Davis.

Treasurer, Miss M. Lizzie Farnald.
Trustee for three years, Mrs. Sadie J. Mitchell.

It is reported that a ship subsidy bill will be reported to Congress by the special committee.

Post Office Matters.

Congressman McNary, true to his promise, is making a determined effort to get an appropriation for a federal building in Quincy.

A dispatch from Washington says that Congressman McNary appeared before the Congressional committee on Public Buildings Dec. 9 with a detailed statement in regard to a public building for post office purposes in Quincy.

Both gentlemen spoke at length upon the vast increase in business at the Quincy office during the past few years. They urged the claims of this city for a public building. Their report with the petition of Quincy citizens, which was filed with the committee, is reported to have made a favorable impression on the committee, many of whom assured them that the bill should have their support.

The committee has decided to report a small omnibus building bill—about $8,000,000 or $10,000,000. The dispatch states, however, that it will be difficult to keep the total down to the latter sum.

December 9th Congressman McNary also had a conference with Postmaster General Weymouth and Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristol, relative to the appointment of an additional carrier at the Quincy postoffice, and to the consolidation of the Braintree offices with the Quincy postoffice.

These matters have been promised a speedy consideration, at the postoffice department, and in all probability will be brought to a successful issue at an early date.

Postmaster Hammond returned Tuesday night from a Washington trip. He says that he had a fine trip. He was treated most courteously by the gentlemen of the committee. It was unfortunate, however, that the only New England member of the committee was not present.

The committee would give no information as to what they would report, although they seemed to be favorably impressed with the arguments in favor of the Quincy building.

Mr. Hammond thinks that if a public building bill is reported that Quincy will be included.

Congressman McNary was notified on Wednesday, by Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristol, that the additional letter carrier asked for by Postmaster Hammond at Quincy, had been granted to take effect Jan. 1.

If Congressman McNary is as successful in securing a Washington trip as he was on his last one, he will be able to make his own trip to Quincy to see the building and the character of work done.

The granting of an additional carrier to Quincy is something for which Postmaster Hammond has been striving for some time, and will increase the number of carriers in Quincy to 21 men. When the new man goes on Jan. 1, it will mean quite an improvement to the delivery service, more especially to West Quincy and Ward One.

At the present time there are two carriers at West Quincy, but they have to make the trip to the mail office to reach its destination as soon as it should.

The new carrier, who will be used at West Quincy, will relieve the two men now on that district, so that mail will reach its destination in some cases an hour earlier than it does now.

It means a relief for the men in Ward One, so that the business houses will get their mail earlier.

James T. O'Neil, who heads the classified list, will receive the appointment. Mr. O'Neil has been serving as substitute for the past two years.

Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. McGregor, of 34 Jackson street celebrated their twenty-third anniversary of their marriage Saturday, December 10, by entertaining about fifty of their old friends.

In the early part of the evening the host and hostess received their friends after which a turkey supper was served. The remainder of the evening was spent in readings, violin, piano and vocal solos. Mr. and Mrs. McGregor were the recipients of many handsome and costly presents.

After singing "Auld Lang Syne" and wishing Mr. and Mrs. McGregor many more years of happiness and prosperity, the party dissolved.

Wollaston Unitarian Club.

The speaker at Wollaston Unitarian Club Tuesday evening was William H. Bain, who has recently returned from a twenty-two months' trip through foreign lands. A roast beef supper was served at 6.30 after which H. E. H. Sprague, the president, introduced Mr. Bain.

The speaker took his hearers with him through several foreign countries, dwelling at length upon Honolulu, Hawaii Islands and New Zealand. He vividly described the people of these countries, their characteristics, method of living and the beautiful scenery which they abounded. The talk was a thoroughly enjoyable one and at its conclusion the speaker was given a vote of thanks.

Committees Appointed.

Committees have been appointed, both by the Granite Manufacturers' Association and the Granite Cutters' Union, to consider the changes desired by both organizations in the bill of prices which applies now.

The committees have not met as yet but will in a few days. It is the general wish of the organizations as well as business men and citizens at large, that a peaceful understanding may be reached and that there will be no labor trouble in Quincy in 1905.

The last agreement between the two associations ran for three years. The new agreement should run fully as long if not longer.

—The Christian Endeavors now number 63,000, having added 505 new societies in the past quarter.

A MATTER OF HEALTH

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure
HAS NO SUBSTITUTE

Receipts and Expenses.

The Citizens No-License League, in publishing their customary statement of the receipts and expenses of the recent campaign, desire to thank heartily all those—and there were many—who have given of their time and thought, as well as all those who have given financial aid.

Much thanks is also due to our newspapers, the Ledger, the Patriot, the Advertiser and the Leader for their staunch support and for their contribution of a goodly amount of advertising space.

Somewhat more money than usual has been spent, though the total amount is less than a cent and a half for each of our inhabitants. The accounts just balance as there was something of a deficit which one or two have made up.

RECEIPTS.
Balance on hand Nov. 1, 1904, $65.88
(Including $60 contributed by the Music Hall collection of last year.)

6 subscriptions $10 or over 74.20
10 subscriptions $5 50.00
1 subscription $4 4.00
5 subscriptions $3 15.00
2 subscriptions $2 4.00
1 subscription $1.08 1.08

60 subscriptions $1 60.00
Music hall collection 34.80
Wollaston collection 6.15
Park and Downs collection 4.25
Atlantic collection 3.80
Quincy Post collection 1.00

EXPENSES.
Printing, "Duty of the Hour," 5,000 $50.00
Alterations, etc., on paper 10.75
Printing circulars and flyers 31.70
Printing letter heads and envelopes 15.25
Typewritten letters 42.78
Postage, papers, etc. 5.00
Postage appeals, letters to new voters, etc. 32.10
5000 celluloid buttons 38.00
Hire of halls 42.00
Advertising 25.00
Bill board sheets and posting 19.40
Advertising and mailing 5,275 copies "Duty of the Hour" 18.40
Stereograph, operator, gas, and purchase of new slides 15.00
Blotters 11.60
Special typewriting 11.60
Band 10.00
Undresses 6.00
Disturbing flyers 3.25
Postals, printing and ads. gen 5.24
Special music hall sign 3.25
Newspaper wrappers 3.17
Police 2.70
Special cut 2.00

Funeral Services.

The funeral of Mr. James Bisson was held Sunday afternoon from his late residence at 74 Water street. The services were conducted by Rev. William E. Gardner of Christ church. The burial was at Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

The pall bearers were William D. Carson, Fred E. Nightingale, Roderick McQuinn, William Fallace.

The flowers consisted of a pillow with "Father" from his children. A pillow with "Uncle" from Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O. Bisson, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bisson, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Bisson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Bisson, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas LeConte.

A flat bouquet from "Grandson" from Mr. Harrison Carson.

A wreath with "Grandpa" from grandchildren.

A pillow "with sympathy of little friends," from his little chums.

A flat bouquet from I. M. Osgood.

A flat bouquet from Mr. and Mrs. W. Martin and Mr. P. Litchfield.

Cut flowers from Mr. and Mrs. Willard Nightingale.

Fan of wheat from Wymann B. Nightingale.

A flat bouquet from Mr. William Fallace.

A flat bouquet from Miss Blanche Thayer.

Cut flowers from Mrs. A. L. Litchfield.

One precious to our hearts has gone. The voice we loved is still. The place we loved is in our home. Our father in his wisdom said: The boon his love had given; And though on earth the body lies, The soul is free in Heaven.

Noah Curtis.

Noah Curtis, a native of this city, died at his residence in Boston on Sunday after a long illness. He was born in November 1839, and was the son of the late Benjamin and Emeline Sprague Curtis, who resided on School street, at the corner of Gay street.

For over 100 years the boot and shoe business which he conducted has been established. Until a few years ago his manufactory was on Granite street in what is now known as the Aluminum building, the late E. W. Haas being superintendent. The offices of the company are on High street, Boston.

At one time Mr. and Mrs. Curtis resided at the corner of Hancock and Greenleaf streets, but some years ago moved to Boston, and their home was at 24 Concord square. Mr. Curtis leaves a widow and one son.

Benjamin F. Curtis, formerly Principal Assessor of Quincy, is a brother. The burial was at Mt. Wollaston cemetery at Quincy.

Esther P. Smith.

The funeral services of Mrs. Esther P. Smith, widow of the late H. P. Smith, who resided for many years at Quincy Point, was held on Friday from her son's residence at the Point.

She was a lady much beloved and respected in this city in years gone by, but late she made her home with a son in Lincoln, Nebraska, where she died on Sunday last.

Births.

ROBERTS—In Quincy, Dec. 15, daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Roberts of Packard's Lane.

Deaths.

COLBERT—In Quincy, Dec. 15, Mrs. Annie Louise, wife of Mr. Charles Colbert of 17 Main street, aged 37 years, 7 months and 13 days.

SMITH—In Lincoln, Nebraska, December 11, Mrs. Esther P. Smith, wife of the late H. P. Smith, aged 65 years.

CALIN—In New York, Dec. 10, Mr. Edward F. Calin of Cohasset street, West Quincy, aged about 30 years.

The Quincy Patriot.

Sixty-Eighth Year.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1904.

SINGLE COPIES 5 CENTS.

FOR SALE AT
The Patriot Office,
Quincy,
H. P. Kirtland,
J. P. O'Brien,
C. F. Carlson,
H. L. Smith,
Sprague & Hobart,
Simms & Peterson,
Thomas Gurney,
Brasfield & Martin,
Peter L. Litchfield,
W. A. Nightingale,
E. H. Doble & Co.,
Henry Coran,
Mrs. Lark's Store,
William Clark,
South Terminal Station,
Fred J. Mullane,
N. H. Proctor,
S. H. Hunt,
Arthur Dunham,
Quincy,
City Square,
38 Hancock St.,
near Quincy Depot,
Quincy Point,
Wollaston,
Atlantic,
Norfolk Downs,
Quincy Adams,
South Quincy,
West Quincy,
Brewer's Corner,
East Milton,
Neponset,
Blairstown,
East Weymouth,
Houghs Neck.

Poetry.

To My Old Calendar.

SEBASTIA CLARK.

No friend has proved more faithful than you,
My old year's calendar;
You've been so loyal, and staunch, and true,
My plain old calendar;
January dawned with the year all aglow,
February gleamed with the snow of snow,
The March winds did not forget to blow;
Did they, old calendar?
More days you have given of joy than pain,
Good old year's calendar;
Would you care to live them over again?
Would you, old calendar?
April failed not with the warm showers,
May followed blushing with buds and flowers,
Then June's dreamy days and sunny hours,
O kind old calendar!
You've been a faithful and true guide,
All the year, calendar;
'Tis with a pang I lay you aside,
Dear old year's calendar;
July came with buzz and drone of bees,
August bore thoughts of comfort and ease,
September the cool and refreshing breeze;
Growing old, calendar!
A new year is coming with steady tread,
Poor old year's calendar;
Your hours and days have all been sped,
Farewell, old calendar;
October's days were tinted with gold,
November's blessings were manifold,
December is here—dying—is cold.
Good-bye old calendar.

Notes and Comments.

It is reported that the Liquor Dealers' League has raised a fund of $50,000 for the purpose of placing ten picked men as lobbyists at Washington and in every State capital in the United States to work for the repeal of all restrictive or prohibitory laws, and the enactment of laws favoring the liquor traffic.

With the opening of the East Boston tunnel, which will take place shortly, the nuisance of one cent toll will be imposed upon the public using that route. Under the law, the street car company is to collect from each passenger one cent in addition to the regular fare, which is to be paid over to the city to form a part of the sinking fund for the tunnel bonds.

The Milton Record says: "Just at present there is a great agitation going on in and about Boston for lower priced gas. Eighty-cent gas that is almost worthless to read or work by is not what the consumers desire, and it is not difficult to figure that this kind of gas is too expensive. What the consumers of gas in Milton desire, and what they are bound to have if they will assert their rights, is gas of first quality. And any attempt to have the price made lower than at present should be accompanied by a statement that the quality is to be improved, though it comes down to a choice it is safe to predict that the majority of gas consumers would prefer better quality to lower prices."

The Brookline Chronicle says: "Comparing the expenditure of $1,441.62 for high school text-books with that of $6,019.62 for text-books in all the Newton schools, Mayor Wood announces his conclusion that text-books should not be furnished free to high school pupils in view of the fact that high school education is so much more expensive than that in the lower schools, he thinks this a measure of prudence. As the high school pupils are for the most part more than the compulsory school age, he considers there would be no injustice in compelling them to buy their own books. Accordingly, he recommends that the Newton school board concur with him in petitioning the Legislature to amend the law so that the free supply of school books should be permissible instead of compulsory."

If any one has doubted that the Fall River mill treasurers were sincere in the position they took that they could not possibly afford to pay the higher wages demanded by the operatives, the doubt ought to be removed by reading the statements of the mills showing the financial operations for the last year. Nearly every corporation which paid a dividend, did so not so much from its earnings, as the majority of them show a decrease in the surplus of quick assets over debts or an increase in the debts of the plants. Conditions are changing, however, and it is not improbable that the mills will be in a position to pay advanced wages within a comparatively short time.—Banker and Tradesman.

Congress is now in session and Congressman Lovering got in some early work on revised tariff and reciprocity, but it is quite apparent that our northern neighbors are not turning over themselves to come across the border line and ask for free trade. Some of the men who are clamoring for joint debate on reciprocity, might now go up there and do a little missionary work.—Weymouth Transcript.

A person may be sent by mail in England, it is said. One day a man called at a London postal station to consult a directory. He found the address of a customer to be in a remote town, and as he was not acquainted with the locality he mentioned the facts to a police clerk behind the counter. He was at once informed that he could be sent to the required address by registered mail at a fee of 6 cents a mile. The man gladly accepted the offer, and in less than a minute found himself in charge of a smart messenger boy, who very soon guided him by the shortest route to his destination. The boy carried in his hand a printed slip with a description of his "mailed parcel" under the heading "Article received" to be delivered, and this he required the man and customer to sign before he left the latter's house.—Printer's Ink.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of

Dr. J. C. Woodbury.

A special commission of post-office officials from Washington is now in Boston to inspect the pneumatic-mail system in the Boston post office district. The Boston system, which now includes six and a quarter miles of tube, has been in its present state of operation since September, 1903, and has given the greatest satisfaction. The commissioners are expected to recommend its extension to some of the outlying postal stations in the Boston postal district.—Somerville Journal.

Statistics show that more people live to be a hundred years old in warm countries than in cold ones. And yet we have more pretty old people round here in New England.

In a recent letter to a Newton paper a grumbling taxpayer of that city asked the question: "How do the long-suffering and patient citizens of Newton like the $18 tax rate this year against a $10.50 rate in Brookline? Do we get anything more for it than the Brookline people do? The city Salons will tell you that the reason why our rate is high is because we have longer streets, more streets, and another reason is that we have a gang of men at high wages who loaf about a third of the time. You remember the English snob who complained that we in America had no leisure class and was told that we had, only they called them loafers here. He would have found still another leisure class, not hoboes, but presumably working men, in the streets of Newton—working the city."—Brookline Chronicle.

An aged man sauntering across Superior street, Saturday morning, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, was somewhat rudely jostled by a youthful wheelman. The shock of collision tumbled the rider off, and the old gentleman promptly grabbed him by the ear. "Durn you," he said with considerable asperity. "I've a great mind to take you across my knee and spank you good." But he didn't do it. He just held the young fellow a minute, and then let him go. "Why didn't you spank him just?" said a bystander. "Well," replied the old man, with a humorous twinkle, "I certainly would if I hadn't been a little afraid that maybe it was a girl."

The gypsy moth has at last become a national issue. Congressman Roberts has put in two bills looking to the aid of the general government in ridding this part of the country of the moth pest. One of the bills which he introduced on the 25th day of the session appropriates $250,000 to be expended under the direction of the Secretary of Agriculture for the purpose of exterminating or controlling the gypsy and brown-tail moth. The other bill appropriates $150,000, also to be expended under the direction of the Secretary of Agriculture for the purpose of investigating European and other natural enemies of the moths and other natural means of controlling the gypsy and brown-tail, and for the introduction and installation of such of these in the regions of the United States infested by the pests named as promise to be of aid in stopping or limiting their ravages.—Boston Courier.

According to Bulletin 14 of the census just issued, the divisions of continental United States with the smallest proportion of males are the District of Columbia (47.4 per cent.), Massachusetts (48.7 per cent.), and Rhode Island (49.1 per cent.); those with the largest are Wyoming (62.9 per cent.), and Montana (61.6 per cent.). As a rule sparsely settled regions have excess of males and densely settled regions an excess of females.

No lynching was reported in the United States throughout the month of November. This may not seem very remarkable to many people, but the Chicago Tribune, which keeps a record of this and other crimes of blood as reported in the daily news, says it is the first full calendar month to pass without a lynching since 1885. Mr. Roosevelt may be disposed to claim this as a result of the election, but a few more months of exemption will obviously be required to make it good.—Milford Gazette.

The Springfield Republican, in writing about the acceptance by General Miles of the position of Adjutant-General of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, after being commander of the United States Army, takes to task somewhat those who criticize this act. It asserts that General Miles' course is entirely commendable, and says that what he has done in consenting to command the Massachusetts militia is his credit, for only a real man with no wrong-headed, stuck-up ideas about personal prestige and dignity could do this thing. And it goes on to remark: "The performance of proud old John Quincy Adams in going back to the National House of Representatives after he had been President of the United States, and then serving his Massachusetts constituents, has always been cited as ideal in its simple attitude of strong manhood. It would be alien to our purpose to idealize General Miles—for, like others, he has his weaknesses—yet candor compels the statement that he has risen recently from John Quincy Adams ideal of the honor and dignity of all service whatsoever in behalf of the people than most public men of our time, and General Miles, however the palpable experiment of his service as adjutant-general may succeed, deserves some credit for taking the John Quincy Adams view of a citizen's duty to the State that reared him."

By all means keep the Santa Claus spirit alive. Let the children look for his coming. The removal of Santa Claus from the Christmas time takes away two thirds of the pleasure of the season.—Norwood Advertiser.

In choosing Gen. Miles for his chief of staff, it looks as if Governor Douglas is planning an aggressive military campaign from the start.—Mansfield News.

Norwegian authorities have conceived an original method of curing drunkards. The patient is placed under lock and key, and his nourishment consists in great part of bread soaked in port wine. The first day the drunkard eats his food with pleasure, and even on the second day he enjoys it. On the third day he finds that it is always about the same thing, and on the fourth he becomes impatient. At the end of eight days he receives the wine with horror. The disgust persists, and this homoeopathic cure is said to give good results.

The trading stamp law passed during the last session of the Legislature is now in force, and merchants who continue to sell goods with trading stamps thrown in are subject to a three per cent. tax. It is said that three-fourths of the state have given up the use of the trading stamp. Both merchants and customers have become convinced that the third party—the one furnishing the stamps—is the only one to make anything out of the scheme.—Athol Chronicle.

The City Council.

Amendments to City Ordinances increasing the current expenses of the city were taken up at Monday evening's meeting of the City Council, and caused more or less discussion. All were advanced a stage, however, without curtailment.

Cornelien Gassett, Hadlock, Holmes, Lord, McFarland, Nickerson and Reardon were the absentees.

The Mayor sent a communication relative to soldiers aid now paid a Mr. Beal of Randolph. To Committee on Finance and State Aid.

The Mayor sent in the appointment of the following special constables for duty only at the yards of the Fore River Co.: Andrew Olsen, Charles H. Tower, William E. Andrews and Albert A. Hayden. Confirmed.

The Mayor asked for a transfer of $100 from enforcement of liquor law to special police and miscellaneous police. To Finance Committee.

The Board of Health asked for a transfer from the appropriation for miscellaneous account to garbage account. To Finance Committee.

The Mayor sent a communication asking that the Council pass an order authorizing the City Solicitor to confer with the Boston Commissioners and officials of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. Laid on the table.

The Committee on Sewers and Health reported reference to the next Council on the order relative to filling in the canal.

The Committee on Finance reported on order refunding B. J. Leighton $18.75, one-half cost of edgstones on Quincy street.

The Committee on Finance reported on order refunding Edith W. Whitton $15, one-half cost of sidewalk on Whitney road.

The Committee on Finance reported a substitute order relative to the city scales. The substitute located on Granite street near the freight depot. Adopted. The order which appropriates $600 was passed to be ordained.

The Committee on Finance reported an order expending $325 from unexpended balances and receipts for State and military aid.

The order granting the Telephone company permission to attach wires to poles on Sea street was passed.

The Committee on Elections reported the result of the Municipal election of Dec. 6.

Councilman Bass offered an order, as outlined by the Mayor, authorizing the City Solicitor to confer with the Railroad Commissioners and officials of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. with a view of better service, and that he have full power to settle all differences.

Councilman Stone did not like the idea of having the special committee until it had a chance to get together and turn their material over to the City Solicitor. Nothing had been done until after this committee was appointed.

City Solicitor Blackman said that the law had not been the law but that much had been accomplished by the executive department. There were many questions now aside from more trains. He had no intention of stepping on the toes of the committee, but would endeavor to incorporate their wishes.

Councilman Stone—We have a great deal of information but we do not want to do anything to prevent the City getting an improvement of service.

Mayor Bryant—Under this order the City Solicitor is empowered to do certain things. The committee can refer their recommendations to him. We have got to have some one to say what we want when we go before the commissioners. The committee can confer with the Solicitor between now and Thursday, the date of the hearing.

Councilman Bass offered an order transferring $38.25 from advertising and printing for City Clerk of 1903, to the same appropriation for 1904. Adopted.

Councilman Bass offered an order transferring $245.50 received from tuition of school children to school appropriation. Adopted.

The communication relative to the salary of City Auditor was taken from the table and an order changing the salary from $600 to $1000. To Joint Committee on Finance and Ordinances.

Councilman Stewart offered an order increasing the salary of the Registrars from $150 to $200 per year. To joint committee on Finance and Ordinances.

Councilman Bass offered an order refunding tax of $12.45 to J. W. Willis. To Ordinance Committee.

Upon motion of Councilman Piper the order relative to giving permanent relief to a young man in the city was taken from the table. The order took its second reading.

Councilman Piper moved suspension of rules.

Councilman Hardwick opposed passage. Council did not have facts in its possession to support its action. Councilman Whitton favored.

The men should have privilege of going to their homes at least once a week. If we can afford to raise salaries we can afford to give men one day off.

Councilman Thompson—This simply repeats what the Chief Engineer is doing.

Councilman Stone favored motion.

Rules suspended by a vote of 14 in favor and one against. Councilman Hardwick alone voting nay.

Councilman Hughes moved to amend by making it read one day off in every ten. He later withdrew his motion and the order was passed.

The order increasing the number of men in the Fire Department was taken from the table. This order added three permanent men to the department, one to be stationed at Houghs Neck and two at the city.

Councilman Bass said this could be acted on next year, and it was desirable to have it come in with the budget.

Councilman Gearwar hoped order would pass.

Considerable discussion followed during which the councilmen became somewhat mixed owing to the fact that one unattached man was now carried on the pay roll, although not provided for in the ordinances.

Councilman Whitton proposed an amendment which in effect would strike out that part of the order relative to a permanent man at Houghs Neck and would add two permanent unattached men to the department. This would provide for the appointment of one new man and make the present unattached man permanent.

The Mayor was surprised that the pay roll carried 10 men when there were but 15 provided in the ordinance. It seemed to him this extra man should be charged to some other appropriation.

City Auditor Sidelinger stated the pay of this extra man was provided for.

DO YOU ENJOY COUGHING?
If not, go to your druggist at once and get a bottle of Kem's Balsam, which quickly relieves and permanently cures all irritation and diseases of the Throat and Lungs. A slight and agreeable remedy, which may develop into a very serious complication. Price 25c and 50c. All druggists. Sample mailed free. Address Kem's Balsam, Le Roy, N. Y.

Alliance Christmas Meeting.

There was an overflow of the meeting of the Alliance of First church on Monday afternoon. The parlor not being large enough to accommodate the two hundred attending, the chapel was used.

Mrs. George G. Saville, the president, presided at the business meeting at the Alliance of First church on Monday afternoon. The parlor not being large enough to accommodate the two hundred attending, the chapel was used.

It was appropriate to the Christmas season. After a few remarks by Mrs. Butler, the exercises began with the reading of the Nativity from St. Luke and Milton's ode, by Rev. E. C. Butler.

"It came upon the midnight clear," was beautifully sung by Mr. Henry Tirrell, Mrs. Horace F. Spear, Mrs. S. Hunting, Mrs. George E. Pfaffman and Mrs. Wilson Marsh.

Rev. Frank Wright Pratt of the Wollaston Alliance sang a beautiful Christmas poem by Josephine Daskam Bacon, followed by the carol "O little town of Bethlehem," feelingly sung by Miss Florence R. Emery.

The reading of a Christmas hymn by Rev. Mr. Meyer of Natick preceded a Christmas song by Mrs. John D. Buckingham.

The interest of the afternoon centered in Rev. John Snyder of Weymouth Hills. No one can read a Christmas carol with quite as much feeling as he. Last year at the Christmas meeting of the Alliance his listeners laughed and wept with him as he read the carol "Christmas Carol." This year he read that beautiful little story "The Bird's Christmas Carol," by Kate Douglas Wiggin. The musical part of the story was sung by Mrs. Ellsworth E. Morgan.

It gave much pleasure to the listeners. At length, "The Bird's Christmas Carol," is a child's story it is one that is read and re-read many times by older people without loss of interest, and as read by Mr. Snyder was beautiful.

A social half hour followed; hot chocolate and cake being served by the Alliance. The exercises brought to an end the most delightful afternoon of the season.

In Mexico.
The thoughts of Mr. A. L. Baker turned toward Quincy on election day and he writes to a friend: "I find myself longing to have a hand in it." He adds:

The substitute order failed to pass. Councilman Piper, Hughes, Whitton, Gearwar and Bass.

The order then took its second reading. Adjourned at 9.59 to meet Monday, Dec. 19.

The newly elected officers of St. Mary's C. T. A. Society were installed Monday evening. There was a large attendance and the evening proved to be one of the important events in the history of the society.

The officers were installed by Edward Dodge, president of the Arch Diocesan Union, assisted by O. T. O'Leary, secretary of the Union. After the work of installation interesting remarks were made by Mr. Mulready and Mr. O'Leary, Henry H. Faxon, Rev. A. F. Roche and the newly installed officers.

Mr. Faxon paid a glowing tribute to Rev. Fr. Roche, to whose good work he attributed the increased vote for no-license at the recent municipal election. He was at a loss to know why Hingham should have let such a good man get away from them. While he complimented the good work of Fr. Roche and his co-workers, he also pointed out the need of more men to do the work of West Quincy's vote on the license question, he was not entirely satisfied.

Rev. Fr. Roche in responding stood up for West Quincy, which he said was not as bad as some had pictured it.

Besides installing its officers the society elected the following gentlemen to honorary membership: James A. White, Robert J. Teasdale, William H. Teasdale and John A. McGowan.

After the business of the evening an adjournment was made to the lower hall, where a banquet was served by Givari.

At the banquet table there were songs by Richard Callahan, George W. Barry, Frank Mullen and F. E. McDonald, and recitations by Stephen Connors and Thomas Connors.

The officers installed are: President—Thomas Shortle, Jr. Vice President—John J. King. Treasurer—Thomas W. Keating. Recording Secretary—Martin A. King. Corresponding Secretary—James J. Ryan.

Now for the Holiday Season.

Here we are again near the end of our Thirty-fourth year's efforts, in better shape than ever to supply Holiday Gifts that are useful.

Handkerchiefs, Neckwear
Collars, Cuffs, Night Shirts
Fancy Suspenders
Fancy Arm Bands
Dress Gloves, Working Gloves
Mufflers
Collar and Cuff Buttons
Umbrellas, Hosiery
Underwear

SAVE OUR CASH SALE CHECKS. THEY ARE VALUABLE.

COME TO US FOR LOW PRICES AND HIGH QUALITY.

OPEN EVERY EVENING THE WEEK BEFORE CHRISTMAS.

HEADQUARTERS

Rubbers - Arctics - Rubber Boots

Adams Building, GEORGE W. JONES Quincy, Mass.

Household Receipts.

Caramels. One and a half pounds of sugar, one cup of cream, one tablespoonful of butter, half a cake of Baker's chocolate. Mix altogether in a steapen and let it cook, stirring frequently until done. You can find this out by dropping a little in a tumbler of water—if done, it hardens at once. Just before pouring it out of the pan flavor it with vanilla or lemon. Pour into a buttered dish, and before it gets perfectly cold cut into squares, by running a knife up and down the dish, about an inch big. It will break nicely when cold.

Plain Pastry. Four cups of sifted flour, one cup of butter, a pinch of salt three heaping tablespoons of granulated sugar, two tablespoons of lemon juice, four tablespoons of ice water and the yolks of two eggs. This quantity will make two pies. Rub the butter, flour, salt and sugar together thoroughly, then add the yolks of eggs, lemon juice and water and work all together into a paste. Put the dough on a pastry board, divide it in four equal parts, roll each part the size required for the pie plates.

Fig Cream Candy. Ingredients: Two medium-sized cups of granulated sugar, half a cup of hot water, one teaspoonful of vanilla extract and half a cup of chopped figs. Strain the sugar into the hot water, put it on the stove and watch until the mixture boils, then let it boil rapidly for three minutes. Remove from the fire, add the vanilla, and beat several minutes, or until it is creamy. Rub the pieces of fig in powdered sugar, shaking off the surplus, and whip these into the cream. Form into balls and put on waxed or greased paper to cool. These will be best sticky to handle if rolled in powdered sugar before they have thoroughly hardened.

Cream Cake. Beat the yolks and whites of three eggs separately. To the yolks add one cup of sugar and three tablespoons of cream. With one cup of pastry flour mix a generous teaspoonful of baking powder. Add the beaten whites, then the flour and mix well. Flavor with vanilla and stir in lightly the remaining whites. Bake in two layers. It is important to have everything at hand so that the cake may be made quickly, else the whites may fall before it reaches the oven. When cold add the following:

Filling. Whip half a pint of thick cream, still stiff, sweeten and flavor delicately and spread between the layers and on top. In case the cream should not thicken well, add a tablespoonful of gelatine soaked in a little cold water, and dissolve over the steam of the boiling tea kettle. In warm weather it is well to chill the cream thoroughly before attempting to whip it.

A Blue Hill Balloon.

In the Star of Mattoon, Ill., we find the following dispatch.
Singer, Ill., Dec. 6.—Barney Nuxall, a farmer living two miles south of here was a much easier man this afternoon when he spied a queer, balloon-shaped apparition come slowly floating over his place. He was still more surprised when it began to descend and finally collapsed in the aerial near his home.

He ran to the aerial visitor and found that it was a small airship of splendid workmanship. Inside of the car attached to the balloon he discovered an envelope containing a letter which stated that the airship had been sailed from Blue Hill observatory, Readville, Mass., Dec. 1, 1904. The finder was directed to convey the airship to the nearest express station, have it consigned to the observatory and he would receive a reward for his trouble.

Mr. Nuxall loaded the airship in his wagon and hauled it to this place. It was placed in charge of Mr. McCormick, an American express agent, who forwarded it to Readville.

Inquiry at the Blue Hill observatory revealed the fact that the airship arrived safely on Saturday. The observer is sorry to spoil a good story, but he tells the Patriot that it was a balloon and not an airship, and that the start was made from the World's Fair grounds at St. Louis and not from the Blue Hill observatory. The date was Dec. 1, but the distance was 200 to 300 miles instead of 1,000 miles.

For several days in September and also during the latter part of November one of these balloons was sent up daily by the Blue Hill observatory from the World's Fair grounds. Some attained an altitude of ten miles, and one was found in Kentucky, over 300 miles distant.

The experiments were very successful and a record of the temperature was obtained. It was the last balloon sent up on Dec. 1 that reached Sigel, and the World's Fair closing the day before, orders were given to the funder to forward it to Readville, Mass.

The balloon was not as costly as the Illinois paper reported, the whole outfit being valued at $20. The reward was promptly forwarded as agreed.

Basket Ball.

At Braintree on Saturday the Thayer Academy basketball team was defeated by the Mohawks of Brockton 23 to 11.

Think it Over.

By our Cash Sale Check Profit Sharing system, we give every customer the opportunity of receiving their money back for all purchases made on one day each month. You buy your Holiday Gifts of us with the chance of getting your money all back the first of the following month.

Think it Over.

SAVE OUR CASH SALE CHECKS. THEY ARE VALUABLE.
COME TO US FOR LOW PRICES AND HIGH QUALITY.
OPEN EVERY EVENING THE WEEK BEFORE CHRISTMAS.

HEADQUARTERS

Rubbers - Arctics - Rubber Boots

Adams Building, GEORGE W. JONES Quincy, Mass.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

Hollis Street Theatre.

The farewell week of the Southern-Marlowe combination at the Hollis Street Theatre, which is the very great success, will close, owing to engagements elsewhere, with the week beginning Dec. 19th, when the repertoire will be presented in the following order: "Romeo and Juliet," Monday, Tuesday and Friday evening, and Saturday matinee; "Much Ado About Nothing," Wednesday evening; for the special Wednesday matinee and Thursday and Saturday evenings. The extra matinee, Wednesday, will be given in response to repeated requests from patrons in the city and its environs, thus to so many being disappointed in not getting seats for the Saturday matinee. Charles Frohman's just entitled to the gratitude of the thespian public for his enterprise and liberality in organizing a combination of stars so distinguished and with such excellent support and sumptuous settings to play the "School for Scandal." This play has not been seen in Boston since its production at the Castle Square three years ago and the changes that have occurred in the company will bring forward almost an entirely new cast of the well known characters in the production of next week. Much interest will be felt by the Castle Square patrons in the first appearance here of Lillian Kemble as Lady Teazle. The character of this sweet rural English girl will afford Miss Kemble a splendid opportunity to display her abilities in an impersonation that has led to the dramatic skill of the great artists for generations. The School for Scandal is announced for only a single week and the usual distribution of souvenir boxes of bouquets will be made at the Monday matinee.

Castle Square Theatre.

Another interesting revival is announced at the Castle Square theatre next week, plans having been made by the new management of this playhouse to present Sheridan's glittering comedy "The School for Scandal." This play has not been seen in Boston since its production at the Castle Square three years ago and the changes that have occurred in the company will bring forward almost an entirely new cast of the well known characters in the production of next week. Much interest will be felt by the Castle Square patrons in the first appearance here of Lillian Kemble as Lady Teazle. The character of this sweet rural English girl will afford Miss Kemble a splendid opportunity to display her abilities in an impersonation that has led to the dramatic skill of the great artists for generations. The School for Scandal is announced for only a single week and the usual distribution of souvenir boxes of bouquets will be made at the Monday matinee.

Tremont Theatre.

George Ade's quaint comedy, "The County Chairman," which is offered by Henry W. Savage at the Tremont theatre, is pronounced by the most laughable of the city. Mr. Ade has gravitated from comic opera into straight comedy, and has pictured the spectacular features of a political campaign in the middle West in most graphic fashion. He has taken for his scene of action the little village and county seat of a rural community and framed his story out of the local interests and prejudices. It is enough to add that laughter is the key note of the success of "The County Chairman," although the humorous episodes are "labeled" by a wholesome story of romance and sentiment. The central figure in "The County Chairman" is the politician of the district, Jim Hinkle, who is nominated for office by a lawyer partner, Clifford Wheeler, a manly young fellow. The opposing candidate for prosecuting attorney is Judge Rigby, a close fisted, and he is the hero of the campaign. The play brings about an estrangement of young Wheeler and the Judge's daughter, who have been secretly betrothed prior to the beginning of the campaign.

Leap year has almost passed but nevertheless it would be well for ambitious girls to remember that a victory is often won when defeat seems certain.

A GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILLS.
Liching, skin, itching or itching. Dr. J. C. Woodbury's PILLS cure any case, no matter how long standing, in ten days. First application cures the case and rest. 50c. If your druggist hasn't it send 50c. in stamps and it will be forwarded postpaid by Dr. J. C. Woodbury, St. Louis, Mo.

10 cts. a copy. $1.00 a year.

McCLURE'S MAGAZINE

is "the cleanest, most stimulating, mestest general magazine for the family, says one of the million who read it every month. It is without question

"The Best at Any Price"

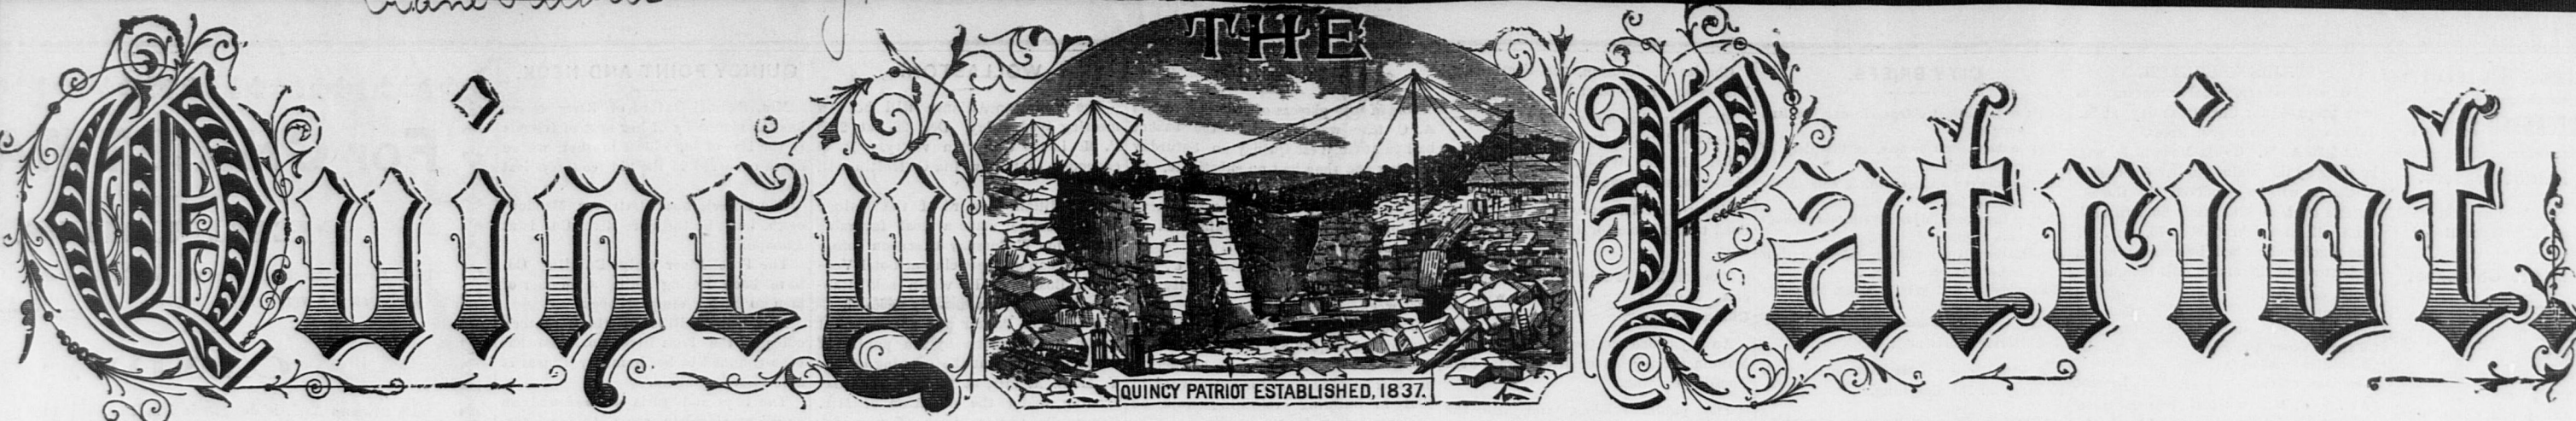

Great features are promised for next year—six or more wholesome, interesting short stories in every number, continued stories, beautiful pictures in color, and articles by famous writers as Mrs. M. T. Webb, Lincoln Steffens, Ray Stannard Baker, John A. Farge, William Allen White, and Charles W. Johnson. Get all of it right into your home by ordering this

Special offer
Send $1.00 before January 31, 1905, for a subscription for the year and we will send you free the November and December numbers of 1904—fourteen months for $1.00 or the price of twelve. Address McCLURE'S, 45-49 East 23d Street, New York City. Write for agents' terms.

Dec 17. 2w

ILLS OF CHILDHOOD

Liver, stomach and bowel complaints, indigestion, biliousness, the irritating

QUINCY PATRIOT ESTABLISHED 1837

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1904.

VOL. 68, NO. 52.

FIVE CENTS PER COPY; $2.50 PER YEAR.

The Quincy Patriot,
Established in 1837.
PUBLISHED SATURDAY MORNING BY
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON,
OFFICE, No. 142 HANCOCK STREET.
Subscription Price, $2.50 per Year.
A reduction of fifty cents will be made when paid in advance.

Quincy Daily Ledger,
The ONLY DAILY in the ONLY CITY in Norfolk County. Established in 1889.
Subscription Price, $6.00 per Year.
A reduction of $1 will be made when paid in advance.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF THE
Braintree Observer
A Weekly Established in 1878

H. T. WHITMAN,
Civil Engineer

SURVEYOR.
ADAMS BUILDING, - QUINCY
Boston Office, 85 Devonshire street
Hours, 12 to 2 P. M.

M. B. Plans of nearly all the Real Estate in the City of Quincy can be found at my office. Telephone connection.
May 28.

C. H. TOWER,
UPHOLSTERER.

CARPETS taken up, Cleaned and Repaired
FURNITURE Upholstered and Repaired.

HAIR MATTRESSES made over and made to order.
Full line of latest coverings to select from.
Send postal or telephone for estimates.
Telephone, 64-Quincy.

Address 181 Howard street, Quincy Point.
August 10.

W. E. BROWN,
UNDERTAKER,

Office and residence, corner of Canal and Mechanic streets.
Quincy, Feb. 6.

DAVID BROWN,
HORSE SHOEING,

Carriage Work and General Jobbing.
WILKINSON STREET - WOLLASTON.
Nov. 9.

WILLIAM PARKER & SON,
Carpenters and Builders.

Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
JOHNSON PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
HANCOCK COURT, - QUINCY, MASS.

IRA LITCHFIELD,
CARPENTER and BUILDER,

PEARL STREET,
SOUTH QUINCY.

JULIUS JOHNSON,
Carpenter, * Contractor

BUILDER.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
Solving promptly attended to.
NO. 64 CENTRE ST., QUINCY, MASS.

June 19.

JOHN W. McANARNEY,
COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW,

ROOM 1, DUNN & MERRILL'S BLOCK,
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.

J. E. KENILEY & CO.,
PLUMBERS.

All orders promptly attended to at reasonable prices. Satisfaction guaranteed.
NO. 9 TEMPLE STREET, QUINCY.
Jan. 6.

DR. C. T. SHERMAN
DENTIST.

Hancock Building, over W. G. Shaw's store,
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY.

Office Hours, 8 to 12, 1 to 5.
Residence, Greenleaf street.

DR. FENIMORE S. ANDREWS,
DENTIST.

67 Franklin St., Cor. Water St.,
PINK BLOCK, QUINCY ADAMS.

Office Hours, - 9 to 12; 2 to 5.
Telephone number, 146-2.

ABBOTT & MILLER'S
HOUGHES NECK.

QUINCY AND BOSTON EXPRESS.
G. M. MILLER, General Manager.

Furniture Packed.
Office, 64 Washington Street.
Quincy P. O. address, Lock Box 3.
Telephone Connections.

INSURANCE AGENCY.

ESTABLISHED in Quincy in the year 1849 by
W. PORTER.
Insurance effected in reliable and safe Stock and Mutual offices.

By W. PORTER & CO.,
At No. 52 Water Street, Boston.
Residence, Hancock street, Quincy.

QUINCY Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

INCORPORATED in 1851.
COMMENCED BUSINESS in 1852
CHAS. A. BOWLAND, President.
WILLIAM H. FAY, Secretary.
C. A. BOWLAND, Jr., Asst. Sec.

CASH FUND January 1, 1904
$705,963.30
SURPLUS over Re-Insurance, $455,776.74
LOSSES paid the past year, $42,201.94
DIVIDENDS PAID the past year, $66,032.42
GAIN IN SURPLUS the past year, $12,983.04
GAIN IN CASH FUND the past year, $20,297.34
AND EVERY LOSS PAID IN FULL.

AMOUNT AT RISK, $32,556,226.01
TOTAL LIABILITIES, $250,166.50
Dividends Paid on Every Expiring Policy, 50 per cent. on 5 years, 40 per cent. on 3 years and 20 per cent. on all others.
Quincy, Mass., 1904.

DORCHESTER Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
Boston, Mass.

INCORPORATED 1855.
FORTY-NINTH ANNUAL STATEMENT JANUARY 1, 1904.

Amount at Risk, $34,712,920.49
Cash Assets, $72,389.14
Deposits, $60,044.45
Available Assets, $1,042,040.57
Total Liabilities, $1,042,040.57
Cash Surplus, $161,697.31
Gain in Surplus in 1903, $1,389.25
Gain in Assets in 1903, $2,986.45
Losses paid in 1903, $2,704.06
Dividends paid in 1903, $2,986.45
Receipts in 1903, $216,532.4
Disbursements in 1903, $187,657.05
This Company now pays the following Dividends:
On five-year Policies - 50 per cent.
On three-year Policies - 40 per cent.
On one-year Policies - 20 per cent.
All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

THOS. P. TEMPLE,
President and Treasurer
W. D. C. CURTIS, Secretary
Residence, 101 Devonshire Street, Boston.
W. D. C. CURTIS, Secretary
Residence, 101 Devonshire Street, Boston.
W. D. C. CURTIS, Secretary
Residence, 101 Devonshire Street, Boston.
W. D. C. CURTIS, Secretary
Residence, 101 Devonshire Street, Boston.

ETNA Insurance Co.,
HARTFORD, CONN.

Incorporated 1819. Charter Perpetual.
Losses Paid in 85 Years, $96,928,199.96

JANUARY 1, 1904.
Cash Capital, $4,000,000.00
Reserve for Re-Insurance (Fire), $4,291,500.00
Reserve for Unpaid Losses (Fire), $95,488.24
Reserve for Other Claims, $1,128.60
Net Surplus, $6,960,737.1
Total Assets, $10,150,888.10

John Hardwick & Co.,
45 Granite street,
Agents for Quincy.

Incorporated 1825.
Norfolk Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
DEDHAM, MASS.

STATEMENT, JANUARY 1, 1904.
Amount at Risk, $24,184,554.84
Cash Assets, $46,230.13
Total Liabilities, including re-insurance, $187,897.32

Amount of Cash Surplus, $468,332.81
Contingent Assets, $46,230.13
Total Available Assets, $514,562.94
Dividends are now being paid on five-year policies, 70 per cent.; on three-year policies, 50 per cent.; on one and two-year policies, 25 per cent.

J. WHITE BELCHER, Pres. and Treas.
JAMES Y. NOYES, Secretary
DIRECTORS: - J. White Belcher, Randolph Howard Colburn, Dedham; Tyler Taylor Newcomb, A. B. Endicott, Dedham; S. S. Gannett, Milton; Stephen M. Weld, Dedham; Thomas B. Draper, Canton; F. B. Lincoln, Brookline; James Hewins, Medford. GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent for Quincy.

Incorporated 1837.
Dedham Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
DEDHAM, MASS.

STATEMENT JANUARY 1, 1904.
Amount at Risk, $6,919,411.25
Cash Assets, $1,016,040.08
Total Liabilities, including re-insurance, $9,206.22

Amount of Cash Surplus, $101,795.22
Contingent Assets, $1,016,040.08
Total Available Assets, $1,117,835.30
Dividends are now being paid on five-year policies, 70 per cent.; on three-year policies, 50 per cent.; on one and two-year policies, 25 per cent.

J. WHITE BELCHER, President.
HOWARD COLBURN, Treasurer.
JAMES Y. NOYES, Secretary.
DIRECTORS: - Howard Colburn, Dedham; Don Gleason Hill, Dedham; J. White Belcher, Dedham; A. B. Endicott, Dedham; S. S. Gannett, Milton; Stephen M. Weld, Dedham; Thomas B. Draper, Canton; F. B. Lincoln, Brookline; James Hewins, Medford. GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent for Quincy.

Incorporated 1837.
Dedham Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
DEDHAM, MASS.

STATEMENT JANUARY 1, 1904.
Amount at Risk, $6,919,411.25
Cash Assets, $1,016,040.08
Total Liabilities, including re-insurance, $9,206.22

Amount of Cash Surplus, $101,795.22
Contingent Assets, $1,016,040.08
Total Available Assets, $1,117,835.30
Dividends are now being paid on five-year policies, 70 per cent.; on three-year policies, 50 per cent.; on one and two-year policies, 25 per cent.

J. WHITE BELCHER, President.
HOWARD COLBURN, Treasurer.
JAMES Y. NOYES, Secretary.
DIRECTORS: - Howard Colburn, Dedham; Don Gleason Hill, Dedham; J. White Belcher, Dedham; A. B. Endicott, Dedham; S. S. Gannett, Milton; Stephen M. Weld, Dedham; Thomas B. Draper, Canton; F. B. Lincoln, Brookline; James Hewins, Medford. GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent for Quincy.

Incorporated 1837.
Dedham Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
DEDHAM, MASS.

STATEMENT JANUARY 1, 1904.
Amount at Risk, $6,919,411.25
Cash Assets, $1,016,040.08
Total Liabilities, including re-insurance, $9,206.22

Amount of Cash Surplus, $101,795.22
Contingent Assets, $1,016,040.08
Total Available Assets, $1,117,835.30
Dividends are now being paid on five-year policies, 70 per cent.; on three-year policies, 50 per cent.; on one and two-year policies, 25 per cent.

J. WHITE BELCHER, President.
HOWARD COLBURN, Treasurer.
JAMES Y. NOYES, Secretary.
DIRECTORS: - Howard Colburn, Dedham; Don Gleason Hill, Dedham; J. White Belcher, Dedham; A. B. Endicott, Dedham; S. S. Gannett, Milton; Stephen M. Weld, Dedham; Thomas B. Draper, Canton; F. B. Lincoln, Brookline; James Hewins, Medford. GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent for Quincy.

Incorporated 1837.
Dedham Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
DEDHAM, MASS.

STATEMENT JANUARY 1, 1904.
Amount at Risk, $6,919,411.25
Cash Assets, $1,016,040.08
Total Liabilities, including re-insurance, $9,206.22

Amount of Cash Surplus, $101,795.22
Contingent Assets, $1,016,040.08
Total Available Assets, $1,117,835.30
Dividends are now being paid on five-year policies, 70 per cent.; on three-year policies, 50 per cent.; on one and two-year policies, 25 per cent.

J. WHITE BELCHER, President.
HOWARD COLBURN, Treasurer.
JAMES Y. NOYES, Secretary.
DIRECTORS: - Howard Colburn, Dedham; Don Gleason Hill, Dedham; J. White Belcher, Dedham; A. B. Endicott, Dedham; S. S. Gannett, Milton; Stephen M. Weld, Dedham; Thomas B. Draper, Canton; F. B. Lincoln, Brookline; James Hewins, Medford. GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent for Quincy.

Incorporated 1837.
Dedham Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
DEDHAM, MASS.

STATEMENT JANUARY 1, 1904.
Amount at Risk, $6,919,411.25
Cash Assets, $1,016,040.08
Total Liabilities, including re-insurance, $9,206.22

Amount of Cash Surplus, $101,795.22
Contingent Assets, $1,016,040.08
Total Available Assets, $1,117,835.30
Dividends are now being paid on five-year policies, 70 per cent.; on three-year policies, 50 per cent.; on one and two-year policies, 25 per cent.

J. WHITE BELCHER, President.
HOWARD COLBURN, Treasurer.
JAMES Y. NOYES, Secretary.
DIRECTORS: - Howard Colburn, Dedham; Don Gleason Hill, Dedham; J. White Belcher, Dedham; A. B. Endicott, Dedham; S. S. Gannett, Milton; Stephen M. Weld, Dedham; Thomas B. Draper, Canton; F. B. Lincoln, Brookline; James Hewins, Medford. GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent for Quincy.

Incorporated 1837.
Dedham Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
DEDHAM, MASS.

STATEMENT JANUARY 1, 1904.
Amount at Risk, $6,919,411.25
Cash Assets, $1,016,040.08
Total Liabilities, including re-insurance, $9,206.22

Amount of Cash Surplus, $101,795.22
Contingent Assets, $1,016,040.08
Total Available Assets, $1,117,835.30
Dividends are now being paid on five-year policies, 70 per cent.; on three-year policies, 50 per cent.; on one and two-year policies, 25 per cent.

J. WHITE BELCHER, President.
HOWARD COLBURN, Treasurer.
JAMES Y. NOYES, Secretary.
DIRECTORS: - Howard Colburn, Dedham; Don Gleason Hill, Dedham; J. White Belcher, Dedham; A. B. Endicott, Dedham; S. S. Gannett, Milton; Stephen M. Weld, Dedham; Thomas B. Draper, Canton; F. B. Lincoln, Brookline; James Hewins, Medford. GEORGE H. FIELD, Agent for Quincy.

Incorporated 1837.
Dedham Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
DEDHAM, MASS.

STATEMENT JANUARY 1, 1904.
Amount at Risk, $6,919,411.25
Cash Assets, $1,016,040.08
Total Liabilities, including re-insurance, $9,206.22

WALTER M. HATCH & CO.

ARE OFFERING
A. A. VANTINE & CO.'S
Entire Sample Line of Over
Five Thousand Pieces
No two alike

OF RARE, UNIQUE, Dainty
Japanese Objects of Art
And Articles of Utility in
CLOISSONNE SATSUMA IVORY
BRONZE LACQUER CHINA

AT HALF PRICE
Cloisettes
25c to $50

Beautifully Decorated
China
25c to $50

With plenty to choose from at
$1, $2, $3, $4, $5
And upwards.

It is a physical impossibility for us, with our limited space of five floors, to hold and display this wonderful collection at regular prices.

WE MUST SELL IT AT ONCE
No other store offers such values. No other store offers such a varied stock of goods from the land of the Mikado. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity to pick up your

CHRISTMAS GIFTS AT HALF PRICE
WALTER M. HATCH & CO.,
45 Summer St.
Boston, Dec. 10.

SHINGLES.
CYPRESS, EASTERN and WESTERN CEDAR,
-- ALSO --
OTHER ROOFING MATERIAL.

LUMBER OF ALL KINDS.
THE A. T. STEARNS LUMBER COMPANY.
(ESTABLISHED 1849).
Main Office, Mills and Wharves at Neponset,
Quincy, Mass., 106 Devonshire Street, and 19 Federal Street,
Haymarket Square Salesroom, 1 Southbury Street, corner Merrimac Street, BOSTON.

Our Plumbing, Heating, and Gas Fitting Work
With that of Others
And you will soon see why it is wise to have us do your work. Our prices are low for the right kind of work.

We do not claim perfection, but we do stand back of our work and we are ready to make any defective workmanship or material good.

We Aim to Please.
W. A. BRADFORD,
PLUMBING, HEATING AND GAS FITTING
Telephone 111-3.
Dec-6, 1904.
OPEN MONDAY AND SATURDAY EVENINGS.
Bank Building, Quincy, Mass.

NOTICE.
To my Friends and Public generally:
Having associated myself with Mr. W. G. Shaw, in his new store in City Square, would be pleased to see you and show you a nice and large line of HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS. Having had a long experience and with the Grand Assortment of Goods at my command, I feel confident of pleasing you.
Thankful for past favors and hoping for a continuance of the same.
I am very truly yours,
C. E. WOODBURY.
Quincy, March 1st, 1901.

Poetry.

Christmas Eve.
LILLIAN GREY.

"Our hearts to-night glow glad and light,
Forgetting all our sorrow,
For 'tis the birth of Christ our Lord,
We celebrate to-morrow.
Some nameless charm is in the air,
The bells will soon be ringing,
And all the singing of the year
Be merged in happy singing.

O blessed land of Palestine!
To these eyes are turning,
As if to see its towers,
And clouds of incense hailing,
O happy land of Palestine!
His birthplace, and His cradle,
The scene of all His loving life,
More strange than Easter tale.

O Bethlehem's star, gleam forth to-night!
O angels, 'mid the stars,
O friends, 'mid the stars,
He led the fath' 's glory!
He brings us peace and all good will,
We hail Him Lord and Master,
So let our hearts glad anthems raise,
And ring the joy bells faster!

Miscellany.
A CHRISTMAS STORY.

One bright afternoon, a few days before Christmas, Max Brown hurried home from school. His clear, gray eyes were sparkling, and the big dimple in his rosy cheek kept coming and going as he smiled at some pleasant thought. It was nearly a quarter of a mile from the brick schoolhouse to his mother's cottage on the edge of the town, but the snow was packed hard, and his sturdy legs were used to running the whole distance. So it was but a few moments before he burst into the cozy sitting-room, pulling off cap, mittens and coat, and throwing them on the floor.

"Gently, Max, gently," said Mrs. Brown, looking up from her sewing with a smile of welcome.
"Oh, mother, I'm too happy to think of manners this time," he cried, laughing, as he stepped back to shut the door. "I met Mr. Harris on my way to school this noon, and he paid me the milk money he has owed us so long, and which we never expected to get. Four dollars and twenty-five cents! See! Isn't it good to look at? And now, mother, we can buy the sled for Jamie and the doll for Helen, can't we? And they won't have to go without some candy in their stockings Christmas morning. I tell you it was hard work to stay in school all the afternoon and work out fractions when I just asked to come home and let you know, but I managed to stick it out by keeping my hand in my pocket, feeling of the money. Aren't you glad, mother? Why don't you say something?"

A dimple to match his own came into his mother's cheek. She smiled in such a significant way that Max laughed merrily.
"Oh, I see! Well, you shall have a chance now. Wasn't it fine of Mr. Harris to remember to pay us just before Christmas?"

Mrs. Brown thought of a boy who had been obliged to go several weeks without warm stockings because of Mr. Harris' careless delay in settling his small account. But she did not cloud the boy's joy by alluding to it then.
"Yes, Max, I am truly glad that the money came in at this time."

"Can't we go down town now and get the things, mother?" was his next question. "The children are cooing down East Hill, and won't be home until dark."

His mother glanced at the sun, "wading through snow" far down the western sky, and then at the work on her lap.
"I must send this dress home to-night, Max. I have promised it. To-morrow I shall be busy every minute, but Saturday morning, the first thing after breakfast, we will go."

Max could not help feeling and looking disappointed, but he said, quite cheerfully:
"All right, mother. I'll put the money in your trunk."

As he came out of the bedroom and started to attend to his nightly chores, Mrs. Brown said:
"How was it with you and Phil to-day, my son?"

"Oh, he was just as mean as ever," replied Max, in a tone of disgust.
"And you?"

"I—I—mother! There's no use trying to be nice to him. Some people are so horrid and sneaky that they ought not to be treated decently, and Phil Carter is one of them!"

The boy spoke with an angry vehemence that shocked his mother.
"Max!"

"Well, I can't help it; it's true, mother. I've never told you half the mean things he's done, and he's sharp enough to get somebody else blamed. He bullies the little boys, and he cheats in lessons, and—"

"That will do, my son," said Mrs. Brown, gravely. "I'd rather hear what Maxwell Brown does to help this poor boy overcome his faults."

Max flushed up.
"It's easy enough for you to sit here at home and think of making Phil Carter a good boy, but if you were at school with him every day you'd soon find out, just as I have, that it isn't any use. I—I don't believe even you could be patient with him if you were a boy. I don't want to hear of your opinion, given with so much decision, and Max ran off, glad to be rid of the hateful subject of Phil Carter."

The next afternoon, the sitting-room door was again burst open, and Max rushed in. This time there was no rancor in the clear, gray eyes, no smile on his lips. He threw himself on the lounge, hiding his face in his cushions, and shaking it with heavy sobs.
"Why, Max, my dear boy, what is it?" cried his mother, alarmed.
"What has happened?"

She knelt beside him with her hand on his thick, curly hair.
"I've got to—to take all the money to pay for a broken window," he burst out, and then he sobbed harder than ever.

"Mrs. Brown put both arms around him and drew his head close to her breast for a moment.
"Now tell mother all about it," she said.

In a short time he quieted down enough to do so as follows:
"After school, all of us boys went over to Pond Common to have a snow-bail match with the boys from No. 8 school. We beat them, and on the way home we were throwing some balls at each other just for fun. All at a sudden, there was a great crash of broken glass, and the first thing I knew the boys had run away, and I was left with a broken window."

"Here, you young rascal," he said, "my master wants you," and he began to pull me along.

"I held back as hard as I could. 'I didn't do it!' I cried, getting angrier every minute. 'Let me go!'"

"But he was as strong as an ox, and I couldn't get away. We went up the steps of one of those fine houses in Totten street, those old houses, you know, with big yards, where rich people live, and into a beautiful room. There were lots of pictures and books, and a bright fire on the hearth. I noticed all this before I saw an old gentleman standing by the window."

"Here he is," said the man who still had me by the arm.
"You may go, James."

"The old gentleman stood with his arms folded like the picture of Napoleon Bonaparte. His eyes were very blue, and as keen as swords. He was tall and straight and splendid looking. At last he said—

"Did you break my window?"
"No, sir, I'm sure I did not. I wasn't throwing this way," I said.

"What is your name?" he asked me.
"When I answered 'Maxwell Hugo Brown,' such a strange thing happened. He got as white as anything, and his eyes were all watery. He put his hand under my chin and looked at me ever so long. Then he drew a great, deep breath and stood up very straight and asked me where I lived and all about you and everything. And then he wanted to know about the snowball and I told him I knew I didn't break the window, because I was throwing soft snow at Billy Fenn on the other side of the street, and what do you suppose he said?"

"I know you didn't do it. I saw the boy who threw the ball, and I saw you to tell me his name. He was a tall boy, with a black cap and a green coat."

"I knew in a minute, then, that it was Phil Carter, and I remembered like a flash hearing him dare Tom Scott to smash 'Richie's' window. The old gentleman asked me again to tell him the name of the boy, and I said that I could not. Then he wanted to know the reason, and I didn't tell him that either. He seemed to get very vexed then, and said that I must bring him the money for the window by Saturday night, and that it would be five dollars. I'll have to pay it all, for my crowd of boys, except Billy, had left us at the corner, and Phil's crowd are no good. Besides, I couldn't ask them for it, but isn't it hard?"

"Did the old gentleman tell you his name, Max?" asked his mother in such a strange voice that he looked at her quickly.
"No, but I know his house, and I'd know him, too, anywhere."

"Perhaps if you tell him that you know the money so much for the children's Christmas, he will let you earn another five dollars during vacation."

Max sprang up in delight at this suggestion.
"I never thought of that! I'll go over there the first thing after breakfast. Oh, if he only would! Mother, you're a splendid comforter!"

Bright and early the next morning, Max, with the precious five dollars tucked carefully away in his jacket pocket, presented himself at the fine house in Totten street. Cap in hand, his boyish face flushed and eager, he stood before the old gentleman and made his request. A few questions brought out the whole story of the delayed milk bill, the barren Christmas in prospect for the children, the joy at the receipt of the money, the bitter disappointment which would be occasioned by its loss.

"Where is your father?" asked the old gentleman, sharply.
"He died out west four years ago, sir."

"Why did you come back here?"
"Mamma came here because papa I've been when he was a boy, and he always said the schools were so good."

"Do you know anything of your grandparents?"
"Mother's father and mother both died long ago. I don't know about my father's," answered Max.

"Have you the money with you?"
"Yes, sir," said Max, his voice faltering. "Could it be that he would pay it after all? He made one more appeal."

"Oh, sir, couldn't you please let me work till just after the holidays? I will work so hard every day. I'm sure I can earn it. You don't know how I want to get the things for Jamie and our little sister."

"You might have told me who broke the window.

The QuinCY Patriot

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1904.

VOL. 68, NO. 53.

FIVE CENTS PER COPY; $2.50 PER YEAR.

The Quincy Patriot,
Established in 1837.
PUBLISHED SATURDAY MORNING BY
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON,
OFFICE, No. 142A HANCOCK STREET.
Subscription Price, $2.50 per Year.
A reduction of fifty cents will be made for cash payment in advance.

Quincy Daily Ledger,
The ONLY DAILY in the ONLY CITY in Norfolk
County. Established in 1889.
Subscription Price, $6.00 per Year.
A reduction of $1 will be made when paid
in advance.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF THE
Braintree Observer
A Weekly Established in 1878

H. T. WHITMAN,
Civil Engineer
—AND—
SURVEYOR.
ADAMS BUILDING, - QUINCY
Boston Office, 85 Devonshire street
Hours, 10 to 2 P. M.
N. B. Plans of nearly all the Real Estate
in the City of Quincy can be found at my office. Telephone connections.

DAVID BROWN,
HORSE SHOEING,
Carriage Work and General Jobbing.
WILKINSON STREET, - WOLLASTON,
Nor. 9.

WILLIAM PARKER & SON,
Carpenters and Builders.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
JOBBER PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
HANCOCK COURT, - QUINCY, MASS.

IRA LITCHFIELD,
CARPENTER and BUILDER,
PEARL STREET,
SOUTH QUINCY.

JULIUS JOHNSON,
Carpenter, * Contractor
—AND—
BUILDER.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
NO. 64 CENTRE ST., QUINCY, MASS.
Telephone, 69-2

JOHN W. MCANARNEY,
COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW,
BOOK 1, DUNN & MERRILL'S BLOCK,
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.

J. E. KENILEY & CO.,
PLUMBERS.
All orders promptly attended to at reasonable prices. Satisfaction guaranteed.
NO. 9 TEMPLE STREET, QUINCY.
Jan. 6.

DR. C. T. SHERMAN
DENTIST.
Hancock Building, over W. G. Shaw's store,
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY.
Office Hours, 9 to 12, 1 to 6.
Residence, Greenleaf street.

DR. FENIMORE S. ANDREWS,
DENTIST.
67 Franklin St., Cor. Water St.
FINKEL BLOCK, QUINCY ADAMS.
Office Hours, 9 to 12; 2 to 6.
Telephone number, 146-2.
Aug. 10.

W. E. BROWN,
UNDERTAKER.
Office and residence, corner of Canal and Hammond streets, Quincy, Feb. 6.

ABBOTT & MILLER'S
HUGHES NECK,
QUINCY AND BOSTON EXPRESS.
G. M. MILLER, General Manager.

Furniture Packed.
Office, 64 Washington Street.
Quincy P. O. address, Lock Box 3.
Telephone Connections.

O. H. TOWER,
UPHOLSTERER.
CARPETS taken up, Cleaned and Repaired.
FURNITURE Upholstered and Repaired.
HAIR MATTRESSES made over and
made to order.
Full line of latest coverings to select from.
Send postal or telephone for estimates.
Telephone, 64-4 Quincy.
Address 181 Howard street, Quincy Point.
August 20.

DORCHESTER
Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
Boston, Mass.
INCORPORATED 1855.
FORTY-NINTH ANNUAL STATEMENT
JANUARY 1, 1904.

Amount at Risk $34,120,000.00
Cash Assets $72,250.14
Deposits $24,644.42
Total Assets $1,020,000.00
Total Liabilities $1,020,000.00
Gain in Surplus in 1903 $389.20
Gain in Assets in 1903 $2,389.44
Losses paid in 1903 $2,704.46
Dividends paid in 1903 $9,000.00
Receipts in 1903 $2,632.90
Disbursements in 1903 $1,671.63
This Company now pays the following rates:
On five-year Policies - 60 per cent.
On three-year Policies - 50 per cent.
On one-year Policies - 40 per cent.
All losses promptly adjusted and paid.
THOS. F. TEMPLE,
President and Treasurer

ETNA Insurance Co.,
HARTFORD, CONN.
Incorporated 1819. Charter Perpetual
Losses Paid in 85 Years, $96,328,139.96
JANUARY 1, 1904.

Cash Capital, $4,000,000.00
Reserve for Re-insurance (Fire) $2,100,000.00
Reserve for Unpaid Losses (Fire) $58,488.24
Total Assets $6,158,488.24
Total Liabilities $6,158,488.24
John Hardwick & Co.,
45 Granite street,
Agents for Quincy.

Norfolk Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
DEDHAM, MASS.
STATEMENT, JANUARY 1, 1904.

Amount at Risk, $24,184,54.84
Cash Assets, $64,230.13
Total Assets, $187,897.32
Amount of Cash Surplus, $458,332.81
Contingent Assets, $46,523.48
Total Available Assets, $504,856.29
Dividends are now being paid on five-year
policies, 70 per cent.; on three-year policies, 50 per cent.; on one and two-year policies, 20 per cent.

INCORPORATED 1837.
Dedham Mutual Fire Ins. Co.
DEDHAM, MASS.
STATEMENT, JANUARY 1, 1904.

Amount at Risk, $6,915,941.26
Cash Assets, $1,019,008.00
Total Assets, $7,934,949.26
Amount of Cash Surplus, $1,017,786.22
Contingent Assets, $108,428.43
Total Available Assets, $1,126,214.65
Dividends are now being paid on five-year
policies, 70 per cent.; on three-year policies, 50 per cent.; on one and two-year policies, 20 per cent.

QUINCY
Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
INCORPORATED IN 1851.
COMMENCED BUSINESS IN 1852
CHAS. A. HOWLAND, President.
WILLIAM H. FAY, Secretary.
C. A. HOWLAND, Jr., Asst. Sec.

CASH FUND JANUARY 1, 1904.
SURPLUS over Re-Insurance, $705,963.30
LOSSES paid the past year, $455,776.74
DIVIDENDS PAID the past year, $42,201.94
GAIN IN SURPLUS the past year, $66,032.42
GAIN IN CASH FUND the past year, $12,983.04
AND EVERY LOSS PAID IN FULL.

AMOUNT AT RISK, $32,556,226.06
TOTAL LIABILITIES, $25,016,656.56
Dividends Paid on Every Expiring Policy:
60 per cent. on 5 years, 40 per cent. on 3 years
and 20 per cent. on all others.
Quincy, Mass., 1904.

INSURANCE AGENCY.
ESTABLISHED in Quincy in the year
1849 by
W. PORTER.
Insurance effected in reliable and safe
Stock and Mutual offices.
By W. PORTER & CO.,
At No. 82 Water street, Boston.
Residence, Hancock street, Quincy.

Granite Firms.
MILNE & CHALMERS,
Monumental and Cemetery Work of every description. Works near Quincy Adams, Depo.
P. O. address, Quincy, Mass. Branch Office
24 West Main St., North Adams.
MERRY MOUNT GRANITE CO.
Incorporated 1881. Manufacturers and Dealers
in Monumental and Cemetery Work. Works
near Quincy Adams station, So. Quincy.

CORRECT PIANO TUNING AND
REPAIRING.
FRANK A. LOCKE
Tuner in Quincy 25 y.
Recommendations from manufacturers
dealers, teachers,
colleges and the musical
profession.
Pianos selected for persons about to buy are $25 to $75 saved.
Offices—Quincy—Lincoln's Store and Carton's. Wollaston—Nash's Real Estate.
Atlantic—Braunfeld & Varnet's store.
Boston Office, 54 Bromfield St.,
Telephone at office and residence.

Henry L. Kincaide & Co.,
Furniture and Piano Moving.
GENERAL JOBBER.
Storage Warehouse, large, light and airy.
Particular attention to difficult piano moving,
putting into upper story windows, etc.
Experienced and careful men only.
Prices as low as the lowest.
Office, 1495 Hancock Street.
Telephone Connection.
Quincy, Oct. 17.

Quality
In Carpetings.
It's odd, but true nevertheless, that many people in buying carpets today think almost wholly about price and completely ignore the quality of the carpet being purchased. At this store our carpet department is stocked with up-to-date carpets that possess quality, durability and years of service. If you wish to buy real carpet comfort we have it here ready for immediate delivery. We are proud of our carpets, because we know they please our customers.
We are proud of our prices, for low rates enable us to undersell Boston's 'biggest stores.'

CASH OR CREDIT.
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
New England's Lowest Priced Furniture Store.
Hancock Street, Quincy.
We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

Our Plumbing, Heating,
and Gas Fitting Work
With that of Others
And you will soon see why it is wise to have us do your work. Our prices are low for the right kind of work.

W. A. BRADFORD,
PLUMBING, HEATING AND GAS FITTING
Telephone 111-3. Bank Building, Quincy, Mass.
Dec. 6, 1904.

SHINGLES.
CYPRESS, EASTERN and WESTERN CEDAR,
— ALSO —
OTHER ROOFING MATERIAL.
LUMBER OF ALL KINDS.

THE A. T. STEARNS LUMBER COMPANY.
(ESTABLISHED 1849).
Main Office, Mills and Wharves at Neponset,
Branch Office and Exhibit, 169 Devonshire Street, and 19 Federal Street, Haymarket Square, Salem, 1 South Street, corner Merriam Street, Boston.

SLIPPERS
Are Very Acceptable for a NEW YEAR'S OFFERING.
COME TO US IF LOOKING FOR A PAIR.
WE CAN SURELY PLEASE YOU.
Prices from 25c. to $2.50.
First selections are best as it is impossible to keep an unbroken stock in the rush of the last week.

GEORGE W. JONES,
Adams Building, - QUINCY.

Poetry.
New Year's Morning.
HELEN HUNT JACKSON.
Only a night from old to new!
Only a night and so much woe!
The Old Year's heart is heavy grown,
The Old Year's heart is full of woe.
As a grave, but trusting said,
The blossoms of the New Year's crown
Bloom from the ashes of the dead.
The old year's heart was full of grief;
With selfishness it longed and ached,
And cried: "I have not half I need,
My thirst is bitter and unquenchable."

But to the New Year's generous hand
All gifts in plenty shall return;
True loving shall beget and lead,
I have been reckless; I shall be
Quiet and calm and pure of life,
I will please them, and thus they shared, in some measure, the wide and varied outlook of her life. Then, leaving her in charge for a couple of days,
these lovers of almost half-a-century
were joining to the town where they had known the sunny days of courtship. Mother was replete in a long,
soft warm cloak and fine new bonnet that was stylish and yet kept the searching wind from aching ears; and father laughed at the neuralgia-breeding east wind in his fur cap and overcoat
with great forlorn look from the room
to the "mighty proud" of a girl who look bigger, the carpets aren't so old-fashioned. And the old housewife sat down, why it looks downright handsome, and it hasn't done so for years.
I was tired of it all. Am I crazy,
Loretta?

"No, my mother, no. If you'll just forgive your girl for not seeing her privilege sooner, everything will look brighter to her, too. And, O mother, mother, you are younger, you look more like my little mother than this faded
New Year's day."

"Yes, child, joy has cleared our vision. It is it is going to be a white
New Year for us all."—Ada Melville
Shaw.

Abuse of Tea.
Bread and tea afford a good basis for the meanest kind of dyspepsia. The tea habit is much worse in England than in this country. Here the coffee habit prevails. But nevertheless there are thousands upon thousands who have the teapot on the stove in preparation for every meal, and whose nerves would collapse without their accompanied stimulation, just as surely as would the nerves of the morphiae addict deprived of their deadly drug.

The "Philadelphia Record" tells of a blond young man "who frequents, on clear nights, the plaza of the postoffice.
He is a victim of the tea habit, visits the Chinatown regularly, and drinks the special tea which is brewed there at twenty-five cents a bowl. He will go away, in an evening, fifteen or twenty bowls, becoming dully as boisterous and silly as though he had put away as many cocktails, though he will not stagger. He says he remembers nothing after the sixth or tenth bowl of tea, and that on the day after one of his sprees, he has a wretched headache and a sore, parched mouth. He does not enjoy alcoholic beverages, because he dislikes their taste, and he is a member in good standing of a total abstinence society. An effort has been made to throw him out of the organization, but because he violates none of its rules, this cannot be done."

The above mentioned case of tea intoxication is not the first recorded. A few years ago two young women were arrested on the streets of Chicago for being disorderly. In the investigation of the court which followed, it was clearly shown that neither had touched a drop of liquor. They were habitual tea-drinkers, and had become intoxicated by consuming an unusually large amount of the Chinese poison.

The Use of Hospitals.
Sometimes a physician in active practice called the editor of the Healthy Home one side and said:
"You go about the country a good deal, and must be well posted on the subject that is in my mind. I have a patient that must undergo an operation it is not a dangerous operation of itself, but she will need attention. I want to see her myself at least two or three times a week while she is recovering.
Can you pay a moderate sum, but her means are very limited. If I send her to one of the large Boston hospitals she goes out of my care immediately. Besides, she is then so far away I can't spend the time to look after her. I don't want to be away long enough to take her down there. Do you know about any of the local hospitals?" naming several, "and would she have good care in them?"

This question voices the attitude of many a faithful and hardworking doctor, and shows why there is a constantly increasing demand for the small local hospital.
It is well to remember that the small private hospital offers other advantages over the big city institution. There are opportunities for the visits of relatives and friends; there is no limit to the care and responsibility which may be taken by the home physician; there is a personal interest in every patient very different from the matter-of-fact and impersonal treatment accorded at the great institution. There ought to be small well equipped hospitals in every good sized town.

President Roosevelt is letting it be understood that he will veto an extravagant river and harbor bill. There are a good many minds about what is contingent. Expenses in the river and harbor bill are being changed about in the light of the present, for example, are usually wise and judicious. —New Bedford Standard.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Watson
on every box 25c

everything about the house bore marks of age and wear.
The last of the "good things" were the beautiful array in the parlor.
Mother and father were still and serene in their best clothes, always donned for the first hours of their city girl's visit.
She came, and they blessed her for her earnest, kindly ways, her thoughtful, generous gifts, her loving reverence to their years and their parenthood. Ah, yes! they were "mighty proud of Loretta!" But—and the trembling old hands secretly brushed away the tears that would fall, for she was their "only one," and their hearts yearned to "see more of her." Ah! the silencing of more of her. The New Year rest has brought The Old Year's heart in hope laid down
As a grave, but trusting said,
The blossoms of the New Year's crown
Bloom from the ashes of the dead.
The old year's heart was full of grief;
With selfishness it longed and ached,
And cried: "I have not half I need,
My thirst is bitter and unquenchable."

But to the New Year's generous hand
All gifts in plenty shall return;
True loving shall beget and lead,
I have been reckless; I shall be
Quiet and calm and pure of life,
I will please them, and thus they shared, in some measure, the wide and varied outlook of her life. Then, leaving her in charge for a couple of days,
these lovers of almost half-a-century
were joining to the town where they had known the sunny days of courtship. Mother was replete in a long,
soft warm cloak and fine new bonnet that was stylish and yet kept the searching wind from aching ears; and
father laughed at the neuralgia-breeding
east wind in his fur cap and overcoat
with great forlorn look from the room
to the "mighty proud" of a girl who
look bigger, the carpets aren't so old-fashioned. And the old housewife sat down, why it looks downright handsome, and it hasn't done so for years.
I was tired of it all. Am I crazy,
Loretta?

"No, my mother, no. If you'll just forgive your girl for not seeing her
privilege sooner, everything will look brighter to her, too. And, O mother,
mother, you are younger, you look more
like my little mother than this faded
New Year's day."

"Yes, child, joy has cleared our vision. It is it is going to be a white
New Year for us all."—Ada Melville
Shaw.

Novel Effects of Athletics.
The prominence given to athletic exercises in the training of girls is having a noticeable effect upon the size of their hands and feet. Fashionable glove makers tell us that young women are taking larger gloves than they did formerly, while shoe makers have the reverse tale to tell, says the Public Golf.

Golf, cycling, tennis and other sports are altering the form of the hand, drawing it out of proportion and making it larger. Gloves which a few years ago were rejected as being rejected as "roomy" to quote the expression of a popular comedian—are now "just the fit." Girls would like to continue the dainty little hand coverings in which they once delighted, but outdoor exercises are forcing them to ask for a size more nearly approaching that of their male companions.

It seems rather contradictory, however, to hear that the foot is decreas-ing in size among the fair sex, but the explanation given by a well known expert of ladies' boots and shoes is that exercise causes the foot to lose its flabbiness and become more firm and set. It is between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one that this change is chiefly noticed.

Pulling vs. Extracting.
Dr. Marshall Mason, of Michigan, relates the following:
As I was cantering near the meadow of Alonzo Story where four men were making hay, I was hailed by one of the men and requested to halt, which I did. All of the men hurriedly approached me. "Dr. Mason, I believe?"
I answered, "Your conclusion is correct."
"Do you pull teeth?"
"I can," was my reply, "but I extract teeth."

"What is the difference," was asked,
I said pulling was 50 cents and extracting was a dollar.
He said, "I will have it pulled, I am not stuck on these new fangled fancy jobs."
"Very well," I told him, "come up and let me see the tooth."
So he mounted an eight-foot fence, threw up his head and I rode my horse to the fence with forceps in hand, which he did not expect to see.
I thrust up my grinder, left side.
I thrust my foot out at the same time he threw up both hands, scared my horse, then pulled back vigorously. I had the tooth, galloped away saying,
"I will wait your good time to settle."

He said, "By the Eternal, I will never have another tooth pulled."
I paid him a dollar and have a fancy job done. He said the job was done quick and well, but he was pulled head first over an eight-foot fence and he thought his neck was broken for at least a minute or two. I was told afterward that there was a laughing boy for an hour after I left.

Mr. Story was all right on my return an hour later blamed himself for scaring my horse, and paid his bill with thanks. I became his family doctor for twenty years after.

Blindfold Chess.
"There are 318,970,564,000 ways of playing the first four moves on each side of a chess board," says Paul Severing in Everybody's Magazine for October. "Yet Harry N. Pillsbury has played against as many as twenty-two different boards at one and the same time, and won a single game and has won a large majority of the games.
Seated with his back to the other players and constantly smoking a big cigar he is apparently able to visualize and to remember twenty-two different pictures, in each of which thirty-two chessmen are being changed about in an infinite variety of combinations.
There is seldom any hesitation on Mr.
Pillsbury's part in recalling the picture presented on any given board. The referee calls the number of the board and Mr. Pillsbury immediately places on and instantly the reply comes back from the master with a request for the move on the next board. Before Pillsbury's time the record for blindfold play was sixteen games played in two days by Zakertown. In Chicago in 1900 Pillsbury played sixteen simultaneous blindfold games in four hours and fifty-five minutes, winning twelve, drawing three and losing one."

A Nice Place to Live.
The useful household magazine, Good Housekeeping, is responsible for the following:
"Imagine giving a snake in the house to fill a cat's duties. That is what they do in Manila," says an American woman who has just returned from spending a year in the Philippines with her journalist husband. "The first night I spent in our own home was hot and smothering, so I lay wide awake, hoping for a breeze. Suddenly
I heard a strange noise overhead.
Manila houses are built of bamboo and are about as substantial as a bannister, so one hears every rustle. I had listened to the scamper of a rat overhead, then came a queer noise like a stealthy slide. The rat gave a shriek of agony, I could hear the lash of the snake's tail and a terrible scurrying all over the ceiling. They seemed to be rolling over each other and the snake was swallowing the rat. I heard it as distinctly as if I could see it. I shrieked louder than the rat had done, and in a moment every China boy in our establishment was in my room to see what had happened. Before I left Manila I grew so accustomed to finding a house snake on my floor as if it had been a cat. The house pests of the Philippines
drive an American woman to distraction.
Lizards are everywhere; you find them
in your bed, in the dishes in the pantry, clinging to your gowns or napping
on your bare shoulders. Some are as big as a cat, and some are as small as a pet; others are a foot long. Ants of
every size and sort simply inhabit everything you own. Every good housekeeper in Manila keeps the feet of her
dining table standing in pots of oil. If you are accustomed to finding a house
snake on your floor as if it had been a
cat. The house pests of the Philippines
drive an American woman to distraction.
Lizards are everywhere; you find them
in your bed, in the dishes in the pan-
try, clinging to your gowns or napping
on your bare shoulders. Some are as
big as a cat, and some are as small as a
pet; others are a foot long. Ants of
every size and sort simply inhabit everything you own. Every good house-
keeper in Manila keeps the feet of her
dining table standing in pots of oil. If
you are accustomed to finding a house
snake on your floor as if it had been a
cat. The house pests of the Philippines
drive an American woman to distraction.
Lizards are everywhere; you find them
in your bed, in the dishes in the pan-
try, clinging to your gowns or napping
on your bare shoulders. Some are as
big as a cat, and some are as small as a
pet; others are a foot long. Ants of
every size and sort simply inhabit everything you own. Every good house-
keeper in Manila keeps the feet of her
dining table standing in pots of oil. If
you are accustomed to finding a house
snake on your floor as if it had been a
cat. The house pests of the Philippines
drive an American woman to distraction.
Lizards are everywhere; you find them
in your bed, in the dishes in the pan-
try, clinging to your gowns or napping
on your bare shoulders. Some are as
big as a cat, and some are as small as a
pet; others are a foot long. Ants of
every size and sort simply inhabit everything you own. Every good house-
keeper in Manila keeps the feet of her
dining table standing in pots of oil. If
you are accustomed to finding a house
snake on your floor as if it had been a
cat. The house pests of the Philippines
drive an American woman to distraction.
Lizards are everywhere; you find them
in your bed, in the dishes in the pan-
try, clinging to your gowns or napping
on your bare shoulders. Some are as
big as a cat, and some are as small as a
pet; others are a foot long. Ants of
every size and sort simply inhabit everything you own. Every good house-
keeper in Manila keeps the feet of her
dining table standing in pots of oil. If
you are accustomed to finding a house
snake on your floor as if it had been a
cat. The house pests of the Philippines
drive an American woman to distraction.
Lizards are everywhere; you find them
in your bed, in the dishes in the pan-
try, clinging to your gowns or napping
on your bare shoulders. Some are as
big as a cat, and some are as small as a
pet; others are a foot long. Ants of
every size and sort simply inhabit everything you own. Every good house-
keeper in Manila keeps the feet of her
dining table standing in pots of oil. If
you are accustomed to finding a house
snake on your floor as if it had been a
cat. The house pests of the Philippines
drive an American woman to distraction.
Lizards are everywhere; you find them
in your bed, in the dishes in the pan-
try, clinging to your gowns or napping
on your bare shoulders. Some are as
big as a cat, and some are as small as a
pet; others are a foot long. Ants of
every size and sort simply inhabit everything you own. Every good house-
keeper in Manila keeps the feet of her
dining table standing in pots of oil. If
you are accustomed to finding a house
snake on your floor as if it had been a
cat. The house pests of the Philippines
drive an American woman to distraction.
Lizards are everywhere; you find them
in your bed, in the dishes in the pan-
try, clinging to your gowns or napping
on your bare shoulders. Some are as
big as a cat, and some are as small as a
pet; others are a foot long. Ants of
every size and sort simply inhabit everything you own. Every good house-
keeper in Manila keeps the feet of her
dining table standing in pots of oil. If
you are accustomed to finding a house
snake on your floor as if it had been a
cat. The house pests of the Philippines
drive an American woman to distraction.
Lizards are everywhere; you find them
in your bed, in the dishes in the pan-
try, clinging to your gowns or napping
on your bare shoulders. Some are as
big as a cat, and some are as small as a
pet; others are a foot long. Ants of
every size and sort simply inhabit everything you own. Every good house-
keeper in Manila keeps the feet of her
dining table standing in pots of oil. If
you are accustomed to finding a house
snake on your floor as if it had been a
cat. The house pests of the Philippines
drive an American woman to distraction.
Lizards are everywhere; you find them
in your bed, in the dishes in the pan-
try, clinging to your gowns or napping
on your bare shoulders. Some are as
big as a cat, and some are as small as a
pet; others are a foot long. Ants of
every size and sort simply inhabit everything you own. Every good house-
keeper in Manila keeps the feet of her
dining table standing in pots of oil. If
you are accustomed to finding a house
snake on your floor as if it had been a
cat. The house pests of the Philippines
drive an American woman to distraction.
Lizards are everywhere; you find them
in your bed, in the dishes in the pan-
try, clinging to your gowns or napping
on your bare shoulders. Some are as
big as a cat, and some are as small as a
pet; others are a foot long. Ants of
every size and sort simply inhabit everything you own. Every good house-
keeper in Manila keeps the feet of her
dining table standing in pots of oil. If
you are accustomed to finding a house
snake on your floor as if it had been a
cat. The house pests of the Philippines
drive an American woman to distraction.
Lizards are everywhere; you find them
in your bed, in the dishes in the pan-
try, clinging to your gowns or napping
on your bare shoulders. Some are as
big as a cat, and some are as small as a
pet; others are a foot long. Ants of
every size and sort simply inhabit everything you own. Every good house-
keeper in Manila keeps the feet of her
dining table standing in pots of oil. If
you are accustomed to finding a house
snake on your floor as if it had been a
cat. The house pests of the Philippines
drive an American woman to distraction.
Lizards are everywhere; you find them
in your bed, in the dishes in the pan-
try, clinging to your gowns or napping
on your bare shoulders. Some are as
big as a cat, and some are as small as a
pet; others are a foot long. Ants of
every size and sort simply inhabit everything you own. Every good house-
keeper in Manila keeps the feet of her
dining table standing in pots of oil. If
you are accustomed to finding a house
snake on your floor as if it had been a
cat. The house pests of the Philippines
drive an American woman to distraction.
Lizards are everywhere; you find them
in your bed, in the dishes in the pan-
try, clinging to your gowns or napping
on your bare shoulders. Some are as
big as a cat, and some are as small as a
pet; others are a foot long. Ants of
every size and sort simply inhabit everything you own. Every good house-
keeper in Manila keeps the feet of her
dining table standing in pots of oil. If
you are accustomed to finding a house
snake on your floor as if it had been a
cat. The house pests of the Philippines
drive an American woman to distraction.
Lizards are everywhere; you find them
in your bed, in the dishes in the pan-
try, clinging to your gowns or napping
on your bare shoulders. Some are as
big as a cat, and some are as small as a
pet; others are a foot long. Ants of
every size and sort simply inhabit everything you own. Every good house-
keeper in Manila keeps the feet of her
dining table standing in pots of oil. If
you are accustomed to finding a house
snake on your floor as if it had been a
cat. The house pests of the Philippines
drive an American woman to distraction.
Lizards are everywhere; you find them
in your bed, in the dishes in the pan-
try, clinging to your gowns or napping
on your bare shoulders. Some are as
big as a cat, and some are as small as a
pet; others are a foot long. Ants of
every size and sort simply inhabit everything you own. Every good house-
keeper in Manila keeps the feet of her
dining table standing in pots of oil. If
you are accustomed to finding a house
snake on your floor as if it had been a
cat. The house pests of the Philippines
drive an American woman to distraction.
Lizards are everywhere; you find them
in your bed, in the dishes in the pan-
try, clinging to your gowns or napping
on your bare shoulders. Some are as
big as a cat, and some are as small as a
pet; others are a foot long. Ants of
every size and sort simply inhabit everything you own. Every good house-
keeper in Manila keeps the feet of her
dining table standing in pots of oil. If
you are accustomed to finding a house
snake on your floor as if it had been a
cat. The house pests of the Philippines
drive an American woman to distraction.
Lizards are everywhere; you find them
in your bed, in the dishes in the pan-
try, clinging to your gowns or napping
on your bare shoulders. Some are as
big as a cat, and some are as small as a
pet; others are a foot long. Ants of
every size and sort simply inhabit everything you own. Every good house-
keeper in Manila keeps the feet of her
dining table standing in pots of oil. If
you are accustomed to finding a house
snake on your floor as if it had been a
cat. The house pests of the Philippines
drive an American woman to distraction.
Lizards are everywhere; you find them
in your bed, in the dishes in the pan-
try, clinging to your gowns or napping
on your bare shoulders. Some are as
big as a cat, and some are as small as a
pet; others are a foot long. Ants of
every size and sort simply inhabit everything you own. Every good house-
keeper in Manila keeps the feet of her
dining table standing in pots of oil. If
you are accustomed to finding a house
snake on your floor as if it had been a
cat. The house pests of the Philippines
drive an American woman to distraction.
Lizards are everywhere; you find them
in your bed, in the dishes in the pan-
try, clinging to your gowns or napping
on your bare shoulders. Some are as
big as a cat, and some are as small as a
pet; others are a foot long. Ants of
every size and sort simply inhabit everything you own. Every good house-
keeper in Manila keeps the feet of her
dining table standing in pots of oil. If you are accustomed to finding a house snake on

Inauguration Day.

The sixteenth year of the city government will be inaugurated at 12 o'clock noon, on Monday. While the exercises will not differ materially from other years there will be an added interest this year from the fact that there is a new Mayor, and also contests for Presidency of the City Council and for City Auditor.

Walter F. Nichols, president of the City Council of 1904 is a candidate for reelection, and William G. Gassett is also announced as a candidate for the office.

George A. Sidelinger, City Auditor, voluntarily retired this year, and two ex-Mayors are seeking the election as Auditor. They are Hon. Henry C. Fairbanks and Hon. John O. Hall.

That the inauguration exercises will be largely attended there is no question more especially as people will want to learn the views of Mayor-elect Thompson.

Shortly before the hour of noon, City Messenger Tirrell, followed by Mayor Bryant, Mayor-elect Thompson, City Clerk Keith and Rev. Edward Norton will enter the Council chamber by the rear entrance.

Rev. Edward Norton will open the exercises with prayer.

This will be followed by administering the oath of office to Mayor Thompson and the councilmen by City Clerk Keith, who will preside at the exercises until the City Council organizes. Mayor Thompson will then deliver his inaugural address.

Immediately following the address the City Council will organize by the election of a president. This must be done by roll call, and requires a majority vote. No other business will be in order until a choice is made.

Then will come the election of Clerk of Council and Clerk of Committees, a City Messenger, City Auditor, and two trustees of the City Hospital, the latter from members of the Council.

So far as known there is no opposition to Christopher A. Spear and Harry W. Tirrell as clerk and messenger.

There is however as noted elsewhere, a contest for the position of City Auditor. Any new business will be in order but about the only thing done is to offer an order for a loan in anticipation of taxes which will be referred to a special committee, and an order for printing the annual reports.

It is probable that orders will also be introduced for the printing of the calendars and copies of the inaugural address. It has also been the custom some years to adopt the rules of the preceding council.

The only business routine remaining is the drawing of seals. The old seals here are usually preserved to retain the same seals as in 1901.

It is probable that Mayor Thompson will forward a list of appointments of constables for confirmation.

As the regular meeting of the City Council would be Monday evening the rules will be suspended and vote to adjourn to some date, probably to the next regular meeting night.

The Mayors of Quincy each year with their policies, and the purity by which they were elected, are given below.

Year. Plurality.
1899—Hon. Charles H. Porter, R. 275
1890 " " " " " " 180
1881—Hon. Henry O. Fairbanks, R. 65
1882 " " " " " " 45
1883 " " " " " " 45
1884—Hon. William A. Hodges, D. 261
1885 " " " " " " 28
1886—Hon. Charles F. Adams, D. 170
1887 " " " " " " 245
1888—Hon. Russell A. Sears, R. 300
1889—Hon. Harrison A. Keith, D. 425
1890—Hon. John O. Hall, R. 279
1901 " " " " " " 425
1902—Hon. Charles M. Bryant, R. 161
1903 " " " " " " 202
1904—Hon. James Thompson, R. 204

Terpsichorean Club Dance.
One of the prettiest dances of the season was that of the Terpsichorean club Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. W. E. Alden. The dance was very largely attended. The gowns of the ladies were exquisite, and as the couples glided over the floor to the inspiring music of Lyons' orchestra it was a picture beautiful to look upon.

The dance was patronized by Mrs. John T. Cavanaugh, Mrs. Edward J. Murphy and Mrs. Edward D. Barrett. They received in a cosy corner beneath a canopy of colored lights. The guests of the evening were presented by Walter E. Elock, Edward Larkin, Richard H. McGrath and Joseph H. Elock.

The dance was from 8 to 12 o'clock and opened with a two-step, and the program was made of the popular modern dances.

Frappé was served during the entire evening by Miss Gertrude Larkin, Miss Alice Dinegan and Miss Bessie Elock.

Williams Recital.
One of the best entertainments given this season for the benefit of the organ fund of First church, was a recital at the chapel on Thursday evening by Mr. Charles Williams of Boston. Winston Churchill's much read novel, "The Crisis," was recited in four parts, the slave auction and party; the Freeport debate; Virginia's lovers, and the man of sorrows.

From the first Mr. Williams had his audience with him, receiving the closest attention and hearty applause for the characters as interpreted by him, gained new interest. For a closing piece, by request, Mr. Williams gave two chapters from a "Real Diary of a Real Boy," which were exceedingly humorous, and brought to a happy ending a very pleasant evening.

—Cotton sold this week below seven cents. This is the first time since 1879 that it has touched these low figures. Last September it sold at 11 cents and thereabouts, and for a long series of years the price has ruled around 10 cents. The cause of this big drop is the immense crop raised the past summer. Nearly thirteen million bales this year against a little more than ten last year.

Through the efforts of Rev. Emory L. Bradford, the pastor, $2500 have been quietly raised for a new organ for the Congregational church at East Weymouth. Half the sum was given by Andrew Carnegie, and generous sums by Edwin Clapp of Weymouth and Mr. Hackett of New York.

—Miss Margaret Long, daughter of ex-Gov. Long, presented St. John's Episcopal church at Hingham as a Christmas gift, a church organ, in memory of her sister, Miss Helen Long.

—The trial of Charles L. Tucker accused of the murder of Mabel Page of Weston, on March 31, 1904, will come before the Superior court at East Cambridge on Monday next.

CITY BRIEFS.

Christmas will come on Monday again next year.

Judge Cook is on the bench at the district court this week.

Next Monday will be inauguration day of the city government of 1905.

Miss Sadie Thomas is confined to her home on Granite street by sickness.

Miss Julia E. Underwood is the guest of her sister at West Lynn during the holidays.

The engagement is announced of Miss Amanda Carlson and Mr. Carl Ragnar Wallin.

Mrs. E. A. Pennington returned Tuesday from Brockton where she spent Christmas with her son George.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Merritt and family of Elm place, spent the holidays with relatives in Scituate.

It is said that the Council of 1905 will be invited to be present at the dinner of the Council of 1904.

Julius Johnson, the contractor, has issued calendars adorned with pictures of houses which he has built.

A cake and candy sale will be held for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon at Bethany chapel.

There were a large number of continued juvenile cases before the juvenile session of the district court Thursday.

It took 48 clerks to handle the business of the district court during the Christmas rush. Low prices caused the cause.

Mr. L. Braden and Mr. L. J. Colgan of Augusta, Maine, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Carlin over Christmas.

The large Shenandoah brought a big cargo of coal which C. Patch & Son can recommend. It is in store and not sizes.

The insurance companies for which James F. Burke is agents have issued calendars which business men appreciate.

Alex S. MacNeill, manager of the Steel plant at Sydney, C. B., is visiting his cousin, Mrs. Stephen R. Gurney of Cranston street.

Thomas C. Hewson has returned to his home on Newcomb place, after a tour of the new gunnery trip at La Grange, Maine.

All the regular clerks in the employ of Henry L. Kinsdale & Co., were remembered Christmas with a substantial sum of money.

The rain Tuesday and Wednesday cleared the snow from the ponds and there should be good skating if the present cold snap holds.

The Browne Whist Club will attend the Castle Square Theatre this afternoon, after which they will enjoy a dinner at the Adams house.

John E. Hunt of Weymouth is the newly appointed deputy grand master for the 4th Masonic district, which includes rural Quincy.

If everybody in Quincy had his pound of turkey at Christmas it took over fifteen tons to go around. The City Square markets sold over a ton each.

City Clerk Keith has appointed the following to take the census of births for the year 1904: Henry W. French, Gilbert R. Kent, Edward J. Sheldon.

What City Clerk Keith says relative to the importance of complete and accurate returns of births in the city should be carefully noted. The canvassers will start out next week.

Several of the City departments desired to ask the City Council for more money early in November, but Mayor Bryant said no, and they had to get along with their appropriation.

Mrs. Harry Elliott Russell is hostess on Monday afternoon, "entertaining the Junior Friday club at her home on Greenleaf street. Miss Edith Randall is chairman for the literary program.

Rev. W. M. Dornan, formerly of Quincy, closed his pastorate at Winthrop Congregational church at Holbrook on Sunday, and will become pastor of the Church of the Pilgrimage at Plymouth.

Commissioner Knowlton has been appointed by the New England Water Association as one of the committee on meter rates, to endeavor to establish uniform rates for water service in New England.

Officer James W. Murray, who has been off duty for sometime on account of illness, was presented with a purse of money this week, contributed by the business men of the City square route and fellow officers.

At the billiard tournament at the Granite City hall on Wednesday evening, C. M. Martin beat S. F. Nutting 125 to 112, and John W. Walsh beat Eugene O'Connor 100 to 70.

The sleighing which commenced Tuesday, Dec. 15, disappeared Tuesday Dec. 27, but snow remained. In fact snow has been with us since Dec. 5, the day before the City election. Last year the first snow came Dec. 26.

There were an unusually large number of Christmas trees in the homes throughout the city, and they were very prettily decorated, not alone with gifts but with ornaments. Many people also decorated their rooms and windows.

Mr. Shirley F. Nutting of Chestnut street entertained the Entre Nous whist club Wednesday afternoon. Souvenirs were awarded to Mrs. Harry E. Winslow and Mrs. George F. Spooner for highest scores. Lunch was served after the game.

Frederic Allison Tupper, formerly master of the Quincy High school, contributed to the Sunday globe symposium on the subject—"What is the moral influence on the child mind of the idea of Santa Claus?" He says it is an aid to imagination.

Representative R. B. Freeman was one of the fifteen names signed to the call for a caucus of the Republican members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, to be held next Wednesday at 10 A. M. The Democrats will also meet the same morning.

The ushers for the Annual Assembly at Quincy Music hall on the evening of January thirteenth are: Sydney Carr, George B. Dawson, William I. Dawson, William Edwards, C. A. Howland, Jr., William T. Isaac, H. L. Kinsdale, Delavere King, Fred B. Rice and Merton T. Skraglow.

The dance which Mrs. Rupert F. Clavin gave at Colonial hall, Dec. 23d for her daughter, Miss Helen Clavin, was a very pretty affair and enjoyed by Quincy young people and out of town friends. Mrs. Clavin and daughter were assisted in receiving by Mrs. John D. Buckingham. Punch was served throughout the dance and ice at intermission. Several remarkably pretty gowns were noticed, white predominating. Miss Clavin wore a beautiful white gown and Mrs. Clavin was in black.

WOLLASTON.

Last year parties have not been as numerous this week as expected.

About 100 applications are expected to take the census of Quincy next May.

Mr. and Mrs. John O. Hall Jr., of Millbury are spending the holidays in Quincy.

Members of the Norfolk bar had a banquet Thursday evening at Hotel Brunswick, Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Harper spent a part of the holidays in Walpole with Mrs. Harper's people.

The annual meeting of the School Committee of 1905 will be held in their rooms Tuesday evening.

The Quincy Ice Company commenced cutting ice Friday. They report their ice as being eleven inches thick.

There will be a meeting of the Fragment society in the Unitarian chapel next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Rev. E. C. Butler was called to Woodstock, Vermont, the first of the week to attend the funeral of Mrs. F. N. Billings.

Miss Alice Cobb was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Mary Pollock of Bigelow street at Christmas, but has returned to New Jersey.

Three college men will address the Sunday evening meeting at Bethany church on "The college man's view of a Christian life."

The mornings are now at their shortest, and the sun will rise a minute earlier Sunday Jan. 8. The afternoons are nine minutes longer.

"Look for a day or two of extreme cold weather" during the first week of January is the greeting of the Old Farmer's Almanac for 1905.

The Saturday eight page Daily Ledger will print some interesting facts concerning the City Council of 1905, together with sketches of the members.

Read the menu for a nice turkey dinner at Hotel Greenleaf on New Year's day. Price fifty cents. Parties can be accommodated by giving notice on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Darcy Barrett (Rose Brown) who were married in October and are residing on Allen street, East Braintree, receive their friends after January first.

G. A. Sandberg, of the United States Marines, who has been stationed at the West Point, has returned to Quincy.

Mr. and Mrs. George G. Saville of Saville avenue, entertained their whist club at their home on Wednesday evening. Some of the members were missed being detained at their homes.

The next in the Malet club series of entertainments will be a literary evening on Tuesday the third, when Mrs. W. E. Alden will read an interesting paper on "The life and works of Robert Burns."

Both the Quincy basketball team won at the Coliseum Thursday evening, the seniors defeating the Highways 10 to 3, and the juniors defeating the Highways juniors 15 to 12.

The talk before the Men's Club of Christ Church next Monday evening, will be given by Dr. Frederick E. Jones, the medical examiner for Norfolk County. The subject will be, "Microbes."

Mrs. W. E. Alden will lecture on "Robert Burns" before the Malet club next Tuesday evening. The lecture will be given in the parish house and Miss Bessie C. Davis, soprano soloist, will sing some of Burns' songs.

Miss Mary Marden, for many years a teacher in Quincy, is in the Quincy Hospital where she underwent a very serious surgical operation on Monday last. Her many friends await the result with much anxiety.

Charles B. Stubbins, formerly of Bigelow street, and a draughtsman at the Fore River Shipbuilding Co., has resigned his position with the Pope Company at Waterville to accept a good offer from Three Rivers, Mich., on Jan. 1.

The affair of the week for young people was the dance which Mrs. Nathaniel S. Hunting gave at her home on Monday night for her nieces the Misses Steele. It was a very happy time and much enjoyed by the younger set.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Morse of Goffe street are looking forward with much pleasure to the reception which they are giving at their home next Friday evening in observance of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage.

Mrs. James H. Stetson of School street has been missed from the social gatherings of the holidays being confined to her home by illness. Her friends hope to see her among them soon as she is now convalescing.

A very pretty subscription leaf year dance was held in Colonial hall last evening by the Delta Phi Delta, a society formed among the senior girls at the High school last year. Henry G. Fay of Wollaston was patron. Although a small party, those present spent a very enjoyable evening.

Mrs. E. Granville Pratt of Spear street, entertained at her home on Monday afternoon, Adams chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. She will be assisted by Mrs. Clara Brewer and Mrs. Charles Wilson. An interesting program has been prepared by the hostesses.

One of the most enjoyable matinee whist parties of the season, was that held at the home of Mrs. B. Porterfield, Granite street, yesterday afternoon. Refreshments were served. The highest scores were 62 and 54 and souvenirs were awarded Mrs. Bessie E. Hobart, Miss Annie L. Hobart, Mrs. Jennie Langhorne, Mrs. G. F. Spooner and Mrs. Mary Thomas.

The funeral of Cornelius Ford was held Friday morning from St. John's church, and was largely attended. Solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. John J. Conn, Rev. Julian E. Johnson and Rev. John J. Casey. The burial was at St. Mary's cemetery, the bearers being four cousins of the deceased, Cornelius Ford, Jeremiah Ford, Daniel Ford and Michael T. Sullivan.

Norfolk County Association.
The quarterly meeting of the W. B. C. of the Norfolk County Association will be held in the Unitarian church, Quincy, Wednesday Jan. 4th, commencing at 10 o'clock.

The Department President has signified her intention of being present; and as this is the first regular meeting since the institution and installation of officers of the new G. A. R. Association it is hoped all members who can, will attend, and by the inspiration of the numbers make as great a success of the combined meetings as has attended the W. R. C. Association.

ATLANTIC.

The afternoon whist club of Atlantic will meet with Mrs. Herbert Barker of Hancock street on next Tuesday.

The prizes are awarded once every six weeks, thus making the score of each game count toward the winning up at the end.

Mrs. Edward Willet of Clive street is recovering very slowly from her fall a few weeks ago. There has been no pronounced change for the better.

Since attending the World's Fair in St. Louis in October Mrs. Ida F. Waterhouse has been visiting friends in Topeka and Arkansas City, Kansas, where she will remain until after the holidays.

It will be several weeks yet before the west side of the new bridge near the Atlantic station will be so that carriages can pass over it.

Henry Kolshet of Walker street is very ill with pneumonia.

Stephen Aplach of Walker street, a young man of great promise, has gone to study for the priesthood.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cullen of Newbury avenue extension are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a son.

The male quartet of Atlantic has been singing at the Memorial church, although they keep in practice for outside work.

Howard G. Wade of Sioux City, Iowa, spent the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Wade of Prospect street.

The heavy tempest still continues to cross the Atlantic playground in spite of the wind which has been placed between a couple of the trees. They simply drive around. Officer Halloran was on guard for a short time and tried to prevent them. An officer should be on guard there throughout the day as no heed is taken of the wire fence.

There will be a watch night service at the Atlantic M. E. church beginning at 9 o'clock Saturday evening.

WEST QUINCY.
A watch night service will be held at the West Quincy Methodist Episcopal church. Rev. A. W. L. Nelson, D. D., of Cohasset, will preach the sermon. Service will begin at 10 o'clock.

On and after Wednesday through cars will be discontinued on the East and West Quincy line. City Square being the terminus as formerly. The company say that owing to the construction of the new bridge over the railroad track near the Atlantic depot, there has been much confusion of cars.

At the Memorial church with a tree and short entertainments, Saturday evening. Presents for the Sunday School were distributed by Jack Simmons as Santa Claus.

At the Wollaston Congregational church there was a tree Monday afternoon. A short entertainment, whist, piano solo, was given by a company including Miss Fish, Mr. Eaton and Miss Fenton.

A Christmas vesper service was held at the Wollaston Baptist church Sunday afternoon at four. The regular church service was held and Miss Bessie Drew and Mr. Kenneth Albee were drawn into the church.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Bates of Wollaston, now at Berkley, Me., Monday morning, Dec. 26. Mother and child are doing well.

The Mission Band, of the Wollaston Congregational church, will meet in the vestry at 2 o'clock today. The Mission Study Club will meet at 7 P. M. in the parlour.

A very interesting lecture on "Ben Hur" was given at the Wollaston Baptist church, Wednesday evening, by Hon. J. Wilder Fairbanks, of Boston. The lecture was illustrated by over one hundred beautiful stereopticon views, and during the evening solos, including "Holy City" and "Rock of Ages," were sung.

The regular meeting of the Wollaston Ladies' Alliance was held in the vestry of the Unitarian church, Wednesday afternoon. Owing to illness, the Rev. Ida C. Hallin was unable to be present. Mrs. James H. Pratt, of Wollaston, was the guest.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Morse of Goffe street are looking forward with much pleasure to the reception which they are giving at their home next Friday evening in observance of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage.

Mrs. James H. Stetson of School street has been missed from the social gatherings of the holidays being confined to her home by illness. Her friends hope to see her among them soon as she is now convalescing.

A very pretty subscription leaf year dance was held in Colonial hall last evening by the Delta Phi Delta, a society formed among the senior girls at the High school last year. Henry G. Fay of Wollaston was patron. Although a small party, those present spent a very enjoyable evening.

Mrs. E. Granville Pratt of Spear street, entertained at her home on Monday afternoon, Adams chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. She will be assisted by Mrs. Clara Brewer and Mrs. Charles Wilson. An interesting program has been prepared by the hostesses.

One of the most enjoyable matinee whist parties of the season, was that held at the home of Mrs. B. Porterfield, Granite street, yesterday afternoon. Refreshments were served. The highest scores were 62 and 54 and souvenirs were awarded Mrs. Bessie E. Hobart, Miss Annie L. Hobart, Mrs. Jennie Langhorne, Mrs. G. F. Spooner and Mrs. Mary Thomas.

The funeral of Cornelius Ford was held Friday morning from St. John's church, and was largely attended. Solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. John J. Conn, Rev. Julian E. Johnson and Rev. John J. Casey. The burial was at St. Mary's cemetery, the bearers being four cousins of the deceased, Cornelius Ford, Jeremiah Ford, Daniel Ford and Michael T. Sullivan.

City Council Banquet.
The dinner of the City Council of 1904 will be held next Thursday evening, probably at Hotel Essex, Boston. The City Council of 1905 will be invited to attend.

—Tax collector W. J. Dunlap of Weymouth was robbed Wednesday evening of his cash box containing $110. The money was in a tin box in the safe, the door of which was open. A man came in and paid a poll tax. Hardly had the man left the office when the box containing the money was missed. The police are working on the case.

—The tunnel between Boston and East Boston is completed. Cost $3,200,000. Yesterday morning the first car carrying fare-paying passengers started from Maverick square through the East Boston tunnel and three and one-half minutes later had reached the harbor and deposited its freight at Devonshire street. One minute later it was at Scollay square, the end of the route.

CASTORIA.
The Hardwick residence, corner of Washington street and River road, looks fine in its new coat of paint.

QUINCY POINT AND NECK.

Shop meetings under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. are being held every Thursday noon in the machine shop of the Fore River works. The meetings thus far have been attended by upwards of 200 workmen and are full of interest.

Mr. David Hill, for many years a resident at the Point, passed away on Thursday at his home on North street. He was in his eightieth year and of late had been in failing health. Much sympathy is expressed for the widow, son and daughter.

Mrs. Walter Gardner spent Thursday with her mother at the Point. Paul Robt. of East Howard street is visiting relatives in Delaware.

Peter Conquest of Quincy Neck is visiting friends in Providence, R. I. Charles Tanner of East Howard street is convalescing from his recent illness.

Mrs. Hannon and niece, Miss Flynn, of Broadway, are making a few days' visit in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Lincoln, Jr., and family spent the holidays with relatives in Marshfield.

Arthur W. Newcomb is doing quite a business in the sale of photographs taken at the shipyard. Many are pleased to show out of town friends what is being done in Quincy.

Panama is attracting considerable attention now and the illustrated lecture by Rev. Peter McQueen at Quincy Point next Wednesday should be entertaining and instructive.

It is again necessary to complain of the deplorable condition of the fence on South street, near the Fore River house. After some serious accident happens at this place, probably repairs will be made.

The cruiser Des Moines arrived at Boston on Tuesday.

C. Arthur Sampson is slowly recovering from his recent serious operation. Work on the iron structure for the new forge shop at the ship yard is rapidly progressing.

Mrs. Alice Darby, who has been visiting her brother, Rev. L. H. Austin, returned to her home in Connecticut Thursday.

The young daughter of Mr. J. R. Heaney has been removed to the Quincy hospital, where she will be treated for appendicitis.

Douglas C. Smith, formerly of this city, started for New Jersey, Wednesday. Mr. Smith has accepted a government position at Bayonne.

Mrs. C. E. Snow of Sargent's lane, Quincy Neck, who underwent an operation at the City Hospital last week is recovering comfortably.

Several men from one of the boarding houses on East Howard street were obliged to pass Christmas eve, at the police station. They had spent most of the day in disturbing other occupants of the house, as well as the neighbors.

B. F. Sturtevant of Washington street spent Christmas at his home in Halifax.

Douglas C. Smith spent the holidays with his friend, Daniel Souler, Jr., of Madison avenue, Quincy Point.

At the shipyard some of the shipyard spent Christmas at their homes in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and other distant places.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Sherburne of South street entertained Miss Anna Starbuck and Mrs. Burgess of Bourne, Mass., for the holidays.

Supt. Sherburne of the Washington Street Congregational Sunday school was greatly surprised Saturday evening when he was presented with a Morris chair, as a Christmas gift from his teachers and scholars.

Charles Turner of Stanley avenue spent the holidays with his parents in Bath, Maine.

Duncan Leach, recently employed at the Fore River shipyard, was killed by an electric car at Lynn on Saturday evening. He was about 28 years of age.

Santa Claus visited the Point church Saturday evening at seven o'clock. The young people provided the evening's entertainment, after which the presents were distributed.

The children of the Washington street Congregational Sunday school held a Christmas concert Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The choir rendered special music at the morning service.

Rev. and Mrs. Leon H. Austin were presented with a very substantial purse on Christmas eve, by their parishioners.

Mr. Austin is carrying on a great work at the Point and his people are grateful for the effort being put forth.

Francis-Fuller.
One of the prettiest home weddings of the season took place Christmas day, at three o'clock, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Mayo P. Fuller of West Quincy, when their daughter, Miss Emma Fuller, became the bride of Mr. George J. Francis, in the presence of relatives and friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. L. Martin, D.D., of Boston.

The home was prettily decorated with holly, evergreens and cut flowers. The bride was attired in a gown of pearl gray lace and carried a bouquet of white roses, and was attended by her nieces Miss Mildred Fuller, and little Dorothy Fuller of East Milton, as maid of honor and flower girl, and Master Theodore Masters of Brookline as ring bearer.

A reception followed, after which the bride departed amid showers of confetti and good wishes.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis will make their residence in Durham, Conn., and will be at home after Feb. 1.

Prizes at Targets.
Inspector Daniel R. McKay, Captain Mark E. Hanson and Patrolman Edward Johnson are the three officers who will receive the prizes of $15, $10, and $5 in gold offered by Mayor Bryant for the three best revolver shots.

The shooting has been going on for the past two weeks and was completed this week. Each officer had eighteen shots at the target, the best possible score being 180. Inspector McKay scored 99, Capt. Hanson 64 and patrolman Johnson 55. Officer Goodhue gave Officer Johnson a close call for third place, his score being 63. Mayor Bryant will probably present the prizes this week.

STEINERT HALL.
Owing to the unusual interest manifested, and numerous requests received, for the return of the famous musical comedy, "Beyond the Sunset," the management has decided to return to Boston for a short season. Letters have been received from hundreds who have witnessed the greatest musical play, all join in the verdict that the whole world should see it, and declare it the finest play written since "The Passion Play." In offering "Beyond the Sunset" the management is offering the most sensitive religious scruple. The company, scenic environment, costumes, and other appointments are such as leave nothing lacking in the making of a most interesting production. "Beyond" will open at Steinert Hall on Monday, January 24, with a matinee performance at 2:15 P. M., and be seen every Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday matinees. Subscription list now open.

SOUTH QUINCY.

Mr. and Mrs

